The speaker closed by urging the repeal of the present odious law. He also urged that a new law be framed, in which a section should be introduced for the expurgation of adulterated liquors; and a good wholesome license system be adopted. He proposed to the meeting the following question:—"Are you in favor of the repeal of the present Prohibitory Liquor Law in Massachusetts?" The audience rose en masse and gave a unanimous —AYE!! The reverend gentleman sat down amidst the cheers of the multitude. The address was frequently applauded, and gave great satisfaction.

Charles White of Watertown, then spoke.

The meeting, which numbered about 2000 persons, adjourned with three cheers for the orator of the evening, and three-times-three for the Cause!

After the adjournment the Bostonians were made the guests of the citizens, the latch-string was out, and they did not return until a late hour.

The Bee says:

The "exercises" were kept up till full 2 in the morning.

The Telegraph says:

We are informed upon excellent authority that the audience generally, and especially the delegates from abroad were a peculiarly "hard" set of customers. In one of the omnibuses, and probably in all, liquor was passed round before the company went into the place of meeting, and after being refreshed by the eloquence of the Reverend orator, the still thirsty audience drank the Spring Hotel dry, and then smashed in the windows of an Irishwoman's house because she refused to furnish them with drink. The whole affair was a noisy and drunken one, as might have been expected.

NICK NAMES.—They are of various classes, the honorable, the humorous, and the contemptuous. Those of the latter description are generally in bad taste. We perceive the Eastern Argus speaking of "Elder Pecky-diddle." This is in the same taste as it would be to style the absent editor of the Argus, the "Hon. John Apple-toddy." We think Mr. Appleton would not thank any body for such a name; and that no gentleman would apply it to him.

LIFE AT NEWPORT, R. I.—In the Court of Justices, Lieut. Charles Hunter, (late of the U. S. Navy,) was bound over to take his trial before the Supreme Court on the 4th Monday of August, for a violent and unprovoked assault and battery on Mr. Henry Paul Beck, of Philadelphia. The case is making "talk" at Newport.

Was the gallant lieutenant perfectly sober at the time.

SEIZURES.—Five seizures of contraband R. G. liquors were made in Portland last week: viz. from a steamer at the wharf, from a store, from the street, from a schooner, and from a wharf.

The following stories from the Advertiser, show the latest dodges.

Five barrels of Medford rum directed to the Agent of Franklin Plantation, have been stopped by the police until proper inquiries can be made. It was but recently, that seven barrels were allowed by our police to pass through being directed to the same Agency, but by a different route. The arrival of this last lot of five barrels excited the suspicion of our police that it was not intended for any Agency, and that some persons were engaged in smuggling liquors into Oxford county under this guise, they therefore deemed it their duty to detain it for the present, until the authorities of Franklin could be heard from.

The manner in which some persons attempt to evade the law, is quite curious. A short time since some of our officers noticed landing on the wharf four barrels of "Mess Pork" directed to a gentleman at Mechanic Falls; having their suspicions awakened, that this pork might need further inspection, they concluded to do it free of charge, when lo! instead of "Prime Mess" which was marked as the contents of the barrels, they discovered four kegs of the "R. G." brand, neatly enclosed and packed round with salt. It was seized and detained, and the person to whom it was directed was informed of the seizure. He came to the city and informed the Marshal that he had no knowledge of the transaction, had never ordered any liquor at all, and said he was determined to ferret out the author of the fraud if it was possible, as he did not choose to have his name used for the purpose of smuggling liquors into the State in violation of the laws. Our police are wide awake in this business and it is quite difficult to "run" any thing, as many have found to their cost.

☞ The Ladies' Repository for August, contains, as its first article, Ruth Corey, the Backslider: a tale of the Old Pilgrim Times: By Miss Elizabeth Doten. We have read no tale for a long time, which better shows a power in the writer to tell a simple story in a natural manner. This is, we take it, the perfection of story telling; and Miss Doten exhibits this power in the tale before us. The other contents are: Summer, M. Remick; Letters from the Holy Land, Thomas A. Goddard; Lenore, A. A. Norton; The Fire Spirits, Elizabeth Doten; Evening Notes, M. A. H. Dodd; Look on This and on That, Editor; Thou wilt be a Bride, Agnes; The late Eruption of Vesuvius, T. A. G.; Evening and Morning, M. T. G.; Little Alice, N. T. Munroe; Breathings of the Sea, Editor; A Discourse Reviewed, Editor; The Editor's Arm Chair.

Published monthly, by Abel Tompkins Boston. Price $2 per annum.

☞ Frank Leslie's Gazette of Fashions, for August, is a study worthy of attention. It is by no means a mere pattern book and Dress Maker's Manual; but contains Tales, Essays, and Reviews, of real merit. The embellishments are numerous and costly. The Frontispiece is four colored ladies: we beg pardon, it is a colored plate of four ladies.

Then we have a dozen loves of bonnets—and then more than a dozen ladies, some lovely and some not, dressed in flounces and furbelows almost innumerable, and quite indescribable by our pen. Then four men and the Empress Eugnie.

Frank Leslie, publisher, New York.

☞ Hon. Isaac Reed has formally accepted the straight whig nomination for Governor of Maine. In doing so, he says:

"The events which have transpired, since my nomination for the same office in 1854, may not have increased the prospects of my election to that responsible place."

We should think so too. His nomination merely plays second fiddle to the liquor party.

BRIDGE ITEMS.—The Charlestown Advertiser keeps beyond the bridges, from Boston; and gets up first rate items. Witness the following.

A drunken Irishman in a vehicle, returning from a funeral, attempted to evade the toll last evening on the bridge. He was stopped, and on paying, demanded a receipt for the money, besides giving abuse. The tollman administered a severe punch in the ribs, and a woman in the vehicle soundly cuffed him on both ears, with a "hold yer tongue." He considered this a receipt in full, and drove along.

One of the tollmen upon the Charles River and Warren Bridges, has discovered a method of discriminating between those milkmen who water their milk, and those who dispense the pure article. Those who adulterate, when they pay toll for their teams, hand over five cents, and the tollman is certain to find a bad one, or 'brummy,' sandwiched between four good ones. Those who deal honestly, however, he has noticed, always pay in good copper or silver coin of the republic. He is an acute observer of men and things, that tollman, and the dealers in milk must be careful how they expose their misdeeds by passing 'brummies' upon him. He ought to register their names and publish them, that the public may know who are the trustiest venders of the creamy fluid.

MAGNIFICENT WEATHER.—The papers from the British provinces report that "the weather continues to be magnificent for agricultural purposes."

Favorable weather, would be far better for agriculture.

LOCAL.

BATHING.—There has been considerable said in the Chronicle recently in relation to the Beaches and the watering places in our vicinity, but all of our readers cannot find it convenient to frequently visit them. To such, as the next best thing, we would say by all means bathe in our river. The Piscataqua Bath House offers ample facilities for this enjoyment, and a plunge into the cool river is quite refreshing upon a warm day. Many of the young men of this city avail themselves of the privilege; some, it is said, not only in the summer but also rather late in the Fall.

☞ Some little excitement was occasioned in the Post Office last evening just before the opening of the mails, by the burning of camphene in the large lamp suspended there.—Loss, one glass lamp filled with camphene. Greater damage was prevented by the presence of mind and coolness of Post Master Rundlett, who seized the burning lamp and threw it out of doors. We have not heard that any one was "considerably injured by fright." Q.

WINDSOR CHAIRS.—An antiquarian writer in the Boston Transcript, several days ago, in noticing old trades, which he found recorded, mentioned one man as a Windsor Chair Maker, and then put the question, What is a Windsor Chair? who can tell?

Uncle Toby sits every day at dinner in a Windsor Chair, which was made by Josiah Folsom of this place, a little more than fifty years ago. It is made of wood throughout: and the back is formed by a bow, or half a hoop fastened into the seat at both ends, and rising about 20 inches: this bow contains 9 upright posts or slats; which make a strong and comfortable back.

This peculiar back, formed like a bow, with 6 or more upright slats, on a wooden bottom, was the Windsor Chair of that day, and the Windsor was the standard chair for dining and sitting rooms.

There were besides, kitchen chairs, with square formed backs and flag bottoms; and fancy chairs of sundry kinds, for chambers and parlors.

GOT HIS PAPERS.—At the city election in Cleveland, an old gentleman, after being duly elected, and sworn judge, was asked whether he was an American citizen. He replied—"I have been an American citizen for thirty five years, and I have been naturalized, CIVILIRED, and CIRCUMCISED!!" 'Sam' roared, and demanded the documents.—Bee.

The Crimean correspondent of the London News, says some time must elapse before any thing decisive can occur. We are still far from the enemy's works, and the space that separates us from them being quite exposed and swept in every direction by the Russian projectiles, the approaches progress very slowly.

In New Orleans, last week, a Mr. Blanchard, confidential clerk to a Mr. Blessey, took advantage of the absence of his employer, sold his goods, drew his bank balances, and collected his debts, and then vamosed to Havana with $11,000, the proceeds of his roguery and deception.

A ship owner in New York, who has a ship up for Liverpool, offers to take a bin of grain (10,000 bushels) to Liverpool gratis, the shipper to load and unload the grain, and give the shipowner the lumber of which the bin is constructed.

Hickory nut oil, considered equal to the best lard or sperm oil for burning and machinery, is now manufactured in Dayton, Ohio. The oil remains in a fluid state at a very low temperature, and does not "gum," like the ordinary oils. It is used in very delicate machinery.

LIQUOR IN THE GUTTER.—A lot of liquor, seized some time since, in Worcester, was thrown into the gutter by the City Marshal, on Tuesday. A part of the same "fluid" had previously thrown several persons into the same place.

Homer Ruggles, late Assistant Postmaster at Northfield, Vt., has been convicted of mail robbery, and sentenced to ten years imprisonment at hard labor.

Niepcotypes on Glass, and Photographs on Paper.

MR. SALEN wishes to inform the citizens of Portsmouth and vicinity, that he has procured the Art to take Likenesses on GLASS and PAPER. The now so much admired Photograph, taken on paper, excels by far the Daguerreotype on a metallic plate

These pictures are durable; are not reversed; have not the blending of a Daguerreotype, and excel in softness of light and shade the finest engraving. They are finished on beautiful French cartons put up in frames, and therefore are particularly adapted for parlor pictures. They can also be secured and sent in a letter to a distant friend.

Taken at SALEN'S Daguerrean Gallery, at all prices and sizes, on reasonable terms.

Please call and examine specimens. s6

Growth of 1854.

A LOT of nice HOPS of last year's crop, for sale by LA FAYETTE LAIGHTON.

☞ Rev. David Sutherland, formerly of Bath, N. H., died at Lisbon, N. H., July 25th, aged 78.- He was well known and highly respected by his own denomination and others, throughout the State. A writer in the Statesman says,—

"Mr. Sutherland came from Scotland, his native country, to this in 1804, when he was 25 years old. He first preached in Bath in that year, and in 1854 he gave us his semi-centennial Address, reviewing the history of his church and people these fifty years.

He was settled there in 1806, and he remained the pastor of the town until the new laws severing those relations. He had overflowing assemblies to hear him for those 20 years.

The secret of popularity was his universal love for all—his readiness, his eloquence, his fluency, and his great sincerity. He was always appropriate. His prayers were so fervent and so full of pathos that he moved all who heard him.

After the new laws, he preached to the people still, being supported by the church and society instead of the town, until 1832, when Bath was divided into two parishes—the eastern and western. He then preached to the eastern until the re-union of the parishes, when the Rev. Edward Cleaveland, with his approbation, was installed pastor, and since then the Rev. Thomas Bontelle, who is still settled there. Mr. Sutherland often preached there until within amonth or two of his death.

His voice for several years past was too low and indistinct to be heard easily, and yet it was musical and sweet to the last. Old Mr. Nelson, a brother Scotsman, said of him that he had just brogue enough to tickle a Yankee's ear.

But he is gone. His prayers are ended, and he has entered on that scene he used so vividly to describe.

LIFE IN PORTLAND.—The Argus informs us that on Monday morning, before the sun had begun to fling his golden mantle over the leaden sky [wide Longfellow and others for further particulars,] a horse with a cart annexed, was seen by our vigilant and sleepless watchmen wending his way northward from one of our wharves. The cart with its freight —supposed to consist of that deleterious article known as Rot-gut—was guarded by nine men or thereabout. But our watchmen feared not the face of clay. With the war-cry of "DOW AND RUM!" they rushed valiantly upon the enemy; whereat one of the guard, who had but a single arm to bless himself with, pulled from his bosom a revolver, and threatened to drown officer Poole in a pool of blood; but he didn't do it, as the said Poole can testify.

The horse, not liking the melee, and being peacefully inclined, tried to back out, but he backed so far that the liquor went overboard. Thereupon the enemy scattered, but were soon discovered in the character of a naval squadron, picking up the stray casks as they floated on the water. The police also succeeded in obtaining a small quantity, which is destined for the thirsty maw of the city drain.

Mrs. J. H. Perry, at the Parker House, New Bedford, was filling one of the self-heating flat-irons with alcohol from a demi-john, when the alcohol in the iron took fire, and communicated with that in the demijohn, and then set fire to her dress. She ran down stairs, where several gentleman seized her, and throwing her upon the floor, extinguished the burning dress without injury to her.

SANTA ANNA.—The correspondent of the Journal of Commerce telegraphs from Washington that private advices of the 19th of July from Mexico induce a belief that Santa Anna is about to compromise with his opponents, on condition of being allowed to retire with his fortune and his family. His wife was to embark for New York in a war steamer, with her step-father, General Vidal, who is appointed Minister to the United States.

GENERAL HOUSTON.—The Texas Baptist states that Gen. Sam Houston has deposited as a donation in the Treasury of Baylor University in that State, between $450 and $500, as the avails in part of the lectures delivered by him last winter, while visiting the Northern cities. The remaining proceeds of the lectures, when received, will probably make the whole amount about $700.

Although the weather is rather "catching," still the great building processes of this season,—the County Court House, and the Unitarian and the Universalist churches,—all massive brick structures, have proceeded well. In no year was so much done to adorn the city.—Concord, N. H. Statesman.

The old and new school Presbyterians of Gallipolis, Ohio, are in serious contention for the possession of the church building. The "old" brethren have it in their hands, and keep an officer constantly in the church to repel the "new" brethren. The "new" ministrr gained an entrance last Sunday, but was roughly ejected. The "old" brethren do not worship in the house, and do not intend it shall be used for gospel purposes until the majesty of the law is vindicated.

A PROFITABLE BET.—An Englishman in New York, who was trying to make a bet with an American on the speedy capture of Sevastopol, took up the following proposition: The American deposited $100 in the hands of the Englishman, for which he was to receive $25 per month until Sevastopol was taken. This was the 1st of November last, and the American has received his $25 per month ever since that time.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 1st.—To-day the counsel of Mr. Williamson applied to the Supreme Court for a writ of habeas corpus, to bring Mr. Williamson before that tribunal. The writ however was refused.

A minister in Connecticut recently wound up his forenoon discourse by advising such of his congregation as had hay out, to "go to work and get it in, for it looked likely to rain." A fact.

APPLES.—The Rochester Union says that a beautiful crop of apples will be gathered in Western New York. The orchards are said to be laden with fruit.

PAVILION,
WOLFBOROUGH, N. H.
THE subscribers beg leave to inform their friends and the public that they have leased the above spacious Public House, which contains over one hundred well furnished rooms, which have been put in good order, for permanent and transient boarders. The House commands a good view of Lake Winnipiseogee, together with the beautiful hills which surround it- from one of which the prospect is said to excel that of Mount Washington—making many beautiful rides in the vicinity, on land as well as on the beautiful lake.

Good horses and carriages are connected with the house, and the beautiful steamboats "Lady of the Lake" and "Over" make several trips each day up and down the lake. Gentlemen who delight in angling and gunning will find here ample field for their favorite enjoyment. Meals at all hours, without extra charge, for sportsmen.—Good carriages and accommodating porters in attendance on the arrival of each boat.

Steamboat Notice.
THE fine and commodious Steamboat SILVER STAR will run regularly every day from Portsmouth to Appledore Island, (Isles of Shoals,) in connection with the morning trains from the South, leaving Pier Wharf, Portsmouth, directly after the arrival of the Cars, and will return in season for the Evening Trains from Portsmouth.

The Boat is fitted with all the modern improvements for a Passenger Boat; and her double Engines are of the most approved pattern, and all her appointments are superior.

Towing done on reasonable terms. For particulars apply to the captain, or to Capt. Marshall at Pier wharf.

The boat can be chartered for sea Parties, upon application to the captain on board, giving reasonable notice.
je23 THOMAS MAKINNEY, Captain.

Yacht Sea Ranger,
FOR THE SHOALS AND A MARKET.
CAPT. JAMES W. GOODWIN respectfully gives notice to the pleasure seeking public that he has purchased for their accommodation the present season, the safe, commodious and fast-sailing Yacht SEA RANGER, of 45 tons burthen, with which he is now prepared to convey parties to the Shoals, Boar's Head and other places in the vicinity; and having furnished her with all the necessary materials, will accommodate FISHING PARTIES on reasonable terms.

The SEA RANGER will outsail any vessel on the Piscataqua or of any neighboring ports, in light or heavy winds; is fitted with excellent berths; is well supplied with sails, boats, fishing and cooking apparatus, and is in every respect the best vessel for the accommodation of parties who desire a few days enjoyment on the briny ocean that ever hailed from this port.

The SEA RANGER will make occasional trips to the SHOALS for the accommodation of such persons as desire safe conveyance thither; and when the bosom of old ocean is too much agitated for the steamer GRACE DARLING, alias Silver Star, to venture forth, the Yacht will bear passengers safely over the boisterous billow.

The commander of the Sea Ranger confidently appeals to those who have in past seasons patronized the SPY under his command, for the continuance of their patronage for his new Yacht, pledging himself to use every exertion to give them and all new patrons entire satisfaction.

For further particulars apply to JACOB WALDEN, No. 9 Water street, or to the Master on board, at Pier Wharf, foot of State street.

DEAD SHOT FOR BED BUGS.
SURE death to these noxious disturbers of our nightly rest. Apply it to insects and it curls them up and lays them out as readily as Sulphur Fumes kills Bees.

It has no equal in the market. The whole world cannot produce a substitute of similar value to the comfort of a neat tidy housewife. Its application is of little trouble, while the benefit which may be derived from a single night's undisturbed repose is incalculable.

SANCHO PANZA
Called down "blessings upon the head of the man who first invented sleep." How much more worthy such honorable distinction would he consider the inventor of the Dead Shot, who, by his Pungent and Deadly Preparation, has rendered utterly impossible the ancient bloody forays of such tolerable and not to be endured tormentors; and who has enabled every one to guarantee to himself his own particular share of "Tired Nature's sweet restorer."

LETTERS FROM GERMANY.—No. 3.

BONN, July 11, 1855.

Messrs. Editors:—The city of Ghent, at which point of my journey I concluded my last letter, has figured conspicuously in the history of Europe during the last nine hundred years. It will be remembered by your readers as the place where the treaty, which terminated our last war with Great Britain, was concluded. In the time of Charles V, Emperor of Germany, it contained a population of 175,000. At present its population is only 100,000. Thirty five miles from Ghent is Mechlin, celebrated for its lace. The lace manufactured there at the present time, is said to be coarse and inferior to that formerly produced. On arriving there, it being dark, I determined to stop for the night, for the double purpose of seeing the city, and to avoid passing through the country from Mechlin to Cologne,—some portions of which are excessively beautiful—in the night. English travelers laugh very much at the haste with which Americans, after having crossed the Atlantic to see the old world, "go ahead" through the country when they arrive here. Some of them "rather guess" we are not much benefitted by the tour, and "reckon" we are very likely to give unfavorable reports at home. This was my first experience at a European Hotel, and I am free to confess I like some of their regulations much better than those of the Hotels in America; especially those respecting meals. The table is set but once during the day; that is for dinner, and is called table-de-hote. Breakfast and supper are ordered by each individual or company at whatever hour it is desired. Each article of food and drink is also specified particularly, and the bill is made out accordingly. This being my first night's rest after landing, I enjoyed it better than I can express. The luxury of having a bed of sufficient dimensions to allow one to lie down all over at once, and sleep en masse and not by sections, is better "felt than described." My comfortable lodgings did not, however, wean me from my purpose to see some of the curiosities of an old European town. At an early hour I passed quietly into the street by the front door, which was unlocked, and an armed guard was pacing to and fro before it. This circumstance of the guard is not usual. The cause of it in this instance was that an officer of high rank in the army had stopped there for the night. On stepping out of the door, the first peculiarity I noticed was that there were no sidewalks. The streets were paved to the very walls of the houses, with irregularly shaped fragments of quarry stone, making a very rough pavement and very hard to walk upon. I afterward found some streets that had sidewalks from one and a half to three feet in width, but I have yet to see a respectable sidewalk in Europe. Carriages are not so numerous in the streets here as they are in America—hence people on foot occupy the middle of the street with less inconvenience to themselves than they could there. The bells of the great Cathedral were ringing their matin chimes, and peasants were already flocking to the temple for worship. It was Ascension Day, a great holiday among the Catholics. All were released from their labors, and consequently unusual numbers were thus early astir. This Cathedral—commenced in the middle of the fifteenth century and not yet completed—is first among the numerous attractions of Mechlin. Its exact dimensions I have not been able to learn, but it is of gigantic size, and its tower or steeple far surpasses every thing else of the kind I have yet seen. It is yet unfinished, but has already been carried to the height of 348 feet. Its walls are but slightly contracted up to this point, and its top is sufficiently large to afford ample foundation for many of the churches in New England. The original design was to carry it to the amazing and giddy height of 640 feet.

There is a standing joke upon the inhabitants of Mechlin, connected with this tower. It is said that on a certain occasion some mischievous person gave the alarm that the tower was on fire. The people flocked together in great haste, with their fire engines, to prevent a conflagration so terrible, when they discovered that it was only the moon shining through the gothic open work. This circumstance has given rise to a sort of proverb by no means relished by those to whom it is applid,—"The wise men of Mechlin tried to extinguish the moon."

The inside of this vast temple is decorated with statues and paintings almost innumerable, and some of them of exquisite execution. One, a painting of the crucifixion, by Vandyck, is regarded as "the most capital of all his works, and one of the finest pictures in the world." The pulpit is a very curious and ingenious piece of carved work. A back view presents the appearance of the trunk of an immense tree, in which steps are cut by which to ascend into the pulpit. As it approaches the earth it spreads out into very large roots, on which are carved lizards, frogs, snails and serpents, all colored so life-like that one needs to assure himself, by a few moments steady gaze, in order to be fully satisfied that they are not real. The front is intended to represent the conversion of the Apostle Paul, and, although the idea is entirely unscriptural, exhibits the ingenuity of the designer and the skill of the statuary. The design is the same we have often seen in engravings, representing the falling Apostle with a fallen horse beneath him. The Inspired Word, it will be remembered, has neglected entirely to mention the circumstance of the horse. The pulpit itself, in which the trunk terminates at the top, surmounts the whole.

I cannot give you a minute account of the various saints, apostles, angels, images of the virgin, and paintings of scenes fabulous and real—in the history of the church, which attracted my attention on every side. A new image of the virgin had recently been set up in honor of the new dogma—the immaculate conception. I spent an hour and a half in this stately dome, and was scarcely conscious that time was passing. Another hour and a half was spent in a walk about the town, viewing the churches, all Catholic, and other places of interest. It being now 9 o'clock, I began to feel a little appetite for breakfast, and returned to the hotel.

Yours, very truly, T. H.

THE CITY BARN.—We confess to a feeling of humiliation at the thought that the city government cannot get a committee to rebuild the barn at the Poor Farm. It is two weeks since its destruction by fire, and a new frame for it ought to have been raised ere this. The crops are suffering for shelter. What will be done with its cattle and horses when cold weather comes, its large quantities of corn, &c.? We submit whether the action of the Common Council has not been a little boyish? It is a good maxim, "Never bite your own nose off" for the sake of injuring some one else. Because others are in the wrong, do no wrong yourself.

It has been suggested that the city, in case no barn is built, should buy the "automaton, self-heating steam furnace" to warm the farm and the "Duke of Orleans, Jr." during the winter.

We copy the above from the Manchester Mirror; not because we care any thing about the Manchester Barn,—but because we would like to have it understood that city officers of all grades, have certain duties to perform, which rest upon them as obligations. These are not to be neglected on any pleas of a right to dissent, or to non-concur, &c. These rights exist—but no one can have the right to do wrong.

It is true that injustice is done under the name of justice and law sometimes—and the people cannot help it—but the officers are none the less to blame.

So, on the other hand, the laws make it imperative on city and other officers to perform certain duties and punish offences. And the officers have no option in the matter. They must either do duty or take the consequences in fines and dismissions.

SAD CASE.—In the Boston Police Court, on Thursday, before Justice Russell, Mary Elizabeth Jones, sentenced two or three months since to five years in the House of Correction, under a recent law for punishment of night walkers, previously convicted, was brought up again. The former sentence was to the extent of the law, and was suspended on condition of her leaving the city. As is frequently the case, she changed her residence to another section of the city, believing that she either would not be recognized by the officers, or not troubled by them. Upon being arraigned, the court ordered the former sentence to take effect. The defendant, finding herself in an unfortunate predicament, wished to appeal, but was told that it was too late, having been barred, by her assent and choice, when the sentence was passed. She is about 18 years of age.

Some may deem the sentence hard: in one view it is, as men as guilty of a similar crime, or more guilty of others, go unwhipt of justice in the courts. But in another view it is a mercy and a kindness to her as well as to the public: and it may be the girl's salvation. The saddening view of the case is, such vice and degradation in one so young.

ONE OF THE BALTIMORE VISITORS ROBBED.—One of the twenty Baltimoreans now stopping at the Revere House reported to the police last evening, that he had been robbed of a valuable watch by one of a party that escorted him home from the Harkaway billiard saloon.—Boston Telegraph.

That was a beautiful escort of distinguished gentlemen—not a fanatic among them—every one of them liberal, and ready to give three cheers for Rev. Mr. Lovejoy's sermon,—and nine cheers for the cause. We wish the man joy when he gets his watch.

☞ We see by the list of taxes in Newburyport, recently published, that one resident pays as her proportion $1266.40; and the estate of another, $1013.60. Besides these one pays over $900, fourteen over $300, and seventy three between one and three hundred.

LOCAL.

HONOR TO WHOM HONOR.—We record it as undoubtedly true, and a valuable compliment undesignedly given, that His Honor Mayor Walker, and the majority of our Board of Aldermen know but little about the quality of liquors, as the Gazette intimates. That is to say they are now, and have been for years, total abstinents.

Now we ask any man, who drinks ever so much, if he would think any better of any or all of these gentlemen, if they were free drinkers? What harm does it do any body, that our Mayor, and the majority of the Aldermen have so little to do with strong drinks, as hardly to know one from another?

We hope it may be a long day before we have any old soakers on that board.

STOP THIEF.—Copies of the Daily Chronicle are frequently stolen from the doors of subscribers. We will give $5 for evidence which shall convict any one of the offence. And we know of several subscribers who "would like to catch 'em at it"—including one gent whose store door was robbed of his paper, last week, three mornings in succession. We advise the thief to desist from further depredations in that quarter, for he would need to call on the Good Samaritan, should our harassed friend "only get a sight of him."

☞ We learn by telegraph from Bangor, under date of Saturday morning, that the pilot boat Sibyl, Capt. Preble, from this port on Tuesday last, with a party of gentleman on a pleasure excursion, down east, left the mouth of the Kennebec river on Friday morning, and arrived at Bangor in the evening.

"All well."

SEA RANGER.—The Yacht Sea Ranger, Capt. James W. Goodwin, left this port on Saturday morning for Newburyport, from which place she is to sail this morning, with a large party of gentlemen, on a sea excursion, which is expected to last a fortnight.

We think "the late Police Justice of blessed memory" must be flattered by being compared to the learned Judge Kane of the Supreme Court of the United States, even if the parallel is drawn by the conceited, mock orthodox editor of the little Chronicle.—N. H. Gazette.

If any body is made happy by Uncle Toby's conceit, or by his own, the old man is thankful therefor: he did not compare the Judges at all, however, but only the Dogberry decisions of the learned Judge Kane, with those of other courts: and if any body is flattered by that, it must be the cheapest kind of flattery.

He was not aware that the justness of a criticism depends on the size of the sheet whereon it is printed:—but if it be so, then the person who is disturbed by the little Chronicle, may find a severer censure on Judge Kane's document, in the Boston Advertiser, a good sized sheet, whose editors cannot be charged with orthodoxy, mock or real. Uncle T. did not know that he was guilty of any such offence;—but in these days, when Dogberrys put men in jail for contempt, he will be careful how he says so.

For the Chronicle.

PUNCTUALITY.

Messrs. Editors:—What should we do without newspapers? How should we vent our grumblings and discontents? How express our wants? How command what meets our approval? I have been led to these reflections while thinking of certain grievances, but especially upon what I, in common with many others, endured yesterday, in a house of public worship; and that was, the want of punctuality in some of the congregation, many of whom apparently, have not only no regard for the comfort of their fellow men, but are equally regardless of their Almighty Maker, whom they professedly go to worship.

If a man of business has a pecuniary obligation to meet, or an appointment to keep, how will he note and watch the day and hour lest his worldly reputation should suffer by his neglect? If the devotees of fashion and idle life have a call on their valuable time, how will they move heaven and earth to accomplish the, to them, all important mission? And will they be less careful of their eternal interests by a slothful attendance at set times and seasons for religious purposes? The clergyman is expected to be punctual, and generally he is punctual, and commences the services of the day at the appointed time.—Those who are present endeavor to listen to and join in the solemn duty, till interrupted by the slamming of doors, the creaking of boots, or the supercilious airs of the thoughtless idlers, or what is worse, the parade of some who are wilfully late—so that the first ten or fifteen minutes of every service is lost to the hearers! Now these things ought not so to be. But how can they be cured? That is the question. I have thought that if you could induce "Uncle Toby," who no doubt has in his day been sadly troubled by this same grievance, to give us one of his lectures on the subject, he might lessen the annoyance if not wholly obliterate such bad manners.

In this hope, I remain yours, PETER.

THE APPLE CROP.—We are much mistaken if we do not have the largest crop of apples we ever had. The few accounts that we have noticed in our exchanges, speak in glowing terms of delicious and most valuable fruit. In the western part of the State especially, orchards are laden with them. Indeed, if present prospects hold good, there will be more apples than can be used or gathered.—Albany Argus.

☞ Gosport and Portsmouth, Va., are almost deserted on account of yellow fever.

☞ Telegraphic despatches make it probable that the Democratic party have a majority of Congressmen in North Carolina,—and that the same party have carried Tennessee by a small majority.

Niepcotypes on Glass, and Photographs on Paper.
MR. SALEN wishes to inform the citizens of Portsmouth and vicinity, that he has procured the Art to take Likenesses on GLASS and PAPER. The now so much admired Photograph, taken on paper, excels by far the Daguerreotype on a metallic plate
These pictures are durable; are not reversed; have not the blending of a Daguerreotype, and excel in softness of light and shade the finest engraving. They are finished on beautiful French cartons put up in frames, and therefore are particularly adapted for parlor pictures. They can also be secured and sent in a letter to a distant friend.
Taken at SALEN'S Daguerrean Gallery, at all prices and sizes, on reasonable terms.
Please call and examine specimens. a4

A THE CRUEL PUNISHMENT OF A SOLDIER AT FORT MCHENRY.—The Fort McHenry case, in which the death of a soldier named Loup was alleged to have been caused by cruel punishment, has been investigated by a military Court of Inquiry. The facts elicited were that Loup was drunk and disorderly, and getting into a quarrel with the Sergeant, drew a sabre upon him. He was then confined in the guard house, but made so much noise that Lieut. Griffin ordered him to be tied and gagged. This was done by his being tied up to the flag staff by the wrists and legs, and his mouth gagged. He succeeded in getting the gag out twice, and made a noise again, whereupon a Sergeant made a third gag of the flag halyards and a blanket, and with brutal ignorance stuffed the thick suffocating mass into the poor fellow's mouth, tying the rope behind his head, and directed the sentinel to keep tight hold of them.

Loup, who was suffocating, struggled desperately for about half an hour to get out his gag, but was prevented by the sentinel pulling strongly, and keeping his head back. After that, his body relaxed, his knees sunk, and he hung by the wrists, dead, as was ascertained, but not till some hours afterwards.

The Court have exonerated Lieut. Griffin from all blame, his order being according to "regulations," but not intended to mean that the prisoner should be tied up to the flag staff or gagged in an unusual manner.

PROBABLE MORTAL ACCIDENT.—The youngest son of Mr. William Manning, of West Roxbury, a lad of about fifteen years of age, was sadly and probably fatally injured Wednesday evening, at his father's residence, by the premature discharge of a gun loaded with shot. The contents penetrated his right lung. The muzzle of the gun was about one foot from the breast at the time, and a part of the charge glanced by the ribs, breaking two of them, and passing out on the side, but the bulk of the shot made a passage to and lodged near the spine, just under the skin. At last accounts he was still alive. During the evening he called in many of his friends and young schoolmates, and bid them adieu with Christian fortitude and resignation, and calmly laid himself down, as he expressed it, to sleep the sleep of death, saying—"God's will be done; I hope to meet you all in a better world."

DREADFUL PARRICIDE.—On Saturday last, Mr. Tucker Jones, who resides about six or eight miles from Dinwiddie, N. Y., was scolding his son for not having obeyed his directions in going with a load of oats.—The son made some insolent remark in reply, which so provoked the father, that he seized a gun and pointed it towards him. As he was about firing it, the mother turned the gun with her arm, and the load was discharged through an adjoining window. As she was rushing out of the house to call in help, she heard a noise behind her, and, on looking back, perceived her husband stretched lifeless on the floor, felled by the hand of his son.—The son has been arrested, but is out on bail.

THE HARVEST.—The accounts of the harvest prospects in Ireland are favorable beyond all precedent. The crops of all kinds are advancing rapidly to maturity, and promise a most abundant as well as an early return.—The potato crop looks exceedingly healthy, and the supply of young potatoes in the market is becoming more abundant. As a natural result of the promises which the season holds forth, a slight decline has taken place in the price of grain. Almost every part of the country has been visited by thunder storms recently.

A VETERAN ON A BENDER.—Wm. Dale, aged 70, who, as he says, has seen a great deal of service, was arrested yesterday for the statutory offence of being publicly drunk.—He was found in the Central Railroad yard entertaining a motley group with feats of legerdemain, gymnastics and recitations of humorous speeches, made by him when a clown in Welche's Circus. Dale, according to his story, was in the war of 1812, has been twice around the world, was with the circus company seven years, has twice been to California and has but lately returned. He claimed to be as sprightly as a youth, jumping backwards over a high railing, turning somersets, hand springs, &c., with wonderful ease, considering his age and condition. When asked where he obtained his liquor he denied having drank anything intoxicating, but admitted that he had eaten some Boston crackers which flew into his head. To prove that he was sober he ran a twenty-penny nail through his tongue, but this did not have the desired effect as the magistrate committed him to jail.—Albany paper.

THE DEGREES OF CRIME.—The six degrees of crime are thus defined:

He who steals a million is a financier. Who steals a half a million is a defaulter.—Who steals a quarter of a million is a swindler. Who steals a hundred thousand is a rogue. Who steals fifty thousand is a knave. But he who steals a pair of boots or a loaf of bread is a scoundrel of the deepest dye, and deserves to be lynched.

Wednesday morning, the operation of tracheotomy, was successfully performed by Dr. A. B. Hall of Boston, upon a child aged between 4 and 5 years, daughter of Mr. John Clark, to prevent impending suffocation from croup. A silver tube or canula was introduced into the opening of the trachea, and the breathing became immediately relieved, and there are now strong hopes that the child will recover.

An awful case of scan. mag. has recently been disclosed in England. Miss Beatrice Jane Jones, the daughter of a Church of England clergyman residing at Douglass, Isle of Man, became a convert to Roman Catholicism, and, at the same time, the mother of a lovely babe, having turned too ready an ear to the inculcations of a Catholic priest named the Rev. Richard Singleton, to whom she swore it, and he was decreed to provide for its support. But he appealed and tried various schemes to avoid the responsibility, but in vain.

The county magistrates confirmed the previous order, directing Mr. Singleton to pay half-a-crown per week during thirteen years, for the maintenance of the child.

SAGAMORE HOUSE,
FROST'S POINT, 3½ miles from Postsm. Depots.
THE Proprietor of the above House respectfully announces to the pleasure-seeking public that he will open for the season on WEDNESDAY, June 20th.
To those familiar with the locality of the Sagamore House, not a word is necessary in regard to its beautiful and healthful situation.—To strangers seeking rest and recreation by the seaside it affords attractions unequalled. Situated on a point of land on the Atlantic shore, near the Harbor of Portsmouth, the windows on three sides overlook the salt water. From the beach, the broad Atlantic, the Isles of Shoals, the beautiful Piscataqua, and the City of Portsmouth form a charming prospect, and in the background the green fields and leafy woods present a relieving contrast.
The House will be kept in the best manner, and every endeavor will be used to give satisfaction to its guests. The more effectually to do this, the proprietor has secured the services of MR. JOHN MACK, formerly of the Rockingham House, Portsmouth, whose experience and skill in hotel keeping will be a sufficient guarantee to all who know him that the management will be all that could be desired. The Table will be supplied with all the seasonable luxuries of the sea and land, and every effort used to render a sojourn at the Sagamore agreeable.
THOS R. CLARK, Proprietor.

APPLEDORE HOUSE,
ISLES OF SHOALS.
THIS House is now open for public accommodation. As everybody is, or ought to be, cognizant of the natural advantages of this purely OCEAN RETREAT, the public will not be bored with real or imaginary descriptions. Suffice it to say that every facility for the promotion of the happiness and quiet enjoyment of visitors may be found here.
A STEAMER will make daily trips between the Islands and Portsmouth, accommodating itself to the arrival and departure of the several trains.
je16 2m THOMAS B. LAIGHTON.

PAVILION,
WOLFBOROUGH, N. H.
THE subscribers beg leave to inform their friends and the public that they have leased the above spacious Public House, which contains over one hundred well furnished rooms, which have been put in good order, for permanent and transient boarders. The House commands a good view of Lake Winnipisseogee, together with the beautiful hills which surround it—from one of which the prospect is said to excel that of Mount Washington—making many beautiful rides in the vicinity, on land as well as on the beautiful lake.
Good horses and carriages are connected with the house, and the beautiful steamboats "Lady of the Lake" and "Dover" make several trips each day up and down the lake. Gentlemen who delight in angling and gunning will find here ample field for their favorite enjoyment. Meals at all hours, without extra charge, for sportsmen.—Good carriages and accommodating porters in attendance on the arrival of each boat.
NATH'L TEAD,
Wolfboro', June 27. R. W. ADAMS.

Steamboat Notice.
THE fine and commodious Steamboat SILVER SAIL will run regularly every day from Portsmouth to Appledore Island, (Isles of Shoals,) in connection with the morning trains from the South, leaving Pier Wharf, Portsmouth, directly after the arrival of the Cars, and will return in season for the Evening Trains from Portsmouth.
The Boat is fitted with all the modern improvements for a Passenger Boat; and her double Engines are of the most approved pattern, and all her appointments are superior.
Towing done on reasonable terms. For particulars apply to the captain, or to Capt. Marshall at Pier wharf.
The boat can be chartered for sea Parties, upon application to the captain on board, giving reasonable notice.
je23 THOMAS MAKINNEY, Captain.

Isles of Shoals.
THE Fast sailing Pleasure Boat STAR OF THE EAST, will make daily trips between the Isles of Shoals and Portsmouth, accommodating itself to the departure of the several trains, on and after June 18th. The boat will be found at Pier Wharf, foot of State st. je18

Cholera Morbus and Dytentery
ELIXIR.
A Sure, Safe and Speedy Remedy!
A THOROUGH trial of this valuable Medicine the past two years, during the prevalence of the above disease, proved it the most successful remedy ever used by the medical profession, if taken in season. Three doses are sure to arrest its progress, at once checks the discharges, and instantly relieves all pain. Any Physician will be made acquainted with its component parts who will give it a trial, and he may rest assured that he will never be disappointed in its beneficial results. Individuals who are afflicted with either of these complaints so common at this season of the year, will find a sure, safe and speedy remedy.

A Word to Persons in Delicate Health
DR. HOLMAN'S BITTERS,
Compounded from the Original Recipe of
DR. CHARLES HOLMAN.
THESE well known and much used BITTERS are composed of Roots and Herbs, such as Sarsaparilla, Pyrola, Yellow Dock, Dandelion, Wild Cherry, Prickly Ash, &c. highly prized for their
HEALING, STRENGTHENING AND RENOVATING PROPERTIES.
They are warranted to be unsurpassed in the cure of
Liver Complaint, Jaundice, Headache, Loss of Appetite, Giddiness and Weakness of the Stomach.
They are remarkable for giving a tone to the Digestive Organs, assisting Nature and preventing the various Bowel Complaints, so frequent and so dangerous during Summer and Autumn.
No Family should be without them.
Price 25 cents for a single Bottle, or five bottles for one dollar. Quite the cheapest as well as the Best Medicine that can be used.

DEAD SHOT FOR BED BUGS.
A SURE death to these noxious disturbers of our nightly rest. Apply it to insects and it curls them up and lays them out as readily as Sulphur Fumes kills Bees.
It has no equal in the market. The whole world cannot produce a substitute of similar value to the comfort of a neat tidy housewife. Its application is of little trouble, while the benefit which may be derived from a single night's undisturbed repose is incalculable.
SANCHO PANZA
Called down "blessings upon the head of the man who first invented sleep." How much more worthy such honorable distinction would he consider the inventor of the Dead Shot, who, by his Pungent and Deadly Preparation, has rendered utterly impossible the ancient bloody forays of such 'tolerable and not to be endured' tormentors; and who has enabled every one to guarantee to himself his own particular share of "tired Nature's sweet restorer."

CITRON, CURRANTS and SULTANA RAISINS—for sale by je18 ALBERT A. PAYNE.

THE COLLAR BUSINESS.—Gloucesville is not more famous for mittens, nor Lynn for shoes, than Troy is for collars and boosoms.—They also get up the whole article in great perfection. We were politely shown through the sewing department of one of these establishments the other day, by Mr. Bennett, the original proprietor, where 40 sewing machines are in operation, worked by as many young ladies, who easily turn off 15 collars per day. They work by the piece, and can easily earn from nine to $10 per week. They employ in connection with that establishment, from 600 to 800 persons.

Some estimate of the extent of the business in 15 similar manufactories may be made from this. Some of them are nearly as large as this, but supposing them to be, on an average, half as large, the daily manufacture would be more than 50,000 dollars per day, employing about 5,000 persons in connection with the collar business in Troy.—American Recorder.

REMOVAL.

Dr. Turnbull, Oculist & Aurist,

(FROM LONDON,)

Has arrived at the

WINTHROP HOUSE, BOSTON.

Office Hours from 9 A. M. to 3 P. M

From the London Times.

A number of scientific gentlemen assembled at the house of Dr. Turnbull, to witness the results produced by a process recently discovered by the Doctor, and applied for the cure of deafness and blindness.

Between twenty and thirty patients attended, many of whom, it was stated by their parents, had been born deaf and dumb. They were submitted to various tests, by which it was proved that their deafness had been cured by the application of Dr. Turnbull's remedies; and what appears most singular is that whether the disease depended on paralysis of the auditory nerve, rupture of the tympanum, or obstruction of the internal passages, relief had been obtained, or complete cure effected without delay, pain or inconvenience. Several patients who represented that they had been completely blind, said that they could now see perfectly well. July16 3w

PIANOS.

HALLETT, DAVIS & CO.

MANUFACTURERS of GRAND AND SQUARE

PIANO-FORTES.

WAREROOMS,

NEW FREESTONE BLOCK,

No. 409 WASHINGTON STREET,

NEAR BOYLSTON STREET.....BOSTON.

Opinions of the Press.

It is now generally acknowledged that the Pianos manufactured by Hallet, Davis & Co. are unrivalled in America, if in the world, for brilliancy or purity of tone.—Boston Daily Times.

An immense volume of sound can be produced by these Pianos without shattering the tones, as they send forth the most perfect, bell like notes, and we must confess that we have never listened to their equals for power, brilliancy, sweetness of tone, and purity of action.—Boston Herald.

The Pianos of Hallet, Davis & Co. deserve more than a passing notice. They are truly splendid instruments, very powerful, and of the purest and richest quality of tone.—Boston Traveller.

In regard to purity of tone, power and sweetness, being fully equal to any instrument that has come under our observation.—Boston Courier.

Owing to the beautiful elasticity of the action of your Grand Piano Fortes, I think it would be impossible for any Pianist, who plays properly, to break either a string or a hammer.—Extract from a Letter from Wm. Mason.

The peculiar feature of Hallet, Davis & Co.'s instruments is, they make no noise. Nothing but pure tone is produced by the vibration of the strings; and the construction of the sounding board, and action are such that skilful pianists, after once testing their merits, dislike to use any other instrument in the Concert room.—Philadelphia Sunday Mercury.

I find them to be very superior instruments—as well in tone as in touch.—Extract of a Letter from L. M. Gottschalk.

I can unhesitatingly say that I find them superior in quality and quantity of tone, to those of other makers; also in the elasticity and easy touch; and can cheerfully recommend them to any one who wishes to own or play on the best Piano.—Extract of a letter from Robert Heller.

AN ACT to remodel the Judiciary System, and for other purposes.

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives in General Court convened, That from and after the period when this act takes effect, instead of Courts, heretofore existing, there shall be established in this State, a Supreme Judicial Court, consisting of one Chief and four Associate Justices, appointed and commissioned as prescribed by the Constitution; a Court of Common Pleas, consisting of one Chief and two Associate Justices, appointed and commissioned as prescribed by the Constitution—the duties of the Supreme Judicial Court to be ex-officio Justices of the Court of Common Pleas, with authority to hold terms thereof in case of accident or necessity, but for no other purpose.

Sec. 2. The Court of Common Pleas shall have original jurisdiction of all cases of bastardy, and all civil actions in which the proceedings shall be according to the course of common law, except in cases where Justices of the Peace, or Police Courts have jurisdiction, or where the proceedings must be commenced by writ of which the Supreme Judicial Court may have exclusive jurisdiction; of all other matters of which the present Court of Common Pleas have jurisdiction, not otherwise provided for in this act, and shall have final and exclusive jurisdiction of all actions of debt, where the demand is not more than one hundred dollars is demanded in damages; of all appeals in civil and criminal cases from Justices of the Peace and Police Courts; of all cases commenced before Justices of the Peace or Police Courts, where the title to real estate is called in question; and of all petitions for the laying out and discontinuing of highways, in cases provided by law.

Sec. 3. The Court of Common Pleas shall be holden by one or more Justices of that Court, or, in case of accident or necessity, by one or more Justices of the Supreme Judicial Court, twice in each year in each county, and each Judicial District of the county of Grafton, which said county of Grafton shall hereafter remain divided as heretofore into two Judicial Districts for the transaction of business in the courts, except for the holding of the terms and transacting the business of the Supreme Judicial Court—which shall be done and held in the same manner as if said county were not divided into said Judicial Districts. At each term of said Court petit jurors shall attend at the commencement or such period of the term as the court may direct, who shall be summoned, drawn and notified, and receive the same compensation for travel and attendance, as now by law provided for petit jurors at the Court of Common Pleas.

Sec. 4. In all civil actions where the Court of Common Pleas have not exclusive jurisdiction, either party shall have the right to appeal from the decision of that court, to the Supreme Judicial Court, at the next term to be holden in the county, the appellant furnishing security to the satisfaction of the court, for the prosecution of his appeal, and the payment of the costs which in the final judgment may be recovered against him.

Sec. 5. In all cases where a right of appeal exists from the Court of Common Pleas to the Supreme Judicial Court, no questions of law shall be transferred to the Supreme Judicial Court. In cases where the Court of Common Pleas has exclusive and final jurisdiction, any person aggrieved by the opinion, direction or judgment of said court in any action or proceeding, may allege exceptions thereto at the same term, or within such reasonable time as the court may order, which shall be reduced to writing, and being conformable to the facts of the case, shall be signed by the presiding justice, and be a part of the record in such case; when exceptions shall be filed and allowed as aforesaid in the Court of Common Pleas, the party taking the same shall remove such order thereon at the next law term of the Supreme Judicial Court in that District, and shall produce in that court a copy of the exceptions, and of all other necessary papers; and the said Supreme Judicial Court shall consider such exceptions, and make such order for affirming, modifying or vacating the judgment rendered in the Court of Common Pleas, or for any other disposition or proceedings in the cause, as to law and justice shall appertain, by which said order of the Supreme Judicial Court, the judgment of the Court of Common Pleas shall be affirmed, modified or vacated, and such further proceedings had as may be required. If the party taking such exceptions shall not prevail in his exceptions, or shall fail to enter them, he shall pay double costs—Provided, that in actions, which shall be pending in the Court of Common Pleas, at the time when this act shall take effect, cases may be reserved and transferred to the Supreme Judicial Court, and then be considered and decided in the same manner as is now provided for the transfer of cases to the Superior Court of Judicature.

Sec. 6. In all actions commenced in the Supreme Judicial Court, unless it shall appear that the plaintiff had a reasonable expectation of recovering more than one hundred dollars, he shall recover no costs, except in cases where the title of real estate shall be in question.

Sec. 7. If, in any personal action originally brought in the Court of Common Pleas, the plaintiff shall appeal to the Supreme Judicial Court, and shall increase his damages, he shall recover costs of the appeal, not exceeding such increase; but if he shall not increase his damages, he shall pay the costs of the appeal, and recover none. And if in such action the defendant shall appeal, and shall reduce the damages recovered in the court below, he shall recover the costs of the appeal, not exceeding the amount of such reduction; and if he shall not reduce said damages, he shall pay costs.

Sec. 8. The Supreme Judicial Court shall have original jurisdiction concurrent with the Court of Common Pleas, of all real actions and also of all other civil actions at common law, where more than one hundred dollars shall be claimed in damages, and shall have exclusive jurisdiction of all appeal from the Court of Common Pleas, from Courts of Probate, and commissioners on insolvent estates.

Sec. 9. The Supreme Judicial Court shall have original and exclusive jurisdiction of all criminal cases whatever, not within the jurisdiction of Justices of the Peace or Police Courts.

Sec. 10. The Supreme Judicial Court shall have exclusive authority to issue writs of error, certiorari, mandamus, prohibition and quo warranto, and may issue writs of habeas corpus, and all other writs and processes to courts of inferior jurisdiction, to corporations and individuals in matters pertaining to justice and the due administration of the laws; and shall have the general superintendence of all courts of inferior jurisdiction for the prevention and correction of errors and abuses, where the laws have not expressly provided a remedy.

Sec. 11. Supreme Judicial Court shall have jurisdiction of all questions of divorce and alimony; all applications for appeals from Courts of Probate, for review or new trial founded on any statute; petitions for the redemption and foreclosure of mortgages, and for the partition of real estate, except in cases where the Judge of Probate has now by law jurisdiction of petitions for partition; of proceedings relating to the forfeiture of any estate or franchise granted by the State; and of all actions and questions whatever, of which the Superior Court of Judicature, has at any time heretofore, had jurisdiction, except as herein otherwise provided.

Sec. 12. The Supreme Judicial Court shall have and possess all the power and authority as a court of equity, which the Superior Court of Judicature, at heretofore organized, may possess and enjoy at the time when this act takes effect, and may grant writs of injunction whenever the same shall be necessary to prevent injustice. Any justice of said court may issue writs of injunction to any proceedings or waste until the end of the next term of said court for any county, unless sooner dissolved.

Sec. 13. All writs and processes issuing from the Supreme Judicial Court in civil cases, except writs, shall be in the name of the State of New Hampshire; shall bear the teste of the Chief Justice of the court from which they issue, when not a party, and of one of the Associate Justices, when the Chief Justice is a party, or the office is vacant; shall be under the seal of the court from which they issue, and signed by the clerk of said court in the county where they may be returnable; and shall have force, be obeyed and executed in every county within the State. All original processes from those courts shall be summons, capias, and attachments, and shall be served and returned in the same way and manner as is now provided by law for similar processes. And the forms of all processes and executions shall be so far altered and changed as to conform to the provisions of this act.

Sec. 14. The Justices of the Supreme Judicial Court shall make, from time to time, all necessary rules and orders for conducting the business in the Supreme Judicial Court and Court of Common Pleas.

Sec. 15. If one or more of the Justices of the Supreme Judicial Court or the Court of Common Pleas, shall be legally disqualified to act as such in any case, the remaining Justice or Justices shall hear and determine such case, and have all the powers of the Court.

Sec. 16. Two terms of the Supreme Judicial Court, to be denominated trial to law, shall be holden annually in each county, for the trial of causes by a single Justice thereof, except the trial of capital cases, at which two or more Justices shall attend. At these terms, grand jurors shall attend at the commencement thereof, and petit jurors at the commencement or at such period of the terms respectively as the court may direct, who shall be summoned, drawn and notified in the same way and manner, and receive the same compensation for travel and attendance as jurors at the Court of Common Pleas now are or receive.

Sec. 17. The questions arising upon exceptions filed in any case at any trial term of the Supreme Judicial Court, or upon a special verdict, or on any issue at law, motion for a new trial, or any other motion, rule, or order of court, or statement of facts agreed upon and signed by the parties in any case, may be reserved and assigned by the presiding justice, if he think fit, to court for determination of the law in the term next succeeding law term in the county, and the said court upon consideration of such questions, shall render or order such judgment, or make and certify such decision as they think required by the circumstances of the case; and if the presiding Justice shall not think fit to reserve a case, the party moving for such case may allege exceptions, and present a bill thereof, which shall be allowed and signed by said Justice as in the Court of Common Pleas. When a bill of exceptions shall be allowed and signed, at a trial term of the Supreme Judicial Court, such exceptions shall be considered by said court, at the next law term thereof, held for the judicial district in which the exceptions were allowed. If judgment shall have been rendered in the Supreme Judicial Court, in any action where exceptions have been allowed as aforesaid, the judgment may be vacated at the law term of said Supreme Judicial Court, without any writ of error, and in like manner as if it had been rendered by mistake at the term at which it is vacated; and thereupon such further proceedings may be had as to law and justice shall appertain. If exceptions are allowed in the Supreme Court, or the Court of Common Pleas, the court may stay execution of the judgment rendered in any such case upon such security and terms as they may think just and proper.

Sec. 18. For the business of the Supreme Judicial Court other than at the trial terms thereof the State is divided into five judicial districts, as follows:

No. 1. To consist of the counties of Rockingham and Strafford.

No. 2. Of the counties of Merrimack and Hillsborough.

No. 3. Of the counties of Cheshire and Sullivan.

No. 4. Of the counties of Belknap and Carroll.

No. 5. Of the counties of Grafton and Coos.

Sec. 19. The Supreme Judicial Court shall hold terms thereof to be called law terms annually within the aforesaid judicial districts, at the times and places following:

At Exeter, on the third Tuesday of June, and at Dover on the second Tuesday of December, for the counties of Rockingham and Strafford; at Manchester on the second Tuesday of June, and at Concord on the first Tuesday of December, for the counties of Merrimack and Hillsborough; at Keene, on the first Tuesday of July, and at Newport on the third Tuesday of December, for the counties of Cheshire and Sullivan; at Ossipee, on the second Tuesday of July, and at Gilford on the fourth Tuesday of December, for the counties of Belknap and Carroll; at Haverhill on the third Tuesday of July, and at Lancaster on the Tuesday next after the 4th Tuesday of December, for the counties of Grafton and Coos.

Sec. 20. Three of the Justices of said court shall be a quorum to hold law terms; the said court sitting in any county in any district, shall have jurisdiction and may take cognizance of all matters arising in either other counties lying to the district, in like the same manner as though such matters had arisen within the county where the court is sitting; and the Clerk of said court in each county shall attend at each term of said court within the district to which his county belongs, and discharge the duties in relation to the business of his own county, under the direction of the court, as if the court were sitting therein.

Sec. 21. The Justices of [the] Supreme Judicial Court and the Justices of the Court of Common Pleas shall severally appoint a clerk in each county, who, before entering upon the duties of his office, shall give a bond in the penal sum of five thousand dollars, with two or more sufficient sureties, to be approved by a majority of the Justices of the court, of which he is clerk, conditioned for the faithful performance of the duties of his office, the payment of all moneys by him received as clerk to the state, county, or individuals, as the law directs, and for the safe keeping and delivery of all papers, and the due delivery thereof to said office, immediately upon his leaving the same.

Sec. 22. All laws in force relating to the duties and fees of clerks of the Superior Court of Judicature and Court of Common Pleas heretofore existing, shall be taken and deemed applicable to and holding upon the clerks of the Supreme Judicial Court and Court of Common Pleas, as constituted by this act, so far as the same may be applicable; and the clerks of the Supreme Judicial Court and the Court of Common Pleas shall be constituted and perform the duties and possess the same powers in relation to the summoning of jurors as the clerks of the Court of Common Pleas now by law possess—the clerks of the Supreme Judicial Court shall be summoned to attend.

Sec. 23.—No Justice of the Supreme Judicial Court, or Court of Common Pleas, shall sit upon the trial of any cause upon appeal which he has before tried in the court below, nor in any case in which he has been consulted, or has been counsel, or shall have been, in either of said Courts act as attorney, or be of counsel, or give advice, in any matter, which, in the ordinary course of proceedings, may come before the court of which he is justice, for adjudication.

Sec. 24. All writs and suits shall hereafter exist in civil actions in the Court of Common Pleas or Supreme Judicial Court, unless judgment shall be rendered upon to review by agreement of parties, or by order of court, but either of said courts, for sufficient cause shown, may grant new trials, and the Supreme Judicial Court may grant a review in any case, when it shall appear that justice has not been done through any accident, mistake or misfortune, or that a further hearing would be just and equitable. The proceedings in applications for review or to Supreme Judicial Court, shall be the same as prescribed in chap. 122 of the Revised Statutes, in case of applications of like character to the Superior Court of Judicature, and such review, if the judgment was rendered in the Supreme Judicial Court, shall be had in that court, otherwise in the Court of Common Pleas; but no review shall be granted by said court unless petitioned for within three years of the rendition of the judgment complained of, or the discontinuance or failure of the original suit, and such review shall be commenced within ninety days from the grant thereof. The provisions of chapter 122 of the Revised Statutes shall apply to all reviews arising or granted under the provisions of this act.

Sec. 25. It shall be the duty of the Supreme Judicial Court to decide all questions submitted to them, before the close of the next term succeeding the submission, unless the court shall order a re-argument of the cause; and a concurrence of three Justices of said court shall be necessary to the decision of any such question.

Sec. 26. In all civil actions before the Court of Common Pleas or Supreme Judicial Court, as constituted by this act, the court shall try the facts in controversy, and assess the damages, as well as determine the law, if the parties so elect, and the judgment of either of said courts, rendered upon such trial of the facts by the court, shall be as valid and conclusive to all intents and purposes, as if rendered upon the verdict of a jury. If the appellant, or the party taking exception in the Court of Common Pleas, shall through accident or misfortune fail to enter his appeal or exceptions at the next term of the Supreme Judicial Court as hereinbefore provided, the Supreme Judicial Court may allow such appeal or exceptions to be entered, on petition in writing, on such terms as may be reasonable, provided that such petition be filed within one year of the time when the appeal or the exceptions were taken.

Sec. 27. The decision of the court shall be given in writing, if either of the parties desire it, stating first the facts found, and then the conclusions of law upon them; which shall be filed and recorded. Either party may except to the decision upon any matter of law arising upon such trial, or involved in such decision, in the same manner and with the same effect as upon a trial by jury.

Sec. 28. In all cases of appeal from the Court of Common Pleas to the Supreme Judicial Court, the appellant shall enter his appeal in the court appealed to, at the next term thereof after such appeal is taken, and shall produce attested copies of the writ, judgment and proceedings, and of all papers on file and filed in the court below, and if he shall fail so to do, the judgment of the court below, on complaint of the opposite party, shall be affirmed with such costs and interest as the court may order.

Sec. 29. The fees of witnesses attending the Court of Common Pleas and Supreme Judicial Court, and the fees of clerks and parties in said courts, shall be the same as established by law, for witnesses, clerks and parties, in the Court of Common Pleas, as heretofore organized, except as herein otherwise provided.

Sec. 30. All judgments, orders, pleadings, records, proceedings, processes, matters and things whatsoever existing and remaining in the Superior Court of Judicature, at the time this act takes effect, from and for the several counties, shall be and the same are hereby transferred to the Supreme Judicial Court in and for those counties, and may be proceeded on, determined, enforced and carried into execution, in said Supreme Judicial Court for said counties respectively; and all judgments, orders, pleadings, records, processes, suits, proceedings, matters and things whatsoever from the several counties, pending in the Superior Court of Judicature at the time this act takes effect, shall be had, sustained, taken cognizance of, prosecuted, tried and determined in said Supreme Judicial Court, for said counties respectively, and in the same manner as if the same had been judgments, orders, pleadings, records, processes, suits, proceedings, matters and things of and in said Supreme Judicial Court for said counties respectively; and all the records and files of the Superior Court of Judicature at the time this act takes effect, shall be, and the same hereby are transferred to the Supreme Judicial Court of Judicature, to every intent and purpose. All writs, orders, recognizances, petitions, warrants, complaints, and every other matter and thing, that would, at the time the taking effect of this act, be returned to or entered at the Superior Court of Judicature, at the terms heretofore established, and all persons and parties that may be required or directed to appear and attend at the times and places of holding the Supreme Court of Judicature, at the time this act takes effect, arising in the several counties, shall be returned to, entered, appear and attend at the times and places of holding the Superior Court of Judicature, and all actions, matters and suits pending in said Superior Court of Judicature at the time this act takes effect, arising in the several counties, shall be returned to, entered, appear and attend, have day in, be tried and determined in the Supreme Judicial Court for the said counties at the respective times and places hereinbefore established for holding the same; and the Supreme Judicial Court hereby established shall have full power and authority to grant writs of execution to carry into effect any judgment rendered in the Superior Court of Judicature and Supreme Judicial Court, and the Court of Judicature might have done had not this act been passed.—The clerks in the Superior Court of Judicature in the several counties shall act as clerks of the Supreme Judicial Court in their respective counties, and do and perform the duties appertaining to their respective offices, until said court shall appoint clerks, and the same are duly qualified to enter upon the discharge of their respective duties.

Sec. 31. All judgments, orders, pleadings, records, proceedings, processes, matters and things whatsoever other than criminal matters, which have not come up by appeal, existing and remaining in the Court of Common Pleas as heretofore constituted at the time this act takes effect, shall be, and the same hereby are transferred to the Court of Common Pleas, constituted by this act, and may be proceeded on, determined, enforced, and carried into execution therein; and writs of review, scire facias, and all other writs, processes and proceedings whatsoever, founded thereon or concerning the same, pending in the Court of Common Pleas as heretofore organized, shall be had, sustained, taken cognizance of, prosecuted, tried and determined in the Court of Common Pleas as constituted by this act, in the same manner as if the same had been judgments, orders, pleadings, records, processes, proceedings, matters and things of and in said court; and all the records and files of said court as heretofore existing, and all other than criminal matters, shall be and are hereby transferred as records and files of said court as constituted by this act, to every intent and purpose. All writs, executions, orders, recognizances, petitions, warrants, complaints, and every other [matter and thing other] than criminal matters aforesaid, that would, at the taking effect of this act, be returned to or entered at the Court of Common Pleas as heretofore existing, at the term thereof heretofore established, and all persons and parties, witnesses, jurors and others that may be required or directed to appear and attend at the times and places of holding the Court of Common Pleas as heretofore established in other than criminal matters aforesaid, and all actions, matters and suits other than criminal aforesaid, pending in the Court of Common Pleas as heretofore established at the taking effect of this act, be returned to, entered, appear and attend, have day in, be tried and determined in the Court of Common Pleas as hereby constituted, at the respective times and places by law established for holding the same. All judgments rendered in the Court of Common Pleas as heretofore organized, which shall be open to review or wherein new trials shall have been granted, at the time this act takes effect, may be recovered or tried anew in the Court of Common Pleas as hereby constituted. The Court of Common Pleas hereby constituted, shall have full power and authority in the respective counties to grant writs of execution to carry into effect any judgment rendered in the Court of Common Pleas as heretofore organized, in other than criminal matters aforesaid, in the same manner as the Court of Common Pleas as heretofore organized might have done had not this act been passed. The clerks of the Court of Common Pleas heretofore organized, shall act as the clerks of the Court of Common Pleas as constituted by this act, and shall do and perform all the duties incident to said office in their respective counties, until said courts shall hereby constituted shall appoint clerks, and the same be duly qualified to enter upon the duties of their respective offices. All judgments, orders, pleadings, records, proceedings, processes, matters and things of a criminal nature except appeals existing and remaining in the Court of Common Pleas as heretofore constituted at the time this act takes effect, shall be and the same hereby are transferred to the Supreme Judicial Court as constituted by this act, and may be proceeded on, determined, enforced and carried into execution therein; and writs of scire facias, and all other writs, processes and proceedings whatsoever, founded thereon and concerning the same, pending in the Court of Common Pleas as heretofore organized, shall be had, sustained, taken cognizance of, prosecuted, tried and determined in the Supreme Judicial Court as constituted by this act, in like cases and in the same manner as if the same had been judgments, orders, pleadings, records, processes, proceedings, suits, matters and things of and in said court; and all the records and files of said Court of Common Pleas as heretofore existing relating to criminal matters aforesaid, shall be considered as records and files of said Supreme Judicial Court as hereby established, to every intent and purpose. All writs, executions, orders, recognizances, petitions, warrants, complaints, and every other matter and thing pertaining to criminal nature, except appeals that would, at the taking effect of this act, be returned to or entered at the Court of Common Pleas as heretofore existing, at the terms thereof heretofore established in criminal matters except appeals; and all actions, matters and suits pertaining to criminal proceedings, except appeals pending in the Court of Common Pleas as heretofore established at the time this act takes effect, shall be returned to, entered, appear and attend, have day in, be tried and determined in the Supreme Judicial Court hereby constituted, at the respective times and places by law established, for holding the same. The Supreme Judicial Court as hereby constituted shall have full power and authority in the respective counties to issue or grant mittimuses or other writs of execution to carry into effect any judgment rendered in criminal matters by the Court of Common Pleas as heretofore constituted, in the same manner as the Court of Common Pleas as heretofore constituted might have done had not this act been passed.

Sec. 32. It shall be the duty of the Governor, with the advice and consent of the Council, to appoint a state reporter of the decisions of the Supreme Judicial Court, who shall be sworn before said court, or some justice thereof, to the faithful discharge of his duties before entering thereon, and shall receive an annual salary of four hundred dollars, the time when the same shall be decided, prepare for the press, and furnish to the state reporter correct reports of all cases in which the judgment of the court shall be pronounced by him, and it shall be the duty of said justices to report the several cases in full or in part at length, according to their importance, so as not unnecessarily to increase the number or size of the volumes.

Sec. 34. Trial terms of the Supreme Judicial Court shall be holden annually at the time and places following:—

At Portsmouth on the third Tuesday of September, and at Exeter on the second Tuesday of February, for the county of Rockingham.

At Dover on the third Tuesday of October and the third Tuesday of March, for the county of Strafford.

At Gilford on the second Tuesday of April and the fourth Tuesday of October, for the county of Belknap.

At Ossipee on the third Tuesday of March and the third Tuesday of September, for the county of Carroll.

At Concord on the first Tuesday of February and the third Tuesday of August, for the county of Merrimack.

At Amherst on the first Tuesday of September, and at Manchester on the third Tuesday of January, for the county of Hillsborough.

At Keene on the second Tuesday of November and the first Tuesday of May, for the county of Cheshire.

At Newport on the third Tuesday of October and the third Tuesday of May, for the county of Sullivan.

At Haverhill on the second Tuesday of February, and at Plymouth on the third Tuesday of August, for the county of Grafton.

At Lancaster on the fourth Tuesday of August and the third Tuesday of February, for the county of Coos.

Sec. 35. The Court of Common Pleas shall be holden annually at the times and places following:—

At Portsmouth on the second Tuesday of November, and at Exeter on the second Tuesday of April, for the county of Rockingham.

At Dover on the third Tuesday of August and the third Tuesday of January, for the county of Strafford.

At Gilford on the third Tuesday of February and the first Tuesday of August, for the county of Belknap.

At Ossipee on the second Tuesday of May and the third Tuesday of November, for the county of Carroll.

At Concord on the first Tuesday of March and the second Tuesday of October, for the county of Merrimack.

At Amherst on the third Tuesday of April, and at Manchester on the first Tuesday of November, for the county of Hillsborough.

At Keene on the third Tuesday of March and the third Tuesday of September, for the county of Cheshire.

At Newport on the first Tuesday of February and the third Tuesday of August, for the county of Sullivan.

At Haverhill on fourth Tuesday of October and the third Tuesday of March, for the Western Judicial District of the county of Grafton.

At Plymouth on the second Tuesday of January and the third Tuesday of May, for the Eastern Judicial District of Grafton county.

At Lancaster on the first Tuesday of May, and the second Tuesday of October, for the county of Coos.

Sec. 36. The Justices of the Supreme Judicial Court and Court of Common Pleas, established by this act, shall receive, annually, out of the treasury of the State, in quarterly payments, the following salaries, which shall be in full compensation for all services, by law required of them, and all expenses incurred by them, as Justices of said courts, respectively, to wit:

The Chief Justice of the Supreme Judicial Court, the sum of two thousand dollars; and each Associate Justice of said Court, the sum of eighteen hundred dollars.

The Chief Justice of the Court of Common Pleas, the sum of sixteen hundred dollars; and each Associate Justice of said Court, the sum of fifteen hundred dollars.

Sec. 37. There shall be chosen on the second Tuesday of March, 1856, by ballot and by plurality of votes, by the qualified voters of the several towns and places in each county, three commissioners of said county, one of the county, one of whom shall hold that office for one year, another for two years, and the third for three years, and until some other person is chosen and qualified instead of each—the term of office of each to be determined by lot at their first meeting and record thereof made. One such County Commissioner shall be chosen annually on the second Tuesday of March, by ballot and plurality of votes, by the qualified voters as aforesaid, after March 1856, to fill the vacancy that will arise by reason of the expiration of the term of office of one of the incumbents. The return of votes for County Commissioners shall be made out, signed, certified, sealed and returned to, examined and declared by the Courts of Common Pleas, at the times, and in the manner, and under the same penalties, in all respects, as provided by law for votes for Register of Deeds and County Treasurer. County Commissioners shall have and enjoy all the power and authority, and be entitled to the same compensation, in the same way that Road Commissioners now have. They shall also be entitled to, for the like services. They shall also have the custody of all property belonging to the county, and shall examine and allow all claims arising from or connected therewith, and all claims arising from or incident to the support and expenses of county paupers, subject to the revision of the Court of Common Pleas, and shall have and enjoy all the power and authority in relation to the financial affairs and the control of the property of the county and the disposal and support of county paupers, which the Court of Common Pleas now by law possess and enjoy; and for the discharge of their duties, they shall attend so long as may be necessary, at the terms of the Court of Common Pleas in their respective counties; shall keep records of their doings, and annually deposit the same with the clerk of the Court of Common Pleas, who may make and certify copies of the same, when required so to do. They shall be sworn to the faithful discharge of the duties of their office, before entering upon the same, the certificate whereof shall be filed with the clerk of the Court of Common Pleas; and, whenever necessarily employed in the business of the county, shall receive three dollars each day for their services, including expenses, to be paid from the county treasury, on the certificate of the Court of Common Pleas, who shall audit their accounts. Until County Commissioners shall be elected and qualified as provided in this act, the Court of Common Pleas, in the several counties respectively, shall perform the duties hereby imposed upon those officers in relation to county property and county paupers in their respective counties, and the Road Commissioners shall severally, in their respective counties, perform the duties heretofore required of them, and no longer.

Sec. 38. Any county commissioner may be removed from office for official misconduct, by the Supreme Judicial Court, and the office declared vacant. If any person chosen to said office declines to accept, removes from the county, or becomes insane, dies, or becomes, or when there is manifest hazard to the public interest, the majority of the Justices of the Supreme Judicial Court may declare the office vacant. In case of vacancy from any cause, the Supreme Judicial Court shall appoint a commissioner, who shall perform all the duties, be subject to all the requirements and liabilities, and be entitled to all the privileges and emoluments of the vacant office. If any commissioner shall be interested in any petition relating to roads that may be referred to them, he shall not serve, but the vacancy shall be filled by any Justice of the Court of Common Pleas, or of the Supreme Judicial Court, either in term time or vacation.

Sec. 39. The Court of Common Pleas and the Supreme Judicial Court respectively, shall examine and allow all bills of cost and claims against the county incident to their respective courts, and the Court of Common Pleas, as hereby constituted, shall possess all the powers and authority in relation to the revenue of the several counties, which the Court of Common Pleas now possesses and enjoys, and shall audit the accounts of the several county treasurers and solicitors, as well as county commissioners.

Sec. 40. All laws heretofore passed which establish a Superior Court of Judicature and a Court of Common Pleas, and provide for Justices of those courts respectively, and for the election of road commissioners, and all acts and parts of acts whatever, so far as the same are inconsistent with the provisions of this act, are hereby repealed; while all laws heretofore passed, whose provisions, those things being changed which should be changed, are consistent with the provisions of this act, shall be taken and deemed to be in force and applicable to the courts and offices hereby created, to the proceedings in the courts hereby established, and to the offices whose election is hereby provided for.

Sec. 41. This act shall take effect and be in force from and after the seventeenth day of August next, provided, however, that the Justices of the several courts herein before provided for, may be appointed and commissioned before that period.

MORE DOGBERRY LAWS.

We learn from the Washington Union that the loss by Colonel Wheeler of his slaves in Philadelphia, in its various aspects, has given rise to four distinct legal proceedings now in progress under the direction of his counsel, to test the questions involved.

1. There is an indictment against Mr. Williamson, and some six of his colored confederates, for an assault and battery on Mr. Wheeler, and for riot. This, of course, is purely a proceeding in the State court. The crime alleged is one against the laws of the State of Pennsylvania. The courts of the United States have no jurisdiction, the territory of the Delaware river being, by various legislative enactments and concessions, within the criminal jurisdiction of that State, and Congress not having up to this time exercised any criminal jurisdiction over waters of navigable rivers within the jurisdiction of any particular State.

2. The proceedings under the writ of habeas corpus is sued by Hon. John K. Kane, ex relatione John H. Wheeler, commanding Mr. Williamson to bring into court the bodies of the servants in question, in order to have the right of possession adjudicated. Had Mr. Williamson made the expected return to this writ and brought in the bodies, the question of property would have been the main question in the case. But he preferred not to do so. For this offence he has been committed to the custody of the marshal of the United States, who has secured him within a cell in the county prison.

3. In making the return to the habeas corpus Mr. Williamson has taken an oath which the Union considers clearly against the facts in the case. For this, should he ever, by a proper purgation, relieve himself from the contempt, he will undoubtedly be indicted in the district court of the United States.

In these three points the question of property cannot, as at present situated, arise.

4. An action on the case for the value of the property taken, and for exemplary damages for the outrage committed on the person of Mr. Wheeler, and for his detention from the discharge of important public duties. That Mr. Williamson is liable in such an action cannot be questioned (the Union says) on either of two grounds: first, the general implied obligation to return that which he has forcibly taken; second, the express promise made at the time that he would be responsible to Mr. Wheeler for all claims. He is also undoubtedly liable in damages for a trespass in laying violent hands upon the person of Mr. Wheeler. Of this suit the circuit court of the United States has jurisdiction, it being between citizens of different States. This will differ from the other proceedings in an important point—to wit, the question of Mr. Wheeler's right of property.

On this the Boston Advertiser remarks, that these four separate processes contemplated, "would seem likely to swallow up in legal expenses more than is likely to be recovered in any way—excepting, of course, the very valuable lessons of experience."

Exactly so: he will never get the first red cent. It is rather remarkable that in the Union's item Number 1, it completely decides the whole case against Wheeler, by placing the seat of the transaction within the jurisdiction of a free State.

In the first three cases, the State of Pennsylvania and the United States will pay the costs. In the fourth case Wheeler must pay it himself,—unless the Court shall dogberry itself by deciding, contrary to all previous decisions, that slaveholders may carry human chattels through free states. No such decision has ever yet been made any where.

When it shall be made, if it ever should be—then would slavery be legalized in Boston, Portsmouth and Portland, and the roll of the slave coffle might be called on Bunker's Hill.

But that decision is not yet made. Kane did not dare to make it. Williamson is in jail, unjustly and illegally, suffering false imprisonment at the hand of the learned Judge Kane, who for this act of tyranny deserves to be in the dungeon to which he has consigned a man much better than himself.

☞ The State of Maine newspaper, on Saturday, contained a noble and manly defence of Williamson, the Philadelphia Quaker, and a condemnation of Judge Kane's conduct in relation to the case.

BOWDOIN COMMENCEMENT.

At the Commencement at Brunswick, Me., August 1, in the evening, an Address was delivered by Rev. Dr. Burroughs of Portsmouth, before the Historical Society. His subject was, The Red Man of this Country—which he treated with a great deal of learning; he traced their origin, history, habits and manners—dwelt upon their wars, and causes of decline and decay, and vindicated them from many unjust aspersions. He lingered with melancholy interest over their last trail, which was fast disappearing before the steady progress of cultivation over this continent.

A correspondent of the Portland Advertiser gives the following more extended notice of Dr. Burroughs's historical address:

"It took a large survey of the origin, spread, diversities, monuments, character and condition of the aboriginals of the American continent—adopting the view of their Asiatic derivation—an idea in which he was sustained by that taken in the more general survey of the unity of the origin of the human family, on the ensuing day, by the Rev. Mr. Thompson of New York—and following the various diversities of the race under its successive aspects, showing abundant acquaintance with the best means of information, historical and ethnological, ending with a final account more particularly of the Indian inhabitants of Maine. The extent of the theme might have deprived it of some of that interest which would more readily attach to the selection of a more limited field; but was well made up by the pervading flow of a fervent, appreciating interest in the nomadic life, fortunes and ultimate fate of the doomed and disappearing red race, so graphically depictured at the close.

It was gratifying to witness the evidence of Dr. Burroughs's renewed strength from his late indisposition, and of his long unabated attachment to all good arts and letters.

A vote of thanks proposed by the Rev. J. S. C. Abbott, was adopted by the Society, with a request for the deposit of the eloquent and valuable performance among the archives of the Society."

RIOT AT CASTLE GARDEN.—Their was rioting at Castle Garden, New York, during the entire of Friday, continuing up to midnight, growing out of the opposition of the German and other foreign runners to the new arrangement, making that spot the depot for foreign emigrants. The gates were attacked and an attempt was made to batter them down. One or two of the Commissioners were also assaulted, and it was not until firearms were presented to the mob that they fell back.

On Saturday, owing to threats of further violence against Cas tle Garden made by the foreign emigrant runners, a large force of armed police kept on duty there till morning. No disturbance occurred.

It is said that $5000 were offered, privately of course, to any rascal who would burn down the building. The sharks that prey on the emigrants, are nearly of the same species as those which prey upon the sailor.

FATAL COLLISION.—On Saturday night, near Philadelphia, the steamer Gen. McDonald, while on an excursion to Cape May, came in contact with the schooner A. G. Pease, about 9 o'clock, off Lazaretto. The schooner sustained little injury, but the steamer was damaged to the extent of about $2000.

The McDonald had 150 passengers on board, and designed taking a large number on board at Newcastle. The schooner showed a light, but the night was so very dark and stormy that it deceived the pilot as to his distance from the steamer. Accounts agree that there were ten or twelve persons in the barber shop at the time of the accident, all of whom must have been crushed or thrown overboard. The steamer struck the schooner on the larboard side, and the boom of the latter entered the barber's shop, crushing everything in its course, carrying away the wheelhouse and all the rooms on that side of the steamer.

KINGSTON—ONCE MORE.—The last Amesbury Villager says:

The Chronicle is mistaken in supposing that Kingston and East Kingston are towns. Both these places and the South are incorporated as one town, composing three villages.

If so, then the New Hampshire Register and Farmer's Gazetteer are also mistaken.—The latter work tells us that East Kingston was incorporated as a town in 1738, and that Kingston, the parent town, was chartered in 1694. The Register gives us the Representatives and the votes from both towns;—and we have read the election returns from both, annually, for nearly forty years.

There seems to have recently been trouble in Kentucky, in consequence of an attempt to prevent the Rev. John G. Fee from preaching. Fee was charged with distributing tracts to the slaves, and inciting insurrection, and Cassius M. Clay took the field in his behalf, denying the accusations. He publicly announced his intention of supporting Fee, even at the expense of his own life, and fears were entertained that bloodshed would be the result of the affair.

There was not, though. Both of them spoke, to a large audience, composed of all sorts, friends and foes. Clay's friends were numerous, ready and firm, as he was himself; hence, no disturbance whatever. Tyrants are usually cowards.

The New Bedford Standard says the potato rot has made is appearance upon some of the Vineyard farms.

LOCAL.

For the Chronicle.

Messrs. Editors:—As the new Liquor Law in a few days will be in force, will Uncle Toby, and if he cannot, some legal friend of the law, inform many who are now in doubt, if licenses granted this spring by the selectmen for a year, are legal? Many well informed persons believe that the selectmen of any town had a right to license under the old law; that it was a contract, and that the subsequent doings of a Legislature could not impair that contract—the selectmen only could annul it.

LIGHT.

Undoubtedly—every license legally granted, must run its time out. There are a plenty of decisions to this effect, and none to the contrary. Licenses can be revoked for cause, or by the will of the granting power, when so expressed in the grant; but not otherwise.

For the Chronicle.

THE NEW SCHOOL HOUSE.—Messrs. Editors:—We have heard many of our citizens express a wish that the committee who have in charge the laying out of the house, will not follow the old beaten track, and build too near the street. The lot is deep; there is a fair chance to place the building so as to make a good appearance on the street, and at the same time have a proper eye to utility.

Allow us to suggest that it would be well to lay out a suitable and convenient yard in the rear, placing the building so as to leave all the spare land in front on Daniel street.

LOOKERS ON.

DEATHS IN JULY.—The record of mortality in Portsmouth, during the past month, is furnished us as follows by Mr. Robert Bell:

Males, seven—aged 6 months, 9 months, 2 years, 2, 52, 54, 74.

Females, five—aged 10 months, 6 years, 9, 48, 65.

Total number of deaths, twelve.

THESAURUS of English Words and Phrases; so classified and arranged as to facilitate the expression of ideas and assist in Literary Composition. By Peter Mark Roget, late Sec R. S., &c. Revised and edited, with a list of foreign words defined in English, and other additions, by Barnas Sears, D. D., Sec. Mass. Board of Education. New American, from the third Stereotyped London Edition; with additions and improvements.

We have received from the publishers, Messrs. Gould & Lincoln, Boston, a copy of the above valuable work. From the encomiums lavished upon it by the press we had been led to expect something especially convenient, but our expectations fell far short of the reality. As a work of reference this volume will be in constant demand. There is scarcely a word in the language but its synonym can here be found, and the arrangement is such that there is no jumbling of different ideas, but the peculiar characteristics of each word are carefully retained. It is a vade mecum for scholars and literary men, and should stand side by side with the Dictionary; for while the latter explains the meaning of words, this collates all the words by which any given idea may be expressed. Student, whatever other books you may possess, be sure that you have a Bible, Dictionary, and Roget's Thesaurus. L.

RAILROAD ACCIDENT.—Two men injured.—A serious accident occured on the Northern Railroad, above Canaan, N. H., Saturday afternoon. An axle of the tender on the down express train was broken, and the baggage cars were thrown from the track and badly smashed. Mr. Benjamin P. Cheney, of Cheney, Fiske & Co's express was thrown out, and was picked up under the ruins. His face was so much bruised that at first he was not identified, but his clothes and watch told who he was. He was taken into a house near by, and physicians were called. Dr. Crosby of Hanover arrived, and Saturday night amputated his left arm. His other arm and also his face were badly bruised. On Sunday he was as comfortable as could be expected.

Wm. Rollins, the baggage master on the road, had a leg broken, and was otherwise seriously injured.

NEW YORK, 6th.—A dwelling house was burnt on Stratham street last evening. The building was occupied chiefly by Isaac Jacobs, who kept a clothing store on the lower floor, and his wife and three children were burned. The latter were literally roasted to death.—Mrs. J. and an infant were rescued just alive, but so badly burned that they cannot recover. There were other people in the house besides Jacobs's family, one of whom, a cutter for Jacobs, named Seames, leaped from the third story window. He was carried to the hospital, it is feared fatally injured.

A widow woman and her child, four years old, were also so badly burned that they were removed to the hospital.

Mr. Jacobs, the occupier of the premises, was absent at the time of the fire, but he was subsequently arrested, and committed on a charge of setting fire to the building.

SARATOGA, 6th.—The room of Robert Halsey, of Ithaca, N. Y., was robbed yesterday of about $10,000 in money and bonds, and $75,000 in diamonds and jewels. Three men have been arrested on suspicion, but the property has not been recovered.

In a provincial church in England, the banns of marriage were forbidden by the son of the bridegroom, upon the ground that his mother had been dead but three weeks. The curate said it was not sufficient cause.

☞ Rev. E. C. Cogswell, who has been supplying the Congregational Church in Newmarket, has received an invitation to settle in New Boston.

Niepcotypes on Glass, and Photographs on Paper.

MR. SALEN wishes to inform the citizens of Portsmouth and vicinity, that he has procured the Art to take Likenesses on GLASS and PAPER. The now so much admired Photograph, taken on paper, excels by far the Daguerreotype on a metallic plate.

These pictures are durable; are not reversed; have not the blending of a Daguerreotype, and excel in softness of light and shade the finest engraving. They are finished on beautiful French cartons put up in frames, and therefore are particularly adapted for parlor pictures. They can also be secured and sent in a letter to a distant friend.

Taken at SALEN'S Daguerrean Gallery, at all prices and sizes, on reasonable terms.

Please call and examine specimens. a4

EXPLOSION.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 3rd.—Three of Gareche's Powder Mills, near Wilmington, Del., exploded this morning, about 8 o'clock, with most disastrous consequences, six persons having been killed and five wounded.

The drying house of Gareche's powder works at Ewen Park which exploded this morning, contained about one and a half tons of powder, and the force of the explosion was tremendous.

The house had been in operation for 40 yrs. without accident, and was considered the safest house in the works.

All the men connected with its operations were killed at once, being blown to atoms, and found at various distances, from 50 to 200 yards from the scene of the disaster. Those of the killed were Frenchmen, Eugene Perine, Joseph DuPeane and Francis Fisher. A boy named John Hugh was also amongst the killed.

The explosion of the Drying House caused a mill situated about 300 yards distant to explode. In this mill, men were dangerously hurt. One of them, Peter McGinley, was thrown a distance of 40 ft., and it is feared will not recover, while Patrick Burke, who was running from the mill, had his skull fractured by a piece of lightning rod, and his recovery is almost doubted.

Thomas Mullen had his collar broken.—Mr. Mitchell, the engineer, escaped with some slight bruises. There were about 1400 lbs. of powder in the mill, which was less than usual.

The trees around the Drying House were torn up by the roots, and one or two horses were killed. One other man is said to have been killed, but this seems doubtful. Mr. Gareche says the explosion must have been caused by one of the Frenchmen, who was addicted to smoking his pipe, although he had been forbidden to do so.

FROM CALIFORNIA.

The Steamer Northern Light, which arrived at New York on Sunday brings San Francisco dates to July 16, 400 passengers and $950,035 treasure on freight. The passage has been made from San Francisco in 19 days and 20 hours. Quickest on record.

Col. Kinney, with 20 men, arrived at San Juan Del Norte on the 10th ult., in the brig Huntress of Philadelphia.

They were engaged in erecting a building in San Juan. Dissatisfaction is said to exist among them. * The brig Stamlet of Wilmington, Capt. Carl, went ashore and bilged in the harbor of San Juan. Crew all saved. The mines in California were yielding better than for several years past. Gold in large quantities is said to have been discovered near Puget Sound.

The 4th of July was celebrated with much enthusiasm at San Francisco. The steamer Pacific from Nicaragua arrived upon the 2d, and the John L. Stephens on the 13th. A serious dispute occurred between the French Consul, M. Dillon, and Mr. Samuel Herman, and a duel was thought to be inevitable. 2 or 3 other duels had taken place without fatal results.

John P. Hill, of Portsmouth, N. H., brother of Capt. Hill, of Ship Northern Empire, fell overboard from that ship and was killed.

KIDNAPPING A WHITE GIRL.—On Friday last, at an early hour in the morning, a white girl, fourteen years of age, the daughter of Mr. Samuel Godshall, residing within three miles of Downingstown, Chester county, was carried away by two men, in a close carriage, a distance of 12 miles from her home, towards the Maryland line. The girl had been with a neighbor for the past two or three weeks, taking care of a sick child, and on the morning while going along the road to drive a cow from the pasture field, she was accosted by two strange men, very genteely dressed, who were standing near a carriage attached to which were two horses.

They asked her name and where she lived; to which inquiries she gave answers without hesitation, supposing that they were friends or acquaintances of a gentleman residing in the neighborhood. Without any farther conversation, one of them opened a tin box, and took therefrom what appeared to be a pitch plaster, which he instantly clapped over her mouth, when both of them dragged her into the carriage and drove off.

They passed by an indirect route from the place, through Coatesville, some three miles beyond the latter place, and about 12 miles from her home. Here they left her upon the road, in a secluded and wooded portion of the country, threatening to kill her if she made any alarm, when they drove away as fast as they could.

The poor girl, faint and sick from mental excitement and terror, scarcely knew where she was or what to do, when she was met by two colored persons, who assisted her in taking the plaster from her mouth, and advised her as to her course homeward. The girl succeeded in getting to her home a little before sunset, having been all day absent. She states that the fellows offered her no insult or personal violence, except that occasionally when her sobs and efforts to cry prevailed, they threatened to knock her brains out with the whip.

The solution to this outrage is that the men mistook her for a mulatto, and designed taking her into the State of Maryland. Ascertaining, however, while on the route, that they had made a prisoner of a sunburnt white girl, they concluded to make the best of an error by giving her leave to find her way home, and they to get out of Chester county as quickly as possible.—Philadelphia Ledger, of July 9th.

At Atlanta, Georgia, July 27, good wheat was $1 per bushel, and flour plenty at $3 to $3,50 per barrel. The Richmond mills have all commenced operations. Considerable orders for the Rio trade have immediately to be filled by them. Two vessels are about to clear from Richmond, freighted with flour for Buenos Ayres, and others are soon to follow.

In Peekskill, N. Y., on the 28th ult., two Irishmen beat a companion until he was insensible, and laid him on a railroad track, in such a manner that his head was cut off by a passing train of cars. The coroner's jury returned a verdict of wilful murder, and the men were committed to jail.

SAGAMORE HOUSE,
FROST'S POINT, 3½ miles from Postam. Depots.

THE Proprietor of the above House respectfully announces to the pleasure seeking public that he will open for the season on WEDNESDAY, June 20th.

To those familiar with the locality of the Sagamore House, not a word is necessary in regard to its beautiful and healthful situation.—To strangers seeking rest and recreation by the seaside it affords attractions unequalled. Situated on a point of land on the Atlantic shore, near the Harbor of Portsmouth, the windows on three sides overlook the salt water. From the beach, the broad Atlantic, the Isles of Shoals, the beautiful Piscataqua, and the City of Portsmouth form a charming prospect, and in the background the green fields and leafy woods present a relieving contrast.

The House will be kept in the best manner, and every endeavor will be used to give satisfaction to its guests. The more effectually to do this, the proprietor has secured the services of Mr. JOHN MACK, formerly of the Rockingham House, Portsmouth, whose experience and skill in hotel keeping will be a sufficient guarantee to all who know him that the management will be all that could be desired. The Table will be supplied with all the seasonable luxuries of the sea and land, and every effort used to render a sojourn at the Sagamore agreeable.

THOS R. CLARK, Proprietor.

APPLEDORE HOUSE,
ISLES OF SHOALS.

THIS House is now open for public accommodation. As everybody is, or ought to be, cognizant of the natural advantages of this purely OCEAN RETREAT, the public will not be bored with real or imaginary descriptions. Suffice it to say that every facility for the promotion of the happiness and quiet enjoyment of visitors may be found here.

A STEAMER will make daily trips between the Islands and Portsmouth, accommodating itself to the arrival and departure of the several trains.
je16 2m THOMAS B. LAIGHTON.

PAVILION,
WOLFBOROUGH, N. H.

THE subscribers beg leave to inform their friends and the public that they have leased the above spacious Public House, which contains over one hundred well furnished rooms, which have been put in good order, for permanent and transient boarders. The House commands a good view of Lake Winnipisseogee, together with the beautiful hills which surround it, the beauty of which the prospect is said to excel that of Mount Washington—making many beautiful rides in the vicinity, on land as well as on the beautiful lake.

Good horses and carriages are connected with the House, and the beautiful steamboats "Lady of the Lake" and "Dover" make several trips each day up and down the lake. Gentlemen who delight in angling and gunning will find here ample field for their favorite enjoyment. Meals at all hours, without extra charge for sportsmen.—Good carriages and accommodating porters in attendance on the arrival of each boat.

NATH'L TEAD,
Wolfboro', June 27. R. W. ADAMS.

Steamboat Notice.

THE fine and commodious Steamboat SILVER STAR will run regularly every day from Portsmouth to Appledore Island, (Isles of Shoals,) in connection with the morning trains from the South, leaving Pier Wharf, Portsmouth, directly after the arrival of the Cars, and will return in season for the Evening Trains from Portsmouth.

The Boat is fitted with all the modern improvements for a Passenger Boat; and her double Engines are of the most approved pattern, and all her appointments are superior.

Towing done on reasonable terms. For particulars apply to the captain, or to Capt. Marshall at Pier wharf.

The boat can be chartered for sea Parties, upon application to the captain on board, giving reasonable notice.
je23 THOMAS MAKINNEY, Captain.

Isles of Shoals.

THE Fast sailing Pleasure Boat STAR OF THE EAST, will make daily trips between the Isles of Shoals and Portsmouth, accommodating itself to the arrival and departure of the several trains, on and after June 18th. The boat will be found at Pier Wharf, foot of State st. je18

A Word to Persons in Delicate Health
DR. HOLMAN'S BITTERS,
Compounded from the Original Recipe of
DR. CHARLES HOLMAN.
THESE well known and much used BITTERS are composed of Roots and Herbs, such as Sarsaparilla, Pyrola, Yellow Dock, Dandelion, Wild Cherry, Prickly Ash, &c. highly prized for their
HEALING, STRENGTHENING AND RENOVATING PROPERTIES.
They are warranted to be unsurpassed in the cure of
Liver Complaint, Jaundice, Headache, Loss of Appetite, Giddiness and Weakness of the Stomach.

They are remarkable for giving a tone to the Digestive Organs, assisting Nature and preventing the various Bowel Complaints, so frequent and so dangerous during Summer and Autumn.

No Family should be without them.

Price 25 cents for a single Bottle, or five bottles for one dollar. Quite the cheapest as well as the Best Medicine that can be used.

Dr. J. F. HOLMAN, Proprietor, Boston, Mass.

DEAD SHOT FOR BED BUGS.
A SURE death to these noxious disturbers of our nightly rest. Apply it to insects and it cuts them up and lays them out as readily as Sulphur Fumes kills Bees.

It has no equal in the market. The whole world cannot produce a substitute of similar value to the comfort of a neat tidy housewife. Its application is of little trouble, while the benefit which may be derived from a single night's undisturbed repose is incalculable.

SANCHO PANZA
Called down "blessings upon the head of the man who first invented sleep." How much more worthy such honorable distinction would he consider the inventor of the Dead Shot, who, by his Pungent and Deadly Preparation, has rendered utterly impossible the ancient bloody forays of such 'tolerable and not to be endured' tormentors; and who has enabled every one to guarantee to himself his own particular share of "tired Nature's sweet restorer."

HAYES'S MEDICINES.

READER, are you suffering from Humors, Internal or external? HAYES'S Allied Ointment and Humor Syrup will cure you just as sure as you use it. Take not our assertion for it, but the testimony of a thousand living witnesses. All it wants is a trial—it advertises itself. One bottle has sold a hundred in a single town. Reader, do you ask how you shall know these statements are facts, when there is so much humbuggery in advertisements? We will inform you: call on any of our agents, get a circular, select any name you please, address a line to that individual—they will speak—they are living witnesses. It will cost but a trifle, and must convince the most skeptical. We subjoin one from among the many:

Read the following, it speaks for itself:

Lawrence, Kansas, June 12, 1854.

We the undersigned, citizens of Lawrence, having used the Vegetable Allied Ointment prepared by E. D. HAYES, of this city, and being personally acquainted with the Doctor, feel pleasure in adding our testimony to all the other claims for his medicine. Unlike other remedies in the market, this preparation performs its office speedily and with certainty. The Ointment we have used with the most happy results, after vainly seeking relief by the free use of Sarsaparilla, Salves, &c.

Our experience fully justifies us in confidently recommending it as THE article, and the ONLY one known to us, as performing all it claims.

A. S. BUNKER, A. W. STEARNS,
S. I. THOMPSON, ASA T. SANBORN.

It cures Salt Rheum, Scrofula, Erysipelas, White Leprosy, Cancerous Humors, Ring Worm, Scald Head, Burns and Scalds, Chilblains, Piles, (a preparation expressly,) Barber's Itch, Fever Sores, and all old Mercurial Sores, however long standing. It removes all those vexatious Pimples, Eruptions and Moth or Mildew from the face leaving the skin perfectly soft and smooth, adding greatly to the beauty of the complexion. In no case will it leave a bad scar. It improves the sight wonderfully, where the eyes are troubled with humors, by removing the difficulty and restoring the sight.

Price of the Ointment, $1; Syrup 50 cents.

CHARLES H. KENT, General Agent for the United States and Canadas, Lawrence, Mass., to whom all orders should be addressed.

Sold in Portsmouth, by Jos. H. Thacher, at the Good Samaritan Store, and W. R. Preston; and by Agents everywhere.

AMERICAN AND FOREIGN OFFICE.
Agency for business with US Patent Office, Washington,
76 State st, oppo. Kilby st, Boston.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION TO INVENTORS. The Subscriber late Assistant EXAMINER of U. S. Patent Office, under the Act of 1837) determined to present advantages, in applying for Patents, superior to those offered to inventors by others, has made arrangements whereby on applications prepared and conducted by him, (which will be done at usual charges, as paid back by others,) will be remitted by him in case of failure to obtain a patent, and the withdrawal through him within thirty days after the rejection. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments and all necessary papers and drawings, for procuring patents in this and foreign countries prepared, and advice rendered on legal and scientific matters respecting inventions, and in fringement of patents.

Inventors can not only here obtain their specifications on the most reasonable terms, but can here avail themselves of the experience of 20 years' practice, an extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and correct accounts of patents granted in this and other countries, besides being saved a journey to Washington, the usual great delay there, as well as all personal trouble in obtaining their patents. Copies of claims of any patent furnished by remitting one dollar.—Assignments recorded at Washington.

R. H. EDDY,
Solicitor of Patents.

"During the time I occupied the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, did business as the Patent Solicitor, as Solicitor of Patents. There were few, if any persons acting in that capacity, who had so much business before the Patent Office; and there were none who conducted it with more skill, fidelity, and success. I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the best informed and most skilful Patent Solicitors in the United States, and have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their applications in a form to secure them early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.

EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents."

Opinions of the Press.

It is now generally acknowledged that the Pianos manufactured by Hallet, Davis & Co. are unrivalled in America, if in the world, for brilliancy or purity of tone.—Boston Daily Times.

An immense volume of sound can be produced by these Pianos without shattering the tones, as they send forth the most perfect, bell like notes, and we must confess that we have never listened to their equals for power, brilliancy, sweetness of tone, and purity of action.—Boston Herald.

The Pianos of Hallet, Davis & Co. deserve more than a passing notice. They are truly splendid instruments, very powerful, and of the purest and richest quality of tone.—Boston Traveller.

In regard to purity of tone, power and sweetness, being fully equal to any instrument that has come under our observation.—Boston Courier.

Owing to the beautiful elasticity of the action of your Grand Piano Fortes, I think it would be impossible for any Pianist, who plays properly, to break either a string or a hammer.—Extract from a Letter from Wm. Mason.

The peculiar feature of Hallet, Davis & Co.'s instruments is, they make no noise. Nothing but pure tone is produced by the vibration of the strings; and the construction of the sounding board, and action are such that skilful pianists, after once testing their merits, dislike to use any other instrument in the Concert room.—Philadelphia Sunday Mercury.

I find them to be very superior instruments—as well in tone as in touch.—Extract of a Letter from L. M. Gottschalk.

I can unhesitatingly say that I find them superior in quality and quantity of tone, to those of other makers; also in the elasticity and easy touch; and can cheerfully recommend them to any one who wishes to own or play on the best Pianos.—Extract of a letter from Robert Heller.

YOUTHFUL PHILANTHROPY AND ITS REWARD.—About four weeks ago an elderly and respectably dressed gentleman was observed lying on the side-walk on Fourth street, near the office of the Ohio and Mississippi Railroad. A crowd gathered around, some of whom pronounced him in a fit, while others attributed his malady to some other cause.—Among them was a little girl about twelve years of age, who, kneeling down, gently lifted his head upon her lap, while she wiped away the clammy perspiration from his forehead with her shawl.

In a short time the object of her solicitude revived sufficiently to ask for water, and it being administered, he asked for a coach, which being brought up, he was lifted into it, when he motioned for the little girl to accompany him. It was a case of paralysis; the gentleman's name was Brethers; he is a retired merchant from New Orleans, but lately arrived in this city. The little girl who acted the good Samaritan in her sympathy with and administering to the afflicted, is the daughter of a poor widow woman named Perkins, who resides near the Ohio and Mississippi depot, and every morning during his sickness she might have been seen at the residence of the afflicted gentleman, timidly inquiring after his heath.

The most grateful phase of the incident is that the invalid, who is so far recovered that he can ride out, drove on Monday to the residence of the mother of the child, and, presenting her with a check of $200, hung a handsome gold chain around the neck of his little ministering angel, to which was suspended a plain but costly gold watch, upon the case of which was the following inscription:—"Presented to Mary Cordelia Perkins by he friend Wm. Brethers."—Cincinnati Enquirer

Morning Chronicle.

THE SWISS HIRELING SYSTEM.—A letter has been received at the State Department, Washington, from Zurich, in Switzerland, which states that the King of Naples is said to have menaced with expulsion all Swiss citizens from his dominions unless the federal council will consent that the convention which his father conducted about twenty-seven years ago, with some of the Cantons of the Confederation, should now be carried out. By that convention eight or nine of the Swiss cantons bound themselves to tolerate for thirty years within their boundaries recruiting officers of the King of Naples—to keep four Swiss regiments of fifteen hundred men each, constantly filled up by Swiss volunteers. The new constitution of the Swiss confederation strictly prohibits this revolting system of hiring out the young men of a free country, to become the body guard of foreign princes; and that constitutional prohibition the King of Naples considers a sufficient reason for the adoption of retaliatory measures.

For the last four centuries Swiss soldiers were kept in the service of many of the States of Europe. The supplying of these hirelings was as profitable a business to the former oligarchs of the country, as the sale of the captives is to the negro chiefs on the Congo coast; for not only did they receive large sums for the licenses granted by them, for the opening of recruiting offices, but the young sons of the patricians found also a congenial field for their tastes as officers of these regiments of hirelings. Within less than 386 years Switzerland hired out to different States and Sovereigns of Europe more than 1,200,000 able-bodied young men; and during that period the whole standing population averaged hardly a million of souls.—But just and liberal views gained ground among the Swiss, and, disgusted with this outrageous system, they prohibited it altogether.

MORMONISM IN A NEW LIGHT.—President Brigham Young delivered an address to the Society in the Tabernacle on the 27th of May, the next day after his return from a trip in the country, with which he was highly delighted. We give below a few extracts from his speech, from which it will be seen that Brigham admits that he has ninety wives in his harem, which is at least fifty more than he ever received credit for in the States. He had not yet taken the census of his children, but we think they might safely be put down at between three and four hundred. The following are extracts from his address:

"We camped out as much as possible, which was good for our health. If the people should conclude to take short excursions with their families, except the smallest children, it would be much to their comfort, and would cheer them up, and I really have some idea of adopting the plan, though you know what they say about me in the East. Should I take my ninety wives and their children, with carriages and wagons enough to convey them all, it would make such a great vacuum here, and so many others would wish to go, that there would be no Salt Lake City. I think I will take a few of them, but I dare not take the whole, for if I did they would then know how many wives I have got, and that would not do. I have visited the different settlements many times, and have invited every body to go. I now give a standing invitation again; I wish every body to go that can go without interfering with their business at home. I invite every body. I am soon going north to explore in the mountains, and I invite you to go. Take your wives, but not your babies, unless you take a cradle along to keep them quiet. The outdoor air is what the people need for health; it is good for them to camp out. Close houses are injurious to the health; if our houses were every one of them leveled to the ground, and we were obliged to live in our wagons and tents, the people would be healthier, from year to year, than they are now. Good houses are comfortable and very convenient, and please our feelings, and are tolerably heathful when properly ventilated.

WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 8, 1855.

EXCELLENT SENTIMENTS.

The Eastern Argus contains an able editorial, from which we make the following brief extracts.

What, then, is Temperance? It is that noble mastery of one's self, which enables the individual to hold in complete subjection all the passions, appetites and propensities of his nature. It makes them all the servants of his will—compels them to do his bidding, and in their appropriate spheres to fulfil the respective offices designed for them by that All-wise Creator who implanted them in the human soul. Temperance is the sovereign of them all, to guide to proper indulgence and to restrain from all excess, by which means alone can they be made to answer the ends and to accomplish the purpose for which they were created.

Is this noble mastery of one's self, this manly self control, a gift bestowed upon us in its perfection by our Maker? or is it rather an attainment he has designed for us to achieve only by the slow and toilsome process of trial and experience, aided by good intentions? It is the latter most truly. We have the power to acquire this virtue given us, but the work, the labor of the acquisition, as well as the honor of it, must of necessity be our own.—No foreign hand or agency can plant it in the soul, any more than it can confer knowledge on the mind without its volition and active effort.

We repeat, this is excellent; we adopt it heartily, and commend it to our readers.

It must in all cases be the result of cultivation, of patient, persistent, determined effort, and of effort to resist and overcome temptation, rather than by fleeing into monastic seclusion to escape and avoid it.

Be it so: but then it does not follow that we should rush into temptation, or invite it to come to us,—or tempt others to wickedness.

True virtue is strength. That is the original signification of the word; it is the strength that enables us boldly to meet and overcome moral obstacles. It raises us above the dominion of Appetite, and seats us in the calm and serene companionship of reason and conscience.

True again; and perhaps you, Mr. Argus, may be strong enough to withstand some common forms of it, without the least injury.—Other men may be weaker. How shall they begin to achieve such greatness of virtue? Let us hear.

But that virtue is only a sickly counterfeit, a mere negative pretense, which can retain its purity only by avoiding every temptation to transgression.

Be it so; nevertheless the prophet says: "look not on the wine when it is red—at the last it biteth like a serpent and stingeth like an adder." The psalmist prays, "O turn away mine eyes, lest I behold vanity;"—and the Savior prays, "lead us not into temptation."

It may pass for the genuine article in the life of the hermit or the ascetic recluse; but it would serve no useful purpose at all for the active, self-relying American citizen.

We have seen more than one active, self-relying American citizen roll in the gutter. We have taken more than one or two such out of it, and carried them to their homes: we have consigned some of them to their graves, in sorrow and with tears. And we know some now, whom we dare not name, for whom we tremble; kind men, benevolent, affectionate, noble,—but frail, and standing on the most dangerous ground, feeling all the while as if they could surely take care of themselves.

It would not survive the first day's trial. Nothing short of the genuine fire proof article will be of the least service to him.

We are afraid it would not stand half a day.

Nothing short of total, fire proof abstinence is really safe.

The writer has fancied himself a thorough temperance man; he has to be sure never deemed the laws perfect, or believed they could readily be made so;—and he is quite sure that perfect character is never formed by penal statutes.

We deem it highly desirable to be strong enough to resist temptation when it comes—but not desirable to be tempted,—nor allowable to be tempters.

For instance, Uncle Toby has regarded himself a tolerable temperance man, though a teetotaller of five and twenty years or more. Must he now, to show his temperance virtue, drink as much liquor as he can without falling? Must he keep a side board? or a bar? Must he preach rum sermons like Lovejoy? or vote and write for rum governors like——?

☞ Hunt's Merchant's Magazine for August, contains a favorable and complimentary review of Woodbury's Writings, a pamphlet comprising a collection of the Speeches, Addresses and Decisions of the late Hon. Levi Woodbury, of this city. The Review also speaks very highly of Mr. Woodbury's industry, strength and skill, as a Secretary of the Treasury in troublous times. The article will be read with interest.

Freeman Hunt, editor and publisher, New York.

☞ The Submarine Telegraph between Great Britain and this country, is said to be contracted for, to be finished in 1858.

GOV. REEDER.—The reply of Gov. Reeder to Secretary Marcy, on the subject of Land Speculation, is published, and is of considerable length. In reply to the charge of purchase of half-breed Kansas land, the Governor says:

"I have purchased no such lands at all.—With others I have agreed to purchase them in case the contemplated purchase shall receive the sanction and approbation of the President; and this, in my opinion, is a material and substantial difference. Until the President, by his approbation, and the vendors by the execution of their deeds, consummate the contract, it precludes us from any interest in the land, and even the privilege of entering upon or possessing it. * * * The papers were submitted by us to the President on the — day of January last, for his approval, and as the government has been for years in the habit of approving similar contracts, we did not apprehend any difficulty whatever."

In reply to Mr. Clark's charges relative to encroachments upon the Kansas half-breed reservation, the Governor denies them in toto, and seems to us to make a clear and honorable explanation of the whole affair. In conclusion, the Governor says:

"I cannot conclude this letter without again urging upon yourself and the President, as a matter of the simplest justice, demandable by the humblest man in the community, that I should be informed of the particular act to which exception is taken, and the particular aspect in which it is considered culpable, and if any law or regulation is violated, what that law or regulation is. I cannot suppose that the President has any desire to avoid a rule so necessary to a correct and conscientious discharge of his own duty, and so indispensable to the exculpation even of the most innocent man, and the absence of which, above all things, is calculated to bring the innocent and the guilty into the same category; and I therefore ask it in the fullest confidence that it will not be denied."

The dismission of Gov. Reeder makes quite a stir, as well it may. For aught which yet appears, Reeder was a moderately pro-slavery man—but not fast enough in that direction to please Stringfellow & Co. At their instigation, or at some other, the President removes him, assigning some reasons which are denied as above—and which remain to be proved.

"THE OTHER SIDE."—The next issue of the Washington Union will contain the correspondence between the Executive and Gov. Reeder, in which the President places the latter's removal on the ground of an unsatisfactory reply to charges concerning alleged land transaction.

Perhaps the people will believe the President's reasons to be something more than a pretext for the removal. But perhaps some of them will not.

OH, HO!—A New York jury has decided that Wolfe's Aromatic Schiedam Schnapps are not intoxicating, but merely a compound of Holland gin and juniper juice, their only action being upon the kidneys.

Most learned decision—most scientific description. Holland gin is distilled from Rye and flavored with juniper; and the Schnapps are only a very strong and professedly pure kind of Holland Gin. The effect on the kidneys spoken of, is all produced by the juniper berries. Every old doctress and nurse in this part of the country, fifty years ago, used to make juniper tea for this purpose,—and as rum was always handy then, they often put rum into it to keep it, but not to add to its virtue in that respect.

Gin, especially gin-toddy, was the old women's standard drink, where they could afford it: and was largely drank by old people of both sexes, making them insufferably soft and silly. Gin, including Schnapps, is at the present day, the cordial drink of classes of men and women not to be named in ears polite.—And the gin palaces of London, where they sell weaker gin than Schiedam Schnapps,—are they harmless? By no means; they are one of the pests of London. One feature of the Schnapps, however, is favorable, viz., they are a very costly article. Juniper tea is vastly cheaper as a medicine;—and Prison Whiskey is cheaper as an intoxicating drink.

RECRUITING.—The St. Louis Republican tells a story of a recruiting officer, who enlisted nine men at Memphis, for the U. S. army, and sent his recruits up river, by the steamer National, consigned to Jefferson Barracks. Two of them, in fits of delirium tremens, drowned themselves, and three more either drowned themselves or deserted. Only four reached the barracks.

BURGLARY.—The house of B. B. Bunker, Esq., at Manchester, was entered on Friday night, with false keys and other implements. The robbers took a gold watch, and a wallet containing 70 dollars in money and many papers. The wallet has been found on an ash heap near Bunker's house, containing the notes of hand all safe, but the money gone.

POCKET PICKED.—A man named Folsom Morrill, belonging in Hill, N. H., was robbed of $150 in money, and $2920 in notes, by some expert pickpocket, while he was standing in the Boston and Maine Railroad station, Haymarket Square, Boston, on Monday, about noon.

A telegraph despatch from Toledo, Ohio, says the wheat crop is turning out much better than was anticipated.

LOCAL.

☞ Uncle Toby has not been at Exeter very lately, and did not notice the new buildings there. He will, however, do so, at an early day; and in the mean time he will take into consideration the comparative increase of the two old jogging places, Portsmouth and Exeter. Both are slow and substantial; both we hope, improving.

The Exeter News Letter speaks of green sward in our streets. The writer thinks a good carriage path in the middle, a smooth piece of green on each side, and then a broad side walk next the houses, compose the most beautiful streets possible. He wishes all the streets of Portsmouth were wide enough for this. But unluckily many of the old streets are narrow and dusty.

By the way, our city this year has graded Deer street from end to end, paving the centre with pebbles: also portions of Bridge and Pleasant streets. And we are now beginning to build a costly and substantial School House for the two High Schools. The new North Church, which has been nearly a year in building, will soon be finished. A number of handsome private dwellings have also been erected or finished this year.

STRAWS.—On Saturday, near night, as the hacks, expresses, job wagons and loafers, were gathering round a railway station, a man and woman passing as husband and wife, insisted on riding to a place in Maine, in the stage. The stageman objected, because they were altogether too drunk to be decent company in a coach. Thereupon the man, indignant, attacked the driver, and would probably have received a good drubbing, had not the City Marshal closed the exercises, and cleared out the drunken couple.

On Monday noon one of our fellow citizens was seen staggering home to his dinner, and after several tacks and hitches, made the door of his castle in safety.

A gentleman at table took a nipper of very nice brandy, which his guest declined. The host then spoke of the high price of butter, as he passed the article. Yes dear, said the hostess, it is pretty dear at 25 cents a pound; but did you, sir, (turning to the guest,) did you sir, ever hear any body complain that brandy was dear, when it cost $4 a gallon? No, madam, we never did.

☞ We understand that Badger's Island, which is now occupied as a ship yard, by Messrs. Fernald & Petigrew, has been purchased by Messrs. William P. Jones, John Yeaton, and John E. Salter, who will carry on the same business.

☞ Mr. James Rand, of Greenland, has stalks of Indian Corn 10 feet high; and Mr. Edward T. Huntress, of this place, has some 11 feet. We have never seen Indian Corn look better in this neighborhood.

☞ The Pic Nic of the Pleasant street Society will be postponed from this day, to to-morrow, Thursday, at 10 1-2 o'clock, if fair weather.

FAILURE OF A COTTON FACTORY IN GA. A correspondent of the Charleston News, at Sparta, Georgia, writes:

A large cotton factory has been in operation here about three years, but is now about being closed, and to-day will probably terminate its existence. It unpleasantly reminded us of the fate of a similar enterprise which so signally failed after a brief career in our own city. Why is it so? It would seem to be reasonable at least, that, surrounded with the raw material, unencumbered with the cost of transportation to northern cities, southern manufactories should not only compete with, but successfully maintain a higher position than those so far removed from the cotton growing region. But so it is, with few exceptions, our own Graniteville being among them.

Witnesses in criminal cases, says the N. H. Patriot, who have entered into recognizance for appearance at the Court of Common Pleas in Merrimack County on the first Tuesday of October, should notice that the new judiciary bill requires their attendance at the term of the Supreme Judicial Court to be held Aug. 21st—the criminal business being transferred to that court; and their recognizance will be forfeited if they do not thus appear. In other counties, witnesses should also notice the change made in the time required for their attendance at court.

THE ELECTIONS.—Daily dispatches from Tennessee and North Carolina, vary a little every day—but nothing is certain. In North Carolina it is said four Democrats and two Americans are chosen Representatives,—one Democrat doubtful.

☞ Telegraphic despatches from Louisville, of the 7th, represent the election in that city, and throughout Kentucky as far as heard from, in favor of the K. Ns. Riots took place in Louisville, 1st and 8th wards. 12 buildings were burnt, 20 people killed, and many wounded.

The returns from East Tennessee indicates 15,000 majority for Gentry for Governor.

RICE.—Geo. W. Payne, of Farmington, Ct., has a lot of Minnesota rice growing upon his farm, "full eight feet in height, and promising an abundant yield." He thinks it fully equal to the Southern rice, and is confident that it can be profitably raised in this meridian. It is sown on swampy land, unfit for other cultivation.

THE POETRY OF PHYSIC.

AYER'S PILLS glide, sugar-shod, over the palate, but their energy, although wrapped up, is there, and tells with giant force on the very foundations of disease. There are thousands of sufferers who would not wear their distempers if they knew they could be cured for 25 cts.—Try Ayer's Pills, and you will know it.

Purify the blood and disease will be starved out.

Cleanse the system from impurities and you are cured already.

Take this best of all Purgatives, and Scrofula, Indigestion, Weakness, Headache, Backache, Side ache, Jaundice, Rheumatism, derangements of the Liver, Kidneys, and Bowels, all derangements and all diseases which a purgative remedy can reach, fly before them like darkness before the Sun.

Reader if you are suffering from any one of the numerous complaints they cure—suffer no more—the remedy has been provided for you, and it is criminal to neglect it.

That Ayer's Cherry Pectoral is the best medicine for a Cough, is known to the whole world, and that Ayer's Pills are the best of all Pills is known to those who have used them.

Niepcotypes on Glass, and Photographs on Paper.

MR. SALEN wishes to inform the citizens of Portsmouth and vicinity, that he has procured the Art to take Likenesses on GLASS and PAPER. The now so much admired Photograph, taken on paper, excels by far the Daguerreotype on a metallic plate

These pictures are durable; are not reversed; have not the blending of a Daguerreotype, and excel in softness of light and shade the finest engraving. They are finished on beautiful French cartons put up in frames, and therefore are particularly adapted for parlor pictures. They can also be secured and sent in a letter to a distant friend.

Taken at SALEN'S Daguerrean Gallery, at all prices and sizes, on reasonable terms.

Please call and examine specimens. a4

EXTRAORDINARY CASE.—John Blatner and Louisa Koch were brought down to the day police office last evening, from their residence at the corner of Ninth street and Lafayette avenue, having been arrested for the ill-treatment and attempt to starve a little son of Blatner, aged nine years, calling himself Franz Blatner.

It appears that the mother of the boy died a short time since, leaving by her will all her property, consisting of a small share of real estate, to little Frans. Shortly after her death, the woman, Louisa Koch, was brought to the house and took up her residence with Blatner. It was then determined by the man and woman to get Franz out of the way, and secure the real estate for themselves. The way to accomplish this villainous purpose was to starve him to death.

Accordingly he was fastened up in a room with his hands tied behind his back, where, at the time of his discovery, he had been confined for the space of two days, without having had a morsel to eat or drink. He would probably have suffered a horrible death, had it not been for the watchfulness of the persons living in the neighborhood, who suspecting the case, informed the police, and had the house entered and searched. Little Franz was overjoyed at his release.

Blatner and his paramour were lodged in the calaboose, and will be dealt with as they deserve to-day. It is difficult to imagine a more unnatural or inhuman case.—St. Louis Democrat, Aug. 1.

Mr. Benjamin H. Jones, stone mason, of Malden, died very suddenly Thursday afternoon. After eating his dinner, he got into his wagon, and was riding round to oversee his workmen, when he stepped into a grocery store and complained of feeling faint. Medical asssistance was of no avail, and he died in about ten minutes. He was 38 years of age, was steady and industrious, and much esteemed. He leaves a wife and children.

RAILROAD ACCIDENT.—On Wednesday night, the watchman at the long bridge across Missisco Bay, on the Vermont and Canada Railroad, went to sleep, leaving the draw up, the noise of the train waking him only in time to drop one side of the draw. The engine plunged into the chasm, but fortunately the draw was sustained by the end of the pier sufficiently to prevent it from falling into the water. The engineer was somewhat hurt.—The passage of trains was interrupted two days.

ARRESTED.—Three men, named James Ryan, Michael Duffy, and Daniel Dugan, were arrested Friday night, 3d inst., at Charlton, Onondaga County, N. Y., charged with displacing the railroad track west of Syracuse, two weeks since. Two of them had been recently discharged from the service of the road.

NEWPORT, Florida, Aug. 1st.—Schr. Elizabeth, from St. Marks to New York, with a full cargo of naval stores and cotton, was struck by lightning and burnt up, yester day, near Port Leon. The mate was killed. Vessel and cargo insured in New York for $25,000.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 1st.—Kansas Judge Removed.—Rushelman, associate justice of the Supreme Court of Kansas, has been removed on grounds similar to those assigned for Gov. Reeder's displacement, and Judge Moore of Alabama appointed his successor.

DEATH OF ALEXANDER CAMPBELL.—The Cleaveland Leader announces the death of the celebrated Alexander Campbell, of Bethany, Va. He was the founder of the sect of Christians known as the "Disciples," or "Campbellites," now very numerous and powerful; was the president of a theological college in Bethany; the editor of a denominational magazine, and a man of much learning and eloquence. He visited England a few years since, and was mobbed at Edinburg, Scotland, for some sentiments which he publicly advanced there in defence of the system of African slavery as practiced in this country. He died in New Orleans on the 27th ult., of disease of the heart.

The quantity of bakers' bread daily consumed in New York, within sight of the cross on Trinity steeple must be enormous. Allowing a sixpenny loaf to every inhabitant, we have, say, a million of loaves consumed every day, value $60,000. Barrels of flour consumed, 4500.

Rev. Edward McDaniel, a slave, but an ordained elder of the Methodist church is passing through the Northern States, begging means to purchase himself; he having got an idea into his head that though a divine, he would not rather be a subject of the "divine institution."—Manchester Amer.

The Coos Democrat says the hay crop in that quarter is exceedingly abundant, and that a new street has been laid out in the pleasant village of Lancaster, N. H., in which the enterprising citizens are building fifteen new houses.

The Buffalo Express notices the arrival at that port, from the West, of a consignment of "fifty-four barrels of peas." Not that there is anything intrinsically strange about peas; but then they were consigned to a coffee-grinding establishment. Singular!

RATHER AWKWARD.—A few days since a gentleman, who was en route for New York, got out at a station, leaving his "better half" sole occupant of the seat; returning, finding a good looking gentleman occupying his seat and making himself sociable with his travelling companion, he politely requested the stranger to give him his seat. "Your seat, sir?" said the stranger: "I don't know that you have any better claim to it than I have." Very well, sir," replied our friend, "if you will keep it, allow me to introduce you to my wife." The stranger looked blank, and made very hasty tracks for the next car.

SUPPOSED PIRATES.—An arrival at New York from Bahamas on Sunday morning, brings the report that the Danish brig Janette drifted ashore on the 14th of July at Acklins, with sails loose, and the crew all aboard, dead. It is supposed they had been murdered the previous day by pirates, as a brig answering her description, was then seen with a schooner alongside.

SAGAMORE HOUSE,
FROST'S POINT, 3½ miles from Postsm. Depots.
THE Proprietor of the above House respectfully announces to the pleasure-seeking public that he will open for the season on WEDNESDAY, June 20th.
To those familiar with the locality of the Sagamore House, not a word is necessary in regard to its beautiful and healthful situation.—To strangers seeking rest and recreation by the seaside it affords attractions unequalled. Situated on a point of land on the Atlantic shore, near the Harbor of Portsmouth, the windows on three sides overlook the salt water. From the beach, the broad Atlantic, the Isles of Shoals, the beautiful Piscataqua, and the City of Portsmouth form a charming prospect, and in the background the green fields and leafy woods present a relieving contrast.
The House will be kept in the best manner, and every endeavor will be used to give satisfaction to its guests. The more effectually to do this, the proprietor has secured the services of Mr. JOHN MACE, formerly of the Rockingham House, Portsmouth, whose experience and skill in hotel keeping will be a sufficient guarantee to all who know him that the management will be all that could be desired. The Table will be supplied with all the seasonable luxuries of the sea and land, and every effort used to render a sojourn at the Sagamore agreeable.
THOS R. CLARK, Proprietor.

APPLEDORE HOUSE.
ISLES OF SHOALS.
THIS House is now open for public accommodation. As everybody knows, it ought to be, combined with the natural advantages of this purely OCEAN RETREAT, the public will not be bored with real or imaginary descriptions. Suffice it to say that every facility for the promotion of the happiness and quiet enjoyment of visitors may be found here.
A STEAMER will make daily trips between the Islands and Portsmouth, accommodating itself to the arrival and departure of the several trains.
je16 2m THOMAS B. LAIGHTON.

PAVILION,
WOLFBOROUGH, N. H.
THE subscribers beg leave to inform their friends and the public that they have leased the above spacious Public House, which contains over one hundred well furnished rooms, which have been put in good order, for permanent and transient boarders. The House commands a good view of Lake Winnipiseogee, together with the beautiful hills which surround it—from one of which the prospect is said to excel that of Mount Washington—making many beautiful rides in the vicinity, on land as well as on the beautiful lake.
Good horses and carriages are connected with the house, and the beautiful steamboats "Lady of the Lake" and "Dover" make several trips each day up and down the lake. Gentlemen who delight in angling and gunning will find here ample field for their favorite enjoyment. Meals at all hours, without extra charge, for sportsmen.—Good carriages and accommodating porters in attendance on the arrival of each boat.
NATH'L TEAD,
Wolfboro', June 27. R. W. ADAMS.

Steamboat Notice.
THE fine and commodious Steamboat SILVER STAR will run regularly every day from Portsmouth to Appledore Island, (Isles of Shoals,) in connection with the morning trains from the South, leaving Pier Wharf, Portsmouth, directly after the arrival of the Cars, and will return in season for the Evening Trains from Portsmouth.
The Boat is fitted with all the modern improvements for a Passenger Boat; and her double Engines are of the most approved pattern, and all her appointments are superior.
Towing done on reasonable terms. For particulars apply to the captain, or to Capt. Marshall at Pier wharf.
The boat can be chartered for sea Parties, upon application to the captain on board, giving reasonable notice.
je23 THOMAS MAKINNEY, Captain.

Isles of Shoals.
THE Fast sailing Pleasure Boat STAR OF THE EAST, will make daily trips between the Isles of Shoals and Portsmouth, accommodating itself to the arrival and departure of the several trains, on and after June 18th. The boat will be found at Pier Wharf, foot of State st. je18

Cholera Morbus and Dytentery
ELIXIR.
A Sure, Safe and Speedy Remedy!
A THOROUGH trial of this valuable Medicine the past two years, during the prevalence of the above disease, proved it the most successful remedy ever used by the medical profession, if taken in season. Three doses are sure to arrest its progress, at once checks the discharges, and instantly relieves all pain. Any Physician will be made acquainted with its component parts who will give it a trial, and he may rest assured that he will never be disappointed in its beneficial results. Individuals who are afflicted with either of these complaints so common at this season of the year, will find a sure, safe and speedy remedy.

A Word to Persons in Delicate Health
DR. HOLMAN'S BITTERS,
Compounded from the Original Recipe of
DR. CHARLES HOLMAN,
THESE well known and much used BITTERS are composed of Roots and Herbs, such as Sarsaparilla, Pyrola, Yellow Dock, Dandelion, Wild Cherry, Prickly Ash, &c. highly prized for their
HEALING, STRENGTHENING AND RENOVATING PROPERTIES.
They are warranted to be unsurpassed in the cure of
Liver Complaint, Jaundice, Headache, Loss of Appetite, Giddiness and Weakness of the Stomach.
They are remarkable for giving a tone to the Digestive Organs, assisting Nature and preventing the various Bowel Complaints, so frequent and so dangerous during Summer and Autumn.
No Family should be without them.
Price 25 cents for a single Bottle, or five bottles for one dollar. Quite the cheapest as well as the Best Medicine that can be used.

DEAD SHOT FOR BED BUGS.
A SURE death to these noxious disturbers of our nightly rest. Apply it to insects and it catches them up and lays them out as readily as Sulphur Fumes kills fleas.
It has no equal in the market. The whole world cannot produce a substitute of similar value to the comfort of a neat tidy housewife. Its application is of little trouble, while the benefit which may be derived from a single night's undisturbed repose is incalculable.
SANCHO PANZA
Called down "blessings upon the head of the man who first invented sleep." How much more worthy such honorable distinction would be consider the inventor of the Dead Shot, who, by his Pungent and Deadly Preparation, has rendered utterly impossible the ancient bloody forays of such tolerable and not to be endured tormentors; and who has enabled every one to guarantee to himself his own particular share of "tired Nature's sweet restorer."

CORRECT IDEAS OF A POST OFFICE.—Lord Palmerston in a recent speech in Parliament made the following reply to a question in regard to the uses and functions of a national post office.

That the post office was to a certain degree, no doubt, an office of revenue, inasmuch as the post office service produced a certain amount of revenue, though not to an important extent; but he considered that the collection of revenue by the post office was an essential function, and that the post office was an administrative department of the government rather than one for the collection of revenue. It was the opinion of those who had most studied the matter that the main object of the post office was, not to collect a revenue, but to effect an easy, ready, and cheap transmission of correspondence for the convenience of the public and the promotion of the commercial interests of the country.

The Mayor of Boston has procured a number of red and gray squirrels from Vermont, and let them loose upon the tree on the Common.—Boston Journal.

A good idea. Here, however, we deal in larger game. We understand the Mayor of St. Anthony has ordered fifty fine buffalo and the same number of elk, from Pembina, to be turned loose upon the common of St. Anthony.—St. Anthony Falls Express.

HAYES'S MEDICINES.

READER, are you suffering from Humors, Internal or external? If so, the Allied Ointment and Humor Syrup will cure you just as sure as you use it. Take not our assertion for it, but the testimony of a thousand living witnesses. All it wants is a trial—it advertises itself. One bottle has sold a hundred in a single town. Reader, do you ask how you shall know these statements are facts, when there is so much humbuggery in advertisements? We will inform you: call on any of our agents, get a circular, select any name you please, address a line to that individual—they will speak—they are living witnesses. It will cost but a trifle, and must convince the most skeptical. We subjoin one from among the many:

Read the following, it speaks for itself:

LAWRENCE, June 12, 1854.

We the undersigned, citizens of Lawrence, having used the Vegetable Allied Ointment prepared by E. D. HAYES, of this city, and being personally acquainted with the Doctor, feel pleasure in adding our testimony to all the doctor claims for his medicine. Unlike other remedies in the market, this preparation performs its office speedily and with certainty. The Ointment we have used with the most happy results, after vainly seeking relief by the free use of Sarsaparilla, Salves, &c.

Our experience fully justifies us in confidently recommending it as per article, and the only one known to us, as performing all it claims.

A. S. BUNKER, W. W. SEARNS,
S. I. THOMPSON, ASA T. SANBORN.

It cures Salt Rheum, Scrofula, Erysipelas, White Leprosy, Cancerous Humors, Ring Worm, Scald Head, Burns and Scalds, Chilblains, Piles, the preparation expressly, Barber's Itch, Fever Sores, and all old Mercurial Sores, however long standing. It removes all those vexatious Pimples, Eruptions and Moth or Mildew from the face leaving the skin perfectly soft and smooth, adding greatly to the beauty of the complexion. In no case will it leave a mark or scar. It improves the sight wonderfully, where the eyes are troubled with humors, by removing the difficulty and restoring the sight.

Price of the Ointment, $1; Syrup 50 cents.

PIANOS.
HALLETT, DAVIS & CO.
MANUFACTURERS of
GRAND AND SQUARE
PIANO-FORTES.

☞ Particular attention is solicited to our PATENT SUSPENSION BRIDGE—also our PATENT GRAND ACTION, as applied to both Grand and Square Pianos.

WAREROOMS,
NEW FREESTONE BLOCK,
No. 409 WASHINGTON STREET,
NEAR BOYLSTON STREET.....BOSTON.

Opinions of the Press.

It is now generally acknowledged that the Pianos manufactured by Hallet, Davis & Co. are unrivalled in America, if in the world, for brilliancy or purity of tone.—Boston Daily Times.

An immense volume of sound can be produced by these Pianos without shattering the tones, as they send forth the most perfect, bell like notes, and we must confess that we have never listened to their equals for power, brilliancy, sweetness of tone, and purity of action.—Boston Herald.

The Pianos of Hallet, Davis & Co. deserve more than a passing notice. They are truly splendid instruments, very powerful, and of the purest and richest quality of tone.—Boston Traveller.

In regard to purity of tone, power and sweetness, being fully equal to any instrument that has come under our observation.—Boston Courier.

Owing to the beautiful elasticity of the action of your Grand Piano Fortes, I think it would be impossible for any Pianist, who plays properly, to break either a string or a hammer.—Extract from a Letter from Wm. Mason.

The peculiar feature of Hallet, Davis & Co.'s instruments is, they make no noise. Nothing but pure tone is produced by the vibration of the strings; and the construction of the sounding board, and action are such that skilful pianists, after once testing their merits, dislike to use any other instrument in the Concert room.—Philadelphia Sunday Mercury.

I find them to be very superior instruments—as well in tone as in touch.—Extract of a Letter from L. M. Gottschalk.

I can unhesitatingly say that I find them superior in quality and quantity of tone, to those of other makers, also the elasticity and easy touch; and can cheerfully recommend them to any one who wishes to own or play on the best Pianos.—Extract of a letter from Robert Heller.

THE REVENUE AND THE CROPS.

A Washington letter says that the receipts of revenue for July, from duties, indicate the revival of trade. The exports of 1855-56 will be greater than during any preceding year.—All the staple crops of the country both North and South are abundant without precedent;—since the commencement of the American cotton trade no such crop has been known as that which is now upon the ground—moderate estimates place it at 400,000 bales beyond the production of any preceding year. Wheat, corn, rye, oats,—all the cereals, will overflow our granaries, and beef, pork, and other meats, will be abundant and cheap in proportion. So far as concerns our financial condition, the only danger is now that a similar abundance will prevail abroad. All our accounts represent that the crops of Europe are, like our own, larger than have been gathered for years. Whether the production of our agriculture will bear prices that will justify exportation is now the question. If they will, the only difficulty will be to obtain a sufficient supply of shipping.

Speaking of the crops the New York Tribune says:—

"There has been a vast deal of lying within a few days about the condition of the crops, more especially of wheat. Interested speculators have kept afloat the most extravagant exaggerations of the effect of the recent rains, and so industriously reiterated the stories that they have been taken for truth in quarters usually most careful. That the wheat crop was in imminent danger last week is true, for it rained every day, and in a few instances wheat that was put in the sheaf was in some degree sprouted; but the rains ceased in time to save nearly all of this, while the story of acres upon acres of that which was uncut being beaten to the earth, and their sprouting, was entirely erroneous. We have passed, since last Saturday, through the heart of the wheat region of New York, and seen thousands of acres, besides conversing with some intelligent gentlemen, farmers and others, from nearly all the counties west of the Hudson. Out of hundreds of fields partially harvested, we saw but one in which the shocks had been spread apart to dry the grain; while the amount beaten down by the rain was quite insignificant."

Of the crops abroad—wheat and potatoes—the intelligent correspondent of the N. Y. Commercial writes:—

"Of far greater importance in its bearing on politics or the war than the gain or loss of a pitched battle, is the immediate question of the harvest, and happily in that respect every thing continues to promise well. During the past week the weather has been unusually stormy, but the rain was greatly wanted, and if the next five weeks should prove tolerably fine, the yield of grain, both in quality and quantity, is likely to prove excellent. The good reports from your side have also increased the favorable feeling; but one of the most important circumstances this year connected with the probable supply of food consists in the intelligence that for the first time for 8 years there is reason to believe that the potato crop in Ireland and elsewhere will be free from blight. Since 1847 signs of the rot have always unequivocally manifested themselves before the 12th of July, but in the present instance that day had passed without a report of its appearance in any quarter. The plant everywhere is described to be in perfect health and vigor, and even if the disease should yet come, there is reason to expect it will be less destructive than at any former time, since its power of mischief is in proportion to the date of its arrival."

A lady from Toronto precipitated herself into the rapids at Niagara Falls on Friday, but was rescued through the exertions of a gentleman who happened to be in the vicinity. A domestic difficulty was the cause assigned for the rash act.

AQUATIC SPORT.—The Bath (Me.) Tribune of Saturday says:

"Thursday evening at about eleven o'clock, some of our police discovered a large sailboat making its way past our wharves, deeply loaded, and suspecting wrong, it was watched, and on its arrival at Moses' wharf, where it stopped, Marshal Walker, accompanied by Messrs. Anderson and Fletcher of the city watch, stepped down upon the wharf with the intention of examining. On hearing the footsteps of the officers, Geo. Parshley, who had charge, and with the exception of one passenger was alone in the boat, immediately cut the painter and shoved her out into the stream.

Officer Anderson, however, with his customary promptness and energy, immediately took a flying leap into the boat, where he was received by Parshley, who by a push, ere he had regained his balance, easily upset him into the river. Anderson, however, nothing daunted, retained his hold upon the boat, and with his cane threatened his assailant, and after some parley clambered in again; and Parshley was soon convinced that his best course was to abandon all resistance, which he did immediately, and seconded Anderson in bringing the boat in at Hodgkins' wharf, where the liquor was discharged, and thence conveyed to City Hall building.

The amount taken was in all about $400 worth.

The officers in Portland made three seizures last week.

Proof is now accumulating that Nathan Brown, now in jail in New Albany, Indiana, on a charge of bigamy, has six wives, instead of the three he owns up to.

THURSDAY, AUGUST 9, 1855.

A TRIP TO BANGOR.

"A life on the Ocean Wave,
A Home on the Rolling Deep"—

Is expressive, not only of the desire of the outlawed pirate, but also of many landsmen;—though in the case of the latter, the desire is bounded to a great extent by the length of time allowed for such aquatic existence.

For the past ten years, a party of about twenty gentlemen of this city have been in the habit of taking an excursion in the month of August, which generally continued through several days, but not over five or six. The members of the company have partially changed, with each season. Last year, the party went as far east as Bath, and on returning, voted, if possible, to visit Bangor, the next season. The vote, though not binding, was duly considered, and a company collected on that condition, viz., to go to Bangor.

On Tuesday morning, July 31, the party of seventeen persons, started, in the midst of a heavy rain, for the above named port—the longest excursion ever attempted by any company of pleasure seekers from Portsmouth. The names of the gentleman were as follows:—

John H. Boardman, Wm. R. Preston, John O. Verrell, Wingate N. Ilsley, Amos T. Goodrich, John F. Patten, Thos. Norton, Daniel J. Vaughan, Abraham Q. Wendell, James M. Carr, Geo. E. Abbott, Francis W. Ham, Samuel Gray, Portsmouth; A. L. Folsom, Laconia, N. H.; Jas. Freeman, Portland, Me.; Chas. E. Kingsbury, Little Falls, N. Y.; N. T. Moulton, jr., Saco, Me.

Several of these gentlemen were members of the first party, ten years ago, and have participated each year since.

At the start of the party, in the Pilot Yacht Sibyl, Capt. Preble, appearances were decidedly against a quick and pleasant trip, as a steady but gentle rain fell through the forenoon of Tuesday. Gentlemen in pursuit of pleasure are always hopeful, and the dullness of spirits caused by the wet weather, was counteracted to a great extent by the old saw, that "a bad beginning makes a good ending."

The boat was taken in tow in the lower harbor by the steamer Silver Star, who gave her a start well clear of Whale's Back, when she was cast off, and her course laid eastward for the Penobscot. At about this time, the rain stopped and the wind died away, and calm continued throughout the day, so that at dark on the night of the first day out, the boat lay between the Isles of Shoals and Cape Neddock.

During the night, the current set towards the west, with but light winds in a contrary direction, so that on Wednesday morning, Portsmouth was at least three miles nearer than on the preceding evening—a thick fog prevailing through the night.

Wednesday, the second day, was a little more favorable for pleasure, though only a short distance was run. Except for an hour or two in the forenoon, a dead calm prevailed until Thursday morning.

At that time it was found that the supply of water was short, only about a quart remaining in the tank. This was an exceedingly pleasant idea. The land shut out by the fog, no wind and no water. However, no fear of suffering was entertained by any of the party. When the fog raised, at about noon on Thursday, Cape Elizabeth bore about north west, fifteen miles distant. The wind now came up with a gentle force, and the boat was headed for Portland, to replenish the water casks. After sailing about two miles, a fishing schooner was spoken, who supplied us with water, and we kept on our course for Segeine light, at the mouth of the Kennebec River, which was reached at about five o'clock Thursday afternoon.

A beautiful bird is the Stormy Petrel or Mother Carey's Chicken. To kill one of these birds, in the eyes of old superstitious sailors is worse than murder, for such destruction is sure to be followed by a storm; and is generally fatal to the destroyer. One of the party had the hardihood to act counter to the tradition. The poor bird was shot as he was unsuspectingly enjoying the crumbs that might fall overboard. The gale did not follow, though some on board were inclined to wish it, thinking that anything would be preferable to dead, monotonous calms.

At Hunnewell's Point, at the mouth of the Kennebec, is a beautiful and well kept hotel, under the direction of Messrs. Loomis and Scraton, formerly of the Mansion House, Augusta. On Thursday evening, the house was so crowded that it was impossible for the excursionists to procure beds, even for the few who desired to sleep on shore. The table was bountifully supplied with all the luxuries of the season. The steamer from Bath for Boston passes and stops at this hotel, on her trips to and from Boston.

On Friday, with a fair wind, an early start was made, to make up for lost time. Seguine was soon left far astern, while Manheigan rose higher and higher ahead, until that, too, dropped in the background. White Head and Owl's Head were soon passed, and the broad and beautiful Bay of the Penobscot spread out before the enchanted voyagers.—This bay is thirty miles across, and with the stiff breeze directly aft, the boat fairly flew, with her wings outstretched, to the inner mouth of the river. Soon the river opened, and town after town on each side met the eye, till Hampden was reached, five miles below Bangor, when the anchor was dropped, it being thought unsafe to go up further at low tide and in the darkness. From Hunnewell's Point to Bangor is about 140 miles, which were passed in one day.

After remaining in Bangor through Saturday, just at night the boat was dropped down the river about 8 miles, where she lay at anchor till Sunday morning. The entire Sabbath was consumed in getting down to old Fort Point, a distance of 30 miles. With scarcely a breath of wind, the scene was beautiful. Flourishing towns on both sides were hushed in repose. The music of the bells was heard on every side, while the hum of industry had ceased to offend the ear with its unmusical clang. While thus floating down the silent tide, many of the most beautiful sacred hymns were sung to the sound of the flute, and the day passed off pleasantly to all the company.

On Monday morning, with a voyage of 170 miles before us, the prospect was anything but flattering for a short passage home. But at 11 o'clock a breeze sprung up, which though right ahead, was far better than none.

The Sibyl is a beautiful craft to sail on a a wind, and so skillfully was she managed by Capt. Preble, that at dark she was clear of White Head, having passed everything but the steamers on her way down. The qualities of the boat were amply proved in beating to windward over the "Muscle Ridges," a difficult and narrow passage from Owl's to White Head, a distance of about five miles, against tide.

Through the night such progress was made that Boon Island Light was in sight at daylight on Tuesday morning.

The knowledge of Capt. A. T. Goodrich, one of the party, proved of great assistance to Capt. Preble, who was not so well acquainted with the intricacies of the eastern end of the route, and his services were acknowledged with nine cheers, as we passed White Head, which cheers were answered by a striking of the fog bell at that place. This bell is always struck by the light keeper on the passage of the Boston and Bangor steamers, and we were honored with the same joyous peal.

Home was close aboard on Tuesday morning. After visiting Boon Island light, and heaving to, to fish awhile, with good success, the course was laid for Portsmouth, where the boat arrived at 6 o'clock, having been absent eight days.

Nothing occurred to mar the pleasure of the party, during the whole time, but the utmost good feeling prevailed. The general opinion of the confirmed excursionists of the party was, that this was the pleasantest of all the ten; and all were favorable to still another trip next year.

On coming alongside the wharf we heard the old saw again repeated, and with satisfaction, that "a bad beginning makes a good ending."

We have not been unmindful of the recent attentions of the Chronicle, which we duly appreciate, and will, with pleasure, reciprocate, whenever we can find no better employment than attending to an outsider.—Eastern Argus.

Outside of what? the State? or the editorial profession? or the contest?

We are outside of Maine, but close to it, and have many readers therein. We are not outside the editorial ring, and like to see good manners all round the table; if any one transgresses, it is our business to say so, if we please; and if he winces, so much the better; we have touched him. We are outside the contest, but we like to see fair play—if any writer errs, we like to correct him; and if we err, will thank any one to correct us. We don't believe in infallible men—certainly not in infallible editors.

AN OPINION.—The Eastern Argus, speaking of the fugitive slave bill, says,—

Why, but for the solemn compact in the constitution of the United States, which we are bound in honor and good faith to support, not a citizen of Maine would tolerate that law, and if it merely concerned the people of our own State, it would not stand an hour.

Is it possible that our Constitution binds us to wickedness so monstrous, to baseness so detestable, that not one man in Maine would do it voluntarily? And has this beautiful union saving bill, not a single friend in Maine, except those who are bought and paid for?

It has been decided in a court in Buffalo, that the law does not authorize the apprehension of a man for being drunk in his own house.

Perhaps not—but if he makes a brawl and tumult,—then come the police.

LOCAL.

DISSOLUTION.—A mutual council of Congregational churches was convened in this city on Tuesday, to dissolve the pastoral relation of Rev. Henry D. Moore to the North Church and Parish. Rev. Dr. French of North Hampton was Moderator, and Rev. E. Robie of Greenland was Scribe.

After examining Mr. Moore's request for dismission, and the records of the church and parish, the Council unanimously

Resolved, That in the opinion of this Council it is expedient that the pastoral relation subsisting between the Rev. Henry D. Moore and this Church and Society be, and that hereby it is dissolved.

In coming to this result the Council desire to express the pleasure they feel in the affectionate regard this Church and Society cherish toward their pastor, as expressed in their resolution, and the entire harmony subsisting between him and them relative to the dissolution of this pastoral relation; they pray that God would bless him with heavenly grace as a minister of the Gospel in the field of labor which in Divine Providence he is or may be called to occupy. And they would express their Christian sympathy with this Church and people, and commend them to the direction and blessing of the Great Head of the Church, praying that he would graciously guide them in the reestablishment of the Gospel ministry among them. JONA. FRENCH, Moderator.

Attest—E. ROBIE, Scribe.

Portsmouth, Aug. 7, 1855.

NORTH HAMPTON.—The meeting house of the Congregational Society in North Hampton, has been enlarged so as to make 16 new pews. The enlargement was demanded by the steady increase of the congregation. The opportunity was improved to refit and paint the house throughout. These improvements, which had occupied several weeks, being completed, the congregation resumed their worship there, on the last Sabbath.

EXETER, AS A QUIET RESIDENCE.—The News-Letter says:

We don't base our claims to respect on the number of new dwellings that we erect. Exeter is no ephemeral village, rapid and unsubstantial as a Jonah's gourd. It is an old town, and is justly proud of the beauty of its appearance, and of the eminent men to whom it has given birth. It is a respectable and an orderly town, and boasts of as much intelligence and refinement as a hundred of the new fangled villages, with all their new buildings. It has an admirable system of schools, and the children attend them;—it has a goodly number of churches, and they are well filled and well supported. It has an industrious and comfortable population; no town in New Hampshire of its size is freer from vice and destitution.

Now we are so old fashioned as to take these things into account in estimating the standing of a town. We think they furnish some indication of true progress in the right direction. And if the "growing" places can excel us in anything that tends towards comfort and intelligence, we will submit to be put behind them; if not, we still say, give us quiet old Exeter, and let others who are fond of new buildings and new places, enjoy them to their hearts' content.

SUDDEN DEATHS.—The Boston Telegraph of Tuesday evening records two, viz.: Mr. Philip Dascomb, proprietor of the Neptune House, Chelsea Beach, who died that morning very suddenly at his hotel. Mr. Dascomb was in the city the day before, and retired to bed at night in his usual health. And Mr. John Huges, found dead in his bed at No. 116 Prince street, of suffocation superinduced by a fit. He was found on his knees, as though in prayer, with his face buried in the feathers. It is supposed that while at devotions, the fit attacked him. He was sixty years of age.

☞ The State Council of the Massachusetts K. N.'s assembled at Springfield, have been repairing their platform. They have a Native American plank, an Anti-Slavery plank, and they passed strong resolutions in opposition to the encroachments of the slave power and the policy of the present administration. The preliminary step moreover was taken toward a "fusion," but with safeguards to secure the know-nothing ascendency in the composition of the elements.

NO MURDER.—There was a terrible story (which we did not happen to publish,) about three murders on board ship Colchis, at the Balize, the arrest of the captain and mate, &c. It now turns out, that there was no murder on board, nor any crime at all—but five men fell overboard by the parting of a rope; two of them were drowned, one hurt his head, and another his chest. This made the crew short, and more men were shipped from New Orleans. Nobody was arrested.

☞ Fowlers & Wells's Magazines, the Phrenological and the Water Cure, for August, are received. In the former is a good notice of Com. Vanderbilt, with a likeness.

☞ The U. S. Magasine for August, by Emerson & Co., New York, contains a portrait of Louis Agassis, and many other illustrations,—also, as usual, a good variety of matter.

THE POETRY OF PHYSIC.

AYER'S PILLS glide, sugar-shod, over the palate, but their energy, although wrapped up, is there, and tells with giant force on the very foundations of disease. There are thousands of sufferers who would not wear their distempers if they knew they could be cured for 25 cts.—Try Ayer's Pills, and you will know it.

Purify the blood and disease will be starved out.

Cleanse the system from impurities and you are cured already.

Take this best of all Purgatives, and Scrofula, Indigestion, Weakness, Headache, Backache, Side ache, Jaundice, Rheumatism, derangements of the Liver, Kidneys, and Bowels, all derangements and all diseases which a purgative remedy can reach, fly before them like darkness before the Sun.

Reader if you are suffering from any one of the numerous complaints they cure—suffer no more—the remedy has been provided for you, and it is criminal to neglect it.

That Ayer's Cherry Pectoral is the best medicine for a Cough, is known to the whole world, and that Ayer's Pills are the best of all Pills is known to those who have used them.

Prepared by DR. J. C. AYER, Lowell, Ms., and sold by every respectable Druggist in New England.

Agents in Portsmouth, W. R. PRESTON, J. H. THACHER, and D. KIMBALL, and sold by the Druggists throughout the United States. 2m al d&w

Niepcotypes on Glass, and Photographs on Paper.

MR. SALEN wishes to inform the citizens of Portsmouth and vicinity, that he has procured the Art to take Likenesses on GLASS and PAPER The now so much admired Photograph, taken on paper, excels by far the Daguerreotype on a metallic plate

These pictures are durable; are not reversed; have not the blending of a Daguerreotype, and excel in softness of light and shade the finest engraving. They are finished on beautiful French cartons put up in frames, and therefore are particularly adapted for parlor pictures. They can also be secured and sent in a letter to a distant friend.

Taken at SALEN'S Daguerrean Gallery, at all prices and sizes, on reasonable terms.

Please call and examine specimens. a4

SEVEN DAYS LATER NEWS.

NEW YORK, Aug. 8.

The steamship Baltic, from Liverpool, 28th ult, arrived here this morning. On her outward passage the Baltic ran down the Br sch. Sarah Ann, from Bangor to Bristol. The crew were saved and taken on board.

Horace Greeley was among the passengers. He is the bearer of despatches to the government.

The clipper Red Jacket arrived at Liverpool 25th, with 138,000 ounces gold.

Cotton depressed. Breadstuffs dull and slightly declined, except corn, which has advanced 2s 6d.

Parliament will be prorogued on or about the 14th inst. The British ministry, after their narrow escape on the Turkish Guarantee will now most probably be able to retain their places. Sir Wm. Molesworth is definitely appointed Colonial Secretary.

The French loan is more than taken.

The position of Diplomacy remains unchanged; Russia defending her neutral position, and Austria making more open advances towards Russia, caused some disquietude.

The Germanic Diet has accepted the Austrian propositions, together with the three additional points proposed by Russia.

The war news is unimportant; neither sorties nor assaults have occurred at Sebastopol.

It was currently reported that Gen. Simpson had given in his resignation, and only retained command until the appointment of his successor.

NEW YORK, Aug. 7th.—THE EMIGRANT RUNNERS' MEETING at the Battery, last night, was not large. The runners marched into the enclosure in processional order, with a field piece and banners, and organized by the choice of an Ex-Alderman as chairman.

Capt. Isaiah Rynders of the Custom House, was the principal speaker. His language was very violent, and he intimated that unless the garden was vacated, force should be used.

Assembly O'Keefe followed, denouncing the law under which the garden is occupied as a swindle upon the Legislature.

A number of rockets were fired into and over the garden.

Ample preparation had been made by the Chief of Police to repel any assault upon the garden, but it was not found necessary to use them.

The Boston Telegraph says that the circumstance which has excited the indignation of the Emigrant Runners is this: The Commissioners of Emigration have lately been placed in control of Castle Garden, and are making use of it for Emigrant purposes, shutting out agents, runners, hotel keepers and other persons who are generally so assiduous in serving the emigrants—and themselves at the same time. The Commissioners examine the emigrants with a view of their health, and if necessary send them to a hospital. They also give every requisite information to those who wish to leave the city, and aid them in their progress. The time honored ceremony of fleecing them is discontinued, and this innovation it is which has excited the ire of the "runners."

☞ Additional particulars of the Louisville Riot, show that Americans were fired upon from various houses, lager bier places, &c,—and that summary vengeance was taken by the American mob, with interest. 15 or 20 persons in the whole are said to be killed.—Order is restored.

ARREST OF PERSONS CHARGED WITH TEARING UP THE CENTRAL RAILROAD TRACK.—On Thursday night last Officers Henderson and James, of Syracuse, arrested three men named James Ryan, Daniel Dugan, and Micheal Duffy, who were charged with displacing the railroad track near Geddes a week or two since, by which the train was thrown from the track, and the lives of a great many passengers eudangered. Two of these were arrested at Canton, in the town of Van Buren, and the other in the town of Elbridge. This outrage is the most villainous ever perpetrated, and the escape of the train and passengers from destruction was almost miraculous. A reward of $5,000 was offered for the arrest of the criminals, and it is understood there is little doubt the right persons have been arrested. Two of these men were discharged from the service of the Company.—Buffalo Adv.

A sickening story of crime is told in the New Orleans papers, to the effect that Mr. Levi Smelser, a tin and copper smith, married three years ago the house-keeper employed under his first wife, and within a year took into his house Adam Scott, a smart dry goods clerk, twenty-two years old, who commenced to learn the trade and managed the accounts of the concern. An unholy flame sprung up between him and Smelser's wife, the husband was dishonored, and discovered the shame.—A plot was concerted between the guilty ones, and Smelser was poisoned by arsenic, which Scott put into a pitcher of water, and told a slave girl to take up to Smelser; the latter, however, came down and took it himself, drank a glass and gave one to his wife.—Both were taken sick. Scott gave the woman an antidote, but Smelser died on the 27th of May. The slave girl was bribed to secresy by the promise of freedom, but was locked up and handcuffed with the intention of being sent to Texas. She escaped and told the story—all three were arrested, and the body was opened, and the girl's story corroborated by the appearance of the stomach and other facts—the person who sold the arsenic recognising Scott.

The Irish remittances from America last year amount to £1,730,000 or £300,000 more than they were the previous year, yet the number of emigrants was considerably less than the year before. As a general thing, wages were higher in the United States last year, and those at service were able to save more money which they have faithfully transmitted to their friends abroad for their relief, and to assist them to come to this country.

Bank of New Hampshire.

THE Grantees named in the act incorporating the Bank of New Hampshire, will hold their first Meeting at the Office of William H. Rollins, in Portsmouth, on Thursday the 16th day of August next, at half-past seven o'clock in the afternoon, for the following purposes:

To adopt the Act of Incorporation passed the fourteenth day of July, A. D. 1855.

To make arrangements for having the stock subscribed, and determine the amount of payments to be made on each share of stock and the time when the same shall be made, and the mode of transferring and disposing of the same.

To adopt at said meeting or some adjournment thereof, such by-laws, ordinances and rules for the regulation and government of said corporation, as may be deemed necessary; and choose directors and such other officers and agents as may be thought proper: and to transact any other business which may be duly brought before said meeting. A Word to Persons in Delicate Health

DR. HOLMAN'S BITTERS,

Compounded from the Original Recipe of DR. CHARLES HOLMAN.

THESE well known and much used BITTERS are composed of Roots and Herbs, such as Sarsaparilla, Pyrola, Yellow Dock, Dandelion, Wild Cherry, Prickly Ash, &c. highly prized for their

HEALING, STRENGTHENING AND RENOVATING PROPERTIES.

They are warranted to be unsurpassed in the cure of

Liver Complaint, Jaundice, Headache, Loss of Appetite, Giddiness and Weakness of the Stomach.

They are remarkable for giving a tone to the Digestive Organs, assisting Nature and preventing the various Bowel Complaints, so frequent and so dangerous during Summer and Autumn.

No Family should be without them.

Price 25 cents for a single Bottle, or five bottles for one dollar. Quite the cheapest as well as the Best Medicine that can be used.

Dr. J. F. HOLMAN, Proprietor, Boston, Mass.

DEAD SHOT FOR BED BUGS.

A SURE death to these noxious disturbers of our nightly rest. Apply it to insects and it curls them up and lays them out as readily as Sulphur Fumes kills Bees.

It has no equal in the market. The whole world cannot produce a substitute of similar value to the comfort of a neat tidy housewife. Its application is of little trouble, while the benefit which may be derived from a single night's undisturbed repose is incalculable.

SANCHO PANZA

Called down "blessings upon the head of the man who first invented sleep." How much more worthy such honorable distinction would he consider the inventor of the Dead Shot, who, by his Pungent and Deadly Preparation, has rendered utterly impossible the ancient bloody forays of such "tolerable and not to be endured" tormentors; and who has rendered every one to guarantee to himself his own particular share of "tired Nature's sweet restorer."

For the Chronicle.

TO EMMA.

It is not that thine eyes are blue,
Of fairer, deeper dye,
Than violet's meek and chastened hue,
Or tints of evening sky,—
That thus they beam enchanted round,
Until the spell mine own hath bound.

Thy marble brow, thy velvet cheeks,
Where lily vies with rose,—
Each feature which expression speaks,
Each tint where beauty glows—
Might not moulded and apart,
Command the homage of the heart.

Though Dian's chaste and virgin zone
Begirt thy sylph-like form;
Though Venus claim thee as her own,
And love thy bosom warm—
Hath't thou but these thou dst want the part
That gives to love his keenest dart.

Dost thou inquire to know the power
That makes thee lovelier far,
Than pensive beauty in her bower,
A power time cannot mar—
Then know, fair one, in thee I find,
The magic beauty of the mind. P. B.

REMOVAL.

Dr. Turnbull, Oculist & Aurist,

(FROM LONDON.)

Has arrived at the

WINTHROP HOUSE, BOSTON.

Office Hours from 9 A. M. to 3 P. M

From the London Times.

A number of scientific gentlemen assembled at the house of Dr. Turnbull, to witness the results produced by a process recently discovered by the Doctor, and applied for the cure of deafness and blindness.

Between twenty and thirty patients attended, many of whom, it was stated by their parents, had been born deaf and dumb. They were submitted to various tests, by which it was proved that their deafness had been cured by the application of Dr. Turnbull's remedies; and what appears most singular is, that whether the disease depended on paralysis of the auditory nerve, rupture of the tympanum, or obstruction of the internal passages, relief had been obtained, or complete cure effected without delay, pain or inconvenience. Several patients, who represented that they had been completely blind, said that they could now see perfectly well. July16 3w

OFFICE OF THE MARYLAND CONSOLIDATED LOTTERIES, Baltimore, Maryland, 20th June, 1855.

CAUTION.—LOTTERY FRAUDS.

THE Commissioner of the Maryland State Lotteries has deemed it his duty to caution the Public against the numerous Swindlers who circulate by mail and otherwise, fraudulent Lottery schemes, and pretend to be agents for the sale of tickets in Lotteries which are wholly fictitious.

The only legal Lotteries in Maryland are those drawn daily under the superintendence of the Commissioner elected by the people of the State under the new Constitution to examine and approve the schemes and attend to the drawings.

All the tickets in these Lotteries, and all certificates of packages of tickets have the lithographed signature F. X. BRENAN, General Agent for the Contractor. Office of the Maryland Consolidated Lotteries, Baltimore, Md. All others are fraudulent. For full information on the subject of these frauds, address F. X BRENAN, ☞ Particular attention is solicited to our PATENT SUSPENSION BRIDGE—also our PATENT GRAND ACTION, as applied to both Grand and Square Pianos.

WAREROOMS,

NEW FIRESTONE BLOCK,

No. 409 WASHINGTON STREET,

NEAR BOYLSTON STREET.....BOSTON.

Opinions of the Press.

It is now generally acknowledged that the Pianos manufactured by Hallet, Davis & Co. are unrivalled in America, if in the world, for brilliancy or purity of tone.—Boston Daily Times.

An immense volume of sound can be produced by these Pianos without shattering the tones, as they send forth the most perfect, bell like notes, and we must confess that we have never listened to their equals for power, brilliancy, sweetness of tone, and purity of action.—Boston Herald.

The Pianos of Hallet, Davis & Co. deserve more than a passing notice. They are truly splendid instruments, very powerful, and of the purest and richest quality of tone.—Boston Traveller.

In regard to purity of tone, power and sweetness, being fully equal to any instrument that has come under our observation.—Boston Courier.

Owing to the beautiful elasticity of the action of our Grand Piano Fortes, I think it would be impossible for any Pianist, who plays properly, to break either a string or a hammer.—Extract from a Letter from Wm. Mason.

The peculiar feature of Hallet, Davis & Co.'s instruments is, they make no noise. Nothing but pure tone is produced by the vibration of the strings; and the construction of the sounding board, and action are such that skilful pianists, after once testing their merits, dislike to use any other instrument in the Concert room.—Philadelphia Sunday Mercury.

I find them to be very superior instruments—as well in tone as in touch.—Extract of a Letter from L. M. Gottschalk.

I can unhesitatingly say that I find them superior in quality and quantity of tone, to those of other makers; also in the elasticity and easy touch; and can cheerfully recommend them to any one who wishes to own or play on the best Pianos.—Extract of a letter from Robert Heller.

Morning Chronicle.

AN INCIDENT OF THE EUROPEAN WAR.—The Buffalo Commercial Advertiser gives the following extract from a private letter from an officer in the Crimea to a citizen of Buffalo.

A curious thing occurred yesterday. A sapper was brought from the trenches with his jaw broken, and the doctor told me there was a piece of it sticking out an inch and a half from his face. The man said it was done by a round shot, which the doctor could not believe, but the poor fellow insisted, and said: 'Yes, sir, and it took off the head of the man next me.'

This was conclusive, and the surgeon proceeded to remove the bone; it came out quite easy, when the doctor said to the man, whose face appeared to preserve its form pretty well, 'Can you move your jaw?'

'Oh yes, sir,' was the reply.

The doctor then put his finger into the man's mouth, and found the teeth were there, and at length assured the soldier that it was no jaw of his that was broken, but that of his headless comrade, which had actually been driven into his face, inflicting a severe but not dangerous wound. Upon this, the man's visage which had been rather lengthened, rounded up most beautifully.

GLOVES.—The New York correspondent of all the country newspapers, says in his letter of the present week:—"The glory of gloves has departed. Male Broadway is gloveless. Merchants ride down with their hands in a state of nature and walk up ditto. Even the genuine Shanghai, travel with their claws denuded. By our faith, gentlemen are becoming sensible men. The sun and the air can once more toy with a clerk's palm, of a summer's day. The world above Wall-street is becoming practical. "What's the use?" it cries. Water and soap are cheaper than gloves, and a lady's taper fingers rest quite as well satisfied in a sun browned clasp, if it only carries a manly heart within it. So another remnant of the old school has gone overboard. Sebastopol is fast destroying routine, and bringing men back to common sense."

The Sussex Register of last week copies the account of the great race against time by Lady Suffolk, and makes the following comment:

"To most persons a race like that above mentioned is "rare sport;" but in reality it is quite as brutal as a prize fight. What particular fun there can be in torturing so noble an animal, by straining its muscles to the last point of endurance, is beyond our sense of appreciation. The brutes in human form who put horse flesh to so severe a test, either for the purpose of winning a few dollars, or for administering to the depraved tastes of the more beastly portion of the community, deserve to be goaded themselves to the top of their speed the same number of times over the race course."

ROBBERY.—On Saturday night two rogues gained access to the house of Mr. B. F. Slocumb, in East Cambridge, and entering his chamber, stole $50 in cash. Mrs. Slocumb was awakened, and saw the shadows of the thieves, but not in season to arouse her husband before they got beyond his reach.

Quite too slow to catch thieves.

POPULATION.—It is estimated that the census now nearly completed will give New York State a population of 3,500,000—about one-sixth of the white population of the Union. There is a falling off in several of the agricultural counties. The total increase since the last census will be about 7 1-2 per cent.

Mr. Scott, at Peoria Junction, Illinois, has two thousand acres of wheat now being harvested, and Jacob Strawn, the well-known cattle raiser, has one field of four thousand acres of corn.

MEDICINE.—Thomas and Jane Callaghan, father and daughter, residing in Limerick Place, were both badly burned on Friday evening, by alcohol taking fire while they were using it for bathing. Dr. Moore was called, and made them as comfortable as possible.

The Boston Herald says,

Town and city agencies are miserable humbugs, as every body supposed they would be. For one pint of liquor which is procured from those agencies for manufacturing and mechanical purposes ten gallons are procured and used as a beverage.

Making some allowance for the fact that the Herald opposes the present law, and advocates a license for respectable men, we must yet conclude that considerable sales are made to tippling hypocrites:—and that a large portion of what alcoholic liquors are honestly used for baths and doses, had better be thrown into the tide, and salt water used instead.

We therefore concur with the Herald in saying,

"Where are the Washingtonians and their persuasive doctrines? There never was greater need for their services than at present when the waves of intemperance are rolling from the streets into private dwellings."

In Scottsburg, Oregon, on the 10th of June last Mrs. Rackliffe, forty-seven years of age, presented her husband, Capt. Wm. Rackliffe, who had just attained his sixtieth year, two fine, healthy girls. Capt. R. emigrated to Oregon from Portland, Me.

Morning Chronicle.

FRIDAY, AUGUST 10, 1855.

LOUISVILLE RIOT.

A Louisville, Ky., dispatch of the 6th, gives us the following item:

The Journal says that the violence on Monday was altogether disconnected with the election, being premeditated. It professes to be informed that the Irish Catholics in the vicinity of Quinn's House contemplated an attack on the American procession on Saturday, but were deterred by the immense number comprising it.

From other dispatches we gather the following particulars:

In the First Ward, about nine o'clock, while the election was going on quietly, some disturbance arose at the polls. Mr. Burge, an American, was insulted, stabbed and beaten, until it was supposed he was dead, by a party of Irishmen. The assaulters were immediately arrested and lodged in jail.

This act must have occasioned indignation; but as it appears, no direct and immediate retaliation.

In the afternoon, a number of the Americans were fired upon while quietly passing a German Brewery, several squares from the polls. One gentleman who was riding quietly along with his wife, was fired on at the same time, several squares below. A perfect shower of shot and] bullets was rained from the windows of German houses, and many people were wounded. The foreigners seen in the whole vicinity were armed, and attempted the indiscriminate slaughter of all Americans. An immense crowd of infuriated Americans assembled, and were fired at from the windows, when they burned the German brewery, and also sacked several houses.

The most serious rioting occurred in the 8th Ward. About 6 P. M., as three Americans were quietly passing along Main street, they were set on by ten Irishmen, and fifteen shots were fired by the latter. One of the Americans, named Rhodes, was killed, and both the others wounded. The Irishmen then took refuge in a house on the corner of Chappel and Market streets, whence they fired and wounded several Americans, and killed two named Graham and Hobson. The firing from the houses was continued for half an hour, until the Americans procured arms and reinforcements, and broke open the house.—They succeeded in capturing the murderer of Graham, and immediately hung him. A policeman cut him down while still living, but he was afterwards seized and died next morning. In the meantime there was a perfect fusilade from rifles and guns from a row of Irish houses on the corner of Eleventh and Main streets, on all passing Americans, who were badly wounded. The whole row was filled with Irish all armed. A crowd of Americans assembled, and failing to dislodge them, fired one of the houses and sent for reinforcements, which soon arrived with muskets and a cannon. Several Irishmen in the burning building were shot, and others captured. Reports were heard in the burning building, but no attempt was made to put out the fire, and two or three blocks were burned down.

Some of the Irishmen in these houses were burned to death. A woman and Quinn are among those that were killed. Eight to ten houses were destroyed, and the number killed and burned to death is said to be from fifteen to twenty.

Shots had been fired from all the houses which were attacked. The crowd now talked of sacking the Catholic Church, where it was rumored fire-arms had been secreted, but Mayor Barbee and others pleaded with them not to do so, and prevailed upon them to leave it alone.

On leaving the 6th Ward, the infuriated mob marched to the Times office, which was only saved from demolition by the efforts of Mr. Prentiss, and others of the American party.

Next morning there were rumors of more disturbance, and large crowds were assembled in the streets. About 11 o'clock a mob started to the levee, and attacked a row of Irish houses, whence it was reported shots were fired that morning.

The crowd, however, were restrained, and fifty extra policemen sworn in. Judge Bullock and others made speeches at the Court House to the mob, which tended to calm the excitement. It is rumored that a large quantity of gunpowder has been found in possession of the Irish in the Eighth Ward. Large numbers of the Irish left the city.

On Tuesday, besides a large extra police force put on duty, the Mayor issued the usual proclamation.

Bishop Spaulding published a card, disclaiming any connection with the rioters, and calling upon his flock to be peaceable, orderly and quiet.

The keys of the Roman Catholic Cathedral have been placed in the hands of the Mayor by Bishop Spaulding.

THE KANSAS AFFAIR.

St. Louis, Aug. 8.—Advices from Kansas mention great excitement concerning the new governor. The Legislature distrusts his soundness on the slavery question. A petition is signed by the members, asking the President to appoint Acting Secretary W. Woodson, [or Ogden] in place of Dawson.

This is a beautiful illustration of the great principle of squatter sovereignty, which we were told about a year ago, was the great Jeffersonian, Washingtonian, Douglasonian doctrine, the only genuine medicine to promote liberty and democracy. All else was counterfeit.

Look at it, men of New Hampshire and Maine. Reeder will not do: Dawson won't do; though both are pro-slavery—but Woodson or some other Son they must have, who knows nothing but slavery.

This is the sublime result of that famous bill, to speak against which was treason—to protest against it, daring impiety.

MURDERER KILLED.

A despatch from Milwaukie, Wis., August 8th, gives the following account of an execution by the mob:

A special court was held yesterday at the West Bend, for the trial of George De Bear, the murderer of the Muehr family, the result of which was a verdict of murder in the first degree. While being conveyed back to jail, guarded by the military, the mob made a rush upon him: the military gave way, De Bear was felled to the ground by a stone, and the mob fell upon him, beating and mangling him horribly. They then tied a rope to his heels, and dragged him through the streets half a mile, and hung him head downward, where he remained hanging lifeless.

The murder was committed on the evening of August 1, when the murderer called at the house of John Muehr, (a young farmer of excellent character, a native of Bavaria,) and asked for a drink of water.

The farmer replied that "he would not ask him to drink water in his house; he would give him something better;" and taking a mug, raised the trap-door of the cellar, and was going down—his head being about two feet above the floor—when De Bear struck him with a hammer, fracturing his skull and knocking him down the steps, the trap door closing after him. Mrs. Muehr, seeing her husband thus struck, ran for the woods to call a neighbor.

The murderer chased her, armed with a knife, and overtaking her, aimed a stab at her neck, cutting her dreadfully. She fell instantly, as though dead. The hired boy, who was alone in the house, and witnessed the attack upon Muehr, had run for a patch of corn, and the murderer, after killing, as he supposed, the woman, and hearing the boy screaming murder, chased him through the corn field, and coming up with him, struck the knife clear through his neck, killing him instantly.

De Bear then returned to the house, and robbing it of $60, which Muehr had received the same day for a pair of steers which he had sold, set fire to the house, and went for the body of the boy, and dragged it back to the house, with the intention, it is thought, of throwing it into the flames, but left it close to the burning house. In the meantime, Mrs. Muehr had recovered sufficiently to creep away, and when the murderer came to where he had left the body of the woman, and found it gone, he appears to have fled.

Mrs. Muehr succeeded in crawling on her hands and knees to a neighbor's house, and gave the alarm, but shortly afterwards died. Muehr having recovered from the effects of the blow, came out of the cellar and ran for assistance, while De Bear was trying to throw the boy into the flames. On arrival of assistance the murderer was gone. The boy was drawn from the fire in a shockingly burned condition. Mr. Muehr, with his skull completely smashed in, lived but a short time.

The murderer was arrested next day, and killed, as above stated.

High Prices.—The prices of seats to Rachel's performances in New York are to be five dollars. This is rather high-guinea. The expenses per night will be, it is said, $3000. Such rates as these will be likely to make the audiences quite select, and the receipts quite limited. The day for such prices has gone by in this country. Let Rachel play for one dollar, and the people, those who are posted in French, will go and see, and that often.—Bee.

Many clerks and defaulting cashiers will pay over their employers' V.'s to the Rachelian prodigy;—and yet the concern will lose money.

Effects of Drugged Liquor.—Barnard O'Rourk, the returned Californian, who was robbed of $1500, by Richard W. Gower, at No. 2 Bumstead Court, is still very ill from the effects of the drugged liquor administered to him by Gower.—Boston Court.

Those who do not meddle with the stuff at all, need not fear being drugged. But in these days of cheating, it is difficult to find any thing of the kind, which is not drugged.

Judge Petit, of Indiana, has removed the fines against the Lafayette papers for contempt, growing out of the publication of testimony in a case where he had forbade it.

Will some Philadelphia paper tell us what has become of Judge Kanes' case of contempt, vs. Williamson.

"A Man of Letters."—A few evenings since we published an account of the novel proposal recently made by a New Hampshire farmer to an eminent Doctor of Divinity,* to work on his farm in laying time. We have since heard of the singular experience of a Unitarian clergyman, formerly settled within ten miles of Boston, which rather eclipses the story above alluded to.

As the Rev. Mr. —— was on a pedestrian tour in the country, a robbery was committed near where he happened to be journeying, and being a stranger and not particularly well dressed, he was arrested upon suspicion that he was the robber. He protested his innocence, but his dress and sun burnt face, he thought, were so unclerical that it would never do to fall back upon the dignity of his sacred calling, so that when his business was inquired of, he said he was "a man of letters," meaning thereby a scholar. But his rustic accusers understood him to affirm that he was a seller of letters to mark linen with, and challenged him to produce his stencil plates, or types, and thus give evidence that he had made a truthful report of his occupation. At this the minister made such explanations, and demanded the proof under which he was held a prisoner, with such earnestness, that he was soon allowed his liberty. It would appear from the experience of two of our clerical friends, that while it is a healthy exercise to walk about the rural districts, ministers who undertake such journeys must expect sometimes to be mistaken for stragglers and robbers.—Boston Transcript.

LOCAL.

CITY COUNCIL.

Thursday, Aug 8.

Aldermen.—No business of particular importance was transacted this evening.

David Kimball petitioned to be appointed agent to sell alcohol, under the new law.

Peter Jenness & Co. and Sylvester Gilbert petitioned to be appointed agents under the new liquor law.

A communication was received from Leonard Akerman, stating that ale and cider are not intoxicating, and asked that the police be instructed not to interfere with their sale.

Common Council.—An ordinance was read and referred, which provided that no member of the City Council or other officer of the city shall be interested in any contract in which the city is a party, except by special vote to that effect.

The ordinance fixing the compensation of the Superintendent of street lamps was concurred in.

☞ The Pleasant street Sabbath School and Society design holding their Pic Nic at Stratham to-day, if fair weather. Cars to leave the P. & C. station at 10½ o'clock.

French Language.—It will be seen by the advertisement, that the Fall and Winter term of Mons. G. H. Leon's French Institute for ladies and gentlemen, will commence Sept. 25th. All who wish to acquire a practical knowledge of the French tongue, should attend.

The Papal Supremacy.—We take the following from the Boston Post:

"Dr. Brownson in a letter written to the editor of the Worcester News, says of the Pope:—

'In matters purely temporal, I, as a Catholic, owe no obedience to the Pope, because he has received from Jesus Christ no authority as a temporal sovereign over me. He cannot make or unmake the rights of the sovereign or the duties of the subject—abrogate the former or absolve from the latter.'

This is plain, and all can understand it."

It is indeed very plain, and all can understand it, but whether all do understand it, is quite another matter. Mr. Brownson may seek to explain away certain ugly facts just as ably as he can, but he will never get over this plain statement, namely, that the Popes, the visible heads of the Church of Rome, have interfered with the temporal sovereignty of States, that they have sought to abrogate the rights of the ruler, and that they have absolved subjects from their duties.

A man might as well try to show that two and two do not make four, as that the Popes have not deposed kings, or announced to subjects that it was their duty to no longer obey them. History can furnish scores of instances in which Popes have thus acted, and in which they have disposed of kingdoms to which they had no more right than they had to the kingdom of heaven. Kings were excommunicated by them, and their realms laid under interdict, just as if the Popes had a divine right to interfere in the affairs of States. Some of the greatest sovereigns of the world were excommunicated. Queen Elizabeth was of the number; and Romish assassin after Romish assassin sought her life, because she was a heretic, and because it was deemed not merely lawful and proper, but actually meritorious, to put to death one who had been placed under the ban of the Holy Father, and by him given up to destruction. A sovereign that stood excommunicated was the common prey of any one who chose to murder him, and his dominions were liable to be seized by any one of the champions of Rome, who was powerful enough to do so. He was a caput lupinum, an outlaw, a Cain, with a mark upon him, not for his protection, but for the ensuring of his destruction.—Boston Bee.

Frightened and disgusted at the open speculation and hopeless bankruptcy of the finances of New Orleans, the Delta of that city suggests the expediency of letting out the city affairs to "some half dozen capable men," to pay its debts, receive and take care of its revenues, and perform the duties of government.

Bakers and Gingerbread.—A few year ago, says the Cambridge Chronicle, when Wendell Phillips was delivering a somewhat famous lecture of his, one of our contemporaries in alluding to it, in a somewhat funny vein, remarked that "the making of good gingerbread was one of the lost arts."

Law Decision.—Judge Richardson of New Orleans, has decided, in the case of ships Rome and Suffolk against the steamer Natchez, that a steamboat is liable for damages created by the swell of waves of the boat by running too close to the shipping.

A Parliamentary Division.—The parties, who in Parliament are opposed to the present war, may be divided into two large spinning classes; those who, like Bright, spin cotton, and those who, like Gladstone, spin long yarns.—Punch.

Philadelphia, 9th.—A meeting of conference was held here yesterday, composed of some of our most substantial citizens, to consider the propriety of some public expression of disapprobation of the imprisonment of Passamore Williamson. A committee was appointed to take the matter into consideration, and report at a future meeting.

☞ The latest intelligence concerning the elections, is the entire defeat of the Know Nothings in Tennessee. Andrew Johnson is re-elected Governor by about 1500 majority. In Kentucky, Charles C. Morehead is no doubt chosen Governor, having gained upwards of 3000 over Scott's majority.

Niepcotypes on Glass, and Photographs on Paper.

Mr. Salen wishes to inform the citizens of Portsmouth and vicinity, that he has procured the Art to take Likenesses on GLASS and PAPER. The now so much admired Photograph, taken on paper, excels by far the Daguerreotype on a metallic plate.

These pictures are durable; are not reversed; have not the blending of a Daguerreotype, and excel in softness of light and shade the finest engraving. They are finished on beautiful French cartons put up in frames, and therefore are particularly adapted for parlor pictures. They can also be secured and sent in a letter to a distant friend.

Taken at SALEN'S Daguerrean Gallery, at all prices and sizes, on reasonable terms.

Please call and examine specimens. a4

ARRESTS FOR MURDER.—The Boston Mail of the 9th says:

Previous to the death of Mr. Dascomb, of the Neptune House, Chelsea Beach, he made a written declaration to the effect that William Shepherd of Boston, with a party of others, came to his house on Sunday, the 22d ult, and commenced dragging his surf carriage to and fro on the beach, and upon remonstrating with them, they run it into the sea. He further remonstrated, whereupon Shepherd struck him, and in return he shoved Shepherd off the piazza. Other members of the party then came at him, and with a loaded whip knocked him down and stamped upon him, injuring him severely. Shepherd was arrested in this city yesterday by officer Drew, of the Fourth Station, and in the Police Court was held in $3000 for appearance a week from Tuesday to answer to the assault. Justice Fenno held an inquest on the body and a verdict rendered that his death was caused by disease of the heart. Last evening officer Foster, of the Fourth Station, arrested two more of the party, named Peter O'Leary and Robert Lincoln.

KILLING A BURGLAR.—At Baltimore, a negro was seen on Saturday morning to come out of a house window with a bundle; an alarm was given, and he was followed, and several times turned round and snapped a pistol at his pursuers. Mr. J. W. Owings, the Crier of the County Court, was riding near the chase, and turned his horse after the negro, who, finding that he would be captured, turned upon Mr. Owings when about four feet from him, and discharged his pistol, the whole load, consisting of large shot, taking effect in the face, arms, and neck. Mr. Owings finding himself wounded and the negro still retreating, drew a pistol and fired. The ball entered the negro's back, just below the shoulder blade, and passed through the left lung, producing instant death. A coroner's jury exonerated the officer from blame.

SIX MEN KILLED.—The cornice of a new building in progress of erection in Cincinnati for the Ohio Trust and Life Company, fell early on Tuesday morning, crushing to death six persons, and injuring two so severely that their recovery is despaired of. Robert Cameron, master builder W. B. Curtis, superintendent of the building, who were sitting beneath at the time, and John S. Chambers and B. Waldron, passing by, were known as amongst the killed.

RALEIGH, N. C., 8th.—Clingman, Dem., in the Eighth Congressional District, is elected by an immense majority. Ruffin, Winslow, Branch and Cragie, democrats, in the second, third, fourth and seventh districts, and Paine and Read, Know Nothings, in the first and fifth districts, are elected. In the sixth district, the contest is close and the result uncertain.

LOUISVILLE, 8th.—A despatch to the Journal says that C. D. Shorthridge, American, is probably elected Governor of Alabama.

Kentucky.—The returns thus far received, show a gain in 34 counties for Morehead, K. N., for Governor, over Scott's majority of upwards of 3000.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., 8th.—The liquor dealers' State Convention assembled here to-day. The afternoon session was occupied with debates of an unharmonious character, in regard to the admission of delegates. Adjourned until evening.

BALTIMORE, 8th.—The latest accounts received from Portsmouth, Va., represent the fever as increasing, notwithstanding more than one-half of the population have fled.—There had been sixty-six deaths up to Tuesday. At Norfolk it is said the disease is also increasing.

THE CROPS.—These are unparalled in the history of our country. Everywhere the fields and orchards are burdened with corn, wheat, fruits and vegitables. It is our decided opinion that Tennessee will produce grain and grass enough this year to amply supply the State for two years to come. The hearts of the people should swell with gratitude to God.—Nashville Advocate.

J. Scott Harrison, son of the former President of the same name, has been nominated as a candidate for Governor of Ohio by those who are discontented with the nomination of Chase. Mr. Harrison was a member of the last Congress, and is also a member elect to the next one.

Bank of New Hampshire.

THE Grantees named in the act incorporating the Bank of New Hampshire, will hold their first Meeting at the Office of William H. Rollins in Portsmouth, on Thursday the 16th day of August next, at half-past seven o'clock in the afternoon, for the following purposes:

To adopt the Act of Incorporation passed the fourteenth day of July, A. D. 1855.

To make arrangements for having the stock subscribed, and determine the amount of payments to be made on each share of stock and the time when the same shall be made, and the mode of transferring and disposing of the same.

To adopt at said meeting or some adjournment thereof, such by-laws, ordinances and rules for the regulation and government of said corporation, as may be deemed necessary; and choose directors and such other officers and agents as may be thought proper; and to transact any other business which may be duly brought before said meeting.

A Word to Persons in Delicate Health
DR. HOLMAN'S BITTERS,
Compounded from the Original Recipe of
DR. CHARLES HOLMAN.

THESE well known and much used BITTERS are composed of Roots and Herbs, such as Sarsaparilla, Pyrola, Yellow Dock, Dandelion, Wild Cherry, Prickly Ash, &c. highly prized for their
HEALING, STRENGTHENING AND RENOVATING PROPERTIES.

They are warranted to be unsurpassed in the cure of
Liver Complaint, Jaundice, Headache, Loss of Appetite, Giddiness and Weakness of the Stomach.

They are remarkable for giving a tone to the Digestive Organs, assisting Nature and preventing the various Bowel Complaints, so frequent and so dangerous during Summer and Autumn.

No Family should be without them.

Price 25 cents for a single Bottle, or five bottles for one dollar. Quite the cheapest as well as the Best Medicine that can be used.

Dr. J. F. HOLMAN, Proprietor, Boston, Mass.

Also for sale by R. K. Oxford, S. W. Moses, W. B. Laskey and Lafayette Laighton. je22 3mis

DEAD SHOT FOR BED BUGS.

A SURE death to these noxious disturbers of our nightly rest. Apply it to insects and it curls them up and lays them out as readily as Sulphur Fumes kills Bees.

It has no equal in the market. The whole world cannot produce a substitute of similar value to the comfort of a neat tidy housewife. Its application is of little trouble, while the benefit which may be derived from a single night's undisturbed repose is incalculable.

SANCHO PANZA

Called down "blessings upon the head of the man who first invented sleep." How much more worthy such honorable distinction would he consider the inventor of the Dead Shot, who, by his Pungent and Deadly Preparation, has rendered utterly impossible the ancient bloody forays of such 'tolerable and not to be endured' tormentors; and who has enabled every one to guarantee to himself his own particular share of "tired Nature's sweet restorer."

NOT A PASTOR.—The Puritan Recorder, in an article on 'A Settled Ministry,' makes the remark that 'An everlasting candidate, with one foot on the ground of his labors, and the other in the stirrup for a new journey to a more inviting field, is not a pastor.'

TRUE.—The ambition which is common among all classes, to live in large houses, elegantly furnished, is leading us daily into embarrassments and discomforts, which, as a thoughtful and rational people, we ought no longer to suffer.

Joshua Evans, of Virginia, has received intelligence that an estate of $1,800,000 had been left in Wales, and that he was one of the three heirs to it. The sum may reach $2,500,000.

A party lately ascended and descended Mount Washington in six hours, besides eating dinner. They must have taken in the whole prospect at a glance.

The best cough mixture that has yet been made consists of a pair of thick boots, mixed with lots of air and plenty of exercise. People who hug the stove and grow lean will please notice.

A zealous Romanist lady has suggested that the entire city of Dublin be sprinkled with holy water, to counteract the effect of Gavazzi's next visit.

OFFICE OF THE MARYLAND CONSOLIDATED LOTTERIES, Baltimore, Maryland, 20th June, 1855.

CAUTION.—LOTTERY FRAUDS.

THE Commissioner of the Maryland State Lotteries has deemed it his duty to caution the Public against the numerous bogus Lotteries which circulate by mail and otherwise, fraudulent Lottery schemes, and pretend to be agents for the sale of tickets in Lotteries which are wholly fictitious.

The only legal Lotteries in Maryland are those drawn daily under the superintendence of the Commissioner elected by the people of the State under the new Constitution to examine and approve the schemes and attend to the drawings.

All the tickets in these Lotteries, and all certificates of packages of tickets have the lithographed signature F. X. BRENAN, General Agent for the Contractor. Office of the Maryland Consolidated Lotteries, Baltimore, Md. All others are fraudulent. For full information on the subject of these frauds, address F. X. BRENAN,

Patents.

AMERICAN AND FOREIGN OFFICE.
Agency for business with US Patent Office, Washington,
76 State st., oppo. Kilby st. Boston.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION TO INVENTORS. The Subscriber (late Agent of the U. S. Patent Office, under the Act of 1837) determined to present advantages, in applying for Patents, superior to those offered to inventors by others, has made arrangements whereby on applications prepared and conducted by him, THIRTY DOLLARS (instead of twenty, as paid back by others,) will be remitted by him in case of failure to obtain a patent, and the withdrawal through him within thirty days after the rejection. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments and all necessary papers, and Drawings, for procuring patents in this and foreign countries prepared, and advice rendered on legal and scientific matters respecting inventions, and infringement of patents.

Inventors can not only here obtain their specifications on the most reasonable terms, but can here avail themselves of the experience of 20 years' practice, an extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and correct accounts of patents granted in the Patent Office, and besides being saved a journey to Washington, the usual great delay there, as well as all personal trouble in obtaining their patents. Copies of claims of any patent furnished by remitting one dollar.—Assignments recorded at Washington.

R. H. EDDY,
Solicitor of Patents.

"During the time I occupied the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, did business at the Patent Office, as Solicitor of Patents. There were few, if any persons acting in that capacity, who had so much business before the Patent Office; and there were none who conducted it with more skill, fidelity, and success. I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the best informed and most skilful Patent Solicitors in the United States, and have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their application in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.

EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents."

WAREROOMS,

NEAR BOYLSTON STREET.....BOSTON.

Opinions of the Press.

It is now generally acknowledged that the Pianos manufactured by Hallet, Davis & Co. are unrivalled in America, if in the world, for brilliancy or purity of tone.—Boston Daily Times.

An immense volume of sound can be produced by these Pianos without shattering the tones, as they send forth the most perfect, bell like notes, and we must confess that we have never listened to their equals for power, brilliancy, sweetness of tone, and purity of action.—Boston Herald.

The Pianos of Hallet, Davis & Co. deserve more than a passing notice. They are truly splendid instruments, very powerful, and of the purest and richest quality of tone.—Boston Traveller.

In regard to purity of tone, power and sweetness, they are truly equal to any instrument that has come under our observation.—Boston Courier.

Owing to the beautiful elasticity of the action of your Grand Piano Fortes, I think it would be impossible for any Pianist, who plays properly, to break either a string or a hammer.—Extract from a Letter from Wm. Mason.

The peculiar feature of Hallet, Davis & Co.'s instruments is, they make no noise. Nothing but pure tone is produced by the vibration of the strings; and the construction of the sounding board, and action are such that skilful pianists, after once testing their merits, dislike to use any other instrument in the Concert room.—Philadelphia Sunday Mercury.

I find them to be very superior instruments—as well in tone as in touch.—Extract of a Letter from L. M. Gottschalk.

I can unhesitatingly say that I find them superior in quality and quantity of tone, to those of other makers; also in the elasticity and easy touch; and can cheerfully recommend them to any one who wishes to own or play on the best Pianos.—Extract of a letter from Robert Heller.

Morning Chronicle.

THE Haverhill (Mass.) Banner tells the following good story:

On the 19th ult., a thief calling himself John Carney, and hailing from Lowell, walked into the house of Mr. William Merrill, in the West Parish, during the absence of the family, and appropriated a watch to his own use, which was hanging up in the room.

On the 21st, the owner of the watch waked up to the importance of the matter, and called on Deputy Sheriff Davis, and told his story, but could give no information. Phineas is something of a hound on the scent for rogues, but on this occasion he was pretty well in the dark; so he goes among the natives asking them to swap tickers, in hopes, we suppose, of putting his double set of eyes on the 'lost one.' After spending most of the day, and not finding any one who had the spare means to pay the difference for his gold one, he began to despair of 'his customer,' but finally lit on one who would swap. His customer drew his timber with all the importance of a man. Phineas took the thing of life in his hand, examined it minutely, and asked where he got it, and other pertinent questions that men of law are wont to ask. The watch was warranted, and was purchased by a man who was present, as the trader said, pointing his index finger to an individual. The Deputy put the watch in his pocket, turned to the thief, and told him he would take him to the lock up. The thing was done so coolly, some thought there was 'ice in it.'

The prisoner was taken before his honor, Judge Kimball, who put him over the road to the tune of $15 and costs, and for the want thereof, he was sent to the county jail at Lawrence, for three months.

A FIRE AT CONSTANTINOPLE.—The Rev. Mr. Righter, the agent of the American Bible Society, in a letter from Constantinople of the 20th of June, says, that a few days previously, one of the finest palaces in that city, belonging to the Sultan, fell a prey to the flames. The writer was near the scene when the fire broke out, and saw the vast building in flames. The wind was very high at the time, and fears were entertained for the safety of the city. "The sight," says Mr. R., "was fearful beyond description. To see the fire spreading from room to room, and column after column falling; the burning of furniture of the richest kind, and no engine of any magnitude at hand, was most painful.—There were men called firemen rushing from all quarters with their little pump engines, but what avail could such machines be, at such a fire? Again, there were perhaps not less than fifty women flying from the harem in the utmost confusion and without their veils. They were followed by the eunuchs who endeavored to prevent their escape.—The pachas came with their guards to prevent robbery, and direct the movements. People assembled on the house tops with water to prevent their buildings taking fire, while others were removing furniture to places of safety. The fire raged for two hours, and was then checked by high walls on the hillside."

A contemporary relates the following good story at the expense of one of the "upper ten" of New York:

Mr. ——— is one of the "merchant princes" of the Empire City, and though living in one of the most spacious mansions on Fifth-av., his family consists of himself and his wife. Meeting a friend from the country one day, he invited him up to view his house.—The friend was shown the gorgeous rooms, with tasselated floors and magnificent frescoed ceilings, and finally was taken into the lower rooms, in one of which he found a small regiment of colored servants seated at a bountiful dinner. On his return home he was asked if he had seen Mr. ———. "Oh, yes." "What is he doing now?" "Well, when I saw him he was keeping a nigger boarding-house on the Fifth-avenue."

ONIONS.—Danvers is a celebrated spot for the growth of onions, and we learn from the Salem Observer that the onion crop there this year promises to be abundant. It has been estimated that there are about 300 acres devoted to onion culture in that town. With the best of care and high manuring 500 bushels are frequently secured; and premiums are occasionally given for crops at the rate of 600, 700 and even 800 bushels per acre. Onions were in great demand last year. Early in the season they sold for 55 cents per bushel; subsequently they were worth from 60 to 70 cents a bushel, and even much higher. It is considered that $100 net profit can readily be made in the culture of onions on one acre;—and cases are mentioned of persons who have realized net profits of over $200 per acre.

GERMAN ALLEGORY.—The old man was toiling through the burden and heat of the day in cultivating his field with his own hand, and depositing the promising seed into the fruitful lap of yielding earth. Suddenly there stood before him, under the shade of a huge linden tree, a vision. The old man was struck with amazement.

'I am Solomon,' spake the phantom, in a friendly voice. 'What are you doing here old man?'

'If you are Solomon,' replied the venerable laborer, 'how can you ask this? In my youth you sent me to the ant; I saw its occupation, and learned from that insect to be industrious and to gather. What I then learned I have followed out to this hour.'

'You have not learned half your lesson,' resumed the spirit. 'Go again to the ant, and learn from that insect to rest in the winter of your life, and to enjoy what you have gathered up.'

Morning Chronicle.

SATURDAY, AUGUST 11, 1855.

DESTRUCTION OF CHAMOUNI.

The following distressing intelligence has been received by Mr. Albert Smith from Geneva: "On Friday morning at 3 o'clock a fire broke out in the Hotel d' Angleterre, and despite every exertion, 22 houses had been consumed. The Hotels d' Angleterre, de Londres and de la Couronne are burnt down, besides 19 houses belonging to the poorer inhabitants.

The old Hotel d' Union has been saved by saturating it with water, which renders it for the present uninhabitable. The new Royal Hotel de l' Union has become the refuge of every one, as also the small Hotel du Nord.—No lives have been lost, but there have been sad accidents. An eye-witness describes the scene as "agonizing." Half the village, including part of the church, has been burnt, and a great amount of property destroyed.

A subscription has already been set on foot by the English chaplain, Mr. Ferryman, and Dr. Malan, who was at Chamouni at the time. These gentlemen were very active in giving relief to the wretched sufferers, and in aiding to extinguish the fire. The wind was very high, and a storm was raging all the time.—The letter conveying the news is signed "Helvetica," but is bears the Geneva postmark, and is dated July 21st.

The New York Commercial Advertiser of Wednesday, in publishing the above, added this explanation:

Chamouni is in Sardinia, between 60 and 70 miles from Geneva, and is the spot from which the travellers view Mont Blanc. There are several hotels, and the inhabitants are principally guides, and the families of those who have died in that service. They are bound together as one family, and have a fund, created by monthly subscription, to aid those who may have lost the head of the family, or who may have become aged or disabled.

The Village is situated on the river Arve, and most of the dwellings were on the border of that stream. From the above account the fire must have commenced in a thickly-peopled part of the settlement. The church, which is partly burned, is at the extreme right of the village, on high ground.

☞ A Bangor paper says, at a late meeting in Hampden, Hon. Israel Washburn and Hon. Hannibal Hamlin were present. The latter fully endorsed the position of Mr. Washburn, and agreed with him as to the necessity of immediate action in rebuking the aggressions of the slave power, and the doughfaceism at the North that will sanction or tolerate these aggressions.

THE WHEELER SLAVE CASE.—The driver of the carriage which took off Mr. Wheeler's slaves, has made his mark to an affidavit which states that the slaves were carried off entirely by force and against their will. And the female slave herself, the mother of the other two, has put her mark to an affidavit that she was glad to get away.

LARGE SEIZURE OF LIQUOR.—Our police have recently had their suspicions awakened that large quantities of liquors were being brought here in vessels from Portsmouth, N. H., and have consequently kept a lookout for them. A day or two since, a small schooner called the Ocean Ranger, arrived here and anchored off the lower end of Peak's Island. Her appearance was rather suspicious, and from the movements of the schooner and the conduct of those in charge, it was supposed she had contraband stuff on board.

Thursday Deputy Marshal Ring, with a warrant, took the steam tug Tiger and visited the schooner; having exhibited his warrant, the captain swore that the liquors should not be taken out by any live man, but the bracelets being put on his wrists he became more calm, and the tug towed the schooner up to one of our wharves, where she was thoroughly searched, and 21 kegs, containing about 400 gallons of liquor, seized and sent to the lock-up.

It is supposed this liquor was shipped at Portsmouth. The kegs seem to be of the same kind as those seized last week from a vessel at one of our wharves, and which came from P. We believe the liquor law goes into effect in New Hampshire soon, and as those owning liquor there seem determined to get rid of it, we don't know of any better way than to send it here and have it seized by our police.—Portland Adv.

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 7th.—The Mexican Revolution.—The San Antonio Ledger gives an account of the organization of a military force in Texas to aid the Mexican Revolutionists. The first part of the expedition arrived at Leona River on the 15th of July, and additional men were hourly arriving.—Great numbers were expected to cross over on the 24th. Capt. Henry, Commander of the Texan Volunteers, issued addresses to the people of Texas and Mexico. To the former, he says, it is their intention to aid in the establishment of a more republican government, and finally bring it under the protection of the American Eagle.

Gen. Houston has written a letter, publicly endorsing the Know Nothings.

NEW YORK, Aug. 9th.—Fire—The gold quartz crushing establishment owned by Dunham & Co., situated on 33d street, was burned last night; loss about $20,000. Supposed to be the work of an incendiary.

VIOLATION OF THE PASSENGER LAW.—The fine incurred by the ship Wabama, of Wiscasset, for a violation of the passenger law, amounts to $118,000, being $500 each for 236 passengers. The vessel has also been attached in consequence of the refusal of the captain to give special bonds demanded for eighteen bondable cases.

DIED.—Capt. Ford, of the U. S. Army, died at Sacketts Harbor yesterday, aged 52.

FATAL ACCIDENT.—About half-past seven o'clock on Tuesday morning, a horrid catastrophe took place on the Fitchburg Railroad, at Porter's Station, in Cambridge. A young man named Charles Foster, says the times, who was on his way to do some mowing, was crossing the track, and remained standing on one portion of it while a freight train was proceeding along another. This prevented him from observing another train coming from the opposite direction till it was too late, and he was struck by the locomotive, knocked down and run over. He was instantly killed, his head being completely severed from his body, and thrown to the distance of fifteen or twenty feet. The deceased was about 22 years old, and was a single man. He has a mother residing in Lowell.

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 9th.—At the Liquor dealers' Convention, last evening, resolutions were passed calling upon every man interested in the liquor traffic throughout the State, to pledge himself to work incessantly for the repeal of the prohibitory law, and to vote for no man for any office who was unmistakably opposed to it.

The formation of a liquor dealers' association for political purposes in every county was also recommended.

A State committee was appointed.

ST. JOHN, N. B., Aug. 9th.—A fire took place here this morning, between Brussels and Waterloo streets. Fourteen houses and barns and three horses were burned.

RIOT.—Several persons were severely handled in a riot last night, at Howe's circus, between the mob, police and circus men. No lives were lost.

A good anecdote is current about the first interview between the two allies at Windsor. When the French party had retired to their apartments, Empress Eugenie remarked that the queen, making every allowance to the Guelph features, was not at all handsome;—but Napoleon replied sternly, "She has seven children." At the same time Prince Albert expressed his admiration for Eugenie's beauty to the queen, and Victoria turned proudly round, saying, "She has no children.

Dr. Cox, speaking of persons who profess to do a great deal for religion, without really possessing any, says they resemble Noah's carpenters, who built a ship in which other people were saved, although they were drowned themselves.

Home sickness—mostalgia—is said, according to the Gazette de Medicine, to be the predisposing cause of the greater part of the sickness among the troops in the Crimes.

LAWS OF NEW-HAMPSHIRE.

AN ACT in relation to insurance companies.

SECTION 1. Be it enacted, &c. That the directors of any insurance company incorporated by the laws of this State may appoint such agent or agents for the purpose of taking applications for insurance, as they may from time to time deem expedient, under the following limitations and directions:

Sec. 2. Such directors before appointing any such agent or agents shall fix and limit the fees to be paid to him or them by the applicants, for the taking of applications, and the cash premium to be paid by the applicant for insurance and in pay for the policy; and every policy issued upon an application shall state the fees for the application, amount for the policy, and cash premium that should, by the rules so fixed by the directors, be paid prior to, or on receipt of such policy.

Sec. 3. The Directors shall, upon appointing any agent or agents, prescribe to him or them, the town or towns in which he may take applications, and shall specify the same in the commission issued to him, and no agent shall be permitted to take any application except in the town or towns named in his commission, nor shall any company appoint more than two agents in a county, to take applications, other than in the town in which the agent resides.

Sec. 4. Every agent appointed by any board of directors under the provisions of this act shall, before taking any application, give a bond to the company, with good and sufficient surities to the satisfaction of the directors, conditioned for the payment of all premiums due from the agent to the company, and to repay upon demand any further or larger fees received by him than the rules of said directors prescribe; and such bond may be sued in the name of such company for the benefit of any person from whom any money has been taken contrary to said rules, and if any company shall neglect to take sbch bond from any agent, said company shall be directly liable to the person from whom such agent shall take any money contrary to said rules, and the form of action in such cases may be assumpsit for money had and received, or a special action on the case at the election of the party.

Sec. 5. Any corporation or individual, that shall violate any of the provisions of this act, shall for each offence, in addition to the liabilities before specified, be subject to a fine of not less than fifty dollars, nor more than two hundred dollars.

Sec. 6. No policy issued by any insurance company upon any application taken by any such agent shall be void by reason of any error, mistake or misrepresentation unless it shall appear to have been intentionally and fraudulently made; but said company may, in any action brought against them on said policy, file in offset any claim for damages which they shall have actually suffered thereby, and the jury may deduct from the claims of the plaintiff the amount of said damages as they shall find it.

Sec. 7. All acts and parts of acts inconsistent with the provisions of this act are hereby repealed.

Sec. 8. This act shall take effect from, and after its passage. Approved July 11, 1855.

AN ACT to change the times and places of holding the Court of Probate in and for the county of Hillsborough.

SECTION 1. Be it enacted, &c. That the Court of Probate in and for the county of Hillsborough, shall be holden at Manchester, on the first Tuesday in January, March, May, July, September and November.

At Nashua, on the first Tuesday of February, April, June, August, October and December.

At Francestown, on Wednesday next following the first Tuesday of January, April, July and October.

At Amherst, on Wednesday next following the first Tuesday of February, June, September and December.

At Peterborough, on the Wednesday next following the first Tuesday of May and August.

At Mason Village, on the Wednesday next following the first Tuesday of March and November.

Sec. 2. That all acts and parts of acts inconsistent with this, be and are hereby repealed.

CITY EXPENSES.

Messrs. Editors:—I hear it currently reported on the street as the expressed opinion of Mayor Walker, that it would be for the interest of Portsmouth if the city debt were at least $200,000. I can scarcely credit the report, as the sentiment is so much opposed to those principles of strict economy and responsibility to which he owes his election to that office. I make this statement, that he may have an opportunity to contradict a report so prejudicial to the reputation of one who has hitherto enjoyed the confidence of so large a portion of our fellow citizens,—that portion who have always contended for an economical administration of our town affairs, and who were assured that when they accepted the city act of incorporation, the advantages to be derived from it would but little increase expenses, but who now find themselves most grossly imposed upon, and more so, if the city council reject the proposition now before them, to exclude every member of the city government from becoming a participator in any contract, unless such contract is first approved by the city council. I hear it stated that this proposition was rejected in one branch of the city council Thursday evening, by a vote of 5 to 2, every member who voted for it being a contractor on that promised abortion, the new school house. I propose, at some early occasion, to take up and expose the corruptions of our city government, but not until I learn the views of our Mayor. Z.

☞ We do not give credence to the "current report": we have no doubt the Mayor is willing to make a city debt for useful purposes; yet we do not believe he desires a debt so large—nor any debt for its own sake. There must be some condition or qualification.

CITY OFFICERS' CONTRACTS.

The following is a true copy of the proposed Ordinance relating to Contracts, which was introduced into the City Council on Thursday evening, Aug. 9. Our notice of it gave but an imperfect idea of its import.

An ordinance in relation to contracts with city officers.

Be it ordained by the City Council of the city of Portsmouth. Sect. 1.—That no member of the City Council, no member of any board, and no individual chosen by the City Council, shall be interested in a private capacity, directly or indirectly, in any contract or agreement for labor, or for any material, goods, wares or merchandize, furnished to the city, wherein the city is a party interested, unless the same be expressly authorized to be made and entered into with such member by some ordinance, or order of the City Council; nor shall any member be employed to superintend or execute any work for the city without being authorized as aforesaid.

Sect. 2.—All contracts, agreements, purchases and sales, made contrary to the preceding section, shall be utterly void, at the pleasure of the City Council, and no bill against the city arising from or out of, or connected with any such contract, agreement, purchase or sale, shall be approved by any committee or any board, or paid by the treasurer, unless approved and allowed by express vote of the City Council.

Let us see what would be the effect of this ordinance, if it should pass.

It would put it out of the power of any city officer from the Mayor to the Watchman, to do a day's work for the city, on the streets, roads or buildings, or to sell a box of tea, or a barrel of molasses, for the almshouse, or to let a pair of cattle or a horse for city service, or to hoist a flag or ring a bell for the city—without a special ordinance.

Or if any such service were performed, or article furnished, then the bill could not be paid without approval by the City Council;—though the Aldermen usually approve bills.

The whole number of officers put under the ban by this bill would be something like 130—a large portion of whom are working and business men.

Do the City Council intend such wholesale proscription?

UPSET.—On Friday afternoon a small boat was upset by a flaw of wind, while sailing just outside of Fort Constitution. The boat contained two young men, named John Hamilton and George A. Eduey, who were saved by a boat which was sent to their relief form the pilot boat Sibyl, which happened to be close by. The men picked up were put on shore at New Castle. The boat went adrift, bottom up.

VIOLENT DEATH AT CHARLESTOWN NAVY YARD.—George Gray, a young man about eighteen years of age, was instantly killed at the Charlestown Navy Yard Thursday afternoon. He attempted to board the Merrimac, which is in the dry dock, and when about midway, the plank tilted, and he fell headforemost a distance of thirty feet. His skull was broken to atoms, and he died instantly. He was the son of Mr. Enos Gray, of this city, and had left home but two weeks since. His body will be brought to this city for burial.

DEPUTY SHERIFFS.—It is said that the High Sheriff of Rockingham county has appointed Messrs. Joseph B. Adams and Joseph P. Morse, Deputies in this city, and that Mr. Adams is to be jailer, in place of Geo. W. Towle, Esq., who had held the office eighteen years. If the new deputies discharge their duties as effectually, promptly and faithfully as their predecessors, they will deserve the approbation of their fellow citizens.—Jour.

Niepcotypes on Glass, and Photographs on Paper.

MR. SALEN wishes to inform the citizens of Portsmouth and vicinity, that he has procured the Art to take Likenesses on GLASS and PAPER. The now so much admired Photograph, taken on paper, excels by far the Daguerreotype on a metallic plate

These pictures are durable; are not reversed; have not the blending of a Daguerreotype, and excel in softness of light and shade the finest engraving. They are finished on beautiful French cartons put up in frames, and therefore are particularly adapted for parlor pictures. They can also be secured and sent in a letter to a distant friend.

Taken at SALEN'S Daguerrean Gallery, at all prices and sizes, on reasonable terms.

Please call and examine specimens. a4

APPLEDORE HOUSE.
ISLES OF SHOALS.

THIS House is now open for public accommodation. As everybody is, or ought to be, cognizant of the natural advantages of this purely OCEAN RETREAT, the public will not be bored with real or imaginary descriptions. Suffice it to say that every facility for the promotion of the happiness and quiet enjoyment of visitors may be found here.

A STEAMER will make daily trips between the Islands and Portsmouth, accommodating itself to the arrival and departure of the several trains.
je16 2m THOMAS B. LAIGHTON.

PAVILION,
WOLFBOROUGH, N. H.

THE subscribers beg leave to inform their friends and the public that they have leased the above spacious Public House, which contains over one hundred well furnished rooms, which have been put in good order, for permanent and transient boarders. The House commands a good view of Lake Winnipesogee, together with the beautiful hills which surround it—from one of which the prospect is said to excel that of Mount Washington—making many beautiful rides in the vicinity, on land as well as on the beautiful lake.

Good horses and carriages are connected with the house, and the beautiful steamboats "Lady of the Lake" and "Dover" make several trips each day up and down the lake. Gentlemen who delight in angling and gunning will find here ample field for their favorite enjoyment. Meals at all hours, without extra charge, for sportsmen.—Good carriages and accommodating porters in attendance on the arrival of each boat.

A Word to Persons in Delicate Health
DR. HOLMAN'S BITTERS,
Compounded from the Original Recipe of
DR. CHARLES HOLMAN.

THESE well known and much used BITTERS are composed of Roots and Herbs, such as Sarsaparilla, Pyrola, Yellow Dock, Dandelion, Wild Cherry, Prickly Ash, &c. highly prized for their

HEALING, STRENGTHENING AND RENOVATING PROPERTIES.

They are warranted to be unsurpassed in the cure of

Liver Complaint, Jaundice, Headache, Loss of Appetite, Giddiness and Weakness of the Stomach.

They are remarkable for giving a tone to the Digestive Organs, assisting Nature and preventing the various Bowel Complaints, so frequent and so dangerous during Summer and Autumn.

No Family should be without them.

Price 25 cents for a single Bottle, or five bottles for one dollar. Quite the cheapest as well as the Best Medicine that can be used.

DEAD SHOT FOR BED BUGS.

A SURE death to these noxious disturbers of our nightly rest. Apply it to insects and it curls them up and lays them out as readily as Sulphur Fumes kills Bees.

It has no equal in the market. The whole world cannot produce a substitute of similar value to the comfort of a neat tidy housewife. Its application is of little trouble, while the benefit which may be derived from a single night's undisturbed repose is incalculable.

SANCHO PANZA

Called down "blessings upon the head of the man who first invented sleep." How much more worthy such honorable distinction would be consider the inventor of the Dead Shot, who, by his Pungent and Deadly Preparation, has rendered utterly impossible the ancient bloody forays of such 'tolerable and not to be endured' tormentors; and who has enabled every one to guarantee to himself his own particular share of "tired Nature's sweet restorer."

aug1 JOHN S. HARVEY & SON.

A JEWISH WEDDING.—The Syracuse Organ describes the ceremonies of a Jewish Wedding which took place in that city on Monday. The bride, richly attired in white and closely veiled, with her friends, advanced from one side of the house, while at the same time the groom, with his friends, came from the other. The priest commenced by singing alone, with his back to the parties. Wine was then presented to the groom and bride, and again the priest sang with several little boys dressed for the occasion—then an exhortation or address, and more drinking of wine. Here the bride commenced crying, which was soon followed by the groom, a ring was given and they were declared married. Both kissed, both cried, and returned to their former position, and the ceremony was concluded.

REAL WIT.—An old doctor and a young one were conversing together upon the subject of flogging children. The young man insisted that in most cases it did more harm than good, and was often done without a cause, while the old gentleman as strongly insisted that it was highly beneficial in correcting the morals of youth. At last the young doctor said: 'Why, doctor, I tell you on my honor, my father never flogged me but once in his life, and that was for telling the truth.' 'Well,' replied the gruff old doctor, 'it cured you sir, didn't it?'

OFFICE OF THE MARYLAND CONSOLIDATED LOTTERIES, Baltimore, Maryland, 20th June, 1855.

CAUTION.—LOTTERY FRAUDS.

THE Commissioner of the Maryland State Lotteries has deemed it his duty to caution the Public against the numerous Swindlers who circulate by mail and otherwise, fraudulent Lottery schemes, and pretend to be agents for the sale of tickets in Lotteries which are wholly fictitious.

The only legal Lotteries in Maryland are those drawn daily under the superintendence of the Commissioner elected by the people of the State in der the new Constitution to examine and approve the schemes and attend to the drawings.

All the tickets in these Lotteries, and all certificates of packages of tickets, have the lithograph signature F. X. RAINAL, President of the Contractor, Office of the Maryland Consolidated Lotteries, Baltimore, Md. All others are fraudulent. For full information on the subject of these frauds, address F. X. Patents.

AMERICAN AND FOREIGN OFFICE.
Agency for business with US Patent Office, Washington,
76 State st, oppo. Kilby st, Boston.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION TO INVENTORS. The Subscriber (late Agent of the U. S. Patent Office, under the Act of 1837) determined to present advantages, in applying for Patents, superior to those offered to inventors by others, has made arrangements whereby on applications prepared and conducted by him, ALL THREE DOLLARS (instead of twenty, as paid back by others,) will be remitted by him in case of failure to obtain a patent, and the withdrawal through him within thirty days after the rejection. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments and all necessary papers, drawings, for procuring patents in this and foreign countries prepared, and advice rendered on legal and scientific matters respecting inventions, and infringement of patents.

Inventors can not more advantageously here obtain their specifications on the most reasonable terms, but can here avail themselves of the experience of 20 years' practice, an extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and correct accounts of patents granted in this and other countries besides being saved a journey to Washington, the usual great delay there, as well as all personal trouble in obtaining their patents. Copies of claims of any patent furnished by remitting one dollar.—Assignments recorded at Washington.

R. H. EDDY,
Solicitor of Patents.

"During the time I occupied the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, did business at the Patent Office, as Solicitor of Patents. There were few, if any persons acting in that capacity, who had so much business before the Patent Office; and there were none who conducted it with more skill, fidelity, and success. I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the best informed and most skilful Patent Solicitors in the United States, and have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their application in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.

EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents."

"PATENT OFFICE, ——.

"R. H. EDDY, Esq., Boston, Mass.

"SIR:—Your facilities for the prosecution of any business connected with this Office, are equal to those of any other agent. I am very respectfully, Yours, &c. THOMAS EWBANK, Commissioner of Patents."

PIANOS.

HALLETT, DAVIS & CO.

MANUFACTURERS of GRAND AND SQUARE
PIANO-FORTES.

☞ Particular attention is solicited to our PATENT SUSPENSION BRIDGE, also our PATENT GRAND ACTION, as applied to both Grand and Square Pianos.

WAREROOMS,
NEW FREESTONE BLOCK,
No. 409 WASHINGTON STREET,
NEAR BOYLSTON STREET.....BOSTON.

Opinions of the Press.

It is now generally acknowledged that the Pianos manufactured by Hallet, Davis & Co. are unrivalled in America, if in the world, for brilliancy or purity of tone.—Boston Daily Times.

An immense volume of sound can be produced by there Pianos without shattering the tones, as they send forth the most perfect, bell like notes, and we must confess that we have never listened to finer equals for power, brilliancy, sweetness of tone, and purity of action.—Boston Herald.

The Pianos of Hallet, Davis & Co. deserve more than a passing notice. They are truly splendid instruments, very powerful, and of the purest and richest quality of tone.—Boston Transcript.

In regard to purity of tone, power and sweetness, being fully equal to any instrument that has come under our observation.—Boston Courier.

Owing to the beautiful elasticity of the action of your Grand Piano Fortes, I think it would be impossible for any Pianist, who plays properly, to break either a string or a hammer.—Extract from a Letter from Wm. Mason.

The peculiar feature of Hallet, Davis & Co.'s instruments is, they make no noise. Nothing but pure tone is produced by the vibration of the strings; and the construction of the sounding board, and action are such that skilful pianists, after once testing their merits, dislike to use any other instrument in the Concert room.—Philadelphia Sunday Mercury.

I find them to be very superior instruments—as well in tone as in touch.—Extract of a Letter from L. M. Gottschalk.

I can unhesitatingly say that I find them superior in quality and quantity of tone, to those of other makers; also in the elasticity and easy touch; and can cheerfully recommend them to any one who wishes to own or play on the best Piano.—Extract of a letter from Robert Heller.

Morning Chronicle.

NEW YORK CITY.—The Boston Traveller has an article upon the population of Boston and New York, giving some interesting statistics. In 1730 the population of Boston was 11,000, and of New York 8,000. Now the population of Boston is 150,000, of New York 750,000. Brooklyn, adjoining New York, that was a village a little while ago, has 200,000 people, or 50,000 more than Boston; and there are other towns about New York that will soon be as large as Boston.—The increase of people in New York was 235,000 in the last five years, which was 85,000 more than Boston now contains. Relatively Boston has a much greater amount of tonnage, commerce, and wealth. The average valuation to a person in New York is $700, in Boston it is $2000. Boston with but one fifth the population spends more money for schools than New York. It is impossible now for any body to conceive how great a city New York may become. Its estimate for 1860 is about one million souls; and with the trade of the whole continent—it may be the whole world—centreing there, it may go up to five millions in one century.

London and Paris are the only two places of the civilized globe that exceed it to-day, Paris will soon be in the shade, and London cannot keep pace with the mistress of the New World. It only needs the Pacific Railroad, and in 50 years the largest city that exists would be its inferior, and very shortly it would be able to purchase the wealth of the richest of ancient or modern times, and have a surplus left.

LAND SHARKS RAMPANT.—A New York dispatch of Monday night, says:

A meeting was held on the Battery to-night in opposition to the conversion of Castle Garden into an emigrant depot. The emigrant runners were the principal movers in the affair. They formed in procession with a field piece at their head. The principal speakers threatened forcible resistance to the occupation of the building for emigrant purposes.—A number of rockets were fired into and over the building, for the purpose, as some in the crowd intimated, of setting it on fire. A large police force was in the building, but their services were not required.

There ought to have been a larger police force outside, which should have captured the field piece, and imprisoned the front rank of the procession.

A NOVEL WISH.—It would surprise some of our stay to home people, if they could go out to see what shoemaking has done for some sections of this State; how it has built palaces from hovels, cities from villages, and fortunes where poverty was. If anybody dies hereafter, leaving legacies for the benefit of this town, we hope they will not leave them for the poor, the schools, or the roads, but to pay the expenses of rich men to travel and examine other towns, for we feel assured that if some of them would take a circuit of but fifty miles, they would come home astonished at the dead life we lead, and with the means to set business agoing; and when that is the case, we don't want dead men's coppers, for the living would have their dollars, where now they have nothing.—Newburyport Herald.

Rattlesnakes seem to abound in Southern Oregon. Three men recently went to the mountains, where dens of these snakes were known to exist in large numbers, and in a short time killed seven hundred of them.

PURGATORY.—'With regard to purgatory,' says an old Popish writer, 'I will not say a great deal; but this much I think—that the Protestants may go farther and fare worse.'

LIBEL SUIT.—John Phosbus, (what a name!) a music teacher of New Haven, who eloped with the daughter of a widow, has sued the New Haven Journal and Courier for libel; damages laid at $10,000, for telling the story.

AN IMPORTANT OVERSIGHT.—It is said that by some extraordinary mistake of Mr. Gladstone when he prepared the revision of the English tariff in 1853, a great number of important articles, such as tobacco, tea, sugar, timber and wine, were accidentally exempted from duty, by being omitted in certain schedules, referred to in the act. The London News says:

"To some extent the mischief has been remedied by the act of the present session, which imposes specified duties on tea, coffee and sugar; but this does not give validity to the customs collected from the 8th of August, 1854, to the 21st of April, 1855, when the last act came into operation, and wine, tobacco and timber still remain subject to the provisions or non-provisions of the tariff of 1854. It is said that the government have consulted the law officers of the crown—with what precise result we do not know; but there is, doubtless, sufficient anxiety to save a former colleague from the humiliation which would follow any attempt to rectify the error by retrospective legislation."

Probably the duties paid on the above articles would be recoverable in due course of law.

A New York reporter in giving an account of a boy who fell from a four story house, says, 'He was instantly killed,' and then adds, with imposing gravity, 'when picked up, life was extinct!' We shouldn't be at all surprised to hear, by next mail, that the boy was dead!

ARSON.—A girl named Margaret Tracy has been arrested at Lowell on the charge of setting fire to a house occupied by her mother and sister. She has been held for trial.

DROWNED.—Two colored barbers in Lowell, named Wm. Cole and Edward Skeen, were drowned on Monday in Long-sought-for-Pond, Westford, while attending a pic-nic.

Morning Chronicle.

MONDAY, AUGUST 13, 1855.

THE NEW LIQUOR LAW.

The new liquor law passed by the last New Hampshire Legislature, goes into operation to-day. From conversation with liquor sellers, we learn they are generally disposed to stop selling, so that the experiment may be fairly tried, whether a community can exist without spirituous liquors.

Probably the most respectable dealers will obey the law in good faith, while others less respectable may continue a clandestine sale; and possibly some smugglers from abroad may carry on a contraband trade till detected by our police.

That the sale of liquor will be entirely stopped by this or any other law, we do not believe; but the quantity may be greatly reduced, and if so, much misery and crime will thereby be prevented.

Many citizens have been preparing for this day, for some weeks past, by laying in a supply of various kinds of liquors, as we may judge by the number of jugs and demijohns seen entering and leaving the places where liquor is sold. We are informed that one dealer sold $400 worth of liquor, in small quantities, in one day of last week.

The City Agents have not yet been appointed. This appointment is a part of the duty of the Mayor and Aldermen.

SHORT DIALOGUE.

Gazette. — The Chronicle thinks that a Southern man would not make a bad President.

Chron.—Well; why might not a good man chance to be born South as well as North, of an imaginary line? There was one George Washington, a good conservative Southern man, who made a passable sort of president; and Uncle Toby has an indistinct recollection or notion of one Tom Jefferson, whose principles were quite as free as some presidents from the Northern States.

Gaz.—How astonishingly liberal Uncle Toby is getting.

Chron.—Thank you sir.

Gaz.—It wouldn't be remarkable, if he might, by and by, be induced to support a Nebraska pro-slavery know nothing for the presidency, notwithstanding all the dry knocks he has given Nebraskaism.

Chron.—Strange things have happened—but we think, after all, people would make remarks quite freely, if anybody should offer him great inducements,—or if he should happen to give such a vote. We shall see.

SCRIPTURE INTERPRETED.

The reader will please to keep a sober face, while he peruses the following liberal interpretation of the prophecies. A correspondent of the Portland Expositor, who subscribes himself "Yours till the August election, J. M. E.," is confident that the present state of affairs "proves the position of true philanthropists, that the cause of temperance is set back twenty-five years," and then says:

The Know Nothing Horn of this hydra-headed monster is leaving its filthy trail among us. I am a believer in the fulfilment of Divine Revelation—and I verily believe that the second Beast that John saw rise out of the ground with two Horns, is doing its work in this age.

I believe that the Maine Law, or properly Legal Reformation, is the one horn, and Know Nothingism the other, and the number of the Beast 666 are the 666 denominations now existing, that are giving growth to these two horns.

"The Beast was to do wonders in the sight of men." Rev. 13, 11 and 12 v.

He was to cause both bond and free, rich and poor, to receive his mark or number of his name, and that no man should buy or sell, except he had the number or mark of his name, and they that should refuse the mark of the Beast should be killed, (mark the fate of your citizens.) Here is wisdom, for the number of the Beast is the number of a man, Neal Dow, and his number is six hundred three score and six. Rev. 13, 16th, 17th, and 18th v.

This preaching is decidedly rich. The 666 denominations are all the sects in the country, more or less. Will not some great man take up the writer, and make him a chaplain?

BANK ROBBERY.—The safe of the New Hampshire Savings Bank, in Concord, was broken open on Friday, August 10, about noon, and money, in gold, silver, and bills, to the amount of about $1000 stolen. $300 reward is offered for the conviction of the thief and recovery of the money.

A pair of boots found among the effects of the unknown man who was killed on Wednesday night, by falling into the hold of a vessel at East Boston, were marked "George Sherman, Portsmouth, N. H." This may lead to the identification of the deceased.

LAMENTABLE SIGHT.—A young and well-dressed woman was found so drunk in School street, Boston, on Friday noon, as to make it necessary to remove her to Station House No. 2.

PRETTY WELL DOWN.—New potatoes are selling in Hartford for ten cents per bushel.

GOVERNOR OF KANSAS.—Mr. Dawson, the appointee to the governorship of Kansas, passed through Pittsburg, on his way home. He has announced to his friends his intention to decline the appointment.

This was probably foreseen, and leaves the pro-slavery secretary of the territory the real acting Governor.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10.—Wilson Shannon, Ex-Governor of Ohio, a member of the last Congress, from that State, and a supporter of the Kansas-Nebraska bill, has been appointed Governor of Kansas, vice Dawson declined.

DEATH FROM BURNING FLUID.—The elderly colored woman, named Gaskins, mentioned a day or two since as having been seriously injured by the explosion of a fluid lamp, from which she was lighting a pipe while one tube was open, died Friday afternoon from the effects of the accident.

Coroner Stedman will hold an inquest in this case, which we understand will involve a thorough investigation as to the comparative danger or safety of the various compounds in the market used as burning fluids, and also the construction of the different kinds of lamps. A truthful scientific expose of these matters would undoubtedly be of vast service to the community in the prevention of serious and fatal accidents in the future. It has been estimated that more lives are annually sacrificed by "burning fluids," than by railroad or steamboat accidents, gunpowder, or any other single cause of violent death.—Boston Transcript.

NEW YORK, Aug. 10th.—The Ship Wabaso.—The captain of the ship Wabano, under seizure for the violation of the passenger act, explains his conduct by saying that a steamboat came alongside his ship, and a person on board presented a letter bearing the signature of A. Kennedy, one of the Commissioners of Emigration, directing the landing of passengers at Castle Garden, that he entered into an agreement by which the steamboat was to receive his passengers and land them at Castle Garden, and no where else; that he was not aware that they had been illegally disposed of until proceedings had commenced.—These statements, if proved, will probably relieve him of all personal responsibility in the matter, but will not release the vessel from the fines that have been incurred. They also lead to the supposition that the captain was imposed upon by a party of runners.

These same runners are a precious set of scamps,—up to all sorts of villany.

A JOKE.—Quite a little excitement was created at the State Prison on Sunday last by the report that a prisoner had escaped. It seemed that an Irish woman, living in Chapman street, imagined she saw a convict scale the wall on the north side, and with the assistance of three men, safely conveyed across the river and escape. She informed the officers, and they began to think a prisoner had really escaped. An officer was despatched to the City Marshal's office with a description of the prisoner, and a reward of $30 was offered for his apprehension. The police were on the lookout all the forenoon, but did not get a glimpse of the supposed escaped convict. In the afternoon, an officer made his appearance at the office, and stated that upon counting up the men, while attending services in the Chapel, none was found to be missing.—The officers were inclined to believe that the woman had been taking "a drop of the crature."—Charlestown Adv.

ARTIFICIAL WINE.—M. Dumas—not the romancer but the chemist—is earnestly engaged in a series of experiments, at Paris, upon the possibility of producing an artificial wine to take the place of grape juice, during the crisis of the vineyards. There will always be wine enough for the rich, so he desires to furnish the new beverage at a price not over two sous a quart, that the working classes may have no excuse for drinking water. Fermented beet juice with a taste of alcohol, is the base of his mixture, the proper sanitary qualities being obtained from certain roots and herbs. If the French people want 'artificial' wine, or liquor of any sort made in that way, let them send to this country.—Boston Bee.

That's it, exactly;—and if they want a sermon preached in favor of it, let them send for the Rev. Mr. Lovejoy, who will do it to a turn.

BAD FOR THE MORMONS.—The "latter day saints" are not blessed in basket and store.—We have the Deseret News of the 6th ult., in which the most gloomy reports are given of prospects of the crops. The grasshopper, locust and large cricket are making terrible inroads upon the wheat crop, and will destroy it all. The News says that they will have to haul wheat 800 miles. In addition to the above calamities, Tintick's band of Utahs are turning their horses into the fields to eat up what the insects have not destroyed.

LIQUOR DEALERS' CONVENTION.—The New York Liquor dealers nominated no ticket at their Convention at Syracuse on Tuesday, and the anti-Maine Law people of the state will have no ticket at the November election, unless all the other parties put in nomination the Maine law candidates—a contingency not likely to occur. Their plan is to take candidates from all parties who are "sound" on the "bung-hole question," without regard to other issues. They say that an exclusive liquor party in the State, if got up, "will prove to be a licked party" at the election.—Boston Courier.

FATAL TIPPLING.—Yesterday afternoon, Bridget Lanergan, a resident of the Black Sea, (North street) while under the influence of liquor, drank a bottle of camphor and alcohol, probably supposing it to be a different compound. A short time afterwards, she was found dead in an upper room of her house. Coroner Smith took charge of the body.—Boston Transcript, Friday.

LOUISVILLE, Aug. 8th.—Fatal Altercation.—Yesterday an altercation occurred between a Know Nothing and a Catholic, during which the latter was knocked down, when a loaded pistol, which he had in his pocket, was accidentally discharged and killed him.

LOCAL.

For the Chronicle.

CITY EXPENSES.

Messrs. Editors:—Allow me to express my disbelief of the rumor that Mayor Walker advocates a $200,000 debt for this city,—and at the same time to express my hope that he, as a public officer, will not feel called upon to answer an anonymous communication in a newspaper, based on mere rumor.

He was no doubt misunderstood by some one to whom he made some passing remark like those he has often made, that the city was greatly in want of better public buildings, particularly school houses. Some people do not hear correctly: and rumors, as they circulate, are not apt to lose any thing but the truth. I do not believe Mayor Walker is guilty of any design or willingness to involve the city in needless expense or a needless debt;—and I know he is in favor of building a good school house this year. He is not a man to shun investigation, nor to fear discussion.

There are different opinions on locations for the High Schools, and on the kind of buildings to be erected;—and some men, I am told, say we need none at all, as the old ones are good enough. Mayor Walker does not agree with the last sort; and I do not.—I should rather have built a High School for girls in some more rural spot, by itself—but rather have it in Daniel street, than not have it built any where. There will be no abortion, I hope, but a good school house. I am afraid it will cost two or three thousand dollars more than it ought; but I cannot help it, and do not see how the Mayor could. He has no vote but a casting vote in any case. Y.

☞ The Pic-Nic of the Pleasant Street Christian Society, in Littlefield's grove, at Stratham, on Friday, was a most pleasant and successful social gathering. About five hundred persons took passage in the extra train, and many more were on the ground during the day.

Mr. Diman, of the Highland Cottage, entertained, in his usual good style, a large number of callers, and a legion of beautiful bouquets were cut from his grounds.

Nothing occurred to mar the enjoyment of the day, though some complaint was made to us that some rowdy boys, usually hanging about on such occasions, were troubling the neighbors' fruit trees.

The Pleasant Street Society are rather noted for their success in getting up good social gatherings,—their Pic-Nics being as popular and pleasant as their teachings are liberal and christian.

☞ We understand that the Mechanics' Ship Building Company, of this city, have sold the ship now building at their yard, to Mr. Charles Coffin, of Newburyport. The ship is of about 1200 tons burthen.

The same gentleman has also entered into contract with Mr. George Raynes, for another ship of about the same size, to be put up immediately.

LIGHT.—The Gas Company, having completed their alterations, have advertised the use of gas this evening.

☞ We are indebted to our neighbor Fuller, of the Gazette, for the loan of the types giving the list of city taxes, on Saturday morning. Mr. F. is himself too careful to give due credit for all loaned articles, to deserve to suffer much from pickings and stealings.

☞ We are pleased to see that Messrs. Hadley and Folsom are making arrangements to repair the Granite House, near Market Square, the roof of which was burnt a few months since. It has of late presented rather an unsightly appearance.

☞ By an advertisement in another column, it will be seen that Mr. J. P. Morse has received his commission as Deputy Sheriff, and is prepared to perform the duties of the office. He also offers his services as Auctioneer, in which business he had some experience before engaging in the periodical business.

NEW EXPRESS.—Mr. T. S. Bickford has commenced running a daily express from Union Village, through Milton, Rochester, Great Falls, Salmon Falls and South Berwick to Portsmouth, connecting at Portsmouth with Walker's Boston express.

Mr. Bickford has been long and favorably known to the travelling public, and his patrons may rest assured that all business entrusted to his care will be executed with promptness and despatch.—Dover Gaz.

All correct, no doubt, except the connection with Walker's Boston express—that ceased some time ago. The connection is doubtless with Jackson & Co., who ran an express, permanent and responsible for anything.

☞ We have received from Horace Webster, Esq., School Commissioner, the Ninth Annual Report of the Common Schools of New Hampshire.

Dr. P. C. Holt, of Union Co., Ky., has recently emancipated 22 slaves, valued at $15,000, and furnished them with homes in Ohio. Dr. Holt endeavored to purchase the wives of several of them, belonging to other masters, but could not obtain them at any price. The slaveholders about Dr. Holt were greatly exasperated against him because he liberated his slaves from convictions of duty.

Niepcotypes on Glass, and Photographs on Paper.
MR. SALEN wishes to inform the citizens of Portsmouth and vicinity, that he has procured the Art to take Likenesses on GLASS and PAPER. The now so much admired Photograph, taken on paper, excels by far the Daguerreotype on a metallic plate
These pictures are durable; are not reversed; have not the blending of a Daguerreotype, and excel in softness of light and shade the finest engraving. They are finished on beautiful French cartons put up in frames, and therefore are particularly adapted for parlor pictures. They can also be secured and sent in a letter to a distant friend.
Taken at SALEN'S Daguerrean Gallery, at all prices and sizes, on reasonable terms.
Please call and examine specimens. a4

FROM CALIFORNIA.

NEW YORK, Aug. 11.

The steamer Empire City, from Aspinwall, arrived this morning. She brings the mails and $900,000 in gold.

The Empire City connected at the Isthmus with the John L. Stephens, which brought down $1,070,000.

The U. S. ship John Adams sailed from Panama, on the 14th, for the Fejee islands.

Late advices had been received at Panama, from the Pacific South American ports, but the news is unimportant.

MONTGOMERY, Aug. 9.—Alabama Election.—Percy, Walker, K.N., is elected to Congress in the Mobile district.

Further returns of the Gubernatorial vote shows large majorities for Winston, dem, and he is probably elected.

LOUISVILLE, Aug. 10.—Kentucky Election.—Morehead's (K. N.) majority is 9500. The counties remaining to be heard from gave Pierce a majority of 2200. For Congress, 6 K.Ns. and 3 anti-K. Ns. are chosen, and one district is doubtful.

NEW YORK, August 10.—Advices from Santa Martha of July 11, state that on that day the brig Velocity, just arrived from this port, took fire, and shortly after blew up.—Vessel and cargo a total loss, except a small quantity of gunpowder which had been landed. No lives lost.

The State Comptroller has declared the Webster Insurance Company of this city, to be an insolvent concern, it having been started on a fictitious capital, and that the public good requires its immediate dissolution.

NEW YORK, Aug. 10th.—Anti Nebraska Convention in Pennsylvania.—The Pittsburg Gazette contains a call for a State Convention of the Anti-Nebraska party of Pennsylvania, to meet at Pittsburg on the 15th of September. It is signed by prominent men in all the old organizations.

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 10th.—Advices from Fort Laramie of July 16th report all quiet in that region. Capt. Foote's company of Infantry had arrived. Col. House's company of Dragoons were not fifty miles west of Fort Kearney. All well. No Sioux were seen on the route. The cholera was prevailing with great fatality at Fort Ripley. Major Ogden was among the victims. Numbers had abandoned the Fort and taken to the hills.

CROPS IN MAINE.—A letter from Bangor says: "We have had excellent weather for securing the hay crop, and the greater part of it has been housed in the best order. We shall have no lean, starved cattle next Spring, like those of the last. Corn is not yet very forward, but this and all other crops promise abundantly."

CALIFORNIA BUTTER TRADE.—It is estimated by reliable authority, says the New York Tribune, that the shipments of butter from this port and Boston have averaged 4,400 firkins per week since the 1st June instant—making an aggregate of 35,200 firkins during the months of June and July. Butter for this market must be of the first quality, and when packed on board of vessel could not cost less than twenty-five cents per pound, or $25 per firkin—a sum total of $880,000. One house has shipped 4,600 firkins.

BILLS FOUND.—The Grand Jury of the Court of Quarter Sessions on Wednesday found bills against Passamore Williamson and the five colored men who were arrested for participating in the affray with Col. John H. Wheeler, at Philadelphia. The bills are for riot and assault and battery.

QUIET PLACE FOR A 'RETREAT.'—The last reports from Kansas represent that every settlement was forming a rifle brigade, running bullets, making cartridges, and going through the drill exercise. From this species of industry it is not difficult to surmise what the crop will be.

DUMAS THE AUTHOR.—A Paris correspondent says—Dumas' complexion is, I think, getting darker and darker every day. At any rate, his disrespectful son said of him not long ago, 'My father is a dreadful proud man; I should not be astonished to see him mounted up behind his own carriage, to make people believe he keeps a negro servant.'

A PLEASANT MEETING.—Rev. Dr. Sprague of Albany, Rev. A. A. Wood, of New York, and Rev. Henry M. Field, now of the New York Evangelist, all formerly pastors of the Congregational Church in West Springfield, Mass., met there on Sunday, and worshipped together at the old altar.

PARISIAN STYLE

Cutting Dresses, Basques, &c.

MRS. HENVILLE, having returned to this city, respectfully solicits the attention of the ladies of Portsmouth to her New and Improved Method. It is accurate and simple, and the only reliable rule in the United States.

Mrs. H. has taken a Room at the Rockingham House for a few days, where she will be ready to teach all who may wish to learn, or, if desired they will be waited upon at their own residences. She will also fit linings, at a very low price. all 1w

PAVILION,

WOLFBOROUGH, N. H.

THE subscribers beg leave to inform their friends and the public that they have opened the above spacious Public House, which contains over one hundred well furnished rooms, which have been put in good order, for permanent and transient boarders. The House commands a good view of Lake Winnipisogee, together with the beautiful hills which surround it—from one of which the prospect is said to excel that of Mount Washington—making many beautiful rides in the vicinity, on land as well as on the beautiful lake.

Good horses and carriages are connected with the house, and the beautiful steamboats "Lady of the Lake" and "Dover" make several trips each day up and down the lake. Gentlemen who delight in angling and gunning will find here ample field for their favorite enjoyment. Meals at all hours, without extra charge, for sportsmen. Good carriages and accommodating porters in attendance on the arrival of each boat.

The Portsmouth Almanac

AND

ROCKINGHAM COUNTY

HAND BOOK,

FOR THE YEAR 1856.

THE subscriber will issue the first No. of this work the present fall, and designs publishing it annually should circumstances warrant it. It will contain besides the Almanac Calendar, embracing all usual calculations for this meridian, Official COUNTY and TOWN STATISTICS, Lists of COUNTY and TOWN OFFICERS, Justices of the Peace, Terms of the various Courts, and all necessary information to the public connected therewith, with Sketches of some of the principal Towns, which in time will embrace all the towns in the County, forming a more complete history than has yet been published.

The work will make a pamphlet of about 75 pages, a few of which will be devoted to business advertisements and professional Cards, which will be inserted on reasonable terms. Of the first edition we shall print from 3000 to 5000 copies.—Retail price 12½ cents. Dealers supplied at the usual discount.

A Word to Persons in Delicate Health

DR. HOLMAN'S BITTERS,

Compounded from the Original Recipe of DR. CHARLES HOLMAN.

THESE well known and much used BITTERS are composed of Roots and Herbs, such as Sarsaparilla, Pyrola, Yellow Dock, Dandelion, Wild Cherry, Prickly Ash, &c. highly prized for their

HEALING, STRENGTHENING AND RENOVATING PROPERTIES.

They are warranted to be unsurpassed in the cure of

Liver Complaint, Jaundice, Headache, Loss of Appetite, Giddiness and Weakness of the Stomach.

They are remarkable for giving a tone to the Digestive Organs, assisting Nature and preventing the various Bowel Complaints, so frequent and so dangerous during Summer and Autumn.

No Family should be without them.

Price 25 cents for a single Bottle, or five bottles for one dollar. Quite the cheapest as well as the Best Medicine that can be used.

Dr. J. F. HOLMAN, Proprietor, Boston, Mass.

DEAD SHOT FOR BED BUGS.

A SURE death to these noxious disturbers of our nightly rest. Apply it to insects and it curls them up and lays them out as readily as Sulphur Fumes kills Bees.

It has no equal in the market. The whole world cannot produce a substitute of similar value to the comfort of a neat tidy housewife. Its application is of little trouble, while the benefit which may be derived from a single night's undisturbed repose is incalculable.

SANCHO PANZA

Called down "blessings upon the head of the man who first invented sleep." How much more worthy such honorable distinction would he consider the inventor of the Dead Shot, who, by his Pungent and Deadly Preparation, has rendered utterly impossible the ancient bloody forays of such tolerable and not to be endured tormentors; and who has enabled every one to guarantee to himself his own particular share of "tired Nature's sweet restorer."

REMOVAL.
Dr. Turnbull, Oculist & Aurist,

(FROM LONDON,)

Has arrived at the

WINTHROP HOUSE, BOSTON.

Office Hours from 9 A. M. to 2 P. M

From the London Times.

A number of scientific gentlemen assembled at the house of Dr. Turnbull, to witness the results produced by a process recently discovered by the Doctor, and applied for the cure of deafness and blindness.

Between twenty and thirty patients attended, many of whom, it was stated by their parents, had been born deaf and dumb. They were submitted to various tests, by which it was proved that their deafness had been cured by the application of Dr. Turnbull's remedies; and what appears most singular is, that whether the disease depended on paralysis of the auditory nerve, rupture of the tympanum, or obstruction of the internal passages, relief had been obtained, or complete cure effected without delay, pain or inconvenience. Several patients, who represented that they had been completely blind, said that they could now see perfectly well. july16 3w

DR. J. W. POLAND'S HEADACHE KILLER!

PREPARED BY

DR. J. W. POLAND

Gofftown Centre, N. H.

THIS Wonderful Medicine for the Sick and Nervous HEADACHE, as well as for Tic Doloreux, Neuralgia and all forms of Nervous Diseases, after an impartial trial of more than six years, has established its reputation as a standard Remedy. Other Headache Remedies have "waxed and waned" since this was introduced to the public, but the Genuine DR. POLAND'S HEADACHE KILLER has been, and is now increasing in sales every month.

Within three months, more than seven tons in weight of the Headache Killer have been sent over the Railroads to fill orders for it.

Please to read the Circular, which the Agents have, and you will get the history of the Medicine.

HAYES'S MEDICINES.

READER, are you suffering from Humors, internal or external? HAYES'S

Allied Ointment and Humor Syrup

will cure you just as sure as you see it. Take not our assertion for it, but the testimony of a thousand living witnesses. All it wants is a trial—it advertises itself. One bottle has sold a hundred in a single town. Reader, do you ask how you shall know these statements are facts, when there is so much humbuggery in advertising? We will inform you: call on any of our agents, get a circular, select any name you please, address a line to that individual—they will speak—they are living witnesses. It will cost but a trifle, and must convince the most skeptical. We subjoin one from among the many:

Read the following, it speaks for itself:

LAWRENCE, June 12, 1854.

We the undersigned, citizens of Lawrence, having used the Vegetable Alterative Ointment prepared by E. D. HAYES, of this city, and being personally acquainted with the Doctor, feel pleasure in adding our testimony to all the doctor claims for his medicine. Unlike other remedies in the market, this preparation performs its office speedily and with certainty. The Ointment we have used with the most happy results, after vainly seeking relief by the free use of Sarsaparilla, Salves, &c.

Our experience fully justifies us in confidently recommending it as a reliable article, and the only one known to us, as performing all it claims.

A. S. BUNKER. A. W. STEARNS.
S. I. THOMPSON. ASA T. SANBORN.

It cures Salt Rheum, Scrotula, Erysipelas, White Leg, Cancerous Humors, Ring Worm, Scald Head, Burns and Scalds, Chilblains, Piles, (a preparation expressly,) Barber's Itch, Fever Sores, and all old Mercurial Sores, however long standing. It removes all those vexatious Pimples, Eruptions and Moth or Mildew from the face leaving the skin perfectly soft and smooth, adding greatly to the beauty of the complexion. In no case will it leave a mark or scar. It improves the sight wonderfully, where the eyes are troubled with humors, by removing the difficulty and restoring the sight.

Price of the Ointment, $1; Syrup 50 cents.

PIANOS.

WAREROOMS,

NEW FREESTONE BLOCK,

No. 409 WASHINGTON STREET,

NEAR BOYLSTON STREET.....BOSTON.

Opinions of the Press.

It is now generally acknowledged that the Pianos manufactured by Hallet, Davis & Co. are unrivalled in America, if in the world, for brilliancy of purity of tone.—Boston Daily Times.

An immense volume of sound can be produced by these Pianos without shattering the tones, as they send forth the most perfect, bell like notes, and we must confess that we have never listened to their equals for power, brilliancy, sweetness of tone, and purity of action.—Boston Herald.

The Pianos of Hallet, Davis & Co. deserve more than a passing notice. They are truly splendid instruments, very powerful, and of the purest and richest quality of tone.—Boston Traveller.

In regard to purity of tone, power and sweetness, being fully equal to any instrument that has come under our observation.—Boston Courier.

Owing to the beautiful elasticity of the action of your Grand Piano Fortes, I think it would be impossible for any Pianist, who plays properly, to break either a string or a hammer.—Extract from a Letter from Wm. Mason.

The peculiar feature of Hallet, Davis & Co.'s instruments is, they make no noise. Nothing but pure tone is produced by the vibration of the strings; and the construction of the sounding board, and action are such that skilful pianists, after once testing their merits, dislike to use any other instrument in the Concert room.—Philadelphia Sunday Mercury.

I find them to be very superior instruments—as well in tone as in touch.—Extract of a Letter from L. M. Gottschalk.

I can unhesitatingly say that I find them superior in quality and quantity of tone, to those of other makers; also in the elasticity and easy touch; and can cheerfully recommend them to any one who wishes to own or play on the best Pianos.—Extract of a letter from Robert Heller.

LAWS OF NEW-HAMPSHIRE.

AN ACT to establish a House of Reformation for juvenile and female offenders against the Laws.

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives in General Court convened.

SECTION 1. There shall be established within this State, in some central town thereof, the location to be selected by a board of commissioners to be appointed agreeably to a resolution now pending in this legislature, an institution for the instruction, employment and reformation of juvenile offenders and female offenders against the laws, to be called a House of Reformation for juvenile and female offenders against the laws, and the government of said institution shall be vested in a board of seven trustees, to be appointed and commissioned by the governor by and with the advice of Council.

SEC. 2. It shall be the duty of said board of trustees to take charge of the general interests of the institution; to see that its affairs are conducted in accordance with the requirements of the legislature, and of such by-laws as the board may, from time to time, adopt, for the orderly and economical management of its concerns; to see that strict discipline is maintained therein; to provide employment for the inmates, and bind them out, discharge, or remand them, as is hereinafter rovided; to appoint a superintendent, a steward, a teacher or teachers, and such other officers, as in their judgement, the wants of the institution may require; to prescribe the duties of the superintendant and other officers: to exercise a vigilant supervision over the institution, its officers and inmates; to remove such officers at pleasure, and appoint others in their stead; and to determine the salaries to be paid to the officers respectively—subject, in all cases to the approval of the Governor and Council. The trustees shall also prepare and submit to the inspection of the Governor and Council, a code of by-laws which shall not be valid until sanctioned by them. The by-laws may subsequently be enlarged or amended by the essent of five members of the board of trustees, at any legal meeting of said board, and not otherwise; but no alteration shall be valid until it shall have been approved by the Governor and Council.

SEC. 3. As soon as the Governor shall have been notified by the commissioners to be appointed under a resolve for erecting the buildings for said House of Reformation, that said buildings are prepared for occupancy, he shall forthwith issue his proclamation, giving public notice of the fact.

SEC. 4. After proclamation shall have been made as provided in the third section of this act, when any boy under the age of eighteen years, or any female of any age shall be convicted of any offence known to the laws of this State, and punishable by imprisonment, other than such as may be punished with imprisonment for life, the court or justice, as the case may be, before whom such conviction shall be had, may, at their discretion, sentence such boy or female to the said House of Reformation, or to such punishment as is now provided by law for the same offence. And if the sentence shall be to the House of Reformation, then it shall be in the alternative to the House of Reformation or to such punishment as would have been awarded if this act had not passed.

SEC. 5. Any boy or female so convicted and sent to such institution, shall there be kept, disciplined, instructed, employed and governed under the direction of said board of trustees, until either he or she shall be either reformed or discharged, or shall be bound out by said trustees, according to their by laws, or shall be remanded to prison under sentence of the court as incorrigible, upon information of the trustees, as hereinafter provided.

SEC. 6. If any boy or female shall, upon any conviction, be sentenced to said House of Reformation, and the trustees, or any two of them in the absence of the others, shall deemit inexpedient to receive him or her, or if he or she shall be found incorrigible, or his or her continuance in the said House of Reformation, shall be deemed prejudicial to the management and discipline thereof, they shall certify the same upon the mittimus, by virtue of which he or she is held, which mittimus, together with the boy or female shall be delivered to the sheriff of any county or his deputy, or to the constable of any town, who shall forthwith commit said boy or female to the jail, house of correction, or state prison, as the case may be, in pursuance of the alternative sentence provided for in the preceding section of this act.

SEC. 7. All commitments to this institution, of boys or females, of whatever age when committed, shall be for a term not longer than during their minority, or during the term of commitment to which they were sentenced, nor less than one year, unless sooner discharged by order of the trustees, as herein before provided; and when any boy or female shall be discharged therefrom by the expiration of his or her term of commitment, or as reformed, or as having arrived at the age of twenty-one years, such discharge shall be a full and complete release from all penalties and disabilities which may have been created by such sentence.

SEC. 8. The trustees of this institution shall have power to bind out all boys or females under age committed to their charge, for any term of time during the period for which they shall have been committed, as apprentices or servants, to any inhabitants of this State; and the said trustees, and master or mistress, apprentice or servant, shall, respectively, have all the rights and privileges, and be subject to all the duties set forth in the Revised Statutes and laws of this State, in the same manner as if said binding or apprenticing were made by overseers of the poor.

SEC. 9. The trustees shall cause the boys or females under their charge to be instructed in piety, in morality, and in such branches of useful knowledge as shall be adapted to their age and capacity; they shall also be instructed in some regular course of labor, either mechanical, manufacturing, agricultural or horticultural, or in other branches of domestic industry, or a combination of these, as shall be best suited to their age and strength, disposition and capacity; also, such other arts and trades and occupations as may seem best adapted to secure the reformation, amendment, and future benefit of the boys or females; and in binding out the inmates, the trustees shall have scrupulous regard to the religious and moral character of those to whom they are to be bound, to the end that they may secure to the boys or females the benefit of a good example and wholesome instruction, and the sure means of improvement in virtue and knowledge, and thus the opportunity of becoming intelligent, moral, useful and happy citizens.

SEC. 10. The superintendent, with such subordinate officers as the trustees shall appoint, shall have the charge and custody of the boys or females. He shall himself be a constant resident at the institution, and shall discipline, govern, instruct and employ, and use his best endeavors to reform the inmates, in such manner as, while preserving their health, will secure the formation, as far as possible, of moral, religious and industrious habits, and regular, thorough progress and improvement in their studies, trades and various employments.

SEC. 11. The superintendent shall have charge of the lands, buildings, furniture, tools, implements, stock and provisions, and every other species of property pertaining to the institution within the precincts thereof. He shall, before he enters upon the duties of his office, give a bond to the State, with sureties satifactory to the Governor and Council, in the sum of two thousand dollars, conditioned that he shall faithfully account for all monies received by him as superintendent, and faithfully perform all the duties incumbent on him as such. He shall keep, in suitable books, regular and complete accounts of all his receipts and expenditures, and of all property entrusted to him, showing the income and expenses of the institution; and he shall account to the treasurer, in such manner as the trustees may require, for all monies received by him from the proceeds of the farm, or otherwise. His books, and all documents relating to the institution, shall, at all times, be open to the inspection of the trustees, who shall, at least once in every six months, carefully examine the said books and accounts, and the vouchers and documents connected therewith, and make a record of the results of such examination. He shall keep a register, containing the name, residence, and age of each boy or female, and the circumstances connected with his or her early history; and he shall add such facts as may come to his knowledge relating to the subsequent history of said boy or female, while at the institution, and after he or she shall have left it.

SEC. 12. All contracts on account of the institution shall be made by the superintendent in writing, and, when approved by the trustees, if their by-laws require it, shall be binding in law, and the superintendent, or his successor, may sue or be sued thereon to final judgment and execution; and no such suit shall abate by reason of the office of superintendent becoming vacant, pending such suit; but any successor of the superintendent may take upon himself the prosecution or defence thereof, and, upon motion of the adverse party, and notice, he shall be requised so to do.

SEC. 13. There shall be a treasurer, to be appointed by the Governor and Council, who shall, before he enters upon the discharge of the duties of his office, give a bond to the State, with sureties satisfactory to the Governor and Council, in the sum of three thousand dollars, conditioned that he shall faithfully account for all money received by him as treasurer; which bond, and also that of the superintendent, shall be filed in the office of the treasurer of the State.

SEC. 14. The board of trustees shall be appoi ted forthwith, and they shall take charge of the farm which may be purchased by the State for said institution, except so much thereof as shall be needed for the purpose of the commissioners for the erection of the buildings. When the Governor shall have made proclamation that the buildings are ready for occupancy, the institution and the buildings shall be at once in the charge of the trustees.

When two years shall have expired after the first appointment of a board of trustees, two trustees shall be appointed and commissioned annually; and, for this purpose, the places of the two senior members, as they stand arranged in their commission, shall be thereafter annually vacated. No trustee shall receive any compensation for his services; but he shall be allowed the amount of expenses incurred by him in the discharge of the duties of his office.

SEC. 15. One or more of the trustees shall visit the institution once in every two weeks, at which times the boys shall be examined in the school-room and work shop, and the females in their places of employment, and the register shall be inspected. A record of these visits shall be regularly kept in the books of the superintendent, and once in every three months, the institution, in all its departments, shall be thoroughly examined by a majority of the board of trustees, and a report made, showing the results of these examinations. Annually in the month of May, an abstract of these quarterly reports shall be prepared, which, together with a full report by the superintendent, shall be laid before the Governor and Council, for the information of the Legislature. The treasurer shall also submit, at the same time, a financial statement, furnishing an accurate detailed account of the receipts and expenditures for the year terminating on the last day of the month of April next preceding.

SEC. 16. The trustees aforesaid shall be, for the time being, a corporation by the name of the Trustees of the House of Reformation for juvenile and female offenders against the laws, for the purpose of taking and holding to themselves and their successors, in trust for the State, any grant or devise of lands and any donation or bequest of money or other personal property which has been, or which hereafter may be, made for the use of said institution, and for the purpose of preserving and investing the proceeds of any such grant, devise, donation or bequest, in notes or bonds, secured by good and sufficient mortgages, or in other securities, with all the powers necessary to carry into effect the purposes aforesaid.

SEC. 17. This act shall take effect from and after its passage. Approved July 14, 1855.

AN ACT relating to the connection of railroads.

SECTION 1. Be it enacted, &c. That every railroad corporation, the owner of a road in use, chartered by the legislature of this State, or by the concurrent action of the legislatures of this and any other State or States, shall at reasonable times draw over its road the cars, passengers and freight that may be brought and delivered to it by any other railroad which is authorized to unite with or enter upon and use the same, or which has a right to enter upon and use a connecting railroad which is so authorized, as well as also all cars, passengers and freight destined for such railroad, for such reasonable compensation as the legislature of New-Hampshire shall, from time to time, prescribe, or which may be prescribed under its authority.

SEC. 2. No railroad which draws the cars of other roads, in conformity to the preceding section, shall be required to allow its road to be used by any other motive power than its own.

SEC. 3. In case any roads interested in such transportation cannot agree as to such compensation, either party may, on giving the other three months notice, apply to the superior court, or any two justices thereof, who are disinterested, in vacation, for the appointment of an impartial and disinterested board of referees, and the superior court, or said justices, on due notice to the opposite party, shall appoint such board of referees to adjust and determine the rates of compensation for transportation, and all matters of connection between said roads, and said referees after giving due notice to the parties, and after full hearing of the same, shall make their award thereon, which shall be valid and binding until three months after the close of the next session of the legislature; and for such further time not exceeding one year, as said referees may fix, unless sooner altered by the legislature. And the expenses of said referees shall be paid in equal proportions by the several parties interested.

Sec. 4. All unsettled claims or accounts for or on account of such transportation, which may exist at the time of the passage of this act, or at the time of the appointment of any such board of referees, shall, in case the parties are unable to agree in respect to the same, be heard and determined by a board of referees, appointed on petition of either party, in the manner prescribed in the third section.

Sec. 5. An act entitled "An act to provide a mode of adjustment of the terms of connection between railroads," passed July 5, 1851, and all acts and parts of acts inconsistent with the provisions of this act be, and the same are hereby repealed.

Sec. 6. This act shall take effect on and after its passage. Approved July 10, 1855.

AN ACT in relation to the summoning of Juries and for other purposes.

SECTION 1. That no grand or petit juries shall hereafte be summoned, or drawn, or attend upon the Court of Common Pleas in the several counties, as said Court is now constituted, but the clerks of the Court of Common Pleas in the several counties, shall issue venires and summon petit jurors to attend upon the Court of Common Pleas as constituted by the act entitled "An act to remodel the Judiciary System and for other purposes," at the times and places therein prescribed; and the clerks of the Superior Court of Judicature, in the several counties, shall issue venires and summon grand and petit jurors to attend upon the Supreme Judicial Court at the times and places prescribed by said act.

Sec. 2. This act shall take effect upon its passage, and all acts and parts of acts inconsistent herewith, are hereby repealed.

Approved July 14, 1855.

AN ACT in relation to the fees of Sheriffs and other officers.

SECTION 1. Be it enacted, &c. That any sheriff, deputy sheriff, constable, or other officer, shall be allowed, for actual travel to serve any writ, subpœna, process or execution, to be reckoned from the place of service to the residence of the officer, in no case exceeding fifty miles, each mile, each way, the sum of three cents.

TUESDAY, AUGUST 14, 1855.

FOOD AND PRICES.

The Boston Courier of Monday says:

Householders are continually complaining of the enormous prices at which every article of consumption is held at the present time. Though the season has been favorable and the yield prolific, and everything which has been planted by the gardner for the supply of the city market has been reproduced to the full extent of his most sanguine wishes, still vegetables and everything which compose the trade of the green grocer are as high as if the seven years of famine among the Egyptians had been repeated in our day. The most infamous system of forestalling and monopolizing exists in the metropolitan provision markets of the United States, that could possibly be conceived of by greediness and rapacity. Berries which are five cents a quart forty miles from Boston, are fourteen cents a quart here. The amateur farmers in our vicinity, who raise more vegetables than they require for their family use, can get so offer for them which is not two or three hundred per cent. less than the same articles are selling in the markets and provision shops of Boston, and a large amount is consumed by swine. We do not know that there is any cure for this system, or whether the people can be saved from the obligation to pay famine prices for everything which they eat, in the midst of a year of plenty; but if some real philanthropists could take hold of the matter, and probe it to its bottom, they would perform as great a benefit to their race as though they had settled a brigade of free men in Kansas, or established a colony of Christians in the Tonga Islands.

When Boston abolishes her great market monopoly, it will be better for that city;—and smaller cities had better not go into a similar folly.

It is better and cheaper, everywhere, to buy of first hands, if possible. But if we go to the grocer, or to the forestaller, for our fruits, we must expect to pay him a profit. He cannot keep horses and men to deliver goods at our doors, unless he makes a large profit; and he will certainly see to it that we pay enough.

The Charlestown Advertiser says:

They have established a Flour and Grain League in Lynn. They will go West and make their purchases, and thus obtain their grain at cost—more than fifty per cent. less than the present rates in this vicinity. A good thing this, and if all the principal towns and cities in the Eastern states would adopt the same plan, we should hear and know no more of high prices and impositions. A combined step of this kind would improve the "wheat crop" mightily.

If the crops elsewhere are anything like what we see in this neighborhood, no scarcity is to be apprehended, and prices cannot be kept up without some jaggle hitherto unknown.

AN OLD SERMON.

On Sunday last, in the First Universalist Church in Boston, Rev. Sebastian Streeter, the senior pastor, familiarly and affectionately for many years called "Father Streeter," preached a sermon which was delivered from his own lips just half a century ago. The circumstance and occasion attracted a large congregation. Previous to commencing his discourse, the Rev. gentleman referred to circumstances connected with the same.

It appears that it was originally delivered on the second Sunday in August, 1805, at Richmond, N. H., the village in which the Rev. Hosea Ballou was born and brought up. Mr. Streeter, as he related from the pulpit, employed his early life as a school-master, with a view to procure means to study the profession of law. In time, however, the "spirit of preaching" came over him. Shortly after this it came out among the neighbors that he had determined to become a preacher. It made no little sensation; and the announcement that he would preach, drew together a large and motley congregation. To use his own words, "There were all sorts of people to hear me." He used no notes, for in those days Universalists did not write their sermons. Subsequently the remarks were written out, and as such now read from. Mr. Streeter here held up the ancient manuscript, which he said had not been altered during the whole intervening time. Twenty-five years ago he preached it in the "old church," and had then told his people if he lived another quarter of a century, (which he did not expect,) he would repeat it. He was present to fulfil that promise, and it might be the last time they would ever listen to his voice from the pulpit. He announced his text, Romans viii: 20th and 21st verses:—"Because the creature itself also shall be delivered from the bondage of corruption, into the glorious liberty of the children of God. For we know that the whole creation groaneth and travaileth in pain together until now." He dwelt sometime on the word "creature" in the text, which he summed up to be "all human kind." In closing his sermon, the venerable preacher touchingly referred to an earnest desire to leave behind him a good reputation for his children and his old friends who had clung about him so long; and with tears in his eyes, tremulous with emotion, and a voice almost suppressed, he exhorted those around him to faithfully advance the cause of Humanity and Christianity.

☞ It appears, from the papers, that Dr. Morrill, treasurer of the Concord Savings Bank, left the key of the safe in the lock, when he went to dinner. The robbers only had to break open the outer door, and then all was easy.

FLOUR was selling at $7 in Cincinnati on Monday last, and dull at that.

A MELANCHOLY VIEW.—We find in one of our Southern contemporaries—the Charleston Mercury—a paragraph which we should think likely to excite a good deal of reflection in that quarter:

"The present condition of China is a melancholy demonstration of what conservatism may do for a family. The lowest rung on the social ladder is occupied by the oldest living nation—a nation which claims to be the only civilized. The poorer classes in the neighborhood of Hong Kong are selling their children for twenty-four cents each. This price applies to girls from seven to ten years of age, and the purchaser must take them at once and support them. They are chiefly employed as servants. Older girls bring more, or, to speak commercially, "we quote girls from seven to ten at twenty-five cents, ten to fifteen years, one dollar. Fifteen to twenty years are more in demand, and cannot be had under seventy to one hundred dollars."

But why is this called a melancholy demonstration? It cannot be because children are sold in China, inasmuch as that takes place every day under the eyes of the Mercury, without awakening any particular compassion. We can only suppose, therefore, that the sad part of the story lies in the fact that they are held at so cheap a rate. In South Carolina itself, where the "conservatism" is quite as intense as it is in China, and where, if we may believe the late arguments of the Charleston Standard, going to show that slavery is an advance upon all previous condition of society, the people are "the only civilized" the market price of children, and especially of girls of fifteen to twenty years of age, is several hundred per cent. higher. How saddening to think of the depression of the commodity on the other side of the globe.

We can fancy the distress of mind on the part of the South Carolina dealer to proceed from two causes, either a regret that the Chinese market, at its present low quotations, is not open to him, or an apprehension that a similar decline may some day fall upon his own home trade. "Bless me!" says one country nabob, as his eye runs indolently over his city journal, "children going at only twenty-five cents apiece! Why here am I paying as many dollars every day for little black pickaninnies, who are not, I warrant it, worth a single copper more than the swathy little Chinese. Why was the slave trade abolished?"

Or, another gentleman of the same class might say, "Heaven forefend! If human beings have got to such a price in China, how long will it be before negroes depreciate?—What an awful thing for the country if the primest girls would fetch a hundred dollars instead of a thousand, at which they are quoted in Richmond and New Orleans? We shudder at the thought of the consequences!"

In every aspect, then, the paragraph of the Mercury is indeed "melancholy," and we advise it to publish no more such, in the present exciteable condition of the southern mind.

A DEPLORABLE STATE OF AFFAIRS.—A child of an Irishman, named Patrick McClynn, died in Boston on Wednesday, and remained unburied until Friday evening, when decomposition had commenced. Coroner Smith was notified, and the body was removed. Upon entering the room where the dead child lay, both parents were found dead drunk. McGlynn resided in Prince street, and he and his wife were carried off by the officers, to be placed in the House of Industry, we presume.

We suppose it might be held quite unconstitutional to cut off Patrick's supplies. Isn't this a free country?

☞ A SMART OLD MAN.—Mr. Peter Judkins of Palmyra, formerly of Brentwood, N. H., who is now eighty four years of age, is a good specimen of Yankee vigor and enterprise. Last year he made churns and sold them, for the purpose of getting surplus money in order to allow of his making a journey to Wisconsin. He made the journey, and while in Wisconsin set the glass for a large block of buildings, occupying nearly the whole winter in the work. He has returned to his home in Palmyra, is in good health and spirits, and more than ever pleased with his home in the beautiful State of Maine.—Bangor Whig.

CLERGYMEN ROBBED.—Rev. E. H. Chapin recently had his spectacles stolen while he was submitting to the operation of shaving, in a barber's shop, on Broadway, New York.

Rev. Albert Case, of Hingham, had a gold watch and chain, a pair of spectacles, and two razors, stolen from his dwelling on Thursday night last.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17th.—Alabama Election.—A despatch from Alabama says that Winston, Democrat, is re-elected Governor by an immense majority; that the Legislature will be largely democratic; and that six Democrats and one Know Nothing are elected to Congress.

A German on Monday performed the feat of drinking sixty pints of lager bier successfully in Jersey City, for a wager. The Sentinel thinks the proprietor of a saloon who would tolerate such a beastly exhibition should be arrested for cruelty to animals.

The apple crop now maturing promises to be very abundant. In Western New York farmers have been obliged to prop up the limbs of trees, on account of the quantity of fruit; and it is stated that on the Western Reserve, Ohio, farmers have made contracts to sell them on the trees, the buyers to pick them, at six to ten cents a bushel.

Gerritt Smith, though he couldn't keep awake in Congress, is wide awake to the wants of the people. During the last four years, he has given away $755,000; and when he dies, he will leave the bulk of his fortune to found a seminary for youth.

MANUMISSION OF SLAVES.—A gentleman of Tennessee, Mr. Nathaniel Haggott, arrived in this city yesterday, with nine slaves, whom he caused to be manumitted, having deeds drawn up for that purpose before one of our courts.—Cincinnati Gazette, Aug. 7.

LOCAL.

☞ Rev. Henry D. Moore, late pastor of the North Church in this city, goes to Portland, as the pastor of a new church and congregation, now gathering under his ministry. He ministered at the Temple in this city on Sunday last, to his late flock, with a goodly sprinkling of outsiders. On the morning of that day, he preached an admirable sermon on the Resurrection of the Body, incorruptible. He leaves many friends here, who will rejoice at his prosperity elsewhere.

☞ The Methodist Society will hold a Pic Nic in a beautiful grove near New Market Junction, on Wednesday. Cars will leave the depot, foot of Deer street at 10 o'clock. Tickets may be had at the stores of J. H. Bailey and R. K. Oxford.

☞ His Excellency Gov. Metcalf, is expected to visit our city to-day.

MDLLE. VIRGINIA WHITING, the American prima donna, has secured a profitable engagement in Europe.

She is a daughter of Maj. Whiting, formerly of the U. S. Army. Her mother was a fine singer and player on the organ and piano, a native of New Castle, N. H. Maj. W. was impoverished by the failure of the U. S. Bank; hence the professional life of the daughter.

A trim looking Yacht, appropriately named the Sea Ranger, arrived in Portland harbor Sunday afternoon, from Portsmouth via Newburyport. She is on a pleasure excursion, intending to cruise among the Islands of Casco and Penobscot Bays, and will proceed as far east as Bangor. She is an interesting specimen to those fond of "yotting."—State of Maine.

WHAT IS AN ORIGINAL PACKAGE.—The recent opinions and decisions relative to the right of importers to sell liquors in the original package, under the Prohibitory Law, lead very naturally to this inquiry. The law of March 9, 1799, organizing our Custom System, contains the following provisions, which have never, that we are aware, been set aside, except for three years in the case of brandy, some thirty years ago:

SECT. 103. Be it further enacted, that no Beer, Ale or Porter shall be brought into the United States by sea, or from any foreign port or place, except in casks or vessels, the capacity whereof shall not be less than forty gallons beer measure, or in packages containing not less than six dozen bottles, on pain of forfeiture of the said beer, ale or porter, nor shall any distilled spirits, arrack and sweet cordials excepted, be imported or brought into the United States, except of the capacity of ninety gallons, wine measure, and upwards, on pain of forfeiture of said distilled spirits, imported contrary to the provisions herein described, together with the ship or vessel in which they shall be so imported.

Or presented in a tabular form, these definitions of original packages stand thus:

Arrack,	Any amount.
Ale, casks,	40 gallons.
Ale, bottles,	6 dozen.
Beer, casks,	40 gallons.
Beer, bottles,	6 dozen.
Cordials,	Any amount.
Porter, casks,	40 gallons.
Porter, bottles,	6 dozen.
Spirits, including Alcohol, Brandy, Gin, Rum, Whiskey, &c.,	90 gallons.
Wines,	Any amount.

AN UNFORTUNATE HORSE AND BIG RATTLESNAKES.—A week ago last Sunday, Mr. S. G. Bean, of North Andover, Mass., let a horse and buggy to a person, who afterwards got beastly drunk, and in consequence he and the other animal dissolved partnership. The buggy has not yet been found, but the horse, after a diligent search, was found in the woods, entangled and fastened firmly to the limbs of a tree by a portion of the harness. The animal was nearly dead for want of food and water, having been in that position for five days. He had eaten every green thing within his reach, and had actually partaken of a part of his harness for food. He was barely able to walk home. Two boys in company with Mr. Bean during the search, discovered and killed near the horse, two rattlesnakes, each 3 feet and 6 inches in length. They both had 8 rattles, which would indicate that they were 11 years old.—Boston Times.

BALTIMORE, Aug. 12.—Both at Portsmouth and Norfolk, the people are still flying in every direction.—At the latter place the fever was increasing, and Barry's Row there had been burned down. The hotels at Richmond are overrun.

Mr. Geo. Eastman was killed by lightning in Sunapee, N. H., on the 4th of August.—He was in his house when the fluid came down the chimney, and he received the shock. All efforts to resuscitate him failed.

The U. S. sloop of war Preble, Captain Green, arrived in Portland harbor Saturday night, on her cruise along the coast, having on board a large number of midshipmen from the Naval School at Annapolis.—State of Maine.

They are having a millenium of provisions in Ohio. Butter from 10 to 13 cts. per lb.; cheese from 6 to 8 cts. per lb.; and eggs from 8 to 10 cts. per dozen.

Niepcotypes on Glass, and Photographs on Paper.
MR. SALEN wishes to inform the citizens of Portsmouth and vicinity, that he has procured the Art to take Likenesses on GLASS and PAPER. The now so much admired Photograph, taken on paper, excels by far the Daguerreotype on a metallic plate.
These pictures are durable; are not reversed; have not the blending of a Daguerreotype, and excel in softness of light and shade the finest engraving. They are finished on beautiful French cartons put up in frames, and therefore are particularly adapted for parlor pictures. They can also be secured and sent in a letter to a distant friend.
Taken at SALEN'S Daguerrean Gallery, at all prices and sizes, on reasonable terms.
Please call and examine specimens. a4

THE REVOLUTION IN MEXICO.—New York, Aug. 12th.—This morning's Herald says—General Wheat, a passenger by yesterdays' steamer, from the Isthmus, reports that the insurgents in Mexico were carrying every thing before them. The General has filled a station of responsibility in the revolutionary party, and his testimony is of now and convincing weight. According to his accounts, the reports we have received of the successes of the insurgents in the North have been rather less than beyond the truth. The whole of the Northern States have fallen into their hands, and in all the country north of the mountains, Santa Anna has not a single adherent. From the north they have spread to the West, and overrun Zacatecas and Guanaxuato, as well as Jalisco and Michoacan.—The roads through these states are so completely under their control that the news of the capture of Monterey by the insurgents of the North was brought straight through to Acapulco by a courier in the ordinary course of post. The only places that still hold out for Santa Anna are the capital, and a few towns in the Eastern and Southern states.—It is said that the intention of the new party in Mexico is to choose for President, Cevallos, formerly Chief Justice, who is now an exile in France.

THE MISSING SHIP, MANCHESTER.—New York, 11th.—The ship Manchester, Capt. Coffin, (of Nantucket,) from New York, April 7th, 1854, for Valparaiso, before reported as a missing vessel, struck a sunken rock on August 28th, in about lat. 55 S., to the westward of Cape Horn, drifted until the 29th, when she grounded at 5 A. M., on a small island, and opened in two parts.

The captain and his son reached the island, where they were afterwards joined by the mate and one seaman. The second mate died on the third of November, and on the 19th of the same month they were visited by Indians, who murdered the captain. The seaman and the boy escaped in a boat that had been constructed by the captain, but finally gave themselves up to the Indians, who treated them well, until rescued by the Chilian war vessel, Meteoro, in Fortescue Bay, Straits of Magellan, on May 25th, which landed them at Valparaiso.

THE SUICIDE OF MISS BAGLEY AT ROCHESTER.—Some of the facts in the history of the deceased young woman were learned by the coroner, from which it appears that she was the subject of domestic infelicities, to some extent, and had besides to endure the pain of a ruptured matrimonial engagement, followed by unkind remarks concerning her character. Her conduct is represented as that of a light hearted and happy girl, but perfectly chaste and above the slightest suspicion. The man to whom she had been affianced has recently married, and the female friend who had been her chief confident and adviser, having censured her for dismissing her lover, she became utterly discouraged, and resolved on putting an end to her existence, in which so many bitternesses mingled. This seems to be the story which has so sad an ending.—Rochester (N. Y.) Democrat.

DESTRUCTIVE FIRE AT STAMFORD, CT.—About one o'clock on Wednesday morning the 18th inst., a fire broke out in a large factory in Stamford, Ct., belonging to the Stamford Manufacturing Company. Two sets of hands were employed in the factory, working night and day. The hands were all at work when the fire was discovered; but, although two force pumps and other apparatus were attached to the premises, the people did not promptly put them intuse, and the consequeuce was that the flames soon became irresistible. The building and contents were almost destroyed. Insurance $37,500, mostly at New York.

THE CAPE COD TELEGRAPH.—The Boston and Cape Cod Telegraph Company have decided to extend their wires, by a strong sub marine cable, of the same size as that now being laid down between Newfoundland and Nova Scotia, to Holmes's Hole, Martha's Vineyard, Edgartown and Nantucket; and we learn that contracts have been made binding the company to have the line completed on the 1st of November. The proposed line will prove of great value to the shipping interest, as it will place the important points named in constant communication with this city at all seasons of the year.

The Milwaukie American learns that Debar, who was hung by the mob, confessed his guilt on the way to West Bend, and assigned as a reason, an old grudge, running back to the last election. He said that he sharpened his knife and went to Meyer's house, with the cool and deliberate determination of killing him; but after he got there, he turned to go away, but finally went in and committed the deed. He said he expected to be hung by the people, and that he supposed he deserved to be hanged.

A LARGE MAIL.—The largest mail ever received at the Boston Post Office, was that which arrived on Friday evening from New York and the South. It weighed fourteen and a half tons, and required an extra baggage car for its conveyance. It was taken from the Worcester depot to the office in six wagon loads! About one-third as much more of the same mail was left over in New York from an impossibility to furnish means for its transport in that train. A large proportion of this matter was Congressional and Department documents.—Times.

Henry Lewis, widower, in New York, on the 6th inst. was joined in the bonds of matrimony with Miss Mary Jane Davis. He took his bride up to the Metropolitan Hotel, where he possessed himself of her watch and money, and then vanished, nor has he since been heard from. He has a large nose, and wears gold studs.

Yacht Sea Ranger,
FOR THE SHOALS AND A MARKET.

CAPT. JAMES W. GOODWIN respectfully gives notice to the pleasure seeking public that he has purchased for their accommodation the present season, the safe, commodious and fast-sailing Yacht SEA RANGER, 45 tons burthen, with which he is now prepared to convey parties to the Shoals, Boar's Head and other places in the vicinity; and having furnished with all the necessary materials, will accommodate Fishing Parties on reasonable terms.
The SEA RANGER will outsail any vessel on the Piscataqua or of any neighboring ports, in light or heavy winds; is fitted with excellent berths; is well supplied with sails, boats, fishing and cooking apparatus, and is in every respect the best vessel for the accommodation of parties who desire a few days enjoyment on the briny ocean that ever hailed from this port.
The SEA RANGER will make occasional trips to the SHOALS for the accommodation of such persons as desire safe conveyance thither; and when the bosom of old ocean is too much agitated for the steamer GRACE DARLING, alias Silver Star, to venture forth, the Yacht will bear passengers safely o'er the bounding billow.
The commander of the Sea Ranger confidently appeals to those who have in past seasons patronized the SPY under his command, for the continuance of their patronage to the present Yacht, pledging himself to use every exertion to give them and all new patrons entire satisfaction.
For further particulars apply to JACOB WALDRON, No. 3 Water street, or to the Master on board, at Pier Wharf, foot of State street.
jy4 JAMES W. GOODWIN.

A Word to Persons in Delicate Health
DR. HOLMAN'S BITTERS,
Compounded from the Original Recipe of
DR. CHARLES HOLMAN.

THESE well known and much used BITTERS are composed of Roots and Herbs, such as Sarsaparilla, Pyrola, Yellow Dock, Dandelion, Wild Cherry, Prickly Ash, &c. highly prized for their
HEALING, STRENGTHENING AND RENOVATING PROPERTIES.
They are warranted to be unsurpassed in the cure of Liver Complaint, Jaundice, Headache, Loss of Appetite, Coldness and Weakness of the Stomach.
They are remarkable for giving a tone to the Digestive Organs, assisting Nature and preventing the various Bowel Complaints, so frequent and so dangerous during Summer and Autumn.
No Family should be without them.
Price 25 cents for a single Bottle, or five bottles for one dollar Quite the cheapest as well as the Best Medicine that can be used.
Dr. J. P. HOLMAN, Proprietor, Boston, Mass.

DEAD SHOT FOR BED BUGS.

A SURE death to these noxious disturbers of our nightly rest. Apply it to insects and it cuts them up and lays them out as readily as Sulphur fumes kills Bees.
It has no equal in the market. The whole world cannot produce a substitute of similar value to the comfort of a neat tidy housewife. Its application is of little trouble, while the benefit which may be derived from a single night's undisturbed repose is incalculable.
SANCHO PANZA
Called down "blessings upon the head of the man who first invented sleep." Much more worthy such honorable distinction would he consider the inventor of the Dead Shot, who, by his Pungent and Deadly Preparation, has rendered utterly impossible the ancient bloody forays of such 'tolerable and free' to be endured' tormentors; and who has enabled every one to guarantee to himself his own particular share of "tired Nature's sweet restorer."

REMOVAL.
Dr. Turnbull, Oculist & Aurist,

[FROM LONDON.]

Has arrived at the

WINTHROP HOUSE, BOSTON.

Office Hours from 9 A. M. to 2 P. M

From the London Times.

A number of scientific gentlemen assembled at the house of Dr. Turnbull, to witness the results produced by a process recently discovered by the Doctor, and applied for the cure of deafness and blindness.

Between twenty and thirty patients attended, many of whom it was stated by their parents, had been born deaf and dumb. They were submitted to various tests, by which it was proved that their deafness had been cured by the application of Dr. Turnbull's remedies; and what appears most singular is, that whether the disease depended on paralysis of the auditory nerve, rupture of the tympanum, or obstruction of the internal passages, relief has been obtained, or complete cure effected without delay, pain or inconvenience. Several patients, who represented that they had been completely blind, said that they could now see perfectly well. July16 3w

DR. J. W. POLAND'S HEADACHE KILLER!

DR. J. W. POLAND

Goffstown Centre, N. H.

THIS Wonderful Medicine for the Sick and Nervous HEADACHE, as well as for Tic Doloreux, Neuralgia and all forms of Nervous Diseases, after an impartial trial of more than six years, has established its reputation as a standard Remedy. Other Headache Nostrums have "waxed and waned" since this was introduced to the public, but the Genuine DR. POLAND'S HEADACHE KILLER has been, and is now increasing in sales every month.

Within three months, more than seven tons in weight of the Headache Killer have been sent over the Railroads to fill orders for it.

Please to read the Circular, which the Agents have, and you will get the history of the Medicine.

HAYES'S MEDICINES.

Alled Ointment and Humor Syrup

will cure you just as sure as you use it. Take not our assertion for it, but the testimony of a thousand living witnesses. All it wants is a trial—it advertises itself. One bottle has sold a hundred in a single town. Reader, do you ask how you shall know these statements are facts, when there is so much humbuggery advertising? Simply, it will inform you: call on any of our agents, get a circular, select any name you please, address a line to that individual—they will speak—they are living witnesses. It will cost but a trifle, and must convince the most skeptical. We subjoin one from among the many:

Read the following, it speaks for itself:

LAWRENCE, June 12, 1854.

We the undersigned, citizens of Lawrence, having used the Vegetable Allied Ointment prepared by E. D. HAYES, of this city, and being personally acquainted with the Doctor, feel pleasure in adding our testimony to all the doctor claims for his medicine. Unlike other remedies in the market, this preparation performs its cures speedily and with certainty. The Ointment we have used with the most happy results, after vainly seeking relief by the free use of Sarsaparilla, Salves, &c.

Our experience fully justifies us in confidently recommending it as the best article, and the only one known to us, as performing all it claims.

A. S. BUNKER, A. W. STEARNS,
S. I. THOMPSON, ASA T. SANBORN.

It cures Salt Rheum, Scrofula, Erysipelas, White Leprosy, Cancerous Humors, Ring Worm, Scald Head, Burns and Scalds, Chilblains, Piles, (a preparation expressly.) Barber's Itch, Fever Sores, and all old Mercurial Sores, however long standing. It removes all those vexatious Pimples, Eruptions and Moth or Mildew from the face, leaving the skin perfectly soft and smooth, adding greatly to the beauty of the complexion. In no case will it leave a mark or scar. It improves the sight wonderfully, where the eyes are troubled with humors, by removing the difficulty and restoring the sight.

Price of the Ointment, $1; Syrup 50 cents.

PIANOS.

HALLETT, DAVIS & CO.

MANUFACTURERS of GRAND AND SQUARE

PIANO-FORTES.

WAREROOMS,

NEW FREESTONE BLOCK,

No. 409 WASHINGTON STREET,

NEAR BOYLSTON STREET.....BOSTON.

Opinions of the Press.

It is now generally acknowledged that the Pianos manufactured by Hallet, Davis & Co. are unrivalled in America, if not in the world, for brilliancy or purity of tone.—Boston Daily Times.

An immense volume of sound can be produced by these Pianos without shattering the tones, as they send forth the most perfect, bell like notes, and we must confess that we have never listened to their equals for power, brilliancy, sweetness of tone, and purity of action.—Boston Post.

The Pianos of Hallet, Davis & Co. deserve more than a passing notice. They are truly splendid instruments, very powerful, and of the purest and richest quality of tone.—Boston Traveller.

In regard to purity of tone, power and sweetness, being fully equal to any instrument that has come under our observation.—Boston Courier.

Owing to the beautiful elasticity of the action of your Grand Piano Fortes, I think it would be impossible for any Pianist, who plays properly, to break either a string or a hammer.—Extract from a Letter from Wm. Mason.

The peculiar feature of Hallet, Davis & Co.'s instruments is, they make no noise. Nothing but pure tone is produced by the vibration of the strings; and the construction of the sounding board, and action are such that skillful pianists, after once testing their merits, dislike to use any other instrument in the Concert room.—Philadelphia Sunday Mercury.

I find them to be very superior instruments—as well in tone as in touch.—Extract of a Letter from L. M. Gottschalk.

I can unhesitatingly say that I find them superior in quality and quantity of tone, to those of other makers; also in the elasticity and easy touch; and can cheerfully recommend them to any one who wishes to own or play on the best Pianos.—Extract of a letter from Robert Heller.

THE STATE FAIR.

REGULATIONS AND REMARKS.

The Sixth Annual Fair and Exhibition of the New Hampshire State Agricultural Society, will be held on the 12th, 13th and 14th of September, in the city of Manchester, on the ground occupied in 1851 and 1853.

The ground will be substantially enclosed, and furnished with water, tents, stalls, and all other necessary fixtures for the accommodation of exhibitors and visitors. Entries will be received by the Secretary, on Tuesday preceding the fair and until 12 o'clock on Wednesday. If persons wish to make entries in advance, they can do so by applying to the Secretary, in season for him to make out a ticket and forward it by mail before the Fair; otherwise it is better to make the entry on the day preceding the Exhibition.

A meeting of the Executive Board will be held on Tuesday evening. The Judges will meet at 1 o'clock on Wednesday, at the platform on the show ground, when the list will be called, and the places of those who are absent will be filled. At 3 o'clock the entry books will be delivered to the judges who will proceed at once to the performance of their duty.

All persons who pay $1, become members of the Society, are entitled to make entries for the show, and will be furnished with badges, which will admit a member with his wife and children, under 16 years of age, during the Fair. Those who do not purchase badges will be required to pay 12 1-2 cents for each admission. Tickets to be obtained at the Business Office. Carriages will be allowed to enter the enclosure, provided each passenger is furnished with the requisite badge or ticket,—coaches for $1, two horse carriages 50 cents, single teams 25 cents, for each admission, to be paid at the entrance.

Arrangements will be made with Railroads to carry according to the custom of former years, and also to sell through tickets from various sections of the State, and back.

The hotels are in a condition to entertain a great number of people, and citizens generally will open their dwellings to the public on reasonable terms. Cars will run every evening to Concord and to Nashua and Lawrence, and return in the morning.

The annual address will be delivered by Hon. C. B. Haddock, late charge d'affaires to Portugal.

Hon. John M. Botts of Virginia, has accepted an invitation to be present, and it is hoped that Mr. Cass and other distinguished men will also be present.

The Manchester Cornet Band have been engaged for the occasion, and it is expected that other music will be present.

Exhibitors must attend to the delivery of their articles at their own expense. Wagons will be in readiness at the station, to convey articles to the ground, at reasonable prices. The Society cannot be subjected to the expense of transportation.

The Managers will take every precaution in their power, for the safety and preservation of whatever is on exhibition, but will not be responsible for loss or damage that may be sustained by any exhibitor.

Hay, grain and straw will be furnished for stock. All animals from other States will be kept without expense to the exhibitor, and may receive any awards the Judges may deem advisable, except cash.

All persons, whether residing in the State or not, possessing works of art, curiosities, fancy or useful articles not included in the general list, are invited to present them for exhibition.

Any animals deemed unworthy of exhibition may be excluded by the Executive Committee, though they may have been regularly entered. No horses shall be exercised on the course except at such time as the Judges may desire and the managers may approve.

It is required that all stock presented be owned in the State at least six months prior to the Fair, in order to compete for premiums; and that manufactured articles be made in the State.

No article or animal can be removed from the ground before the close of the Fair, without the written permission of the President.

When there is no competition, the exhibitor may receive such award as the Judges may determine, but shall not receive all the premiums offered in that class.

When any individual draws more than one volume of the Transactions, he may receive one copy of either of the former volumes if he prefers.

The officers desire to express their obligations to gentlemen connected with the newspaper press, and invite them to report themselves to the Secretary, on their arrival at Manchester. They will be furnished with free tickets and such other accommodations as the managers can command.

Diplomas and Transactions awarded will be delivered after the announcement of the awards, from the Stand. Money premiums will be paid at any time after the 1st of October, and Medals will be delivered as soon as they can be made.

Meetings of the Society for discussions and the transaction of business, will be held each evening.

On Friday morning such animals as have received an award or commendation from the Judges, will be offered for sale, if the owners desire, subject to such rules as the managers may adopt. JAMES O. ADAMS, Secretary.

Morning Chronicle.

WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 15, 1855.

THE WRECK OF THE MANCHESTER.—We have already published a brief account of the wreck, and total loss of ship Manchester, of Nantucket, off Cape Horn. Further particulars have now come to hand. The vessel, which had on board a crew of 19 and the captain's wife, struck on a sunken rock in Lat. 55 S., the land being distant about 30 miles. The boats were got out but stove.

"At 10 o'clock the same night she was full of water, but continued to drift until 5 in the morning of the 26th, when after passing a small island, she grounded, and in less than 20 minutes opened in two parts, and all on board were immersed in the water. The captain and his wife clung together but by some chance they became separated, and the captain alone arose to the surface; he immediately seized upon a plank, and succeeded in rescuing his son, on which they drifted to the stern of the vessel where they remained until sunset, having concluded that they were the only survivors of the ill-fated ship. They then managed to get ashore on the island, where they found one barrel of bread and another of flour.

"Four days after, the second mate and one seaman arrived on the island on a raft, constructed on another island on which they were cast, distant about two and a half miles. Here the Captain had a boat built, and the second mate died of exhaustion. Some of the natives made their appearance.

"The Indians having at first received what could be spared to them of their clothes, &c., retired, and afterwards returned with bludgeons and insisted upon stripping them.—Three attacked the captain, and three the seaman, who, having disabled two of them, fled to the boat in which the boy already was.—Unfortunately the captain received a blow which must have instantly killed him. The boy received two arrows in his jacket, but escaped unhurt. Not daring to remain they took two barrels of bread and jumped to the wreck. After remaining for some days—indeed several days—we ventured along the coast in our boat. At the end of about six weeks, we found the provisions all expended, and subsisted on such shell fish as we could gather amongst the rocks. After subsisting some time in this way, a native canoe again hove in sight; being then quite destitute of any subsistence, for a month at least, except raw shell fish, we gave ourselves up to the Indians, and having nothing to excite their cupidity, they behaved very kindly."

The two thus saved were Thos. Edw. Coffin, captain's son, and Rob't Wells, seaman, of Boston. They were taken off by the Meteoro, literally as naked as the Indians themselves.—Only two saved out of twenty.

ATTEMPT AT HIGHWAY ROBBERY.—Dr. J. A. Tebbets, of Manchester, N. H., was attacked by two men on Thursday night, while riding through the woods about three miles from that city. The Doctor administered a good dose of whip-handle to the robbers, by the aid of which, and the speed of his horse, he escaped.

We copy the following from the Manchester American:

While one of the men retained his hold of the horse, the other instantly stepped to the side of the carriage, seized the Doctor by the collar, presented a pistol, and demanded his money and his watch. (He had no money with him at the time, except a few dollars in change, but carried a large gold watch, with a massive chain, worth not far from $300.) The Doctor replied, "Very well, sir," and proceeded, as the robber supposed, to deliver up the watch. While taking it out, he managed to turn a heavy whip which he held in his hand so as to grasp it at the small end, without attracting the notice of the robber, it being very dark.

The Doctor simultaneously dropped the watch into the bottom of the wagon, struck the man having hold of his collar a tremendous blow across the face with the butt of his whip, and spoke to his horse. The horse sprang like lightning from the grasp of the man who held him, tearing the lapel of the rubber coat which the robber had hold of at least eighteen inches down at the side. Almost instantly two pistol shots were fired by the rascals, but without injuring either the horse or its owner. It may well be supposed that the drive home did not come within the pace sanctioned by law. A few moments after his escape, the Doctor bethought him of his watch, and found it in the back part of the wagon, safe and sound. The whip, which was nearly new, was broken by the force of the blow, and the Doctor, who is neither small nor weak, thinks that the robber must bear the mark of the stroke for some time to come.

THE INVENTOR, for September, 1855.—This is the first number of a new periodical, we were going to say Scientific—but on the whole it would be more accurate to call it Mechanical. The articles are generally short, and being well selected, they embody a great variety of valuable information.

The pamphlet contains 32 pages, neatly printed on good paper,—$1 per annum; 10 cts. single. Published by Quimby, Haskell & Co., New York. J. H. Foster, agent for this city.

EGGS OF BRANDY.—In an article which we copied on Monday, relative to Liquors imported in original packages, it appeared that Brandy could be imported only in casks containing not less than 90 gallons. This is an error. By a subsequent law, as we learn at the Custom House, foreign Brandies may

THE SNAKE CASE.—This famous case is on the tapis again. The unnatural father, we are glad to learn, is likely to get his desserts. The Grand Jury of the Municipal Court of Boston returned an indictment against Lyford C. Hill. It alleges that, on the 25th ult., "with force and arms, in and upon one Orlinda Hill, otherwise called Orlinda Evans, an infant of the age of six years, in the peace of the Commonwealth, then and there being, did make an assault, and her the said Orlinda, against her will and without her consent, and unlawfully, without any warrant, and without any justifiable cause whatever, did imprison, detain, and hold in duress, and did compel her, said Orlinda, against her will, to seize and take by the neck a certain snake, whereby the said Orlinda was by said snake greatly and dangerously bitten, and put in great fear, and whereby the health of said Orlinda was greatly injured."

Hill waived the reading of the indictment, and entered a plea of not guilty,—evidently glad to save his ears the sound of a most unwelcome but just message. The trial will probably take place some time this week.—Bee.

A DANGEROUS FALL.—Rev. Daniel A. Hearn, the Catholic priest, met with a severe and dangerous fall, while engaged in superintending the erection of the new Catholic church, in this town, on Saturday last. He had ascended into the tower of the building, by means of the tub or car used for raising the stone and mortar, when at the height of nearly fifty feet, the car in which he was standing parted from the rope, and he was precipitated to the floor of the church, with nothing to break his fall for the entire distance. It was at first supposed that he at first retained his hold upon the rope which was in his hands, and that the velocity of the fall was less on that account; but it was ascertained from the position of the pulleys by which he was raised, that such was not the case. The shock from such a fall was of course severe, and the injuries received are by no means slight. When we state that Father Hearn is a person weighing about 300 pounds, and also considerably advanced in years, his escape with life from his dangerous situation will be regarded as almost incredible. Strange to say, not a bone was broken, and he was able with but little assistance, to walk into his house. We have since learned from his medical attendant that he is apparently doing well.—Taunton Gazette, Aug. 13.

ATTEMPT TO DROWN A BOY.—Officers Huggins and Barney arrested Wm. Smith on Thursday for attempting to drown a boy named Micheal Bresnahan. Smith was intoxicated, and as he passed along the street some boys laughed at his ridiculous appearance, whereupon he seized the boy Bresnahan and took him to the foot of Malden street, near Harrison Avenue, and held him under water until he was nearly suffocated. Mr. Joseph Miller jr., who happened to be riding along the avenue went to the rescue of the boy, and also procured the arrest of Smith.—He declared that it was his intention to kill the boy, which would not be at all strange, as he has already been in the House of Correction five times for various misdemeanors.—In the Police Court Friday, Smith was held in $1000 for trial in the Municipal Court.—Transcript.

KANZAS.—The Washington Union of Saturday contains the official announcement of the appointment by the President, of Wilson Shannon, of Ohio, to be governor of the Territory of Kanzas, in the place of John L. Dawson, declined.

PORTLAND, Aug. 14th.—The Mass State Convention of the Republican Party is in session, divided into three monster meetings, so immense is the throng in attendance.

The convention proper was organized at Deering Hall, at 10 o'clock.

The City Hall is also crowded. Hon. J. P. Perry, of Paris, has made a speech, and Ex-Gov. Kent is now speaking.

Two or three thousand persons are assembled in front of the U. S. Hotel, listening to a characteristic speech from Hon. John P. Hale, who is speaking from the balcony.

It is estimated that there are between 10,000 and 12,000 persons in attendance upon the Convention. The greatest enthusiasm prevails.

It is announced that the three meetings will adjourn to meet at 2 1-2 o'clock, in Deering's Grove.

The names of the persons killed at Cincinnati by the falling of the heavy stone cornice of the Trust Company's Bank Building, were Hudson B. Curtis, Superintendent of the building; Robert Cameron, contractor; John T. Chambers, carpenter and master builder; Balser Walden, a proprietor of the steam saw mill at Fulton; Michael Donnehenn, James Gillan, and John Teinman. The cornice projected out four feet from the wall, and had no proper security to sustain it. It was one of the blunders which belong to modern architecture.

REMARKABLE LONGEVITY.—Micheal Maloy, a native of Ireland, died in this city last week at the remarkable age of 108 years.—He left the land of his birth about 30 years ago, and lived in New Brunswick until 1839, when he came to this city, where he has since continued to reside. Many of the Maloys have attained to a great age in Ireland. An uncle of him who has just died, lived until he was 120.—Providence Jour. of Aug. 13th.

CHICAGO, Aug. 13.—Judge Drummond in the U. S. District Court this morning, sentenced Dennison, the mail robber, to ten years' imprisonment in the county jail, the Penitentiary being in the southern judicial district, which was set off last Congress.

NORTH CAROLINA ELECTION.—Pervear, K. N., is elected to Congress in the sixth district, N. C., by a majority of 300, and Clingman, dem., in the eighth district, by 600 majority.

WOOL.—The bulk of Ohio wool clipped this season has been sold, and it is estimated that the wool growers of the State have realized $500,000 cash from this valuable raw

LOCAL.

OLD IRONSIDES.—The ship Constitution was sent by somebody to Portsmouth, and it is now said that she will be condemned as unseaworthy and not fit to repair. We don't believe she is unfit to repair, and have no confidence in a survey which shall come to such a result. Let her be sent to Boston, where she belongs. We have no doubt our mechanics will find a remedy for her complaint, and restore her to good health. At all events, if she must die and rot, let her do so decently at home.—Bunker Hill Aurora.

In Naval parlance, a vessel may be quite unseaworthy—and yet not be unfit to repair. We have a case in point. The U. S. ship Franklin came here from Boston a rotten, hogged hulk, not seaworthy by a long chalk. Yet she is being extensively repaired, and will come out by and by, as good as new, perhaps better.

The Constitution needs also extensive repairs, which can be done quite as well here as elsewhere.

We have heard no one here say she could not be repaired: on the contrary, our mechanics would be glad to take hold of the job, whenever the Navy Department shall order it commenced.

Be it ordained by the City Council of the city of Portsmouth—

Section 1. The Stewards of the several Fire Engine Companies shall receive for their services the sum of fourteen dollars per annum.

Section 2. This ordinance shall take effect from and after the 10th day of April, 1855, and all ordinances or parts of ordinances inconsistent with the provisions of this ordinance are hereby repealed.

Passed July 19, 1855.

No. 46.

AN ORDINANCE establishing the compensation for lighting the street lamps.

Be it ordained by the City Council of the city of Portsmouth—

Section 1. That the sum of three dollars and fifty cents each per annum be allowed in full for lighting the street lamps and cleaning the lanterns, the service to be performed under the direction and to the satisfaction of the Mayor.

Section 2. All ordinances or regulations in conflict with this ordinance are hereby repealed, and this ordinance shall take effect from its passage.

Passed Aug. 9, 1855.

MR. JEREMY DIDDLER.—Strong suspicions are entertained that this noted character has recently been in the city, and under the name of Alonzo L. Brown, champion card-writer, has practiced his swindling games upon several unsuspecting individuals, but fortunately not to any very large amount in any one case. This Brown is a young man of genteel and rather prepossessing external appearance, and stopping at one of our public houses, exhibited his samples of card-writing, and showed what he could do in the way of flourishes, &c., on the blank leaves of the Register. The result was, that Brown obtained several "jobs," and in some instances he obtained his pay, but those who parted with their cash are minus their cards.

Brown formed the acquaintance of one gentlemen, from whom he borrowed a valuable diamond pin for a day or two, but now several days have elapsed, and neither Brown nor the pin can be found; In company with the same gentleman, and on the same day that he obtained the pin, Brown purchased a coat, and remarking to the gentleman that he had accidentally left his cash at the house, requested him to advance the amount of the purchase, and he would refund the same on his return to the hotel. The gentleman readily acceded to the request, but has not seen any return for his "cash lent." Brown left his hotel without paying his bill. Several other instances of his Jeremy Diddler tricks have come to light, and hotel keepers who may be honored with the company of the "champion card-writer," will do well to take measures to obtain some sort of security for the payment of such bills as he may contract.

Measures have been taken to arrest Mr. Diddler Brown, and in case he is brought back to this city, he will doubtless meet with a warm reception from some of those who have been his victims. Pass him round.—Boston Jour.

The female elephant in the Regent's Park, in London, was frightened to death. The terrible storm of thunder and lightning of the 4th inst., filled her with terror, and although partially tranquillized by the keepers, the condition of the animal underwent a change.—She continued to droop, and died in a few days. She was a splendid beast, and weighed when in good condition 5525 pounds. The skin weighed 623 pounds, and the heart 25 pounds.

ST. JOHN AND ST. JOHNS.—A misapprehension exists in the minds of many persons with regard to the names of the two places.—"St. John," New Brunswick, and "St. Johns," New Foundland. The latter named place only has the addition of s, the former has not. This distinction is important, to avoid confusion.—Bee.

ENGLISH GIPSIES.—A party of twenty seven English Gipsies has arrived at New York—in three families. The names of the three men are Richard Reynolds, Frampton Youngs and England Youngs. They are all three married, and are accompanied by their wives and children, of whom the two former have six each. They intend to lead a roving life; and are supposed to be as honest as other gipsies.

BUFFALO, Aug. 13th.—At Niagara Falls yesterday, five men got into a skiff at the Suspension Bridge, but owing to some mismanagement were carried down the stream into the whirlpool, and all were drowned.—

LAGER BIER GUARDS.—A large company under the above name is being formed near Jersey City. The prizes are 50 be kegs of lager bier of various sizes, the bier to be drank before the return of the company from their shooting matches.

Niepcotypes on Glass, and Photographs on Paper.

MR. SALEN wishes to inform the citizens of Portsmouth and vicinity, that he has procured the Art to take Likenesses on GLASS and PAPER. The now so much admired Photograph, taken on paper, excels by far the Daguerreotype on a metallic plate

These pictures are durable; are not reversed; have not the blending of a Daguerreotype, and excel in softness of light and shade the finest engraving. They are finished on beautiful French cartons put up in frames, and therefore are particularly adapted for parlor pictures. They can also be secured and sent in a letter to a distant friend.

Taken at SALEN'S Daguerreian Gallery, at all prices and sizes, on reasonable terms.

THE ELECTIONS.—Kentucky.—Charles S. Morehead is elected Governor by seven or eight thousand majority. The worst thing that can be said against him politically, is that he was chosen on the know nothing ticket. He was formerly known as a whig. He succeeds Lazurus W. Powell, democrat, and his term of office is four years. A majority of the Legislature is of the same stamp.

Alabama.—John A. Winston, democrat, is doubtless re-elected Governor by about 5000 majority over Shortridge, know nothing.—His term of office is two years. The legislature is democratic. A U. S. Senator is to be elected.

Tennessee—The contest for the legislature is close.—Boston Adv.

FROM LOUISVILLE.—The Louisville Courier, of the 9th declares most solemnly, that the foreigners did not originate the riot. The Louisville Journal most solemnly declares they did, and fired upon the Americans, six of whom, it is certain, out of fourteen killed, were shot by the Germans and Irish. The Courier says, what we have no doubt is true, that,—

"Multitudes of half grown boys, rendered perfectly devilish with ungoverned passions and whiskey, filled the streets with yells and violence. They were armed with clubs, pistols or shot guns, and in almost every instance these precocious sprigs of wickedness commenced the work that brought violence."

The Courier, which seems to write in a bitter hatred of the Americans in Louisville, because the Editor was ejected from one of the Councils there, lays the wrong, the killing, whipping, and burning, to the Americans, —but in so doing contradicts its own statements over and over again. Every man of fairness must see and confess that there were great wrongs on both sides. The best information we get from the press and letters is that the first shot came from a foreigner, and that the first man killed was an American.—After that terrible excesses were committed, and terrible revenge had by the mob inflamed by the first act of murder.—New York Ex.

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 11th.—Cholera at Fort Leavenworth.—At Fort Leavenworth forty-six persons have died of cholera. Among the victims are Maj. Armstead and wife. Further accounts from Fort Riley confirm the death of Maj. Ogden of cholera; Maj. Woods, his wife, and four children, have also died of it. Doctor Simmons and the ladies of the Garrison have left. The Chaplain is the only officer now remaining there. The disease is of the very worst character and very fatal.—The workmen are endeavoring to get the public funds. Lecompte and party have left Fort Leavenworth for Fort Riley.

FROM PERU.—Several gold mining companies are in the course of organization.—One party has left for the mines, and the American Company was to leave in about a month. The government has issued orders to supply them with fire-arms, including two pieces of cannon, ammunition, provisions, mules, &c. The first million at dollars has been paid for the indemnity of slaves, and $400,000 of the debt of the late revolution, at from 93 to 99 3 4. The foreign holders of bonds refuse to make any arrangements with the government with a view of cancelling them, and leave them with their respective ministers. Commerce was at a stand still, and the masses turbulent.

ALBANY, Aug. 13th. — As the Express Train on the Boston Railroad was passing the depot at Chatham this afternoon, a Mr. D. Taft, of Charleston, S. C., and a person named Brecker, of Albany, were sitting with their arms out of the window, and the current of air raised by the passage of the train, blew open the side door of a freight car, standing in the depot, breaking the arm of Mr. Brecker, and cutting the left arm of Mr. Taft clean off between the shoulder and elbow, the part cut off falling on the track.

Mr. Taft is now at the Delavan House in this city.

CINCINNATI, August 13.—The Louisville Journal of this morning contains many affidavits as to the cause of the commencement of the riots in the eighth ward. Some of them by Irish Catholics in the vicinity, going to show that they, the Irish, were armed several days previous to the election.

BALTIMORE, August 13.—At Norfolk and Portsmouth, the yellow fever is increasing to an alarming extent. Several physicians have died of it. There have been twenty deaths in Norfolk since Saturday, and seven in Portsmouth. A number of cases have occurred at the Navy Yard, and on board the ship Pennsylvania.

The Portsmouth Almanac
AND
HAND BOOK,
FOR THE YEAR 1856.

THE subscriber will issue the first No. of this work the present fall, and designs publishing it annually should circumstances warrant it. It will contain besides the Almanac Calendar, embracing all usual calculations for this meridian, Official COUNTY and TOWN STATISTICS, Lists of COUNTY and TOWN OFFICERS, Justices of the Peace, Terms of the various Courts, and all necessary information to the public connected therewith. with Sketches of some of the principal Towns, which in time will embrace all the towns in the County, forming a more complete history than has yet been published.

The work will make a pamphlet of about 75 pages, a few of which will be devoted to business advertisements and professional Cards, which will be inserted on reasonable terms. Of the first edition we shall print from 2000 to 5000 copies.—Retail price 12½ cents. Dealers supplied at the usual discount.

APPLEDORE HOUSE.
ISLES OF SHOALS.

THIS House is now open for public accommodation. As everybody is, or ought to be, cognizant of the natural advantages of this purely OCEAN RETREAT, by the public will not be bored with real or imaginary descriptions. Suffice it to say that every facility for the promotion of the happiness and quiet enjoyment of visitors may be found here.

A STEAMER will make daily trips between the Islands and Portsmouth, accommodating itself to the arrival and departure of the several trains.
je16 2m THOMAS B. LAIGHTON.

PAVILION,
WOLFBOROUGH, N. H.

THE subscribers beg leave to inform their friends and the public that they have leased the above spacious Public House, which contains over one hundred well furnished rooms, which have been put in good order, for permanent and transient boarders. The House commands a good view of Lake Winnipiseogee, together with the beautiful hills which surround it, from one of which the prospect is said to excel that of Mount Washington—making many beautiful rides in the vicinity, on land as well as on the beautiful lake.

Good horses and carriages are connected with the house, and the beautiful steamboats "Lady of the Lake" and "Dover" make several trips each day up and down the lake. Gentlemen who delight in angling and gunning will find here ample fare for their favorite enjoyment. Meals at all hours, without extra charge, for sportsmen.—Good carriages and accommodating porters in attendance on the arrival of each boat.

NATH'L TEAD,
Wolfboro', June 27. R. W. ADAMS.

Steamboat Notice.

THE fine and commodious Steamboat SILVER STAR will run regularly every day from Portsmouth to Appledore Island, (Isles of Shoals.) in connection with the morning trains from the South, leaving Pier Wharf, Portsmouth, directly after the arrival of the Cars, and will return in season for the Evening Trains from Portsmouth.

The Boat is fitted with all the modern improvements for a Passenger Boat; and her double Engines are of the most approved pattern, and all her appointments are superior.

Towing done on reasonable terms. For particulars apply to the captain, or to Capt. Marshall at Pier wharf.

The Boat can be chartered for sea Parties, upon application to the captain on board, giving reasonable notice.
je23 THOMAS MAKINNEY, Captain.

Yacht Sea Ranger,
FOR THE SHOALS AND A MARKET.

CAPT. JAMES W. GOODWIN respectfully gives notice to the pleasure seeking public that he has purchased for their accommodation the present season, the safe, commodious and fast-sailing Yacht SEA RANGER, of 45 tons burthen, with which he is now prepared to convey parties to the Shoals, Boar's Head and other places in the vicinity; and having furnished her with all the necessary materials, will accommodate FISHING PARTIES on reasonable terms.

The SEA RANGER will outsail any vessel on the Piscataqua or of any neighboring ports, in light or heavy winds; is fitted with excellent berths; is well supplied with sails, boats, fishing and cooking apparatus, and is in every respect the best vessel for the accommodation of parties who desire a few days enjoyment on the briny ocean that ever was offered in this port.

The SEA RANGER will make occasional trips to the SHOALS for the accommodation of such persons as desire safe conveyance thither; and when the bosom of old ocean is too much agitated for the steamer GEORGE BURNHAM, alias Silver Star, to venture forth, the Yacht will bear passengers safely o'er the bounding billow.

The commander of the Sea Ranger confidently appeals to those who have in past seasons patronized the SPY yacht, for a continuance of the confidence and patronage for his new Yacht, pledging himself to use every exertion to give them and all new patrons entire satisfaction.

For further particulars apply to JACOB WALDEN, No. 3 Water street, or to the Master on board, at Pier Wharf, foot of State street.
jy4 JAMES W. GOODWIN.

For Boating Parties.

DEAD SHOT FOR BED BUGS.

A SURE death to these noxious disturbers of our nightly rest. Apply it to insects and it curls them up and lays them out as readily as Sulphur Fumes kills Bees.

It has no equal in the market. The whole world cannot produce a substitute of similar value to the comfort of a neat tidy housewife. Its application is of little trouble, while the benefit which may be derived from a single night's undisturbed repose is incalculable.

SANCHO PANZA

Called down "blessings upon the head of the man who first invented sleep." How much more worthy such honorable distinction would he consider the inventor of the Dead Shot, who, by his pungent and fatal preparation, has rendered utterly impossible the ancient bloody forays of such tolerable and not to be endured tormentors; and who has enabled every one to guarantee to himself his own particular share of "tired Nature's sweet restorer."

REMOVAL.
Dr. Turnbull, Oculist & Aurist,

(FROM LONDON,)
Has arrived at the
WINTHROP HOUSE, BOSTON.
Office Hours from 9 A. M. to 2 P. M

From the London Times.

A number of scientific gentlemen assembled at the house of Dr. Turnbull, to witness the results produced by a process recently discovered by the Doctor, and applied for the cure of deafness and blindness.

Between twenty and thirty patients attended, many of whom, it was stated by their parents, had been born deaf and dumb. They were submitted to various tests, by which it was proved that their deafness had been cured by the application of Dr. Turnbull's remedies; and what appears most singular is, that whether the disease depended on paralysis of the auditory nerve, rupture of the tympanum, or obstruction of the internal passages, relief had been obtained, or complete cure effected without delay, pain or inconvenience. Several patients, who represented that they had been completely blind, said that they could now see perfectly well. july16 3w

OFFICE OF THE MARYLAND CONSOLIDATED LOTTERIES,
Baltimore, Md., 20th June, 1855.

CAUTION.—LOTTERY FRAUDS.

THE Commissioner of the Maryland State Lotteries has deemed it his duty to caution the Public against the numerous Swindlers who circulate by mail and otherwise, fraudulent Lottery schemes, and pretend to be agents for the sale of tickets in Lotteries which are wholly fictitious.

The only legal Lotteries in Maryland are those drawn daily under the superintendence of the Commissioner chosen by the people of the State under the new Constitution to examine and approve the schemes and attend to the drawings.

All the tickets in these Lotteries, and all certificates of packages of tickets have the lithographed signature F. K. Bamitz, General Agent for the Contractor. Office of the Maryland Consolidated Lotteries, Baltimore, Md. All others are fraudulent. For full information on the subject of these frauds, address F. K. BREMAN,

Patents.
AMERICAN AND FOREIGN OFFICE.
Agency for business with U S Patent Office, Washington,
76 State st, oppo. Kilby st, Boston.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION TO INVENTORS. The Subscriber (late Assistant of the U. S. Patent Office, under the act of 1837) determined to present advantages, in applying for Patents, superior to those offered to inventors by others, has made arrangements whereby on applications prepared and conducted by him, THIRTY DOLLARS (instead of twenty, as paid back by others,) will be remitted by him in case of failure to obtain a patent, and the withdrawal through him within thirty days after the rejection. Caveats. Specifications, Assignments and all necessary papers and drawings, for procuring patents in this and foreign countries prepared, and advice rendered on legal and scientific matters respecting inventions, and infringement of patents.

Inventors can not only here obtain their specifications on the most reasonable terms, but can here avail themselves of the experience of 20 years' practice, an extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and correct accounts of patents granted in this and other countries; besides being saved a journey to Washington, the usual great delay there, as well as all personal trouble in obtaining their patents. Copies of claims of any patent furnished by remitting one dollar.—Assignments recorded at Washington.

R. H. EDDY,
Solicitor of Patents.

"During the time I occupied the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, did business at the Patent Office, as Solicitor of Patents. There were few, if any persons acting in that capacity, who had so much business before the Patent Office; and there were none who conducted it with more skill, fidelity, and success. I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the best informed and most skilful Patent Solicitors in the United States, and have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their application in a form to secure them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.

EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents."

PIANOS.
HALLETT, DAVIS & CO.
MANUFACTURERS of
GRAND AND SQUARE
PIANO-FORTES.

☞ Particular attention is solicited to our PATENT SUSPENSION BRIDGE—also our PATENT GRAND ACTION, as applied to both Grand and Square Pianos.

WAREROOMS,
NEW FREESTONE BLOCK,
No. 409 WASHINGTON STREET,
NEAR BOYLSTON STREET.....BOSTON.

Opinions of the Press.

It is now generally acknowledged that the Pianos manufactured by Hallet, Davis & Co. are unrivalled in America, if in the world, for brilliancy or purity of tone.—Boston Daily Times.

An immense volume of sound can be produced by these Pianos without shattering the tones, as they send forth the most perfect, bell like notes, and we must confess that we have never listened to their equals for power, brilliancy, sweetness of tone, and purity of action.—Boston Herald.

The Pianos of Hallet, Davis & Co. deserve more than a passing notice. They are truly splendid instruments, very powerful, and of the purest and richest quality of tone.—Boston Traveller.

In regard to purity of tone, power and sweetness, being fully equal to any instrument that has come under our observation.—Boston Courier.

Owing to the beautiful elasticity of the action of your Grand Piano Fortes, I think it would be impossible for any Pianist, who plays properly, to break either a string or a hammer.—Extract from a Letter from Wm. Mason.

The peculiar feature of Hallet, Davis & Co.'s instruments is, they make no noise. Nothing but pure tone is produced by the vibration of the strings; and the construction of the sounding board, and action are such that skilful pianists, after once testing their merits, dislike to use any other instrument in the Concert room.—Philadelphia Sunday Mercury.

I find them to be very superior instruments—as well in tone as in touch.—Extract of a Letter from L. M. Gottschalk.

I can unhesitatingly say that I find them superior in quality and quantity of tone, to those of other makers; also in the elasticity and easy touch; and can cheerfully recommend them to any one who wishes to own or play on the best Pianos.—Extract of a letter from Robert Heller.

A NATURAL DEATH.—Died at the residence of H. L. Rutgers, Esq., of this city, on Saturday, the 16th ult., of old age, Toney Proctor, a free man of color, in his 112th year. 'Uncle Toney,' as he was familiarly called, must have been at the time of his death at least 112 years of age, and the probabilities are that he was several years older. It is known as a historical fact that he was at the battle of Quebec, on the 13th of Sept., 1759, some 96 years ago. His recollection of that event was clear and distinct. He was there in the capacity of a body servant to an English officer, and was sixteen years of age or more at the time of sailing in company with the English soldier, from the Island of Jamaica, to return no more to the place of his nativity. He was subsequently engaged in the same capacity, though under a different officer, during the early period of the Revolutionary war between this and the mother country. He was in the vicinity of Boston at the time the tea was thrown overboard, and afterwards at the battle of Lexington, where the first blood was spilt in that perilous conflict. Just here there is another wide gap in his history, which we are unable to trace. It is known, however, that he came to Florida long before the change of flags, and settled in St. Augustine, where he purchased his freedom, married, and reared a large family.—During his long residence in the 'Ancient City,' where he experienced many reverses—living through a period usually allotted to an ordinary life time, his conduct was such as to command the esteem and respect of its inhabitants, as well under the administration of the United States as the dominion of Spain.

At the change of flags, he considered himself an American citizen, and remained in St. Augustine true to his allegiance, during the campaigns and military regime of Gen. Jackson; and subsequently rendered himself very useful to Gen. Harney and others, as an Indian Interpreter in the late Seminole War. Uncle Toney was much beloved by his own people. A zealous member of the Baptist Church, his funeral on Sunday afternoon was one of the largest processions we remember to have witnessed.—Florida Sentinel.

THE WINE DISEASE AT OPORTO, PORTUGAL.—It is a well known fact, that more port wine, or the article of that name, is consumed in the city of London, than the entire product of the Oporto wine district. But very little of the wine consumed in the United States has a particle of the juice of the grape in it. A letter recently received at the State Department, Washington, from Oporto, Portugal, says, that the produce of the wine district, in 1854, has been about 19,000 pipes, although there have been sent to the judges at Regoa samples of 49,000 pipes for approval. More than one half of this wine is that which was refused in 1853 as being unsound, and unfit for transportation. It has since been treated with gerofriza and boja, and in all probability much of this noxious stuff found its way down the Douro in the Spring, and was exported to different parts of the world. The Oporto correspondent thinks there have not been three thousand pipes of good wholesome wine made in the Douro this last vintage. The wine known as the green wine, the principal drink of the native Portuguese, has been almost totally destroyed; and in the Vienna district not a pipe has been made.—In the Spring of 1854 the vines put forth their shoots and leaves with great vigor, and the growth was very rapid. The show of fruit was greater than ever known in that country before. The farmers anticipated a good vintage, but as the season advanced their hopes were blasted. Throughout the kingdom the vines began to show symptoms of the fatal 'odium;' by the middle of June the leaves had the autumnal tints, began to curl, and the berries indicated a sickly appearance. Many vineyards had the appearance they usually have in the month of November. In the early part of July, many vines put forth a second crop of leaves and fruit, and the berries nearly ripened before they were attacked with the 'odium.'—Merchants' Mag.

THE FRUIT TRADE.—Some thirty vessels are engaged in the fruit trade between New York and the West Indies. A much larger trade in fruits is carried on with ports in the Mediterranean, which supply annually something like seventy or eighty cargoes—principally oranges. The West Indian importations of last year are estimated as follows:

Seventy five thousand bunches of bananas from Baracoa, sold here at from $1.25 to $1.50 per bunch—$93,750 to $112,500; 2,000,000 Baracoa cocoa-nuts, sold at from $25 to $30 per hundred—$500,000 to $600,000; 20 cargoes of pine apples from Matanzas and Havana, averaging 80,000 dozen per cargo, and sold at from $8 to $12 per 100—$128,000 to $192,000; 20,000 dozen St. Barts pines, sold at from $7.50 to $8 per 100—$18,000 to $19,200; 200,000 dozen from the Bahama Islands—$15,000 to $16,000; 10 cargoes of Havana oranges, averaging 350,000, at 3 cents each—$10,500; have been received thus far the present season, the crop being more abundant than at any time during the last fifteen years. West Indian oranges arrive in October, and are most abundant in January and February. Bananas and pine apples begin to arrive about the first of April, and are most plentiful during the succeeding three months. Cocoa nuts arrive all the year round. Mediterranean oranges, which come in boxes, and are most extensively shipped to different parts of the United State, begin to be received in January, but not extensively until April or May.

The above list comprises but few of the foreign fruits imported—and these only from the West Indies. A few minutes' calculation will show the sum paid for the articles enumerated in the list amounts to not less than $850,000. The total amount paid for foreign fruit last year, was not less than $20,000,000.

Our exports are comparatively trifling.—With the very best soil and climate in the world for growing fruit, embracing twenty three degrees of latitude, we pay out annually to foreign countries cash enough to stock a Territory with the choicest varieties of fruit trees. Besides, fruit grown in our own soil and climate, is better adapted to our people, and far more healthful, than that which is imported from other climates.—Merchants' Mag.

Morning Chronicle.

THURSDAY, AUGUST 16, 1855.

PORTLAND MASS MEETING.

We have already made brief mention of the assembling, on Tuesday morning, of an immense crowd of people, at a Republican Convention in Portland. They formed three large audiences, and were addressed in the forenoon, by three speakers. At Deering Hall, where the regular convention met,—

The President upon taking the chair, passed all apologies for assuming the duties assigned him, for he said he had enlisted for the entire war, Hon. Israel Washburn of Orono, member of Congress, was introduced to the Convention, and made a strong anti-administration speech, during which he said that Gov. Morrill, the Republican candidate, would be elected by 10,000 majority, and in 1856 a Northern free President would be elected by the people. Mr. Washburn's speech was most enthusiastically applauded.

The following is the telegraphic account of the monster meeting in the afternoon.

The Convention met at 2 1-2 P. M., in Deering Grove. The body formed a procession and marched from the square in front of Deering Hall to the place of meeting.—The gathering was immense. Hon. B. F. Wade, of Ohio, was the first speaker introduced. He thought there was but one issue before the people, and that was the question of American slavery. It is the only one worthy of that consideration. He said the whig party is not only dead but it stinks. It shows occasionally convulsive spasms, as are sometimes exhibited in dead snakes' tail after head and body are buried. The mighty gathering of to day was not the result of some potent voice, but the uprising of the people to secure great principles and perpetuate freedom. It was evidence to him that the republican movement comes directly from the people. He was in favor of the union, but would sooner see it go to pieces than sacrifice the first principle of Freedom. [Great cheering.] He believed it was in no sort of danger from the puny arm of the South.

The President read a letter from Hon. B. F. Butler of New York, of which the following is an extract:—"In regard to the objects of the Republican Convention, about to be held in your State, I am free to say that while I think it improper to interfere in any merely local question, in respect to which the people of another state are divided, I have rejoiced and will rejoice, in every demonstration of the popular sentiment in the free states against the repeal of the Missouri Compromise, and in favor of the restoration of that organ of freedom. The injustice and iniquity of that repeal should never be forgiven, nor should the people of the free states rest satisfied with anything short of its removal. If it cannot be restored in form to the statue book, it must be re-established in fact by the perpetual exclusion of the territory originally embraced in it from admission into the Union, except in the character and with the attributes of free states. In laboring to accomplish this end, the Republicans of Maine are engaged in a good work. They have my hearty sympathies and my best wishes for their success."

Ex-Governor Cleveland of Connecticut was the next speaker. He was from the Democratic party. It was impossible to dissolve the Union. The South could not live ever night with it dissolved. In alluding to the administration of Jackson and that of Pierce, he said the contrast sickened him, and that he would not dwell upon it. He was severe upon the administration and its supporters, and was enthusiastically cheered throughout.

Hon. John P. Hale of New Hampshire followed in a very amusing and sarcastic speech, in which the slave power came in for a severe lashing. At the close of his remarks, Mr. Stevens, chairman of the committee on resolutions, presented a series, declaring it as the opinion of the Republican party that human freedom is paramount to all the political questions in the present crisis. That the constitution is in favor of the doctrine of impartial government. That Congress is false to its sacred trust until it abolishes slavery in the districts of Columbia. That the fugitive slave law is unconstitutional, and ought to be immediately and unconditionally repealed.—That it is the right and duty of Congress to prohibit the introduction of new slave states. That freedom to Kansas and Nebraska should be restored. That the Republican party accept the principles and policy which regard slavery sectional and freedom national. The last resolve strongly commends Governor Morrill to the suffrage of the people for a re-election.

A subsequent resolve was demanded by the people on the subject of temperance, and the comittee presented one, which, with the others, were adopted, declaring the perpetuation and execution of the Maine Law to be one of the fundamental principles of the Republican party in Maine.

Speeches were also made by Mr. Stevens of the Temperance Journal, and Mr. Richmond, a delegate to the recent Philadelphia Convention, endorsing the Republican movement.

A meeting was held at Deering Hall this evening, at which Mr. Bell of New Hampshire spoke. Hon. Mr. Lawyard of Bangor presided. M. H. Patterson, of the Parkville Luminary, Kansas, and Hon. Mr. Mayall of Portland, also addressed the assembly. The hall was crowded.

The Portland Argus, and the State of Maine newspapers call the convention a fail ure—and the latter says that the whole attendance from out of town was not over 4000! Rather a heavy failure, that. The Argus says, however,—

While the meeting was respectable in point of numbers, in other respects it was a failure. In every rank of the procession, were to be seen, old political stagers, who were either fearing the loss, or hoping the gain of some office; men who have boxed the compass of political parties, and are now evidently on their last legs.

JUDGE WELLS' SPEECH AT GRAY, ME.—Two or three hundred persons were present. The Eastern Argus informs us that Judge Wells, the democratic candidate for governor of Maine, being called upon, took the stand, and delivered an able and logical address, occupying about two hours, and was loudly applauded throughout. We have read the address as reported in the Argus, and find it an ingenious special plea against the liquor law, and nothing else.

Judge Wells professes to desire the extermination of the grog shops by a prohibitory law—and he objects to the present intensified law, because it is not effectual. Yet, strange to say, every man in Maine, who wishes for free trade in rum, will vote for Judge Wells as Governor. He says,

The democratic party are falsely accused by our inconsistent opponents of being a 'Rum party'—and by whom? No party is more in favor of restraining in all proper ways the tide of intemperance, than the great body of the democracy of our State. We would do it by example and precept, and wise, judicious legislative action. We would pass laws which, while efficient in the accomplishment of their object, would command and receive the universal approbation of an enlightened people, and commend themselves to our courts and juries as salutary and wise in their provisions.

We want no dram shops or tippling shops in our midst. On the contrary, we are strongly in favor of a prohibitory law, of a just and equitable and honest character, to exterminate such places and demolish them as common nuisances, not by the aid of paid spies and informers, but by the conscientious officers of the law throughout our State. We want a good law with rational and common sense provisions, and if we cannot advance in the glorious temperance reform (now rapidly receding) with such a law, we never can with any.

THE CHELSEA BEACH RIOT.—The Boston Telegraph says, of the affray at the Neptune House, Chelsea Beach, wherein Dascomb, the landlord was fatally injured,—

A party of bloods from this city, about twenty in number, went to the house, and after drinking, got into the affray which has terminated fatally.

Though some of them are arrested, they will hardly be convicted of anything more than an assault. The coroner's jury on Discomb's body, say he died of heart disease.—No doubt these rascals hastened his death; but it may be hard work to prove it. They were, besides, drinking liquor in his house, against the law, so that he was not exactly in the peace of the commonwealth. The jury will probably not agree.

☞ A Miss DeFord, teacher in a public school in Newburyport, has been before the Police Justice of that city, for seriously injuring a scholar, in punishing her. The sufferer is a little girl about fourteen years old; and was so affected by blows on the hand and wrist, said by defendant and witnesses not to have been severe, that she has been partially paralised for several weeks past, and is hardly expected to recover the use of her arm. The magistrate on Monday returned a verdict of guilty against Miss DeFord, and imposed a fine of $10 and costs, which amount to $75; from which sentence, probably under advice of her friends, she has appealed. The case will now go before a jury.

The President has removed Gov. Reeder of Kansas, and appointed in his stead Hon. J. L. Dawson of Pennsylvania, a supporter of the Nebraska Bill in the last Congress; he was a candidate for re-election, but was defeated.—Chronicle.

It injures a story very much to have it turn out to be untrue, and the above is one of this class. Mr. Dawson was not a candidate for re-election, and therefore was not "defeated." —N. H. Patriot.

We copied the statement from some quarter, supposing it to be correct. The Patriot, however, knows all about such men,—and therefore we accept the correction—that Mr. D. was not defeated. He voted for the Nebraska bill—but was not a candidate for re-election.

☞ Mr. William A. Fogg has become editor and proprietor of the Great Falls Journal, published weekly—and announces it as a neutral sheet. It has heretofore been independent in expression of opinion, but not without a "faith" in political matters. We wish the new publisher the fullest success. Great Falls needs the Journal, and should give it generous support.

FAIR PLAY.—The Boston Times, speaking of unnecessarily high prices, says:

A gentlemen of this city, a few weeks since, was travelling at the West, and while at Chicago, purchased half a dozen barrels of fine flour for his own use, at $5,87 per barrel.—He shipped it to Boston, and the extreme cost delivered at his house here, was $7,75, and that at a time when the same brand was sold here for $14. Comment is unnecessary. We can all recollect what effect the combination against the coal monopoly last winter had, even though the difficulties then proceeded from head-quarters, which is not so in the provision market at present, and if there ever was a time when there should be a combination of consumers in opposition to a combination of forestallers, not producers, it is now. We hope something of this sort will be done by our citizens, for it is a shame to submit to such gross and glaring impositions.

There are thirteen Swedenborgian Societies in Massachusetts.

LOCAL.

APPOINTMENT.—The Rev. John L. Watson, D. D., formerly assistant minister at Trinity Church, in Boston, has been appointed Chaplain in the U. S. Navy, and ordered to the navy yard at Portsmouth, N. H.

☞ Those patrons of the Chronicle, who have not settled their bills to the first of the present month, will please be prepared for the collector's call.

☞ The valuable building lot near the head of Auburn street, between the residences of H. H. Ladd and A. B. Vennard, was sold at auction on Wednesday by Jas. P. Bartlett, to Moses Yeaton, for $450.

☞ Hon. Joel A. Matteson, Governor of Illinois, was in this city, on Wednesday. In the afternoon he visited the Navy Yard, and was honored with the customary salute.

J. SMITH ROBINSON.—The case of this individual was called up before the Police Court of this city on Thursday last, Justice Odell presiding. J. Warren Towle, Esq., counsel for the respondent, plead for a further postponement of the examination, that evidence tending to prove the insanity of the prisoner might be introduced. The motion was opposed by Mr. Hatch, County Solicity, and refused by the Court, on the ground that ample time had been given the defence to secure the attendance of such witnesses as were desired. The counsel for the prisoner then waived an examination, and Robinson was ordered to give bonds in $1000 to appear at the Sep tember term of the Supreme Court.—Ballot.

NEW RAILROAD.—A correspondent of the Boston Mail, writing from Wells, Me., says:

The Portsmouth, Saco & Portland railway would have been laid directly through this village of Wells, I am told, had not the good people here combated it so strongly, under the impression that a road would result in an injury to their farms, &c.; but now they begin to perceive their error. It is rumored, however that a new line is to be formed, from Portsmouth, N. H., to Portland, Me., leading directly through the seaport towns; and, if such be the case it will be of immense benefit, developing their resources, and bringing a vast deal of travel upon the route—shortening the distance from Boston to Portland five miles. The new road, if built, will connect at Portland with the Grand Trunk Railway direct to Montreal.

THREE DAYS LATER NEWS.

ARRIVAL OF THE LEBANON.

NEW YORK, Aug. 15

The steamer Lebanon, with Liverpool dates to July 31, arrived this morning.

Since the sailing of the Baltic, nothing has occured to alter the position of affairs, and this lack of news, together with the exceedingly unsatisfactory condition of the Austro-Prussian and Germanic relations with the Western powers, gave a dull and heavy tone to everything.

The latest despatches from the Crimea are to the 27th, and announce nothing new.

Dissatisfaction in the Italian States had become so prevalent, — that Austria had taken alarm, and was about proposing measures of reconciliation.

Unfriendly relations exist between the Neapolitan and British Governments. The English Minister at Naples recently applied to the Minister of Foreign Affairs for permission to export grain to the Crimea; but although the country is gitted with that commodity in consequence of the non-exportation decree, the Minister refused in insulting terms.

There has been very little change in breadstuffs since Friday, and the continued favorable weather for crops, has the effect of keeping the trade for wheat and flour very dull. Corn in small demand.

THE GOVERNOR OF KANSAS.—The telegraph brings intelligence that Hon. Wilson Shannon, of Ohio, has accepted the Governorship of Kansas. The Washington correspondent of the Journal of Commerce, in his last letter, alludes to this question as follows. It may be called a high-toned southern view of the matter:

"I was not mistaken in the supposition that Gen. J. L. Dawson, of Pennsylvania, would decline the appointment of Governor of Kansas, as the successor of Gov. Reeder. Gen. Dawson has a political future, which he would not hazard by committing an act so suicidal. In fact, no public man, of fair standing, in Pennsylvania, would accept the post under present circumstances, as well informed Pennsylvanians have stated. Therefore the office begs the acceptance of some politician already broken down, or of some one who may be willing to sacrifice himself for a temporary salary. No man who was originally, and still is, in favor of the popular principle of the Nebraska bill, would take a course different from that adopted by Gov. Reeder. No respectable man—either from the North or from the South—would go any further than Reeder has done towards conciliation with the Missouri party; and certainly, no one could, under the circumstances, recognize the acts of the usurping Legislature.

SAD ACCIDENT.—We learn by telegraph, that Mr. Joseph Wadleigh, brother of one of the conductors on the Boston & Maine Railroad, was so badly burned on Wednesday, while cleaning an engine in Boston, that he lived only six hours.

ACCIDENT TO THE BOSTON MARINE RAILWAY.—In an attempt to launch the ship Daniel Sharp from the Marine Railway, at East Boston, Monday, the main shaft broke, and the machinery was so much injured that the ship could not be launched. She sustained no damage however, and will probably be launched in about a week. The damage to the machinery is not expected to exceed $500.

LOST.—On Tuesday evening, between State and Gates streets, a child's blue merino cloak CAPE. The finder shall be suitably rewarded on leaving it at this office.

Two ladies at the station at Springfield, on Saturday last, while purchasing tickets, were robbed by pickpockets. One of them, from Portland, Me., was travelling with a child, and without protection. All her money, about twenty dollars, was taken; but a benevolent bystander immediately gave her money enough to reach Northampton, where she has relatives.

THE CONCORD ROBBERS CAUGHT.

The persons supposed to have committed the robbery of the Savings Bank at Concord have been arrested, one at Northfield, and the other at Alton. Their names are John and Isaac Rand, formerly of Northfield, this State; the former arrested at Alton, being the principal. Their history which we learn from a reliable source, is as follows:

They are both natives of Northfield. John is about 40 years of age, and Isaac about 25. John is well known as a notorious and successful bank robber. His first feat in this line was at Roxbury, Mass., about 12 years ago, where he obtained $4000, and would have escaped detection, but for the disclosure of an accomplice.

His next and principal exploit was at Portsmouth, Va., where he robbed a bank of $80,000. At this time he was arrested, escaped from jail by the aid of an accomplice, came north, and was arrested a second time in Boston, carried back to Virginia, and as was generally supposed, was released on condition of refunding a part of the money stolen.

About two weeks ago, both the Rands went to Chelsea, Vt., where they attempted to break into the bank, but failed.

They then came to Concord, where they booked their names as Hanson, at the Union Hotel.

After committing the robbery of the bank, they left for Northfield with a private team belonging to their brother, who lives in Sanbornton. This team was taken to Concord by Isaac the Friday before. They went to Hill's Corner, about a mile and a half above Shaker Village, in Canterbury, where they put up. David Parker, the Shaker, had got wind of the robbery, and suspected them, and so much curiosity was manifested by the people about the tavern that they became alarmed, and John left for the woods, leaving Isaac, the team, and a carpet bag, at the house.

In the meantime the officers arrived from Concord, and the carpet bag was searched, but as nothing was found in it, and as Isaac alleged that John, who had left, was merely a travelling companion whom he had picked up, he was not arrested, and was permitted to drive home to Sanbornton.

About 11 o'clock at night, John, who had lost his way in the dark, called at the house of Charles Gilman in Northfield, where he inquired, "In what region is this?" He was told, when he remarked, "O, yes, I know where I am now," and went away; Mr. Gilman recognized his voice.

The next that was seen of John, was on board the stage at Alton, where he was arrested. He had shaved a splendid moustache which he wore, and otherwise thoroughly changed his dress. Indeed, he had carried the change so far, that it was an evident disguise. He was arrested and taken to Concord by the officers. His brother Isaac was arrested on Saturday, and immediately taken to Concord:—Manchester American.

The Concord Patriot says,—

The two Rands have had an examination before the Police Court, and been bound over in the sum of $2000 each for their appearance at the Supreme Judicial Court, to be holden at Concord, on Tuesday next. The money has not been recovered.

IMMIGRATION AT NEW YORK.—On Saturday morning last, an emigrant vessel arrived at New York from Liverpool, the West Point, Captain Mulliner, with 364 passengers. The amount brought by these passengers was £7217, or nearly $36,085, averaging nearly $100 for each man, woman and child. They were mostly Irish. Most of the immigrants went away from the depot in the course of the day, by the different railroad routes, to the West. Some few remained, but many came to this city by steamboat. The runners had a steamboat alongside the ship, about 3 o'clock, on Saturday morning, but they did not succeed in getting any of the passengers off the ship.

Bank of New Hampshire.

THE Grantees named in the act incorporating the Bank of New Hampshire, will hold their first Meeting at the Office of William H. Rollins in Portsmouth, on Thursday the 16th day of August next, at half-past seven o'clock in the afternoon, for the following purposes:

To adopt the Act of Incorporation passed the fourteenth day of July, A. D. 1855.

To make arrangements for having the stock subscribed, and determine the amount of payments to be made on each share of stock and the time when the same shall be made, and the mode of transferring and disposing of the same.

To adopt at said meeting or some adjournment thereof, such by-laws, ordinances and rules for the regulation and government of said corporation, as may be deemed necessary; and choose directors and such other officers and agents as may be thought proper: and to transact any other business which may be duly brought before said meeting. Portsmouth, July 30, 1855.

CHARLES H. CHASE,
RAYNES & NEIL,
Two of the Grantees named in the Act of Incorporation.

PAVILION,
WOLFBOROUGH, N. H.

THE subscribers beg leave to inform their friends and the public that they have leased the above spacious Public House, which contains over one hundred well furnished rooms, which have been put in good order, for permanent and transient boarders. The House commands a good view of Lake Winnipesoege, together with the beautiful hills which surround it—from one of which the prospect is said to excel that of Mount Washington—making many beautiful rides in the vicinity, on land as well as on the beautiful lake.

Good horses and carriages are connected with the house, and the beautiful steamboats "Lady of the Lake" and "Dover" make several trips each day up and down the lake. Gentlemen who delight in angling and gunning will find here ample field for their favorite enjoyment. Meals at all hours, without extra charge, for sportsmen. Good carriages and accommodating porters in attendance on the arrival of each boat.

Steamboat Notice.

THE fine and commodious Steamboat SILVER STAR will run regularly every day from Portsmouth to Appledore Island, (Isles of Shoals,) in connection with the morning trains from the South, leaving Pier Wharf, Porismouth, directly after the arrival of the Cars, and will return in season for the Evening Trains from Portsmouth.

The Boat is fitted with all the modern improvements for a Passenger Boat; and her double Engines are of the most approved pattern, and all her appointments are superior.

Tourists dine on reasonable terms. For particulars apply to the captain, or to Capt. Marshall at Pier wharf.

The boat can be chartered for sea Parties, upon application to the captain on board, giving reasonable notice.

je28 THOMAS MAKENNEY, Captain.

Yacht Sea Ranger,
FOR THE SHOALS AND A MARKET.

CAPT. JAMES W. GOODWIN respectfully gives notice to the pleasure seeking public that he has purchased for their accommodation the present season, the safe, commodious and fast-sailing Yacht SEA RANGER, of 45 tons burthen, with which he is now prepared to convey parties to the Shoals, Boar's Head and other places in the vicinity; and having furnished her with all the necessary materials, will accommodate Fishing Parties on reasonable terms.

The SEA RANGER will outsail any vessel on the Piscataqua or of any neighboring ports, in light or heavy winds; is fitted with excellent berths; is well supplied with sails, boats, fishing and cooking apparatus, and is in every respect the best vessel for the accommodation of parties who desire a few days enjoyment on the briny ocean that ever hailed from this port.

The SEA RANGER will make occasional trips to the SHOALS for the accommodation of such persons as desire safe conveyance thither; and when the bosom of old ocean is too much agitated for the steamer GRACE DARLING, alias Silver Star, to venture forth, the Yacht will bear passengers safely over the bounding billow.

The commander of the Sea Ranger confidently appeals to those who have in past seasons patronized the SPY under his command, for the continuance of their patronage; for his new craft, pledging himself to use every exertion to give them and all new patrons entire satisfaction.

For further particulars apply to JACOB WALDEN, No. 9 Water street, or to the Master on board, at Pier Wharf, foot of State street.

jy4 JAMES W. GOODWIN.

For Boating Parties.

THE PILOT BOAT SIBYL, Preble, is ready at all times to take large or small parties to Portsmouth, to the Shoals, or any other place on the coast. j26 ALBERT A. PAYNE.

Bishop Griswold.—A writer in the Christian Witness says of the late Bishop Griswold, "that not one man in a thousand ever gave so little trouble to his friends.—What he could do for himself he allowed none to do for him. He was a lower of wood and drawer of water, made his own fires, polished his own boots, carried his valise, and did his own errands. The bishop was peculiarly orderly in all his habits, and accordingly sensitive to all disorder. If a corner of a rug were accidentally lapped over, he would leave his chair and replace it; and this perhaps two or three times in a single evening. If a crumb fell upon the floor, the bishop would not rest till it was discovered and taken up."

The Fashions.—For the benefit of our lady friends who are rusticating this month, we are happy to report that bonnets are worn so far back that in some cases they are on the heads of the ladies next behind. For parasols none but fading silks are used. Tops of ivory cut into the shape of road dogs and sea serpents, are very much the rage. For complexions, tan color is much worn, and freckles are quite common. Fans are taken to church, but in view of the Churchman's feelings and the state of the weather, are seldom used.—Fainting in church has been overdone and is little resorted to. Bad colds are entirely out of vogue.—N. Y. Times.

Niebuhr, in speaking of the education of his son, deprecates the learning by rote of hymns. 'To a happy child, hymns deploring the misery of human life are without meaning.' (And worse.) 'So likewise to a good child, are those expressing self-accusation and contrition.' (He might have added, and self-applause.)

I am quite sure, from my own experience of children who have been allowed to learn penitential psalms and hymns, that they think of wickedness as a sort of thing which gives them self-importance.—Mrs. Jameson.

HAYES'S MEDICINES.

READER, are you suffering from Humors, in ternal or external? HAYES'S Alited Ointment and Humor Syrup will cure you just as sure as you use it. Take not our assertion for it, but the testimony of a thousand living witnesses. All it wants is a trial—it advertises itself. One bottle has sold a hundred in a single town. Reader, do you ask how you shall know these statements are facts, when there is so much humbuggery in advertisements? We will inform you: call on any of our agents, get a circular, select any name you please, address a line to that individual—he will speak—they are living witnesses. It will cost but a trifle, and must convince the most skeptical. We subjoin one from among the many:

Read the following, it speaks for itself:

Lawrence, Mass., June 12, 1854.

We the undersigned, citizens of Lawrence, having used the Vegetable Allied Ointment prepared by E. D. HAYES, of this city, and being personally acquainted with the Doctor, feel pleasure in adding our testimony to the many that claims for his medicine. Unlike other remedies in the market, this preparation performs its office speedily and with certainty. The Ointment we have used with the most happy results, after vainly seeking relief by the free use of Sarsaparilla, Salves, &c.

Our experience fully justifies us in confidently recommending it as the article, and the only one known to us, as performing all it claims.

A. S. BUNKER, A. W. STEARNS,
S. I. THOMPSON, ASA T. SANBORN.

It cures Salt Rheum, Scrofula, Erysipelas, White Leprosy, Cancerous Humors, Ring Worm, Scald Head, Burns and Scalds, Chilblains, Piles, (a specimen select any name you please, address a line to that individual—he will speak—they are living witnesses. Morning Chronicle.

RECENT DEATHS.—The Oswego Journal reports the death of Capt. Augustus Ford, of the United States Navy, who died at his residence in Sackets Harbor, on Saturday, Aug. 4th, at the advanced age of 83 years. He was one of the pioneers of Oswego, and indeed of Lake Ontario, having devoted a considerable portion of his long and useful life on its waters to the service of his country.—Capt. Ford was a native of Providence, Rhode Island, and came to Oswego some little time previous to the surrender of the place by the British under the Jay treaty in 1796. In 1810 he was commissioned in the Navy, and for some time attached to the United States armed vessel Oneida.

The Norfolk Beacon announces the death of Mrs. Imogene Barron, wife of Commander Samuel Barron, United States Navy.—Residing on the Navy Yard, just on the verge of the infected district of Gosport, she contracted the fever, and despite the best medical attendance, after a week's illness, fell a victim to its fatal power.

Major T. S. Brown, who died at Naples, Italy, June 30th, of chronic bronchitis, went to Russia in 1849, as the successor of Major Whistler, in superintending the construction of the great railroad between St. Petersburg and Moscow. He was a man of superior talents and great eminence in his profession.

A report, current in private for some weeks, has gained publicity, that Mr. Damrell's health is so feeble that he will be unable to take his seat in Congress from the third district of Massachusetts, that he will resign, and that the friends of Gov. Gardner who, now residing in Dorchester, is a citizen of the district, will endeavor to secure his election to the place.

If California suffers for want of sugar and syrup, it will not be the fault of Boston shippers. The ships Wild Rover and Matchless, just sailed from Boston for San Francisco, had, as part of their cargo, 9733 tierces, barrels and half barrels, of sugar and syrup, a large portion of it being sugar.

The Washington Union mentions meeting Hon. S. A. Douglas, and says the Little Giant "is in fine health and spirits, and brings cheering news of the increasing harmony and strength of the democratic party in the great west."

Lord Brougham has presented a petition to the British House of Lords, praying for the removal of the present Lord High Commissioner, on the ground that he owns a plantation and slaves in Dutch Guiana.

Three farmers in one of the towns of Penobscot county, Me., have their oats sowed in such a manner, as to form a continuous field three miles long. It is estimated that the crop of the three will reach 6000 bushels.

A GOOD SUCCESSOR.—It is reported that Rev. Barnas Sears, Secretary of the Massachusetts Board of Education, will probably succeed Rev. Dr. Wayland as President of Brown University.

Richard P. Robinson, the supposed murderer of Helen Jewett, died at the Galt House, Louisville, Ky. on the 8th inst. For several years past he has been known as Richard Parmelly.

The London correspondent of the Boston Post states that meat is cheaper in London than in the United States, surloin cuts of beef selling at 8 to 8 1-2 cents per lb.

The Sandwich Islands will raise wheat enough this year, to supply the islands, and that of very superior kind.

A GOOD YIELD.—The farm of Gen. Potter, Westerly, R. I. has yielded, the present season, five tons of hay to the acre.

The Portsmouth Almanac
AND
HAND BOOK,
FOR THE YEAR 1856.

THE subscriber will issue the first No. of this work the present fall, and designs publishing it annually should circumstances warrant it. It will contain besides the Almanac Calendar, embracing all usual calculations for this meridian, Official COUNTY and TOWN STATISTICS, Lists of COUNTY and TOWN OFFICERS, Justices of the Peace, Terms of the various Courts, and all necessary information to the public connected therewith, with Sketches of some of the principal Towns, which in time will embrace all the towns in the County, forming a more complete history than has yet been published.
The work will make a pamphlet of about 75 pages, a few of which will be devoted to business advertisements and professional Cards, which will be inserted on reasonable terms. Of the first edition we shall print from 3000 to 5000 copies—and all necessary information to the public connected therewith. Dealers supplied at the usual discount.

Morning Chronicle.

FRIDAY, AUGUST 17, 1855.

PORTLAND MASS MEETING.—In the daily Chronicle of Thursday, we gave an account of the great republican mass meeting in Portland, derived from the telegraphic report; and also a few words of diminution and failure from the State and Argus newspapers. The Advertiser did not come in season; but we have found a copy, and made the following brief extracts:

Yesterday was a glorious and auspicious day for the Republicans of Maine—for the friends of freedom throughout the country.—The best judges estimate that from 10,000 to 20,000 citizens were assembled in our city to exchange greetings, give and receive encouragement, and to draw the animating ties of common purpose closer and closer together.

The statement that not more than 4000 people came from abroad, does not conflict with this,—if 6000 or 8000 Portland people turned out. If it be a failure, it is one of the largest kind.

Two of the principal resolutions were these:

Resolved, That it is the leading aim and the settled determination of the Republican party of Maine, to exert its utmost influence in the great national movement to restore the government of this great Republic to the principles and policy of its founders, by whom Slavery was regarded as sectional and temporary, and Freedom national and permanent.

Resolved, That the perpetuation and execution of the Maine Law are among the fundamental issues of the Republican Party of Maine.

MURDER AT MEDFORD, MASS.—The body of a murdered man was found in the river at Medford on Monday morning. The deceased proves to be John Smith, a widower, who belonged in East Cambridge. He left home on Saturday night, with some $300 in his pockets, (it being his habit to carry his money about his person,) and the supposition is that he was drugged, taken to some place, and murdered for his money, as there was none found upon his person. The sound of a wagon was heard on the river road between 3 and 4 o'clock Monday morning, and at 6 o'clock Mr. Teel, a farmer of the neighborhood, discovered the body and drew it ashore. Some traces of blood have been found along the marsh, and other appearances indicate that the body was dragged over the ground on the way to the river. A parasol was also found in the vicinity, and it is reported that outcries were heard on Sunday night. The corpse bears marks of knife wounds near both eyes and upon one side of the head, in addition to blows from a club that broke in the skull.

At the coroner's inquest, one of the deceased's sons supposed the parasol belonged to a young woman who was intimate in the family of the deceased. The girl, who is of English birth, "worked out," a servant in a family at Somerville, on the borders of Brookline, and when arrested and taken before the coroner, told her story with so much naivete that her examination caused much amusement, notwithstanding the melancholy circumstance attending it. She was a girl of nineteen, and the deceased had offered himself to her in marriage, but had been refused. He was about 50 years old, and was an Englishman. It was very plain by the evidence that no blame was attached to her, and she was honorably discharged. The verdict of the coroner's jury was substantially that John Smith of Cambridge came to his death by blows on his head, from some person or persons unknown, and that his body was afterwards cast into Mystic river.

HOMICIDE BY AN OFFICER.—On the night of the 6th inst., Thomas Parkins, a cabinet maker, was arrested at Philadelphia by officer Marchant, for some slight cause, and making resistance, was knocked on the head with a watchman's rattle. The wound was a severe one, and the man died of it in a few days afterwards. The affair was at first kept private, but Marchant has been committed to jail without bail.

☞ A company of speculators who own a number of steamers, have bought an old canal in New Granada, and hope to get up such an excitement about the gold to be found in the portion of country through which it traverses, as to cause a great rush of emigrants. Should they succeed in doing this, the steamers will pay well; and they probably have land to sell to adventurers, at an enormous advance on its cost to themselves. The company tell a very fine story about the salubrious climate, fertile soil, &c., but don't say a word about big snakes, scorpions, fevers, or savages. The whole enterprise looks like a scheme that will benefit no one but the speculators themselves; and the flats who are gulled by the company to leave New England for New Granada, will probably obtain as a reward, hard work and poor wages. T.

MAINE EXPOSITOR.

This is the liberal rum paper; it advocates Judge Wells for Governor. One of its official correspondents says:

The only justifiable legislation on the question of temperance, necessarily resolves itself into a system of penalties of great severity, to be affixed for selling intoxicating liquor to or furnishing them to persons legally convicted of the crime of drunkenness, for such time as may be named by the magistrate before whom the conviction may be had.

The Expositor of May 8th, says:

On Thursday next, the democrats who are in favor of a modification of the Maine Law, will meet at Gray.

The first paragraph quoted above, shows how the Expositor would have the law modified. The Expositor continues:

The only ground of distrust which pervades the ranks of the opponents of the law, is to be found in the secret propagation of influences to divide them into casts, or clans—as if some democrats were a little more pure and holy than others, at this time—or if the men who have been combatting the now common adversary for years—the uniform Liberal Democracy, are to be made to play a second fiddle to those democratic leaders who have made the party, most ill-advisedly, hang fire upon this liquor question for three years past, and until the only platform left for State politics from the wreck they had made of the party, was this same Maine law question—the platform and plank which liberals only have upheld through sunshine and through storm.

This spirit of jealousy and of cowardly proscription—for all such leaders are still the same cowards they have been for three years past, and dare not speak openly their denunciations of men they fear—is the only drawback felt in the campaign. At Gray, let this demon of disunion be watched, and if seen, properly rebuked. The Liberal men, who have borne the standard of opposition to the Maine law for years past, when not one in five who now rush to it, dared open their heads upon it, are not to be cast in the shade at this day, without making their rights known, and their resolution felt, if such an attempt thus to treat them is persisted in. We know the men who have been playing at this game, and in due time, will warn the whole people against them, unless the rank and file of the party disown, as at heart they do disown, such mean and selfish baseness.

ACCEPTANCE OF THE GOVERNORSHIP OF KANSAS.—Wilson Shannon has accepted the governorship of Kansas, and will depart forthwith for the Territory.

The Methodist Episcopal Conference of New York have resolved earnestly against the practice of reading sermons from the pulpit, into which some ministers of the denomination are falling.

A NICE WAY TO COOK CHICKENS.—The following is highly recommended: "Cut the chicken up, put it in a pan and cover it with water; let it stew as usual, and when done make a thickening of cream and flour, adding a piece of butter and pepper and salt; have made a pair of short cakes, made as for pie crust, but roll thin and cut in small squares. This is much better than chicken pie, and more simple to make. The crusts should be laid on a dish, and the chicken gravy put over it while both are hot."

Pshaw! this is only a lazy way to make a chicken pie; and when made it is about half as good as the genuine article. An old fashioned chicken pie thoroughly baked, is a feast.

NEW MARKET BANK.—At a meeting of Stockholders of the New Market Bank, chartered at the late session of the Legislature, on Wednesday last, the following Directors were chosen:

Z. D. Creighton, Sam'l P. Dow, Joseph Cilley, John S. Bennett, David Murray, Jos. S. Lawrence, Eben Thompson.

At a subsequent meeting of the Directors, Z. Dow Creighton was chosen President, and S. A. Haley, Cashier.

A FACTORY GIRL.—A correspondent of the Nashua (N. H.) Telegraph, in writing from Worcester concerning the Oread Institute, its studies, students and examination, says:

There was another remarkable feature to this examination. The young lady who received the highest honors, who passed the best examination, and who is regarded by her associates as a wonder of intellectual cultivation, is Miss Rosalinda H. Palmer, a Nashua factory girl; and who, on leaving her school, has again entered the mill to earn money for the support of her indigent parents and younger sisters.

Think of that, ye animated bundles of ribbons and flounces, who are butterflying around the dry goods stores, and nursing your white fingers upon some father's purse or the hopes of some future husband! There is a plainly dressed girl, now tending her loom on the Jackson Corporation, in the corner of whose brain all that you ever knew, or read of, might lie as insignificant and unnoticed as a private in the great army of Xerxes.

Miss Palmer is one of the three young ladies who are placed against any three college graduates in New England, for examination in Rhetoric, Logic, Ethics, Metaphysics, the higher Mathematics, Natural and Physical Sciences, Languages, English Literature, and History, by Mr. Eli Thayer, Principal of the Oread.

FAIR HIT.—The N. Y. Evening Post shows up the inconsistency of the Washington Union in blaming the K. N.'s for the election excesses at Louisville, while it defends the Stringfellow outrages in Kansas. It says: "The Nativists of Louisville have done precisely what the Missourians did in Kansas, but with this difference, that the Nativists in Louisville had a right to vote, and the Missourians who went to Kansas had none."

LOCAL.

BOARD OF ALDERMEN.—Aaron Akerman, Wm. D. Carter, J. H. Thacher and Wm. R. Preston, asked to be appointed agents under the new liquor law.

The committee on claims reported against the allowance of the bill of Mrs. Thomas Fernald for repairs on her house, rendered necessary to prevent infection from small pox.

The board then went into executive session to appoint one or more agents under the new liquor law.

The matter was referred to a committee to draft regulations, and the board adjourned.

THE METHODIST PIC NIC.—The Methodist Sabbath School and Society of this city, held their annual Pic Nic on Wednesday last, among a growth of pine trees, near the New-Market Junction on the P. & C. Railroad. Seven cars filled to overflowing, containing between seven and eight hundred people, went up in a special train at half past ten in the forenoon, and were brought back by another special train at seven o'clock in the evening.

The day was fine, and was passed in the usual manner; the exercises and amusements consisting of singing, praying, speaking, partaking of refreshments, playing ball, swinging, copenhagen, dead-and-alive, &c.

These Society Pic Nics afford an excellent opportunity for whole families to betake themselves to the woods for a day, at a very slight expense, and the pure air enjoyed is no doubt beneficial to all. If the heathenish loafers, who never did, and in all human probability never will, attend any Church or Sabbath School, were prevented from going, it would be a decided improvement. T.

PERSONAL.—His Excellency Gov. Metcalf, arrived in this city on Monday evening, and put up at the Franklin House. On Tuesday forenoon, the Mayor, accompanied by ladies, took the distinguished visitor about town in a handsome carriage, drawn by two horses.—They visited the Navy Yard, but as the Governor neglected to make himself known, he did not receive the customary salute.

The Governor is now stopping at one of our Beach Houses, commonly called "watering" places, and now that the liquor law has gone into operation, supposed to be literally so. He will probably return to this city in a few days, and take a trip to the Shoals. T.

POLICE COURT—Before Justice Odell.—On Thursday, a boy was fined $3 and costs, for throwing a stone, by which another boy was badly injured, breaking off his front teeth.

[Boys generally do not seem to be aware that we have a distinct law against throwing stones.

Formerly, the Town Police Regulations—By-Laws as they were called—were read in each of the town schools annually, by the teachers. It might not be amiss to revive the practice.]

BANK OF NEW HAMPSHIRE.—The first meeting of the Grantees of this Bank, was held on Thursday evening, when the following gentlemen were chosen Directors:

Peter Jenness, Washington Williams, Daniel Marcy, True M. Ball, Henry H. Ladd, Nathaniel K. Haynes, William Petigrew.

BREAD AND POTATOES.—A correspondent, "Mechanic," says that a barrel of Flour will make 260 pounds of bread; that four key hole Rolls will weigh a pound, price 8 cents, making a barrel of flour baked, yield $20.80. The flour before baking he puts down at 11 to $12.

He says, also, he has seen a bushel of potatoes sold for $1.75, from the wagon, and then retailed for $2.40, 65 cents profit.

We know of no better remedies for the evils of which he complains, than to bake your own bread, and buy of the farmers.

☞ The Wardens of the North Parish in this city, have requested their late pastor, Mr. Moore, to supply their pulpit during the present month—to which request he has assented.

BOY DROWNED.—A boy by the name of Brown, about 8 years of age, who accompanied the Chesnut Street Methodist Sunday School on its excursion to Ocean Cottage yesterday, was drowned. He fell into the water from a boat in which he was playing, and when taken out was dead.—Providence Jour., 15th.

Rev. Dr. Cleaveland was dismissed from the Congregational Church in Northampton, Mass., on the 11th ult.

Rev. Wm. A. Patten, late of Hinsdale, N. H., has received a unanimous call from the Congregational church in York, Me., to become their pastor.

LATEST FROM EUROPE.

By the steamship America, we have news from Europe to the 4th inst., seven days later than the previous advices, and four days later than the Lebanon, which arrived at New York.

Nothing of much importance had transpired before Sebastopol since last advices.—The allies continued to push forward their approaches towards the Malakof, but no fighting of consequence had occurred. A general engagement, however, was soon expected. There was a report in Paris on the 3d, that the bombardment had commenced, preparatory to an assault. A despatch from a London newspaper, received at Liverpool on the day of the sailing of the steamer, gave a report that the seige of Sebastopol was about to be raised, and also that a communication had been received from Germany, by the Western Powers, which might lead to startling results. It is doubtful whether the report is authentic.

Great preparations were in progress for a secret expedition with the fleet, and all the lighter vessels of the fleet had been assembled at Kamiesch. In the Sea of Azoff the fortifications of the allies were progressing. Their steamers were destroying the magazines along the coast. In the Baltic, there had been no change in the position of the allied squadron.

Contradictory accounts are received from Asia Minor. It was reported that the Russians were retiring from before Kars and Erzeroum, and that Schamyl has descended from the mountains, and threatened Teflis, since their retrogade movement. The report is considered doubtful.

In the British Parliament, Lord Palmerston, in answer to a request from Mr. Milner Gibson, stated that the British Government had put an end to the enlistment of forces at Halifax, in consequence of the questions that had arisen in regard to the violations of the laws of the United States.

It is stated that the Emperor of Austria, by the desire of the Dowager Empress of Russia, had written an autograph letter to the Emperor Napoleon, supposed in favor of peace. An autograph reply had been sent to Vienna.

GREAT BRITAIN.—The Queen sent the following message to the House of Commons:

Victoria Regina.—Her majesty deeming it expedient to provide for any additional expense that may arise in consequence of the war in which her majesty is now engaged with the Emperor of Russia, and relying on her experience of the zeal of her faithful Commons, trust they will make provisions accordingly.

The result of this appeal is a proposal of the Chancellor of the Exchequer to issue £7,000,000 additional Exchequer bonds.

The limited "liabilities" bill was read a third time and passed. Numerous estimates were voted. Major Reed's motion that no peace treaty should be concluded without the approval of Parliament, was ridiculed and thrown out.

Freights to the U. S. dull generally, with a slight decline to New York.

LATEST.—Liverpool, Saturday noon.—Beef and pork more wanted at better prices. Bacon strong. Wheat and flour declining.—Corn in demand, nothing good under 40s for yellow and mixed, and 45s for white.

Manchester.—Trade dull at last week's prices.

SHIPWRECK AND GREAT LOSS OF LIFE.—A letter received from Capt. Moores, of the whaling bark Maria, of New Bedford, dated Bay of Islands, March 16, 1855, reports the loss of ship Griminesia, of Callao, Capt. Penney, on the 3d of July, 1854, on a reef to the westward of New Caledonia, in lat. 19 45 S., lon. 161 45 E., not laid down on the charts. She went on at 2 A. M. The captain, with the mate, doctor, and four seamen, left her in a boat, and saw nothing of her after, and think she went to pieces. She had on board 650 coolies from China, and a crew of fifty men, and all must have perished, except the seven in the boat. Mr. Bottom, the mate, was killed by the natives on the island of New Britain in July. He belonged to Fairhaven, and had a wife and family there; he had been absent from home some time.—Capt. Penney was on board of the Maria between three and four months, when he was put on board the bark Rio Grande, of San Francisco, for Melbourne; from thence he would proceed to Callao to see the owners.—Capt. Penney and Mr. Bottom were the only Americans that belonged to the wrecked ship.—Boston Chronicle.

BALTIMORE, 16th. — Yellow Fever. — The fever alarm at Norfolk is abating. The deaths yesterday at noon were only four.

The deaths at Portsmouth have averaged 8 a day since Friday.

NORFOLK, 14th.—The fever has extended from the upper part of the infected districts to the upper part of the city. Many of our most prominent citizens have died of it.—Great difficulty is experienced in getting nurses, and $10 per night are charged.

There are not more than 1500 people left in Portsmouth. Several prominent citizens in that city are also victims.

Niepcotypes on Glass, and Photographs on Paper.

MR. SALEN wishes to inform the citizens of Portsmouth and vicinity, that he has procured the Art to take Likenesses on GLASS and PAPER. The now so much admired Photograph, taken on paper, excels by far the Daguerreotype on a metallic plate

These pictures are durable; are not reversed; have not the blending of a Daguerreotype, and excel in softness of light and shade the finest engraving. They are finished on beautiful French cartons put up in frames, and therefore are particularly adapted for parlor pictures. They can also be secured and sent in a letter to a distant friend.

Taken at SALEN'S Daguerrean Gallery, at all prices and sizes, on reasonable terms.

APPLEDORE HOUSE.

ISLES OF SHOALS.

THIS House is now open for public accommodation. As everybody is, or ought to be, cognizant of the natural advantages of this purely OCEAN RETREAT, the public will not be bored with real or imaginary descriptions. Suffice it to say that every facility for the promotion of the happiness and quiet enjoyment of visitors may be found here.

A STEAMER will make daily trips between the Islands and Portsmouth, accommodating itself to the arrival and departure of the several trains.

je16 2m THOMAS B. LAIGHTON.

PAVILION,

WOLFBOROUGH, N. H.

THE subscribers beg leave to inform their friends and the public that they have leased the above spacious Public House, which contains over one hundred well furnished rooms, which have been put in good order, for permanent and transient boarders. The House commands a good view of Lake Winnipiseogee, together with the beautiful hills which surround it—from one of which the prospect is said to equal that of Mount Washington—making many beautiful rides in the vicinity, on land as well as on the beautiful lake.

Good horses and carriages are connected with the house, and the beautiful steamboats "Lady of the Lake" and "Dover" make several trips each day up and down the lake. Gentlemen who delight in angling and gunning will find here ample field for their favorite enjoyment. Meals at all hours, without extra charge, for sportsmen.—Good carriages and accommodating porters in attendance on the arrival of each boat.

NATH'L TEAD,
Wolfboro', June 27. R. W. ADAMS.

Steamboat Notice.

THE fine and commodious Steamboat SILVER STAR will run regularly every day from Portsmouth to Appledore Island, (Isles of Shoals,) in connection with the morning trains from the South, leaving Pier Wharf, Porismouth, directly after the arrival of the Cars, and will return in season for the Evening Trains from Portsmouth.

The Boat is fitted with all the modern improvements for a Passenger Boat; and her double Engines are of the most approved pattern, and all her appointments are superior.

Towing done on reasonable terms. For particulars apply to the captain, or to Capt. Marshall at Pier wharf.

The boat can be chartered for sea Parties, upon application to the captain on board, giving reasonable notice.

je23 THOMAS MAKINNEY, Captain.

Yacht Sea Ranger,
FOR THE SHOALS AND A MARKET.

CAPT. JAMES W. GOODWIN respectfully gives notice to the pleasure seeking public that he has purchased for their accommodation the present season, the safe, commodious and fast-sailing Yacht SEA RANGER, of 45 tons burthen, with which he is now prepared to convey parties to the Shoals, Boar's Head and other places in the vicinity; and having furnished her with all the necessary materials, will accommodate Fishing Parties on reasonable terms.

The SEA RANGER will outsail any vessel on the Piscataqua or of any neighboring ports, in light or heavy winds; is fitted with excellent berths; is well supplied with sails, boats, fishing and cooking apparatus, and is in every respect the best vessel for the accommodation of parties who desire a few days enjoyment on the briny ocean that ever hailed from this port.

The SEA RANGER will make occasional trips to the SHOALS for the accommodation of such persons as desire safe conveyance thither; and when the bosom of old ocean is too much agitated for the steamer GRACE DARLING, alias Silver Star, to venture forth, the Yacht will bear passengers safely o'er the skein, at her pillow.

The commander of the Sea Ranger confidently appeals to those who have in past seasons patronized the SPY under his command, for the continuance of their patronage for his new Yacht, pledging himself to use every exertion to give them and all new patrons entire satisfaction.

For further particulars apply to JACOB WALDEN, No. 9 Water street, or to the Master on board, at Pier Wharf, foot of State street.

jy4 JAMES W. GOODWIN.

For Boating Parties.

THE PILOT BOAT SIBYL, Preble, is ready at all times to take large or small parties from Portsmouth, to the Shoals, or any other place on the coast. She will be at the service of parties who may wish to cruise for a number of days. The Sibyl is a new and excellent boat of about 50 tons burthen, and has no superior for speed or accommodations.

For particulars, apply in Portsmouth, at the Chronicle Office; at New Castle to

jy2 2m* R. A. PREBLE.

Isles of Shoals.

DEAD SHOT FOR BED BUGS.

A SURE death to these noxious disturbers of our nightly rest. Apply it to insects and it curls them up and lays them out as readily as Sulphur Fumes kills Bees.

It has no equal in the market. The whole world cannot produce a substitute of similar value to the comfort of a neat tidy housewife. Its application is of little trouble, while the benefit which may be derived from a single night's undisturbed repose is incalculable.

SANCHO PANZA

Called down "blessings upon the head of the man who first invented sleep." How much more worthy such honorable distinction would he consider the inventor of the Dead Shot, who, by his Pungent and Deadly Preparation, has rendered utterly impossible the ancient bloody forays of such 'tolerable and not to be endured' tormentors; and who has enabled every one to guarantee to himself his own particular share of "tired Nature's sweet restorer."

HAYES'S MEDICINES.

READER, are you suffering from Humors, in ternal or external? HAYES'S

Allied Ointment and Humor Syrup

will cure you just as sure as you use it. Take not our assertion for it, but the testimony of a thousand living witnesses. All it wants is a trial—it advertises itself. One bottle has sold a hundred in a single town. Reader, do you ask how you shall know these statements are facts, when there is so much humbuggery in advertisements? We will inform you: call on any of our agents, get a circular, select any name you please, address a line to that individual—they will speak—they are living witnesses. It will cost but a trifle, and must convince the most skeptical. We subjoin one from among the many:

Read the following, it speaks for itself:

LAWRENCE, June 13, 1854.

We the undersigned, citizens of Lawrence, having used the Vegetable Allied Ointment prepared by E. D. HAYES, of this city, and being personally acquainted with the Doctor, feel pleasure in adding our testimony to all the doctor claims for his medicine. Unlike other remedies in the market, this preparation performs its office speedily and with certainty. The Ointment we have used with the most happy results, after vainly seeking relief by the free use of Sarsaparilla, Salves, &c.

Our experience fully justifies us in confidently recommending it as rare article, and the ONLY one known to us, as performing all it claims.

A. S. BUNKER, A. W. STEARNS,
S. I. THOMPSON, ASA T. SANBORN.

It cures Salt Rheum, Scrofula, Erysipelas, White Leprosy, Cancerous Humors, Ring Worm, Scald Head, Burns and Scalds, Chilblains, Piles, (a preparation expressly,) Barber's Itch, Fever Sores, and all old Mercurial Sores, however long standing. It removes all Scrofulous Humors, Pimples, Eruptions and Moth or Mildew from the face leaving the skin perfectly soft and smooth, adding greatly to the beauty of the complexion. In no case will it leave a mark or scar. It improves the eight wonderfully, when the eyes are troubled with humors, by removing the difficulty and restoring the sight.

Price of the Ointment, $1; Syrup 50 cents.

MANUFACTURERS of

GRAND AND SQUARE PIANO-FORTES.

WAREROOMS,

NEW FREESTONE BLOCK,

No. 409 WASHINGTON STREET,

NEAR BOYLSTON STREET.....BOSTON.

Opinions of the Press.

It is now generally acknowledged that the Pianos manufactured by Hallet, Davis & Co. are unrivalled in America, if in the world, for brilliancy of tone.—Boston Daily Times.

An immense volume of sound can be produced by these Pianos without shattering the tones, as they send forth the most perfect, bell like notes, and we must confess that we have never listened to their equals for power, brilliancy, sweetness of tone, and purity of action.—Boston Herald.

The Pianos of Hallet, Davis & Co. deserve more than a passing notice. They are truly splendid instruments, very powerful, and of the purest and richest quality of tone.—Boston Traveller.

In regard to purity of tone, power and sweetness, being fully equal to any instrument that has come under our observation.—Boston Courier.

Owing to the beautiful elasticity of the action of your Grand Piano Fortes, I think it would be impossible for any Pianist, who plays properly, to break either a string or a hammer.—Extract from a Letter from Wm. Mason.

The peculiar feature of Hallet, Davis & Co.'s instruments is, they make no noise. Nothing but pure tone is produced by the vibration of the strings, and the construction of the sounding board, and action are such that skilful pianists, after once testing their merits, dislike to use any other instrument in the Concert room.—Philadelphia Sunday Mercury.

I find them all possessed of very superior instruments—as well in tone as in touch.—Extract of a Letter from L. M. Gottschalk.

I can unhesitatingly say that I find them superior in quality and quantity of tone, to those of great makers; also in the elasticity and easy touch; and can cheerfully recommend them to any one who wishes to own or play on the best Pianos.—Extract of a letter from Robert Heller.

Morning Chronicle.

TWO-LEGGED NUISANCES.—There was never yet, to our recollection, a measure brought forward in this city to protect the community against official or other swindlers, that did not at once organize the rogues and rascals aimed at, into a political or public 'indignation' movement, in behalf of the 'rights of the poor man' or the 'interests of the working classes.'

When the Commissioners of Emigration matured a plan to protect the tide of emigrants landing at this port from the swarm of cut-throat runners, and piratical boarding-house keepers, these two classes of 'light fingered' gentry raised a hue and cry about the 'rights of the people,' and went so far as to threaten an assault on Castle Garden, to recover their habitual plunder. They failed, however—and they also failed in the object of their meeting on the Battery—that object being to impress their importance on the political parties of this city, and thus break down the defences that have been raised around the poor immigrant.

If ever an unmitigated set of ruffians existed in the midst of a civilized community, these emigrant runners and boarding house men are that set. They have had full swing for years, and have literally skinned the emigrant alive. Their whole design and business is plunder, without regard to age, sex or condition. No vulture was ever half so pitiless. The tiche of their outrageous practices—robbery, debauchery, rape, and it is hardly too much to say murder—has never been told.—At last, society has get the upper hand of these swindling desperadoes, and with an impudence that was really sublime, they called a public meeting to vindicate their rights! Their rights, justly defined, would be bounded by prison walls and diet, and honest hard work for a 'long term.' Possibly these fellows will make a forcible demonstration on Castle Garden; if so, we hope they will be shot down like mad dogs.—N. Y. Mirror.

ONE OF THE HUMBUGS.—The Boston Times of Wednesday says:

A few days since a young man from the country applied for a situation as clerk, which was advertised in one of the city papers, and the berth was given to him on condition that he would deposit $100 in the hands of his employer as a guarantee for honesty. The young man accepted the condition, and was placed in the store, which was partially filled with bottles containing a liquid for exterminating bed bugs, flies, cockroaches, &c., &c. His employer soon after announced that he was going to New York, and should in a short time send for him there, but the new clerk, growing suspicious that the whole thing was a cheat, got out a writ for debt, and attached all the property in the store, which will probably cover a portion of his claim. It turns out, however, that there are several other young men who have given similar guarantees for their honesty, and who, from present appearances, are minus the money which they have deposited. The respectable owner of the bed-bug exterminator had, it seems, two names—one for his store, and one for his boarding house; at one he was single, at the other married. At present he is "not at home," but he is supposed to be somewhere about the city.

SECTIONALISM.—Mr. Benjamin, the Whig Senator from Louisiana, in the present Congress, writes to his constituents, in a published letter, that he "will not join the attempt to revive the organization of the Whig party. Its ashes alone remain—but that he will not be found the last of those who will battle in behalf of the great Southern party.

PURCHASE OF MT. VERNON.—The lady visitors at Cape May have commenced a movement for the purchase of Mount Vernon. Edmund Wilcox, 28 Chesnut street, Philadelphia, is treasurer for the receipt of the donations. The sum of $200,000 is necessary, and the fashionable ladies at Cape May gave $1 each.

WANTED—A SCHOOLMASTER.—The following is a verbatim copy of an order left with one of our enterprising expressmen a few days since:

Buchal Appals
Dosnd coconots.
10 Pannd castaninots.
10 " fillibars.
10 " English Walnutos
Smal Baskat Pitchas. nis on.

The following is a translation:

Bushel Apples,
Dozen Cocoa Nuts,
10 pounds Castana Nuts,
10 " Filberts,
10 " English Walnuts,
Small basket Peaches, nice ones.—Boston Times.

NEW FLOUR COMING.—The propeller Minnesota arrived at Dunkirk, on the 10th, with a cargo of flour, a portion of which was ground from new wheat. Both wheat and flour are beginning to arrive freely at the Western Lake ports, and in about two weeks the receipts here will be very large.—Portland Advertiser.

A lady came to Buffalo from Port Erie, a day or two since, with a cowhide in hand, intent upon chastising the steward of the steamboat Troy, for having induced a servant girl to adopt her name while on an excursion.—The ceremony was performed on board the Troy, in the presence of a large and delighted assembly.

Harriet Barritt, Fanny Smith, Isaac Goodwin and I. W. Thomas, free colored persons, who went within the boundaries of Missouri without a license, have been publicly whipped and sent out of the State.

Mr. George S. Goldsberry, a student in the graduating class at Nashotah, and a candidate for holy orders in the diocese of Indiana, has joined the Church of Rome, having been baptized for the third time.

PARODY.

A little stealing is a dangerous part,
But stealing largely is a noble art;
'Tis mean to rob a hen roost of a hen,
But stealing thousands makes us gentlemen!

SATURDAY, AUGUST 18, 1855.

MIXED SCHOOLS.

That beautiful writer, Mrs. Jamieson, says:

I am convinced, from my own recollections, and from all I have learned from experienced teachers in large schools, that one of the most fatal mistakes in the training of children has been the too early separation of the sexes. I say has been, because I find that everywhere this most dangerous prejudice has been giving way before the light of truth and a more general acquaintance with that primal law of nature, which ought to teach us that the more we can assimilate on a large scale the public to the domestic training, the better for all.—There exists still, the impression—in the higher classes especially—that in early education, the mixture of the two sexes would tend to make the girls masculine and the boys effeminate, but experience shows us that it is all the other way. Boys learn a manly and protecting tenderness, and the girls become at once more feminine and more truthful. Where this association has begun early enough, that is, before five years old, and has been continued till about ten or twelve, it has uniformly worked well. On this point the evidence is unanimous and decisive. So long ago as 1812, Francis Horner, in describing a school he visited at Enmore, near Bridgewater, speaks with approbation of the boys and the girls standing up together in the same class. It is the first mention I find, of this innovation on the old collegiate or charity-school plan, itself a continuation of the monkish discipline. He says:

"I like much the placing of the boys and girls together at an early age. It gave the boys a new spur of emulation."

When I have seen a class of girls standing up together, there has been a sort of empty tittering, a vacancy in the faces, an inertness, which made it, as I thought, up-hill work for the teacher; so, when it was a class of boys, there has been often a sluggishness, a tendency to ruffian tricks, requiring perpetual effort on the part of the master.

In teaching a class of boys and girls, accustomed to stand together, there is little or nothing of this. They are brighter, readier, and better behaved; there is a kind of mutual influence working for good; and if there be emulation, it is not mingled with envy or jealousy. Mischief, such as might be apprehended, is, in this case, far less likely to arise than where boys and girls, habitually separated from infancy, are first thrown together, just at the age when the feelings are first awakened and the association has all the excitement of novelty.

A very intelligent schoolmaster assured me that he has had more trouble with a class of fifty boys than with a school of three hundred boys and girls together, (in the midst of which I found him,) and that there were no inconveniences resulting, which a wise and efficient superintendence could not control.

"There is," said he, "not only more emulation, more quickness of brain, but altogether a superior healthiness of tone, body and mind, where the boys and girls are trained together till about ten years old, and it extends into their after life. I should say because it is in accordance with the laws of God in forming us with mutual dependence for help from the very beginning of life."

What is curious enough, I find many people—fathers, mothers, teachers—who are agreed that in the schools for the lower classes, the two sexes may be safely and advantageously associated, yet have a sort of horror of the idea of such an innovation in schools of the higher classes. One would like to know the reason for such a distinction, instead of being encountered, as is usual, by a sneer or a vile insuendo.

We agree fully with Mrs. Jamieson in this matter. There is no period of life, from birth to death, when the sexes ought not to be mutual checks and helpers, guardians and guides of each other. Schools are no exception to this rule.

The history of schools is curious on this point. Miss Jamieson hints at the thing in England. And in this country the fact is notorious, that the early New England schools, in the country or farming places, were not only common to all conditions but mixed as to sexes. The little boys and girls went together to the School Ma'am in Summer, and the great boys and girls to the Master in Winter. They continued at the winter schools, many of them till manhood, and matches were as often and as well made there as elsewhere. This custom still prevails.—We regard it as good, and not evil.

Strangely enough, in the large towns and cities, as soon as there were such, large schools, often as rough as they were large, were got up, of boys only,—while girls had scarcely any advantage of common schools at all,—but were sent to cheap private schools, where they learned to sew, and picked up a very scanty knowledge of books.

This was exactly the case in Portsmouth, about fifty years ago. In the Gravelly Ridge School, and other out of town places, girls and boys were together and equal. In the compact part of the town, there were four schools for Boys exclusively—but not one for Girls. There were, for about three months each summer, some Morning Schools for girls, kept an hour or two each morning, in the boys' rooms, taught by the same masters.

These were better than nothing; but the masters had a double task; and the schools were not near so good as they would have been, if mixed.

Our out-district schools, now, are all mixed, and have been so, without a complaint; so are nearly all the district schools in New Hampshire; and so are most of the academies in the State; the very oldest being the exceptions.

In the city of Salem, $15,000 have just been appropriated to the building of a School House. The Register says:

The second story is to be occupied by the pupils of the English high school for boys, the English high school for girls, and the Latin grammar school; i. e. the pupils of these three schools are to occupy together one and the same room, under the care of one master.

LAW CASE ON SCHOOLS.—Mr. Lawrence Donahoe, a citizen of Ellsworth, Me., a member of the Roman Church, protested against a rule of the School Committee, that the Bible (common version) should be read in schools by all the scholars who could read well enough—and he asked of the committee that his daughter might read the Douay version, or be excused from reading the common version, or not read at all. This request the committee refused, and Donahoe brought an action to test the principle. The Supreme Court decided that the law has placed in the hands of the committee the power to establish what books shall be used in schools.—Plaintiff nonsuit.

IN A TIGHT PLACE.—Harlan P. Crane, who was arrested in Lowell, on a charge of polygamy, having contracted marriage in New Hampshire immediately after being divorced from his first wife in this State on account of his being guilty of adultery, was examined in the Police Court at Lowell, on Wednesday, and discharged. Although by the statutes of this Commonwealth such marriages are prohibited, the Judge decided that as his second marriage was legal in New Hampshire, it must be so considered here, the more especially as the defendant claimed a residence there.—Boston Herald.

The law of Massachusetts here referred to is most absurd. We exposed the absurdity a year ago, by supposing just such a case as has now happened. Common sense agrees with the Old and New Testaments, in deciding that the divorce of one party must be also equally the divorce of the other.

WATCHMAN STABBED.—One Supply Knox, of Biddeford, was arrested last week in that city, for stabbing officer Hatch. Knox is a suspected seller of grog, which he keeps in some secret deposit, and retails from his pocket to the thirsty suckers. The police seized two quarts on his person, when he resisted, as he had previously threatened he would do, and stabbed Hatch near the heart; but the instrument was stopped by a rib bone. The Union, whence we take these statements, blames the Biddeford Association for emboldening such men as Knox in resisting the officers of the law. K. was bound over in $200 for trial at the next Court.

☞ Mr. F. O. J. Smith has written a letter against the Republican or Fusion party, which is published in the Portland Expositor. He objects to the two planks in their platform, in this fashion:

Thus, while one element aims to restore to the black slave an individual freedom to which he has never been accustomed, in any part of the world, the other element aims to deprive the white man of an individual freedom to which he has always been accustomed, the world over.

That is to say, it would give the black slave freedom to be a man and not a thing—while it would take away from the white man the freedom to make a beast of himself or rather of his neighbor.

☞ Three school houses in Augusta, Me., were set on fire by an incendiary, one on Sunday, one on Tuesday, and the third on Wednesday. The Age says,—We learn as our paper goes to press, that a boy has been arrested as the incendiary. Should not this prove true, a reward should be offered for the apprehension of the guilty scamps, and our police should be more vigilant.

THE LITTLE COMPTON MURDER.—Chas. E. Almy has been arrested on a warrant charging him with the murder of his cousin, Valentine S. Almy, last Monday, at Little Compton. The magistrate had previously declined issuing a warrant, because he believed the accused to be insane, and thought he ought to be carried to the Hospital for the Insane. Much excitement was caused by the affair, both the young men being highly esteemed, and for many years remarkable for the strong attachment which they displayed for each other.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 16th.—The Supreme Court, without giving any decision in the case of Passmore Williamson, adjourned to meet at Sunbury on the first Monday in October.

Whenever any Court, with a full bench, decides his case, the decision will be in his favor. He has really violated no Statute whatever. His continued imprisonment, therefore, is a piece of gratuitous tyranny, of which the state and country ought to be ashamed.

GENESEE WHEAT.—The Rochester American thus speaks of the new wheat:—

We are afraid that the grave of "best Genesee" is dug, and that this much heralded brand of flour has "gone up," for the present year, at least. The wheat samples that come in are bad—very bad—and when loads of wheat sell in our streets at $1.25 per bushel, at the present range of prices for a good article, it is a sad day for the prosperity of "prime Genesee."

LOCAL.

RAILWAY AT AUCTION.—The Marine Railway, wharf, building and appurtenances, are for sale at auction, this day. The property is valuable for mechanical purposes, and it doubtless will go off cheap, offering a good chance for somebody to make an excellent purchase.

NOT DEAD YET.—Messrs. Towle and Wendell "still live," at their respective stores, notwithstanding they are no longer Deputy Sheriffs,—and, as will be seen by their advertisements, offer various kinds of goods at Auction this day.

☞ The Portsmouth Baptist Association will hold its twenty-seventh anniversary with the Baptist Church in this city, on Wednesday and Thursday, the 5th and 6th of September next. The meetings will begin on the 5th, at 10 o'clock, A. M. Introductory sermon by Rev. J. Cookson, or Rev. Samuel Cooke.

☞ The Rockingham Convention of Universalists will hold their annual session at Brentwood, on Wednesday and Thursday, Aug. 29th and 30th.

LOUISVILLE RIOTS.

The Newark, N. J., Daily Advertiser asks, in relation to these riots,—where was the military? why was not a power invoked at once sufficient to put down the first demonstrations of violence, and thus prevent the awful catastrophe which followed? Aye, why was not all this done? The city, as their own papers clearly show,—for they gave notice beforehand of designs on the part of certain persons to employ desperate agencies at the election,—the city had due notice of the coming storm; then where was the municipal power which is bound to throw the shield of protection around the citizens, and enforce both right and order?

An answer has occurred to us—may not the mayor and prominent men in authority in Louisville have had the treatment of Neal Dow at Portland before their eyes? They could not be sure that they would be able, if bloodshed should ensue in consequence of vigorous and effectual efforts, to prove there was any actual necessity for calling out the military, and commanding them to fire upon the mob, should they not disperse without.—The more seasonable and successful such a step might prove in quelling an insurrection, the more difficult it would be afterwards to make out the necessity of using force. If we mistake not, this is very much the complexion of the Portland case. The prompt energy there displayed by the authorities, quelled the riot at once, from which very success an argument has been drawn, that no force was at all requisite, and that the ruffians arrayed in resistance to law would have gone home peaceably of themselves.

ATLANTIC VS. PACIFIC.—The Panama Star says: "It has been lately decided by Col. Totten, after a series of careful tidal observations taken here, and in Aspinwall (Navy Bay,) and connected by accurate levels along the line of railroad, that the mean height of the two oceans, is exactly the same."

The Washington Star announces, on the authority of a "reliable source," that some enterprising citizens of the United States and New Grenada have discovered and explored the long-sought route for connecting the Atlantic and Pacific oceans by means of a ship canal.

The plan is to go up the Atrato river, fifty miles from its mouth, with a depth of from six to ten fathoms, and from thence to the Pacific, a distance of sixty miles more, without a single lock or other obstruction in the contemplated canal. A liberal grant has been made by the government of New Grenada to the persons engaged in this grand undertaking.

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 13.—A Deed of Lease of the Ohio and Mississippi Railroad for fifteen years was executed to-day, to Capt. George W. Jencks. The lease conveys all the real and personal estate of the company with the right to collect tolls, &c. Mr. Jencks agrees to pay the interest of the first and second mortgage bonds during the continuance of the lease, keep the road in repair, expend $500,000 in improvements during the next five years, and to pay the company $25,000 per annum after the expiration of the first five years, and finally to surrender all to the company at the close of the lease. The road will be put in motion as the indebtedness along the line is paid off.

LATEST PATENT OUT.—the latest patent out is a patent hat stand, to which the ladies claim the exclusive right. It is small and being once firmly fixed in the hair behind, supports a circle revolving on a pivet, which fits the crown of the hat, and obviates all tendency to those little slippery bonnets to depart unbidden. The choking strings may now be dispensed with, and also the little negro and big waiter which Punch assumes are so necessary. Truly, this is the age of invention.—Boston Chronicle.

THE HAY CROP.—The Hartford Times says the wet weather of the latter part of July, prevented the farmers from cutting their grass, and the crop stood nearly two weeks longer than usual. But it kept growing during that time. The bottom "filled up," and the grass became very stout and thick.—When they came to mow it, it turned out to be an enormous crop—fully equal on the average, to anything we have had in the past five or six years. Hay is bound to be cheaper next winter than it was last.

SARATOGA, Aug. 16th.—The room of W. E. McMaster, who lodges at the Union Hotel, was robbed last night of notes against private individuals, to the extent of $1200, two bank certificates of deposit $720, bills on the Atalanta Bank (Georgia) $70, and a diamond ring. No clue to the robbers.

DARING BURGLARY AT WARNER, N. H.—The people of Warner (which town has been very exempt from violence and outrage of every character,) were thrown into a state of high excitement, last week, by a bold and daring robbery which was committed there on the night of Tuesday the 7th inst.

As we learn the facts, the dwelling-house of Mr. Ira Harvey, in Warner village, was entered by one or more burglars through a back window, and property to the amount of two hundred dollars was taken. Two gold watches which were hanging at the head of the bed where Mr. and Mrs. H. were sleeping, a small amount of money found in a trunk, and several articles besides, of no great value were taken by the robbers. No one in the house was aroused, and the surprise of the family was great in the morning to find every door in the house wide open, and trunks that had been brought from the chambers, lying on the lower floors, had been broken upon and other evidences that considerable time must have been occupied by these bold robbers.

The perpetrators of these foul deeds have not yet been hauled up, but it will be very strange if they are not ferreted out and brought to punishment.—Patriot.

PORT DEPOSITE, Aug. 16th.—A fire occurred here this morning, destroying Wiley & Thompson's Sash Factory, Planing Mill and Warehouse. Davis & Co.'s Warehouse and Lumberyard, Lanahan & Son's office, and the dwellings of David Kennedy and Ephraim Cornish. The loss is about $50,000. Insurance only $7,000.

BALTIMORE, 16th.—A meeting for the benefit of the sufferers by the yellow fever at Norfolk, was held here to day. About $3000 were contributed by the meeting, and provisions were purchased and despatched by the boat for Norfolk to-night.

SUDDEN DEATH.—Osborne Gale, 18 years of age, son of Mr. Warren Gale, of Amesbury, died suddenly on Monday afternoon, from having ruptured a blood vessel.—Amesbury Villager.

ROBBERY.—The store of Messrs. Sargent, Harlow & Co., West Amesbury, was broken into on Thursday night, and a large amount of broadcloths stolen. A reward of fifty dollars is offered for the detection of the thief or thieves, and the recovery of the goods.—Villager.

SHOCKING AFFAIR AT WALTHAM.—On Thursday afternoon, Mr. Solomon Childs, a farmer residing about two miles from Waltham village, was killed by a ferocious bull, which got loose in his barn. The family were gone to a funeral, and on their return, the body of Mr. Childs was found lifeless, and gored and mangled in the most shocking manner. His clothing was entirely torn off, with the exception of his boots, and the body lay immersed in blood. A short time since the same bull attacked another man, who narrowly escaped with his life. Mr. Childs was from 45 to 50 years of age.

The St. Louis Intelligencer says that from thirty to forty dead men are taken out of the river below and opposite that city monthly, and that little or nothing is known as to the causes. The Intelligencer intimates that these men are thrown into the river while drunk, being taken from the sailor boarding houses, and thus disposed of after being robbed. This casts New Orleans entirely in the shade.

We regret to learn that Dr. Allen Potter of Blackstone, was taken furiously insane on Saturday, 11th inst. The cause must be attributed to the 'spirit rappings,' in which he has been deeply engaged, and has attended frequent meetings during the past year. In all his wanderings his mind dwells mostly upon that subject. The prospect of his recovery is considered doubtful, as the disease has been gradually developed, and he is now 64 years of age.—Woonsocket Patriot.

LOSS OF LIFE.—The Times correspondent calculates that the loss of active men from wounds and diseases, and by being disabled, by sea and land, since the commencement of the war, is—Russians 230,000, Turks 130,000, French 70,000, English 28,000. Whole number 458,000.

FATHER SAWYER.—The Bangor Whig, of the 9th inst., learns that Rev. Father Sawyer, now within two months only of being 100 years of age, is dangerously sick at the house of Gen. Simon Nowell.

NO TRUTH IN IT.—The Boston Traveller says: 'There is no truth in the statement that Mr. Damrell is about to resign his seat in Congress on account of ill health.'

Niepcotypes on Glass, and Photographs on Paper.

MR. SALEN wishes to inform the citizens of Portsmouth and vicinity, that he has procured the Art to take Likenesses on GLASS and PAPER. The now so much admired Photograph, taken on paper, excels by far the Daguerreotype on a metallic plate

These pictures are durable; are not reversed; have not the blending of a Daguerreotype, and excel in softness of light and shade the finest engraving. They are finished on beautiful French cartons put up in frames, and therefore are particularly adapted for parlor pictures. They can also be secured and sent in a letter to a distant friend.

Taken at SALEN'S Daguerrean Gallery, at all prices and sizes, on reasonable terms.

Please call and examine specimens. a4

APPLEDORE HOUSE.
ISLES OF SHOALS.
THIS House is now open for public accommodation. As everybody is, or ought to be, cognizant of the natural advantages of this purely OCEAN RETREAT, the public will not be bored with real or imaginary descriptions. Suffice it to say that every facility for the promotion of the happiness and quiet enjoyment of visitors may be found here.

A STEAMER will make daily trips between the Islands and Portsmouth, accommodating itself to the arrival and departure of the several trains.
je16 2m THOMAS B. LAIGHTON.

PAVILION,
WOLFBOROUGH, N. H.
THE subscribers beg leave to inform their friends and the public that they have leased the above spacious Public House, which contains over one hundred well furnished rooms, which have been put in good order, for permanent and transient boarders. The House commands a good view of Lake Winnipisogee, together with the beautiful hills which surround it—from one of which the prospect is said to excel that of Mount Washington—making many beautiful rides in the vicinity, on land as well as on the beautiful lake.

Good horses and carriages are connected with the house, and the beautiful steamboats "Lady of the Lake" and "Dover" make several trips each day up and down the lake. Gentlemen who delight in angling and gunning will find here ample field for their favorite enjoyment. Meals at all hours, without extra charge, for sportsmen.—Good carriages and accommodating porters in attendance on the arrival of each boat

NATH'L TEAD,
Wolfboro', June 27. R. W. ADAMS.

Steamboat Notice.
THE fine and commodious Steamboat STAR will run regularly every day from Portsmouth to Appledore Island, (Isles of Shoals,) in connection with the morning trains from the South, leaving Pier Wharf, Portsmouth, directly after the arrival of the Cars, and will return in season for the Evening Trains from Portsmouth.

The Boat is fitted with all the modern improvements for a Passenger Boat; and her double Engines are of the most approved pattern, and all her appointments are complete.

Towing done on reasonable terms. For particulars apply to the captain, or to Capt. Marshall at Pier wharf.

The boat can be chartered for sea Parties, upon application to the captain on board, giving reasonable notice.
je23 THOMAS MAKINNEY, Captain.

Yacht Sea Ranger,
FOR THE SHOALS AND A MARKET.
CAPT. JAMES W. GOODWIN respectfully gives notice to the pleasure seeking public that he has purchased for their accommodation the present season, the safe, commodious and fast-sailing Yacht SEA RANGER, of 45 tons burthen, with which he is now prepared to convey parties to the Shoals, Boar's Head and other places of resort, and having furnished her with all the necessary materials, will accommodate FISHING PARTIES on reasonable terms.

The SEA RANGER will outsail any vessel on the Piscataqua or of any neighboring ports, in light or heavy winds; is fitted with excellent berths; is well supplied with sails, boats, fishing and cooking apparatus, and is in every respect the best vessel for the accommodation of parties who desire a few days enjoyment on the briny ocean that ever hailed from this port.

The SEA RANGER will make occasional trips to the SHOALS for the accommodation of such persons as desire safe conveyance thither; and when the bosom of old ocean is too much agitated for the steamer Gem of the Ocean, alias Silver Star, to venture forth, the Yacht will bear passengers safely o'er the bounding billow.

The commander of the Sea Ranger confidently appeals to those who have in past seasons patronized the SPY under his command, for the continuance of their patronage for his new Yacht, pledging himself to use every exertion to give them and all new patrons entire satisfaction.

For further particulars apply to JACOB WALDEN, No. 9 Water street, or to the Master on board, at Pier Wharf, foot of State street.
jy4 JAMES W. GOODWIN.

For Boating Parties.
THE PILOT BOAT SIBYL, Preble, is ready at all times to take large or small parties from Portsmouth, to the Shoals, or any other place on the coast. She will be at the service of parties who may wish to cruise for a number of days. The Sibyl is a new and excellent boat of about 50 tons burthen, and has no superior for speed or accommodations.

For particulars, apply in Portsmouth, at the Chronicle Office; at New Castle to

DEAD SHOT FOR BED BUGS.
A SURE death to these noxious disturbers of our nightly rest. Apply it to insects and it curls them up and lays them out as readily as Sulphur Fumes kills Bees.

It has no equal in the market. The whole world cannot produce a substitute of similar value to the comfort of a neat tidy housewife. Its application is of little trouble, while the benefit which may be derived from a single night's undisturbed repose is incalculable.

"VAPORIO PANZA
Called down "blessings upon the head of the man who first invented sleep." How much more worthy such honorable distinction would he consider the inventor of the Dead Shot, who, by his Unguent and Dusty Preparation, has rendered utterly impossible the ancient Jewish plague of such 'tolerable and not to be endured' tormentors; and who has enabled every one to guarantee to himself his own particular share of "tired Nature's sweet restorer."

DR. J. W. POLAND'S HEADACHE KILLER!

PREPARED BY

DR. J. W. POLAND

Goffstown Centre, N. H.

THIS Wonderful Medicine for the Sick and Nervous HEADACHE, as well as for Tic Doloreux, Neuralgia and all forms of Nervous Diseases, after an impartial trial of more than six years, has established its reputation as a standard Remedy. Other Headache Remedies have "waxed and waned" since this was introduced to the public, but the Genuine DR. POLAND'S HEADACHE KILLER has been, and is now increasing in sales every year.

Within three months, more than seven tons in weight of the Headache Killer have been sent over the Railroads to fill orders for it.

Please to read the Circular, which the Agents have, and you will get the history of the Medicine.

HAYES'S MEDICINES.

READER, are you suffering from Humors, internal or external? HAYES'S

Allied Ointment and Humor Syrup

will cure you just as sure as you see it. Take not our assertion for it, but the testimony of a thousand living witnesses. All it wants is a trial—it advertises itself. One bottle has sold a hundred in a single town. Reader, do you ask how you shall know these statements are facts, when there is so much humbugery and advertisement? We will inform you: call on any of our agents, get a circular, select any name you please, address a line to that individual—they will speak—they are living witnesses. It will cost but a trifle, and must convince the most skeptical. We subjoin one from among the many:

Read the following, it speaks for itself:

LAWRENCE, June 12, 1854.

We the undersigned, citizens of Lawrence, having used the Vegetable Ointment prepared by E. D. HAYES, of this city, and being personally acquainted with the Doctor, feel pleasure in adding our testimony to all the doctor claims for his medicine. Unlike other remedies in the market, this preparation performs its office speedily and with certainty. The Ointment we have used with the most happy results, after vainly seeking relief by the free use or Sarsaparilla, Salves, &c.

Our experience fully justifies us in confidently recommending it as an article, and the only one known to us, as performing all it claims.

A. S. BUNKER, A. W. STEARNS,
S. I. THOMPSON, ASA T. SANBORN.

It cures Salt Rheum, Scrofula, Erysipelas, White Leprosy, Cancers, Ringworm, King's Evil, Scald Head, Burns and Scalds, Chilblains, Piles, (a preparation expressly,) Barber's Itch, Fever Sores, and all old Mercurial Sores, however long standing. It removes all those vexatious Pimples, Eruptions and Moth or Mildew from the face, leaving the skin perfectly soft and smooth, adding greatly to the beauty of the complexion. In no case will it leave a mark or scar. It improves the sight wonderfully, where the eyes are troubled with humors, by removing the difficulty and restoring the sight.

Price of the Ointment, $1; Syrup 50 cents.

OFFICE OF THE MARYLAND CONSOLIDATED LOTTERIES,
Baltimore, Maryland, 20th June, 1855.

CAUTION.—LOTTERY FRAUDS.

THE Commissioner of the Maryland State Lotteries has deemed it his duty to caution the Public against the numerous Swindlers who circulate by mail and otherwise, fraudulent Lottery schemes, and pretend to be agents for the sale of tickets in Lotteries which are wholly fictitious.

The only legal Lotteries in Maryland are those drawn daily under the superintendence of the Commissioner elected by the people of the State under the new Constitution to examine and approve the schemes and attend to the drawings.

All the tickets in these Lotteries, and all certificates of packages of tickets have the lithographed signature F. X. BEHAN, General Agent for the Contractors, Office of the Maryland Consolidated Lotteries, Baltimore, Md. All others are fraudulent. For full information on the subject of these frauds, address F. X. BEHAN,

PIANOS.

HALLETT, DAVIS & CO.

MANUFACTURERS of GRAND AND SQUARE

PIANO-FORTES.

WAREROOMS,

NEW FREESTONE BLOCK,

No. 409 WASHINGTON STREET,

NEAR BOYLSTON STREET.....BOSTON.

Opinions of the Press.

It is now generally acknowledged that the Pianos manufactured by Hallet, Davis & Co. are unrivalled in America, if in the world, for brilliancy or purity of tone.—Boston Daily Times.

An immense volume of sound can be produced by these Pianos without shattering the tones, as they send forth the most perfect, bell like sounds, and we must confess that we have never listened to their equals for power, brilliancy, sweetness of tone, and purity of action.—Boston Herald.

The Pianos of Hallet, Davis & Co. deserve more than a passing notice. They are truly splendid instruments, very powerful, and of the purest and richest quality of tone.—Boston Traveller.

In regard to purity of tone, power and sweetness, being fully equal to any instrument that has come under our observation.—Boston Courier.

Owing to the beautiful elasticity of the action of your Grand Piano Fortes, I think it would be impossible for any Pianist, who plays properly, to break either a string or a hammer.—Extract from a Letter from Mr. Mason.

The peculiar feature of Hallet, Davis & Co.'s instruments is, they make no noise. Nothing but pure tone is produced by the vibration of the strings; and the construction of the sounding board, and action which has stood the test of time, after once testing their merits, dislike to use any other instrument in the Concert room.—Philadelphia Sunday Mercury.

I find them to be in very superior instruments—as well in tone as in touch.—Extract of a Letter from L. M. Gottschalk.

I can unhesitatingly say that I find them superior in quality and quantity of tone, to those of other makers; also in the elasticity and easy touch; and can cheerfully recommend them to any one who wishes to own or play on the best Pianos.—Extract of a letter from Robert Heller.

DEATH OF A MURDERER.—The New York Express notes the death, on the 8th inst., in Louisville, Kentucky, of Richard Parmelly alias Richard P. Robinson, the supposed murderer of Helen Jewett. The murder of this girl, it will be recollected, took place at a house in Thomas street, New York, nearly twenty years ago, and as many of our readers will recollect, created a great sensation at the time, not only in New York, but throughout the country. Robinson, a young man, who had previously borne a good character, was arrested upon suspicion of having committed the dreadful crime. On the trial, it was proved that a man answering the description of Robinson, and wearing a short cloak similar to that which he was accustomed to wear, had visited the apartment of a lady boarder, Miss Helen Jewett, at a house on Thomas St., and remained with her through the evening until after the other occupants of the house had retired. At three o'clock next morning, fire was discovered issuing from her room, the door was burst open, the flames extinguished, and upon the bed, were found the remains of the hapless girl. She had been killed by the repeated blows of some heavy instrument upon her forehead. In an adjoining yard were found the cloak which the murderer had worn, and a hatchet covered with blood. It was proved, among other things, that Robinson had been absent from his home until a late hour in the night. The trial created much excitement, and at length, after a laborious examination of five days, Mr. Hoffman, the senior counsel for the defence, closed the case with one of the most eloquent, fervid and affecting addresses that was ever uttered in this country. The jury retired, and in fifteen minutes returned a verdict of not guilty. The prisoner, who until then had appeared pale and grave, but had otherwise manifested little emotion, sunk, overpowered by his feelings, upon the neck of his venerable father, and wept like a child.

The Express says:

"Next day Robinson departed from the city of New York. Nineteen years have passed since that eventful morning. In all that time he has been a wanderer among men, in different disguises, and in remote parts of the country. We believe he never gave society at large an opportunity to shun him, nor to manifest to him its earliest conviction that notwithstanding the verdict of acquittal, he was the owner of the black cloak, the bloody hatchet, and by consequence the murderer of Helen Jewett. Living a life of seclusion in the remote Southwest, the world had well nigh forgotten him, until the brief announcement of his death recalled his terrible career. The curtain has now fallen on the last scene of all, and the subject of our brief, eventful history stands with his victim in the presence of that dread Judge, from whose all-seeing eye no secrets are hid. The principal witnesses on the trial, we believe, have the most of them long since passed from time into eternity,—and of the twelve jurors who served on that occasion, there are but few survivors."

We could never rid ourselves of the conviction, that the verdict of these jurors, like a similar verdict in Albert J. Tirrell's case, was an outrage on common sense. Both victims, to be sure, were loose women—but both the murderers also were lewd men. If it were a shame to hang men for murdering such women, it would have been no shame to shut up such rascals where they could do no mischief, but do the State some service. In each case the soft soap of an ingenious lawyer, infused almost unreasonable doubt into the minds of the jury, whether the woman did not commit the strange crime of arson and suicide united. The amount of the verdict in each case was, that such men, when jealous, may murder their paramours with entire impunity.

But the public mind, in spite of all this, has always branded both the men as murderers—and they lived liked Cain, with a mark upon them at once the sign of life and of misery.

PRISONER'S FRIEND.—The August number of this interesting periodical completes the 7th volume; so it is a favorable time for a new subscription. Among the curious matters in this number, there is a good account of a visit to the Boston Lunatic Asylum, with Signor Blitz. One of the inmates, an insane printer, told the editor he had a project for a telegraph to eternity!

The effects of Blitz's tricks upon the men and women were widely different. The former seemed sullen and morose, evidently regarding the magician as an imposter and intruder; though as the exhibition proceeded, they became more interested, gradually relaxing into good humor, and, by occasionally rising from their seats, evincing that what remained of mind was actively interested in endeavoring to comprehend the mysterious deceptions of the performer. One of the men was busily engaged in searching the Bible for passages referring to magicians and the magic arts, and informed the Signor that his wonderful "egg bag" belonged to Mary, Queen of Scots. At the end of the performance, he stated that it did not please him; he liked only "holy things." He was in imagination Prince William of Orange, and spoke familiarly of the Tudors and the Stuarts.

The females were affected differently, and, with scarcely an exception, enjoyed the exhibition throughout. One elderly woman, with a singularly pointed cap, expressed her opinion of Signor Blitz by the remark, that "he is the devil himself," and after this moved no muscle of the face, nor paid the least attention to his operations. Another patient was so indignant at the trick of removing feathers from a hat that she was obliged to be removed. A tall, nervous woman became so deeply interested in the feat of the "dancing plates," that she rose from her seat, and in a most commanding manner motioned for the plates to be quiet. One woman in particular viewed the exhibition with peculiar pleasure, her body being fairly convulsed with mirth. She afterwards told the Signor that she had rather hear him preach than her minister.

The Prisoner's Friend is published by Chas. Spear, Boston, at $2 per annum.

MONDAY, AUGUST 20, 1855.

REDUCTION IN PRICES.

The press and the people are waking up to consider this matter. The Boston Courier says:

The question of food and monopoly has taken a wider range than some persons expected. A gentleman who owns an estate upon which he lives, about three miles from Boston, informs us that he has had an abundance of products of the earth which he has not been able to use himself, and which have rotted upon his trees and his vines. He has more potatoes and other vegetables than he can use, and he would be glad to form one of a company which would send into town all their extra vegetables, without any other expense except that which attended the digging and transportation. If his ideas are in sympathy with those of others of his class, his object may be effected.

In New York, the loud complaints of the people against the exclusion of the market gardeners from the privileges of selling openly have resulted in the repeal of the law. On Monday evening the Councilmen had under consideration the proposition to permit the market gardeners bringing produce to the city, to occupy that section of the block west of West street, at present occupied by the farmers during the entire day, for the standing of wagons laden with produce, the Commissioner of Streets and Lamps to have said block levelled to the ground; the market men having also permission to place their wagons in the vicinity of any of the public markets in the upper section of the city—which was accepted. The matter led to a very lengthened debate. Mr. President Conover took a decided stand against the report, and offered a substitute, allowing the market gardeners the use of Canal street, from the Hudson River as far up as necessary, on one side the way, till 10 A. M., which was voted down, and the reports adopted by a vote of 33 to 2.

A meeting was held in Fall River on Monday evening, to take measures against the frauds and speculations practiced by dealers in flour. One of the projects submitted was to purchase flour by the cargo.

GOLD IN OREGON.—Accounts from Oregon, as to the richness of the gold diggings said to be there located, seem of late to be quite contradictory. It was but a few days since that we published the accounts furnished by returning adventurers, who came back wiser but no richer men than when they started. A letter in the New York Times says:

The mention made in my last of the discovery of rich gold mines at 'Fort Colville,' on the Columbia River, has been corroborated by the return of Frenchmen, bringing with them beautiful specimens of the precious metal, taken from dry diggings twenty five miles up the Pen d'Orville River. The information, coming from reliable sources, has entirely dispelled the cry of humbug, and it now is considered a fixed fact that a portion of Oregon is as rich in mineral resources as California. Those that have returned report that they made as high as $40 per day, with a pan on a bar of the river. Since then a new discovery has been made of lead and silver ore; the lead proves to be 85 per cent., but no examination has yet been made of the silver.

The crops are much injured in some portions of the country by smut and grasshoppers—large fields will remain uncut; still our Territory will have a large surplus for exportation. Flour now brings only $5 per barrel, and unless a mining market opens, it must go still lower. All our productions rate lower than ever before. If any new developments as to the Colville mines are made, you will be apprised in due time.

Henry Ward Beecher has 'a realizing sense' of what good coffee is. He writes of it thus: "Breakfast is ready. A most useful and salutary custom is that of breakfast. One may work with the hands before breakfast, but not much with the head. The machine must be wound up. The blue must be taken out of your spirits, and the gray out of your eyes. A cup of coffee—real coffee—home-browned, home-ground, home-made, that comes to you dark as a hazel eye, but changes to a golden bronze as you temper it with cream that never cheated, but was real cream from its birth, thick, tenderly yellow, perfectly sweet, neither lumpy nor frothing on the Java; such a cup of coffee is a match for twenty blue devils, and will exorcise them all. Involuntarily one draws in his breath by the nostrils. The fragrant savors fill his senses with pleasure—for no coffee can be good in the mouth that does not first send a sweet offering of odor to the nostrils."

MORE ABOUT THE PHILADELPHIA SLAVE CASE.—The Philadelphia Pennsylvanian of Monday states that Col. John H. Wheeler, who has resided in that city since the escape of his three slaves from the steamer Washington, took his departure from that place on Saturday morning last. He had hardly left the city when William Still, one of the colored men who aided in the escape of the slaves, presented himself, in company with a lawyer, at the office of Alderman Hibbard, and made an affidavit to the effect that Mr. Wheeler had forcibly endeavored to kidnap the woman, Jane Johnson, and to carry her away contrary to her wishes, in a violent, tumultuous and unreasonable manner. The affidavit also charged him with an assault and battery upon her person. Upon the strength of this affidavit, a warrant was issued for the arrest of Mr. Wheeler, but it was too late to prevent his departure from the city.

We have rarely read anything more beautiful than the following lines, which we copy from the Boston Advertiser. Its editor, who seems to have known their subject, characterizes them as beautiful and appropriate.

EPITAPH ON THE LATE JOSEPH FOSTER, ESQ.

Rest, to the clay, below this emerald sod,
Peace, to the spirit, with its father,—God!
Loftier and prouder names, than his beneath,
Swell the grim harvest of the reaper,—Death;
Yet the bright record of the true and just,
Shows no more honest fame, than crowns this sleeper's dust.

ABBOT LAWRENCE.

Died, in Boston, on Saturday, Hon. Abbot Lawrence, aged 63.

Abbot Lawrence was a noble specimen of a class of noble men, the American Merchants. He was eminently intelligent, industrious, liberal and honorable. His list of charities might not be quite so numerous as those of his worthy brother Amos; but his benefactions were neither few nor small.

The merchant whose honorable career is crowned with signal success, deserves to rank among great men. Mr. Lawrence did so.—He was a friend and admirer, (not worshipper,) of Daniel Webster, who in his turn entertained a high regard for the practical business talent of the merchant prince, whose attainments were as unattainable to Webster, as were the Websterian graces of rhetoric to Lawrence.

Mr. Lawrence represented his country ably and honorably, as Minister, at the British Court, which ministry was his last public trust. His death causes a great vacancy in the commercial, manufacturing and financial circle of New England, in the social system of Boston and vicinity; and most in the domestic circle, where he was best beloved.

FANNY FERN.—The following morceau from the pen of Fanny Fern would almost put life into a wooden man. Isn't she a "little Bunker Hill!"

I CAN'T! "Apollo! what a face! doleful as a hearse; folded hands; hollow chest; whining voice; the very picture of cowardly irresolution. Spring to your feet, hold up your head, set your teeth together, draw that fine form of yours up to the heighth that God made it; draw an immense long breath, and look about you. What do you see?—Why, all creation taking care of number one—pushing ahead like the car of Juggernaut, over like victims. There it is; and you can't help it. Are you going to lie down and be crushed?

"By all that's holy, not dash ahead! You have as good a right to mount the triumphant car as your neighbor. Snap your fingers at croakers; if you cant get round a stump, leap over it, high and dry! Have nerves of steel, a will of iron; never mind sideaches, or heartaches; or headaches; dig away without stopping to breathe, or to notice envy or malice. Set your target in the clouds and aim at it.—If your arrow falls short of the mark, what of that? Pick it up and go at it again. If you should never reach it, you'll shoot higher than if you had only aimed at a bush. Don't whine, if your friends fall off. At the first stroke of good luck, by mammon! they'll swarm around you like a hive of bees, till you are disgusted with human nature.

"I can't! Oh, pshaw! I'll throw my glove in your face, if I am a woman!—you are a disgrace to corduroys, what! a man lack courage! A man want independence! A man to be discouraged at obstacles! A man afraid to face anything on earth save his Maker! Why! I'm a little Bunker Hill, myself! I've the most unmitigated contempt for you you little pusillanimous pussy cat! There's nothing manly about you except your whiskers."

ACCIDENT AND ESCAPE FROM DEATH.—A record of all the escapes from death on railroads, the result of carelessness on the part of passengers, would fill a large space in the daily papers. On Monday, on the Worcester Railroad, a man named Casey, living in Watertown, jumped from a train while it was entering the depot in this city, and before the motion had ceased. He fell head foremost upon the platform, and rolled down so that his hair caught in the wheels of the car. He was promptly drawn from his perilous position, and under the supervision of Mr. Rufus Cook, the officer at the depot, several severe wounds on his head were properly attended to and he was sent to his home. The sudden withdrawal of his head from proximity to the wheel which held his hair, was almost equal, he says, to the scalping process. —Boston Traveller.

A SAD TALE.—A man named Barnabas Bates, picked up in our streets in a state of intoxication, tells a sorry story of his life.—He says, twelve years since, he was the possessor of a fortune of $20,000, and surrounded by a happy family. He then resided near Utica. He was tempted to purchase a lottery ticket; and now his wife, children and farm are all gone. His wife is in her grave, his children are married and settled from him and his farm squandered for lottery tickets. He expressed to Chief Morgan entire indifference as to his fate—for all his property was gone and life was indifferent to him. "Yes," said he, "I blame no one—it was my own fault—I brought this on myself. I am sixty years old, and have not much longer to stay."

The old man's sad experience has a lesson for those who will listen to it.—Albany Register.

AN ADVENTURE.—A compositor employed in the office of one of the principal New York papers, celebrated the anniversary of his country's independence by quaffing deeply from the intoxicating cup. Mounting to his brain, the liquor stole away his senses, and when consciousness and reason again dawned upon his mind, he found himself lying in the hold of a little vessel, in company with a considerable party of desperate looking characters, on his way to Halifax to be enlisted with them in the 'foreign legion.' Master Typo was much astonished and exceedingly indignant. He protested earnestly against the outrage, and declared that he would not desert his wife and children in New York for all the glories which were ever won upon the battle field. Notwithstanding his protestations, he was carried to Halifax and detained there a considerable time before he could escape from the clutches of Her Majesty's officers. At length he regained his freedom, and after working in a printing office long enough to earn his passage money home, he bade farewell to Nova Scotia and arrived in New York on the first of August, much to the surprise and joy of his friends, who had given him up for dead.

LOCAL.

GOOD ORDER.—Nothing of the kind could have gratified us more than the general obedience of our people to the new Act for the Suppression of Intemperance. During the whole of last week, our citizens observed with pleasure, that the usual squads of loafers were missing from their old haunts; that the individuals of this class who were visible anywhere, had cleaner faces, better looking eyes, and if you came near them, a less offensive odor.

There were, moreover, no disturbances in streets or houses, that we heard of—though such things were before too commonly forced into our notice by nightly yells and screams.

We say these agreeable changes were the effect of obedience to the new law, not of its enforcement; for as yet we have heard of no occasion for the enforcement of it in any case. We esteem obedience as much better than enforcement; for the same reason that we esteem honesty more than we do the states prison. And while we express the public gratitude for this week of peace, we invite any man who can, to give us one good reason why the floodgates of disorder and confusion should ever again be opened here.

If any such reason can be given, we will publish it far and wide; but if not, let the gates keep shut down, let peace prevail, and turmoil be forgotten.

A FLAW IN THE ACT.—A legal correspondent of the Gazette, who signs himself X. Y. Z., has discovered a conflict between the new judiciary law and the new liquor law.—The latter requires offenders to be bound over for trial at the Court of Common Pleas. But the former deprives the C. C. P. of a grand jury, which it gives to the Superior Court.

The amount of X. Y. Z.'s discovery is, that in his opinion police courts and justices of the peace cannot bind over these offenders for trial at either court. But he considers that the following items of power are clearly retained in the Act:

It is clear that the C. C. Pleas has an appellate jurisdiction in all criminal cases where the defendant is committed and claims an appeal from a justice or a police court. As the act makes the vending of liquors a statute offence, an offender may be indicted by a grand jury at the Supreme Court without any previous complaint before a civil magistrate.

This, however, is a mere volunteer opinion of a newspaper writer. It is not a decision.

For the Chronicle.

ECONOMY is a great public virtue, Mr. Editor, and therefore I hope the Building Committee of the New School House will have a strict regard to it in the remainder of their labors and duties. I see some writers in the Gazette and Journal find fault with the great outlay of money on the building, and the Citizen of the Gazette says that the Democratic party are the party of economy. By this, I suppose he means that if we choose men of that party, they will manage better than other people. But do you not know, that we have two Aldermen of the Democratic party from Ward three this year? One of these gentlemen was chairman of the Committee which recommended the sale of the Court House and the erection of a costly building on that lot,—and the same gentleman is now on the building committee, and has generally voted for a good and costly building throughout.

I find no fault with him for these votes, though I should have preferred a different plan and place for building, but I mention these votes to show that economy or extravagance does not belong to any one party. I have no doubt he and all the committee have acted according to their best judgement. That they and the two boards have not been always unanimous, must not be wondered at. For even the wise public out of doors are not all agreed. Some think we need no new school house. I do not think so. I am glad we are to have a good one, though as I said before, the committee have not gone on my favorite plan. QUIBTUS.

☞ The Portsmouth Marine Railway, with Wharf, Buildings, Fixtures and conveniences for hauling up vessels to repair, was sold for the sum of $3800, to Leonard Cotton, Esq. We trust that this enterprising gentleman will put the same in order—and establish what we learn has long been a desideratum—a railway for the repairing of vessels from fifty to two hundred tons. This may be done at a slight expense. And it has been found to be an excellent investment in other places, where the policy of low rates and plenty of business has made the railway stock among the best.

GUILTY CONSCIENCE!—The following anonymous letter was received a few days since by Capt. John Lunges of Great Falls. It was postmarked Portsmouth, N. H.

"Let conscience have her perfect work."
"Owe no man anything."

Set not thy heart among sinners; but be thou in the fear of the Lord all the day long."

Accompanying this was a small amount of money. The letter tells the entire story of itself. And what a tale it unfolds.—Great Falls Jour.

WASHINGTON MATTERS. — Washington' Aug. 17th.—Information was lodged at the post office office that a duel had been arranged by Mr. Faulkner, Member of Congress from Virginia, and Mr. Boteler, his late opponent, and that they had come here for the purpose of consummating the arrangements. The parties were accordingly arrested this morning, and put under bonds of $5000 each not to fight in this District, or leave it for the purpose of fighting elsewhere.

The Union of this morning announces the appointment by the President of Dr. Parker as Commissioner to China, which the Doctor has accepted.

The statements published in the northern papers that the President intends visiting Canada are untrue, though it is quite probable invitations have been extended to him to do so.

The War Department came very near being destroyed by fire this afternoon in consequence of some loose papers carlessly left becoming ignited. The flames were suppressed, however, without material damage, but intense alarm was felt for a while among the west end officials.

The War Department has received authentic intelligence in regard to the cholera at Fort Riley. Majors Wood and Armstead were not dead, but their wives were. Two of Major Wood's children had also died. The death of Major Ogden is confirmed. A number of the troops had died.

ATTORNEY GENERAL'S OFFICE.—Habeas Corpus.—On habeas corpus, and subjicicendum issued by a State court at the relation of a party held in confinment under legal process of the United States Court, the State judge cannot lawfully go behind the return of the writ showing such process of the Court of the the United States.

EXTRADITION OF FUGITIVES FROM JUSTICE.—The President has no power to control the decision of the examining Commission on the question of the extradition of an alleged fugitive from justice claimed by a foreign government in virtue of treaty with the United States.

THE YELLOW FEVER.—Baltimore, Aug. 17th.—At Portsmouth yesterday, there were twelve deaths from yellow fever, and fifteen new cases. Midshipman Walter Jones, in command of the Pensylvania there, and five seamen were down with it. The crew of the Pennsylvania have been taken to Craney Island by the St. Lawrence, for better protection. Private letters from Norfolk represent the disease increasing there. Five deaths and three new cases of fever are reported as having occurred in Richmond yesterday. All the parties were originally from Gosport.

The contributions in this city for the relief of the sufferers amount to $3000. Provisions are purchased, and sent down daily by the boats.

RAILROAD ACCIDENT.—As the Hartford freight train was coming in Monday afternoon, and when not far from Sabin street, after the locomotive had been disconnected from the train, Mr. James Rothwell of Roxbury, attempted to drive a horse and wagon between the engine and cars. The horse was struck by the cars and instantly killed, and the wagon broken in fragments. Mr. Rothwell was somewhat bruised about the head, but it is believed not seriously injured. The accident was the result entirely of his own heedlessness.—Providence Journal.

STAGE ACCIDENT.— A stage, containing six passengers—all upon the top of the vehicle—left Conway, from the White Mountains, a few days ago, and was overturned on the road. Among the passengers severely injured, was F. J. Hill, of Boston. He was conveyed upon a litter to the steamer on lake Winnipiseogee, where his wounds were properly dressed. He was insensible for some time after the accident. How he escaped with his life is a miracle, as the coach literally fell upon top of him. Another passenger, whose name we have not learned, was injured internally.—Boston Times, 14th.

THE LOUISVILLE RIOTS.—The city council of Louisville has passed resolutions declaring that the recent deeds of violence and bloodshed in that city were provoked by the foreign population. They have appointed a committee to inquire into the condition and necessities of the families made destitute by the outbreak, but rejected a resolution to pay for the property destroyed. We doubt not decision is in accordance with facts.—Boston Bee.

Niepcotypes on Glass, and Photographs on Paper.

MR. SALEN wishes to inform the citizens of Portsmouth and vicinity, that he has procured the Art to take Likenesses on GLASS and PAPER. The now so much admired Photograph, taken on paper, excels by far the Daguerreotype on a metallic plate

These pictures are durable; are not reversed; have not the blending of a Daguerreotype, and excel in softness of light and shade the finest engraving. They are finished on beautiful French cartons put up in frames, and therefore are particularly adapted for parlor pictures. They can also be secured and sent in a letter to a distant friend.

Taken at SALEN'S Daguerrean Gallery, at all prices and sizes, on reasonable terms.

Please call and examine specimens. a4

PAVILION,
WOLFBOROUGH, N. H.

THE subscribers beg leave to inform their friends and the public that they have leased the above spacious Public House, which contains over one hundred well furnished rooms, which have been put in good order, for permanent and transient boarders. The House commands a good view of Lake Winnipiseogee, together with the beautiful hills which surround it- from one of which the prospect is said to excel that of Mount Washington—making many beautiful rides in the vicinity, on land as well as on the beautiful lake.

Good horses and carriages are connected with the house, and the beautiful steamboats "Lady of the Lake" and "Dover" make several trips each day up and down the lake. Gentlemen who delight in angling and hunting will find here ample field for their favorite enjoyment. Meals at all hours, without extra charge, for sportsmen.—Good carriages and accommodating porters in attendance on the arrival of each boat.
NATH'L TEAD,
Wolf boro', June 27. R. W. ADAMS.

Steamboat Notice.

THE fine and commodious Steamboat SILVER STAR will run regularly every day from Portsmouth to Appledore Island, (Isles of Shoals,) in connection with the morning trains from the South, leaving Pier Wharf, Portsmouth, directly after the arrival of the Cars, and will return in season for the Evening Trains from Portsmouth.

The Boat is fitted with all the modern improvements for a Passenger Boat; and her double Engines are of the most approved pattern, and all her appointments are superior.

Towing done on reasonable terms. For particulars apply to the captain, or to Capt. Marshall at Pier wharf.

The boat can be chartered for sea Parties, upon application to the captain on board, giving reasonable notice.
je23 THOMAS MAKINNEY, Captain.

Yacht Sea Ranger,
FOR THE SHOALS AND A MARKET.

CAPT. JAMES W. GOODWIN respectfully gives notice to the pleasure seeking public that he has purchased for their accommodation the present season, the safe, commodious and fast-sailing Yacht SEA RANGER, of 45 tons burthen, with which he is now prepared to convey parties to the Shoals, Boar's Head and other places in the vicinity; and having furnished her with all the necessary materials, will accommodate FISHING PARTIES on reasonable terms.

The SEA RANGER will outsail any vessel on the Piscataqua or of any neighboring ports, in light or heavy winds; is fitted with excellent berths; is well provided with sails, boats, fishing and cooking apparatus, and is in every respect the best vessel for the accommodation of parties who desire a few days enjoyment on the briny ocean that ever hailed from this port.

The SEA RANGER will make occasional trips to the SHOALS for the accommodation of such persons as desire safe conveyance thither; and when the boom of old ocean is too much agitated for the steamer GRACE DARLING, alias Silver Star, to venture forth, the Yacht will bear passengers safely o'er the bounding billow.

The commander of the Sea Ranger confidently appeals to those who have in past seasons patronized the SEA under his command, for the continuance of their patronage and his new Yacht, pledging himself to use every exertion to give them and all new patrons entire satisfaction.

For further particulars apply to JACOB WALDEN, No. 9 Water street, or to the Master on board, at Pier Wharf, foot of State street.
jy4 JAMES W. GOODWIN.

For Boating Parties.

THE PILOT BOAT SIBYL, Preble, is ready at all times to take large or small parties from Portsmouth, to the Shoals, or any other place on the coast. She will be at the service of parties who may wish to cruise for a number of days. The Sibyl is a new and excellent boat of about 50 tons burthen, and has no superior for speed or accommodation.

For particulars, apply in Portsmouth, at the Chronicle Office; at New Castle to jy2 2m* E. A. PREBLE.

Isles of Shoals.

DEAD SHOT FOR BED BUGS.

A SURE death to these noxious disturbers of our nightly rest. Apply it to insects and it curls them up and lays them out as readily as Sulphur Fumes kills Bees.

It has no equal in the market. The whole world cannot produce a substitute of similar value to the comfort of a neat tidy housewife. Its application is of little trouble, while the benefit which may be derived from a single night's undisturbed repose is incalculable.

SANCHO PANZA
Called down "blessings upon the head of the man who first invented sleep." How much more worthy such honorable distinction would he consider the inventor of the Dead Shot, who, by his Pungent and Deadly Preparation, has rendered utterly impossible the ancient bloody forays of such tolerable and not to be endured tormentors; and who has enabled every one to guarantee to himself his own particular share of "tired Nature's sweet restorer."

LABOR IN VIRGINIA.—We find an item credited to a Pittsburg paper, which notices that in consequence of the failure of a cotton mill there, a number of young white girls who were thrown out of employ, went to work in the several tobacco factories of the city, in which, it seems, negro hands are employed. The paper is careful to say that the whites and blacks were at work in separate rooms. Whether the negroes were slave or free is not stated, but the fact mentioned shows that white labor does compete with that of negroes in the cities of the South. It has long been supposed that the Southern States would at some future day engross the business of manufacturing, and do it cheaper than the North, in consequence of the alleged advantage of slave labor. But it seems that in Virginia, where slave labor is abundant, white girls are employed in the cotton mills, and can also compete with negroes in tobacco factories.—White people cannot all be proprietors or employers, and the poorer classes among them must get employment in some way, no matter where they may be, North or South. It is apparent, therefore, that either the poor white labor of the South must go into competition with that of the negro, or migrate to the North, where the field of competition is engrossed by the white.

It is a question of bread. Such facts prove that, whatever may be the struggle of sectionists and politicians, and the ingenuity of theorists, the institution of slavery needs no legislation against it, and cannot be helped by the legislation in its favor. Left to the natural course of things, it will be swallowed up and lost in a deluge of white labor. The poor white population is constantly multiplying about it, the immense immigration from Europe, and the wonderful multiplication at the North, all look to such a result. When the western territories are occupied, nothing can arrest the southward tendency of emigration.—Philadelphia U. S. Gazette.

The facts in the above article are very valuable; but some portions of the argument are extremely weak and unsatisfactory.

Solicitor of Patents.

"During the time I occupied the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, did business at the Patent Office, as Solicitor of Patents. There were few, if any persons doing in that capacity, who had so much business before the Patent Office; and there were none who conducted it with more skill, fidelity, and success. I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the best informed and most skilful Patent Solicitors in the United States, and have no hesitation in warning inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their application in a form to secure for them as early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.

EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents."

"PATENT OFFICE,

"R. H. EDDY, Esq., Boston, Mass.

"SIR:—Your facilities for the prosecution of any business connected with this Office, are equal to those of any other agent I am very respectfully, Yours, &c. THOMAS EWBANK, Commissioner of Patents."

PIANOS.

Opinions of the Press.

It is now generally acknowledged that the Pianos manufactured by Hallet, Davis & Co. are unrivalled in America, if in the world, for brilliancy or purity of tone.—Boston Daily Times.

An immense volume of sound can be produced by these Pianos without shattering the tones, as they send forth the most perfect, bell like notes, and we must confess that we have never listened to their equals for power, brilliancy, sweetness of tone, and purity of action.—Boston Herald.

The Pianos of Hallet, Davis & Co. deserve more than a passing notice. They are truly splendid instruments, very powerful, and of the purest and richest quality of tone.—Boston Traveller.

In regard to purity of tone, power and sweetness, being fully equal to any instrument that has come under our observation.—Boston Courier.

Owing to the beautiful elasticity of the action of your Grand Piano Fortes, I think it would be impossible for any Pianist, who plays properly, to break either a string or a hammer.—Extract from a Letter from Wm. Mason.

The peculiar feature of Hallet, Davis & Co.'s instruments is, they make no noise. Nothing but a tone is produced by the vibration of the strings; and the construction of the sounding board, and action are such that skilful pianists, after once testing their merits, dislike to use other instruments in the Concert room.—Philadelphia Sunday Mercury.

I find them to be very superior instruments—as well in tone as in touch.—Extract of a Letter from L. M. Gottschalk.

I can unhesitatingly say that I find them superior in quality and quantity of tone, to those of other makers; also in the elasticity and easy touch; and can cheerfully recommend them to any one who wishes to own or play on the best Pianos.—Extract of a letter from Robert Heller.

SEC. 13. All acts and parts of acts inconsistent with this act, are hereby repealed.

Approved July 13, 1855.

AN ACT regulating naturalization and the suffrage of naturalized citizens.

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives in General Court convened:

SECTION 1. No court created by the authority of this State except the court of common pleas, nor any functionary pertaining to any such court, except said court of common pleas, shall hereafter hold or exercise any jurisdiction in the administration of the laws of Congress, commonly known as the naturalization laws, nor take cognizance of any application of any alien to be admitted to become a citizen, nor make any record, or grant or issue any certificate or other document or paper whereby any alien shall be naturalized, or made a citizen of the United States.

SEC. 2. All proceedings in regard to naturalization, shall be had in open court.

SEC. 3. No person of foreign birth who shall claim the right to vote by reason of naturalization papers issued to him from any court in the United States, shall have the right to vote in any city, town or place in this State, unless three months at least before the day of election, he shall produce to the selectmen of the city, ward, town or place in which he resides and has his home, his said naturalization papers. And the said selectmen shall enter in a book to be kept by them for that purpose, the name of said person, the date of the issue of said papers, and the court by which the same were issued. And if it shall appear to said selectmen that said papers were in due form, and were issued by a courthaving jurisdiction of such matters, and that the person producing them is the party to whom they were issued, they shall cause his name to be entered on the check list of such city, ward, town or place, and to be continued on said list so long as he shall remain a resident of such city, ward, town or place, and entitled to vote therein.

SEC. 4. If said selectmen shall be of opinion that the papers so produced are not genuine, or that the party so producing them, is not the person to whom they were issued, they shall not be required to make such entries in such book, nor to enter the name of such person on the check list as aforesaid; but said person having so produced and exhibited his papers, shall not be deprived of his right to vote by reason of his name not being entered in said book, but his right to vote shall be determined in the manner it would be if this act had not been passed.

SEC. 5. All acts and parts of acts inconsistent with this act, are hereby repealed.

SEC. 6. This act shall take effect from and after its passage. Approved July 14, 1855.

AN ACT in addition to and in amendment of chapter 147 of the Compiled Statutes.

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives in General Court convened:

SECTION 1. Any corporation, by unanimous vote of all the shares represented at any legal meeting called for that purpose, or by the written consent of all holders of stock in such corporation, filed with its clerk, may increase the number of shares into which its capital stock is divided, and diminish the par value of the same to such sums as may be thought expedient or desirable—Provided that such capital stock shall not thereby be increased or diminished, and that the par value of said shares shall not be fixed at less than fifty dollars.

SEC. 2. This act shall take effect from its passage. Approved July 13, 1855.

AN ACT authorizing banks in this State to hold stock in the Bank of Mutual Redemption.

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives in General Court convened, That any banking corporation in this State may subscribe for, and hold in its own name, shares in the capital stock of the Bank of Mutual Redemption, to be located in Boston, Massachusetts, to an amount not exceeding five per cent. of the capital stock of the bank subscribing therefor—and such subscription shall be made only when authorized by the unanimous vote of the directors making the same.

SEC. 2. This act shall take effect from and after its passage. Approved July 14, 1855.

AN ACT in amendment of the fifth section of chapter forty-six of the Revised Statutes.

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives in General Court convened:

SECTION 1. That section fifth of chapter forty-six of the Revised Statutes be so far amended as to authorise and require the collector to advertise the land on which taxes have not been paid, in the New Hampshire Statesman, printed at Concord, instead of the New Hampshire Patriot and State Gazette, as now required by law.

SEC. 2. So much of section fifth of chapter forty-six of the Revised Statutes, as is inconsistent with this act, is hereby repealed.

SEC. 3. This act shall take effect from and after its passage. Approved July 13, 1855.

AN ACT in amendment of chapter 82 of the Compiled Statutes.

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives in General Court convened, That it shall be the duty of the several commissioners of common schools in this State to commence their services as such, on or before the first Monday of December.

SEC. 2. This act shall take effect from its passage—and all acts and parts of acts inconsistent with this act, are hereby repealed.

Approved July 13, 1855.

AN ACT in addition to chapter two hundred and twenty-one of the Pamphlet Laws relating to school districts.

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives in General Court convened, That whenever any member of any school district in any town, with his taxable property, shall have been disannexed, for school purposes, from the district to which he belonged, and annexed to some district in an adjoining town, or any new school district shall have been formed by the division of inhabitants of adjoining towns, agreeably to the provisions of the first or second section of the act to which this is an addition, the selectmen of the town disannexing such member, or forming such new school district, shall, upon petition for that purpose, by any person interested, have power to restore such member with his taxable property to his original rights, and to dissever and destroy such new school district upon such terms as they shall deem just and equitable, as they now have to disannex or form a school district.

SEC. 2. The proceedings of such selectmen, under the provisions of this act, shall conform, as nearly as the circumstances of the case and the nature of the issue will allow, to all similar proceedings under the act to which this is in addition.

SEC. 3. Chapter 1536 of the pamphlet laws entitled "An act in addition to chapter 221 of the pamphlet laws, approved June 26, 1845," shall be and the same is hereby repealed—and this act shall take effect from and after its passage.

Approved July 13, 1855.

AN ACT authorizing the appointment of a superintendent of public instruction in the city of Manchester.

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives in General Court convened, The board of mayor and aldermen and board of school committee shall, in convention, elect some suitable person, to be superintendent of public instruction, in said city, who shall hold his office two years from the time of his appointment, and if any vacancy shall occur in said office by resignation or otherwise, they shall fill the same immediately, and if the convention shall fail to elect within one month from the passage of this act, or from the time of any vacancy, the mayor and aldermen shall appoint the same.

SEC. 2. The superintendent shall exercise the general supervision of the public schools in said city, and shall perform such duties now required of the superintending school committee, as relate to visiting schools, and shall assist in examining teachers and scholars, and in preparing the annual report.—He shall, also, under the supervision and direction of the board of school committee, perform such duties required of the prudential committee of towns, as relate to furnishing fuel and other necessary supplies and to making repairs, and shall report his proceedings and the condition and progress of the schools to the board as often as they may require, and shall receive such compensation as the city council may determine, but such compensation shall not be diminished during his continuance in office.

SEC. 3. The school committee shall continue to perform all the duties now by law require of them, except so far as they may be legally performed by the superintendent, and shall receive such compensation as the city council may decide.

SEC. 4. This act shall take effect in the city of Manchester, from and after its passage; and any other city, at its annual meeting, or at any meeting lawfully called for that purpose, may adopt the provisions of this chapter which shall thereupon extend and apply to such city as fully as to the city of Manchester. [Approved July 9, 1855.

AN ACT respecting Railroads.

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives in General Court convened, That whenever in the construction of a branch railroad for the purpose of obtaining gravel, timber, or any other material for any railroad, or for the accommodation of individuals, it shall become necessary to cross any highway, any railroad corporation is authorized to do so,—Provided the same shall not obstruct the public travel—and the selectmen of the town in which said branch railroad may be constructed, shall give their assent thereto.

SEC. 2 Said railroad corporations are authorized to continue and maintain any such branch railroads already constructed, on the same conditions.

SEC. 3. This act shall take effect from its passage Approved July 14, 1855.

AN ACT providing for limited partnership.

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives in General Court convened, That limited partnerships for the transaction of mercantile, mechanical, or manufacturing business within this State may be formed by two or more persons upon the terms and with the subject to the conditions and liabilities hereinafter contained; but nothing contained in this act shall authorise such partnerships for the purpose of banking or insurance.

SEC. 2. The said partnerships may consist of one or more persons who shall be called general partners, and shall be jointly and severally responsible as general partners now are by law, and of one or more persons who shall contribute to the common stock, a specific sum in actual cash payment as capital and who shall be called special partners, and shall not be personally liable for any debts of the partnership.

SEC. 3. The persons forming such partnerships shall make and severally sign a certificate which shall contain the name or firm under which said partnership is to be conducted, the names and respective places of residence of all the general and special partners, distinguishing who are general and who are special partners, the amount of capital which each special partner has contributed to the common stock, the general nature of the business to be transacted, where it is to be conducted and the time when the partnership is to commence and when it is to terminate.

SEC. 4. No partnership shall be deemed to have been formed until a certificate made as aforesaid shall be acknowledged by all the parties, before some justice of the peace, and recorded in the registry of deeds of the county in which the place of business of said partnership is situated, in a book to be kept for that purpose, open to public inspection; and if any false statement shall be made in any such certificate, all the persons interested in the partnership shall be liable as general partners for all the liabilities thereof.

SEC. 5. The partners shall for three successive weeks immediately after such recording, publish a copy of the certificate above mentioned, in a newspaper printed in the county in which the place of business is situated.

SEC. 6. At the time of recording the certificate provided for in the fourth section of this act, with the evidence of the acknowledgment thereof, an affidavit of one or more of the general partners shall be filed in the same office, stating that the sums specified in the certificate to have been contributed by each of the special partners to the common stock, have been actually and in good faith paid in, in cash.

SEC. 7. The business of such partnership shall be conducted in the name of the general partners only, and the general partners only shall transact the business, and if the name of any special partner shall be used by such firm, with his consent or privity, or if he shall personally make any contract respecting the concerns of the partnership, with any person except the general partners, he shall be deemed and treated as a general partner.

SEC. 8. During the continuance of any partnership, under the provisions of this act, no special partner shall withdraw any part of the capital by him paid into said firm—provided, however, it shall be lawful for him to withdraw from said firm, annually or semi-annually, the accruing interest on said capital, if the payment of such interest shall not reduce the original amount of such capital. But if any special partner shall withdraw any part of his capital from such firm during the continuance of said partnership, he shall be held responsible to refund the same with interest thereon, or in case, after the dissolution of the concern, he shall neglect or refuse to make good the deficiency, he shall be held responsible for all the liabilities of such partnership.

SEC. 9. Every alteration which shall be made in the names of the partners, in the nature of the business, in the capital or otherwise thereof, or in any other matter specified in the original certificate, shall be deemed a dissolution of the partnership, and if it shall be further continued, the same shall be deemed a general partnership, and the special partners shall be responsible for all the liabilities of said partnership.

SEC. 10. Every renewal or continuance of such partnership beyond the time originally fixed for its duration, shall be certified, acknowledged and recorded, and notice given in the manner herein required for its original formation; and every such partnership which shall be otherwise renewed or continued, shall be deemed a general partnership.

SEC. 11. No dissolution of such partnership by the acts of the parties, shall take place previous to the time specified in the certificate of its formation, or in the certificate of its renewal, until notice of such dissolution shall have been filed and recorded in the registry of deeds, where the original certificate is recorded, and published once in each week for four weeks, in a newspaper printed in the county where the partnership may have its place of business.

SEC. 12. Suits in relation to the business of the partnership may be brought, and conducted by and against the general partners in the same manner as if there were no special partners, except in cases where the special partners may have been responsible for the liabilities of the partnership agreeably to the provisions of this act.

SEC. 13. The justices of the superior court of judicature may hear and determine as a court of equity, all questions arising under this act.

SEC 14. In case of the insolvency or bankruptcy of the partnership, no special partner shall, under any circumstances, be allowed to claim, as a creditor, until the claims of all the other creditors of the partnership shall be satisfied.

SEC. 15. This act shall take effect upon its passage. Approved July 13, 1855.

AN ACT relating to the assessment of the school tax.

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives in General Court convened, That the selectmen in each town shall assess annually upon the polls and taxable estate by law taxable therein, a sum to be computed at the rate of two hundred dollars, for every dollar of the public taxes, apportioned to such town, and so for a greater or less sum.

SEC. 2. This act shall take effect from its passage and all acts or parts of acts inconsistent with this act are hereby repealed.

Approved July 11, 1855.

AN ACT in amendment of chapter 1537 of the Pamphlet Laws.

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives in General Court convened, That any two or more adjoining school districts in this State, may, by a two thirds vote of the legal voters in each of said districts present, at any legal meeting thereof, duly notified and holden for that purpose, unite and form a single district. And such new district so constituted shall have all the powers and privileges, and be subject to all the liabilities of other school districts in this State.

SEC 2. That section first of chapter 1537 of the Pamphlet Laws of which this is an amendment, is hereby repealed.

SEC. 3. This act shall take effect and be in force from its passage.

Approved July 13, 1855.

AN ACT in amendment of an act, entitled an "act to sever a certain tract of land from Bedford and Goffstown, and to annex the same to the city of Manchester," approved July 1st, 1853.

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives in General Court convened:

SECTION 1. The city of Manchester shall, on or before the first day of June next, assess, collect and pay over to the towns of Bedford and Goffstown respectively, a sum equal to the difference between the amount of the State, and county taxes assessed upon those towns respectively in the year eighteen hundred and fifty-four, agreeably to the provisions of the act, entitled an act to establish a new proportion for public taxes, approved January 7, 1853, and the amount which would have been assessed upon those towns respectively, according to the provisions of chapter 1537 of the Pamphlet Laws, if the same had been incorporated into the act to which this is in amendment, with interest thereon from the time said amounts were, or shall be paid by said towns respectively, to the time when the same shall be paid over by said city of Manchester as aforesaid.

SEC 2. This act shall take effect from its passage. Approved July 13, 1855.

AN ACT relating to the Insane Asylum of the State.

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives in General Court convened:

SECTION 1. That the sum of twenty-five thousand dollars be and the same is hereby appropriated to the New Hampshire Asylum for the Insane, for the purpose of erecting an additional wing or building for the further accommodation of the insane, with such fixtures or furniture as are necessary for the same.

SEC. 2. The Governor is hereby authorized and empowered to draw from time to time, by his warrant, said sum from the treasury of the State, and the treasurer is authorized, under the direction of the governor to borrow all, or such part of said sum at such times and in such portions as may be necessary, at the lowest rate of interest at which the same can be obtained, not exceeding six per cent per annum, payable at different times within five years: and the treasurer for the time being is authorized to pay the said sum or sums so borrowed and the interest thereon, when the same shall become due, out of any money in the treasury not otherwise appropriated.

SEC. 3. This act shall take effect from and after its passage.

Approved July 11, 1855.

TUESDAY, AUGUST 21, 1855.

CROPS GENERALLY.

The New York Tribune of August 16, gives the following view of crops, which is on the whole highly encouraging:

We no longer print the reports which reach us from every quarter, as to the state and prospects of the harvested or growing crops, simply because they but reiterate what we have already stated and our readers fully know. Hay, wheat and rye are already secured, and are at least equal in quantity to any yield ever yet known. Wheat has suffered in some localities from insects, and both wheat and hay were deteriorated in quality by bad weather at harvest; but there are more good wheat and good hay in the barn or the stack, than this country ever possessed prior to last June. All that has been damaged by exposure to protracted rains, may be regarded as in excess of an average crop. Pasturage was never better at this season, has been uniformly good since May, and promises to hold out till November, in which case the year's product of butter and cheese will exceed all precedent, though the number of cows is probably less this season than it was last year. Oats are also made, and were never before so luxuriant.

Indian corn is backward, and in places feeble, but there is more than an average growth of stalk. We hear of complaints from some quarters of a deficiency of ears, but this is not general. August makes corn, and the weather could not be better for it than that we now have. Potatoes look very rank and green, but are beginning to rot. The area planted was so large, however, that we think there must be a fair yield. A great deal of buckwheat was sown in this section, and it is looking well. Beans, beets, carrots, turnips, &c., are also very thrifty. Nothing but untimely frost can now prevent a most bountiful harvest, with the consequent establishment of such prices as our farmers need not be ashamed to ask, and our mechanics and artisans will generally be able to pay.

The Journal of Commerce, of the same day, gives the following account of exaberant vegetables:

Newspapers everywhere are speaking of vegetable monstrosies, wonderful yields, gigantic ears, &c., showing the 'remarkable fruitfulness of the earth this season. California, even, is rivalled in her exhibitions of mammoth vegetable productions. The cincinnati Gazette speaks of corn 16 1-2 feet in height, from a field under ordinary cultivation, and of apples measuring 11 1-2 inches in circumference. The Richmond Enquirer speaks of a farmer in Monroe county who has reaped this year "100 bushels of volunteer wheat off of ten or eleven acres of ground from which he raised a good crop last year." The Winchester Virginian speaks of the unusual spectacle of a second growth of wheat from the stubble of the gathered crop. In Illinois, crops varying from 35 to 40 bushels of wheat per acre, are not unusual. The fact is, no adequate idea has yet been formed of the abundance of the harvests already gathered in some parts of the country, and the future is still full of promise.

A NEW AGRICULTURAL PRODUCT.—Travellers in Egypt describe a plant called the banc plant (sesamum Orientalle,) which is much cultivated in that country for feeding horses, and for culinary purposes. This plant has been introduced by negroes from Africa into the southern States, where the blacks mix small quantities of the seed with corn, for feeding horses. The seed produces large quantities of oil, which is pronounced by Dr. Cooper of Philadelphia of the best description. A correspondent of the Washington Union recommends it for its medicinal virtues. He says:

"It requires to be sown early in April, at a distance of about a foot apart. A few leaves of the plant when green, plunged a few times in a tumbler of water, make it quite a thin jelly, without taste or color, of which, children afflicted with the summer complaint will drink freely, and it is said to be the best remedy ever discovered. It has been supposed that the lives of three hundred children were saved by it last summer in Baltimore, and I know the efficacy of it by experience in my own family."

This plant will throw out a great profusion of leaves by breaking off the top when it is about half grown.

PASSMORE WILLIAMSON.—A despatch from Bedford, Pennsylvania, announces that the application of Mr. Passmore Williamson, for a writ of habeas corpus, came up on Friday before the Supreme Court, and was argued by the Hon. Charles Gilpin and Wm. M. Meredith. Their speeches occupied the court for three hours, and were able arguments. All the judges were present. The result of the application is not yet known.

It is said the reason why the military were not called out at Louisville on the occasion of the late riots on the day of election, was because that city of 70,000 inhabitants, has not a single regularly organized military corps.

MARINE RAILWAY.

Messrs. Editors:—With your chronicle today of the sale of the Portsmouth Marine Railway, I was pleased to notice your recommendation to the purchasers, to fit it for the reception and repair of the smaller class of vessels. We have a very respectable number of brigs and schooners now owned in this city, and several new ones have been added to the number during the past year. The fishing vessels of New Castle, Kittery, York, &c., regularly fit out here; and there are numerous small coasting vessels that visit our port, bringing the produce of the Southern States and of the Provinces. Among all these there will undoubtedly be a sufficient number needing repairs, to almost constantly employ the Railway, provided the rates for hauling up and laying for repairs are made to compare with those of Portland and Gloucester, where I learn the Railways are excellent property to the owners.

The genius of the people of Portsmouth, if they have had any peculiar one, has been for "navigation;" a term implying the building, commanding, owning and directing of freighting vessels, engaged in foreign and coastwise trade. It was this that gave the enterprise of the Portsmouth Marine Railway its existence; and had the order of things remained to this day the same as when it was constructed, it would undoubtedly have fulfilled the expectations of the proprietors. At that time our ships ranged from three to five hundred tons burthen, scarcely ever exceeding the latter; and it was the fashion for these vessels to make but one cotton freight per annum,—in the interim returning to the home port to lay half the year, resting, and making the necessary repairs for the next season's business.

To such a state of things our Railway was just adapted; but in the progress of the age, ships have increased in size and weight from year to year, until the medium sized merchant ship of the present day is far too large for the unchanged capacity of our Railway to take up safely; and the commerce of the world has so opened and enlarged the field for ships, that they have little time to spare for seeking their native port for repairs. Thus years may elapse before the return of the new ship, when once she leaves home; and many of them are never seen here again.

Hence it is that the Railway, under its former rules and regulations—its rates too high for the smaller class of schooners and brigs—and from its incapacity to take up even the occasional large ship that may have offered, has proved a loss to the original owners, and has at last come under the hammer of the auctioneer, selling for one sixth of its original cost.

A Railway is one of the necessities of a port like our own. The facility it extends for the repairs of vessels in our city, is one of the means of fostering and increasing the business of the place. Without it the large number of vessels needing repairs must of necessity go elsewhere, to distribute among the mechanics of other places the money which should be kept at home.

And in expressing my strong hope that the present owner will find it for his interest to continue the existence of the Portsmouth Marine Railway, I confidently believe that I am only expressing the opinion and good will of the mass of owners of small vessels, and those who are engaged in their commerce.

August 20. M. S.

POTATO ROT. — One of our Portsmouth farmers, about a mile from Market square, informs that he has one piece of Chenango potatoes, about two acres in extent, which contains about 100 bushels. He has dug about twenty bushels of them since the tops begun to die; and though they looked well when dug, a great part of them soon rotted. He will dig the remainder of the piece as fast as his cattle will eat them. This piece was dressed with swamp mud and barn manure mixed. The same farmer has another piece of potatoes dressed with swamp mud alone, which appear perfectly sound.

This case of rot was not the first we heard of, in this neighborhood: another farmer has since told us of digging 10 bushels, nearly defective.

We hope the calamity is not extensive.—The Massachusetts Ploughman, of Aug. 18, says:

We are gratified to learn that the prospect of a large potato harvest continues good.—No good evidence has yet been presented to prove the existence of rot. By the last accounts from England and Ireland, the potatoes appeared free from disease.

The Elmira, N. Y. Republican, of Aug. 14 says:

We hear citizens complaining of the appearance of rot thus early in the garden potatoes, mostly those, however, which were planted in wet soil. A friend passing through sections of Pennsylvania says that whole fields were rotting, and that the crop would be an utter failure there. The abundant rains of late, it is thought, give malignity to this singular disease.

TAXES IN PORTSMOUTH.—The amount of taxes assessed in this city, for the year 1855, is $50,004 49

Collected from July 10th to August 10th,	$36,935 27
Discount 6 per cent,	2,356 70
Sundry abatements,	321 72
		$39,613 69
Balance uncollected, only		$10,390 80

This is unusual punctuality; and is perhaps not exceeded elsewhere.

EXHIBITION OF STATUARY.—Groups of Statuary, to the number of six hundred figures, are now on exhibition in Jefferson Hall. They exhibit the prominent persons, scenes and events in the life of Jesus,—and are highly spoken of by judicious persons who have seen them. See advertisement.

THE STEAMER SILVER STAR.—This pretty little boat has been running between Portsmouth and the Isles of Shoals, during the entire season, and not the slightest accident of any sort has occurred to her. She usually makes the trip in about an hour. She has made frequent trips up the river to Dover Point, and to the town of Dover, her light draught of water fitting her for such excursions. She has also done all the towing on the river, since she has been here, and to the entire satisfaction of her employers. She will continue her trips for the present, and all who love a pleasant excursion on the water will do well to take passage in her. Her gentlemanly commander, Capt. Makinney, understands his business, and we hope the profits of this season will warrant his running the boat again next summer.

APPLEDORE HOUSE.—We think more people have this season visited the Appledore House, at the Isles of Shoals, kept by Hon. T. B. Laighton, than in any previous season. The Appledore has been so full at times that the proprietor was obliged to find accommodations for his guests elsewhere. They sometimes have a "Hop" at this house, and a gentleman who was present at one of them says he had "fun alive." Success to the landlord of the Appledore. T.

NEW MUSICAL PAPER.—Prof. B. F. Baker and Eben Tourjee have recently commenced the issue of a semi monthly paper, in quarto form, entitled, the Massachusetts Musical Journal. Price $1 per year, in advance. Copies may be seen at the music room of Mr. Pearson, who will receive and forward subscriptions. The Journal is well printed, and each number contains new music, besides original and selected musical and general miscellany. Readers will have the benefit of frequent communication with Prof. Baker, one of the best of teachers—which consideration alone will well repay for subscribing.

Prof. Baker is now holding a most successful Musical Convention in Boston. They gave a brilliant concert on Sunday evening, and are to give another on Wednesday evening. Baker is one of the best of fellows, and deserves the success he meets. We hope to enjoy another of his Conventions in Portsmouth next winter.

FUNERAL OF JOSEPH P. WADLEIGH.—The funeral of Mr. Joseph P. Wadleigh, late engineer on the Boston and Maine Railroad, who met with his death in the sad manner recorded a few days since, took place on Thursday, at East Kingston, N. H. The body of the deceased, attended by about forty mechanics from the repair shop, and all of his brother engineers who could be spared from duty, was taken to the place of burial by the twelve o'clock train from Boston. His favorite engine, the O. W. Bailey, draped in mourning, drew the train.

DROWNED.—Mr. Daniel Hoag of Sandwich, a worthy member of the society of Friends, was drowned on Monday evening last, in Squam Lake, in that town. He had taken a horse to an island in the lake, and in swimming back, it is supposed, became exhausted and sunk. Being alone at the time of the accident, and no alarm being felt at his absence for some time, no search was made for him until Tuesday evening, when his body was found within a few rods of the shore.—Dover Gazette.

WHEAT IN MICHIGAN.—A private letter from a gentleman in Kent Co., says, "Wheat came in much better than we anticipated some weeks ago. It is a full, if not above an average crop, and is secured with very little if any damage."

LAGER BEER.—At the German Turners' Picnic at Framingham, on Thursday last, the company drank thirty-six barrels, or one thousand one hundred and eighty-eight gallons of lager beer. There were about 800 persons present, men, women and children.

Wax Statuary.

I HAVE examined for a short time only, the Collection of Figures illustrating the Life of our Savior, now on Exhibition in this city, and have no hesitancy in expressing my unqualified pleasure at the artistic, impressive and instructive Exhibition. You follow the Savior from his Birth to his Ascension, through a series of groupings which are full of intimations of Scripture history calculated to impress adults and especially adapted to please and improve the young. Parents should take their children to see these figures; and Sabbath Schools should not fail of the opportunity of seeing the most interesting scenes in the Saviour's life, embodied in impressive and pleasing art. Hours could be spent amid these groups with profit to the beholder, while his meditations would amply repay for the time employed.

MOB LAW IN MISSOURI.—The Missouri Democrat of August 11, publishes a letter from Rev. W. H. Wiley, of the Methodist Church, who gives an account of the treatment received by him at the hands of a set of ruffians in Cass county in that State. He says that several weeks since an article appeared in the Cass County Gazette, in which there was an attempt made to excite the public against him by alleging that he had said certain things in regard to slavery in Kansas, and that he was an abolitionist. Mr. Wiley repudiates these charges, and says that he is a Southern man. About a week after the appearance of the Gazette article, two negroes attempted to escape from Harrisonville, and the fact was eagerly seized upon by the enemies of Mr. Wiley, and used against him.—On the 26th of July, the reverend gentleman was met upon the highway by two men, who after addressing some impudent questions to him, informed him that he must go with them to Harrisonville, and have the charges investigated. He protested against their right to detain him, and denied the allegations, whereupon one of them, Colonel Worley, proceeded to draw his pistol. Being at their mercy, he was forced to comply, and accordingly went to Harrisonville, where a large party assembled, who amused themselves by obscene oaths and jests, asking him to drink whiskey. A guard of three men was placed over him through the night, as if he was a murderer. In the morning he was searched by a committee, among whom was Rev. Mr. Allen of the Baptist church, and the landlord of the hotel. They searched everything in his possession, read all his private letters, examined his Bible and hymn book, but found nothing to substantiate their charges. While the search was going on, a meeting was held at the Court House, and inflammatory speeches were made. After the search was finished, Mr. Wiley was taken to the Court House, where about two hundred men were assembled. He was there informed that it was the sense of that meeting that he should leave the State in seven days. He again protested against the proceedings, challenged an investigation, and claimed the protection of the law. He was then told that "the law was not strict enough, and that they intended to take it into their own hands, and that if he did not leave, the consequences would be upon his own head." He was then set at liberty, and at once proceeded to St. Louis. Mr. Wiley, in conclusion, appeals to the citizens of Missouri, and asks, "whether they will let these fire-eating politicians ride over them any longer, to disgrace the State, and bring contempt upon themselves and their children?"

LIQUOR CASES IN BOSTON.—It is uncertain whether any cases of violation under the new law will be tried at the present term of the Municipal Court. The District Attorney proposes to continue them till the next term, but the Court (Judge Bishop,) has declared itself adverse to such a proceeding, but postponed any decision in the matter until the jail cases were disposed of, which will occupy probably the entire week. The district attorney thinks it would be useless to try any more cases before the same juries, as those upon which they acted at the last term were among the strongest he had with regard to evidence. In this state of affairs, he proposes to take up some cases under the old law, some twenty of which remain to be tried. The difficulty is, that no person indicted for a criminal offence can be tried until the liquor cases are disposed of.

TENNESSEE.—We hear of the election of six Americans to the next Congress to four opponents. The Nashville Whig says also the American party have each branch of the Legislature, and a majority of three in each House. The Louisville Times (Anti) says it will be but three. It seems to be conceded that the majority of Congressmen and of the Legislature are Americans. Johnson is elected by about 2000, many of the old Whigs refusing to vote for Gentry, because he oppose d Gen. Scott.—Bee.

FATAL RAILROAD ACCIDENT.—Yesterday, about noon, at the North Depot in this city, while Mr. Eben Dole, employed as assistant conductor on the brick train, on the Maine road, was shackling two cars, the engine was put in motion bringing the cars in sudden contact, injuring Mr. Cole so badly that he died in about thirty minutes after being removed to his boarding-house! The injuries were internal, and of a nature that no medical aid could give relief, or save the life of the deceased. Mr. C. was a young man of excellent character, much esteemed by his friends and acquaintances, most of whom reside in Acton, Me., where Mr. A. belonged. He was about 24 years of age, and unmarried.—Lawrence Sentinel.

THE VIRGINIA SICKNESS.—The intelligence from Norfolk, in relation to the fever, is truly distressing. The Mayor of the city is ill, and Mr. Tatem, the Inspector of the Navy Yard, is dead. Dr. Sylvester was supposed to be dying, and young Mr. Brougham, a son of the editor of the Herald, was in a critical condition. Nurses were in great demand. Watches had $10 per night. At Portsmouth, affairs are equally deplorable.—Quite a number of the leading citizens were among the sick, and every one was going away who could get off, but there was no egress by water. The Fredericksburg Herald complains severely that the Virginians do not manifest the proper sympathy for their suffering brethren, and do not welcome the fugitives.

BALTIMORE, Aug. 19.—The fever is slightly abating at Norfolk, but at Portsmouth it is reported to be more violent than ever.

A CHARGE OF MURDER.—Miss Mary Richardson, of Providence, a respectable maiden lady, seventy-nine years of age, was found dead in her house on Thursday afternoon.—An Irish woman named Mary Flanagan, who had lived with her in the capacity of nurse and attendant several months, stated that her death was occasioned by a fall. The body of the deceased, however, bore marks of hard treatment and the woman was arrested to await the results of a further investigation.

GEORGETOWN, D. C., 19th.—At an election for Alderman yesterday, to fill a vacancy, the know nothing candidate received 241 votes, and the anti know nothing 240.

Niepcotypes on Glass, and Photographs on Paper.

MR. SALEN wishes to inform the citizens of Portsmouth and vicinity, that he has procured the Art to take Likenesses on GLASS and PAPER. The now so much admired Photograph, taken on paper, excels by far the Daguerreotype on a metallic plate

These pictures are durable; are not reversed; have not the blending of a Daguerreotype, and excel in softness of light and shade the finest engraving. They are finished on beautiful French cartons put up in frames, and therefore are particularly adapted for parlor pictures. They can also be secured and sent in a letter to a distant friend.

Taken at SALEN'S Daguerrean Gallery, at all prices and sizes, on reasonable terms.

Please call and examine specimens. a4

PAVILION,

WOLFBOROUGH, N. H.

THE subscribers beg leave to inform their friends and the public that they have leased the above spacious Public House, which contains over one hundred well furnished rooms, which have been put in good order, for permanent and transient boarders. The House commands a good view of Lake Winnipisseogee, together with the beautiful hills which surround it—from one of which the prospect is said to excel that of Mount Washington—making many beautiful rides in the vicinity, on land as well as on the beautiful lake.

Good horses and carriages are connected with the house, and the beautiful steamboats "Lady of the Lake" and "Dover" make several trips each day up and down the lake. Gentlemen who delight in angling and gunning will find here ample field for their favorite enjoyment. Meals at all hours, without extra charge, for sportsmen.—Good carriages and accommodating porters in attendance on the arrival of each boat.

NATH'L TEAD,
Wolfboro', June 27. R. W. ADAMS.

Steamboat Notice.

THE fine and commodious Steamboat SILVER STAR will run regularly every day from Portsmouth to Appledore Island, (Isles of Shoals,) in connection with the morning trains from the South, leaving Pier Wharf, Portsmouth, directly after the arrival of the Cars, and will return in season for the Evening Trains from Portsmouth.

The Boat is fitted with all the modern improvements for a Passenger Boat; and her double Engines are of the most approved pattern, and all her appointments are superior.

Towing done on reasonable terms. For particulars apply to the captain, or to Capt. Marshall at Pier wharf.

The boat can be chartered for sea Parties, upon application to the captain on board, giving reasonable notice.

je23 THOMAS MAKINNEY, Captain.

Yacht Sea Ranger,

FOR THE SHOALS AND A MARKET.

CAPT. JAMES W. GOODWIN respectfully gives notice to the pleasure seeking public that he has purchased for their accommodation the present season, the safe, commodious and fast-sailing Yacht SEA RANGER, of 45 tons burthen, with which he is now prepared to convey parties to the Shoals, Boar's Head and other places in the vicinity; and having furnished her with all the necessary materials, will accommodate FISHING PARTIES on reasonable terms.

The SEA RANGER will outsail any vessel on the Piscataqua or of any neighboring ports, in light or heavy winds; is fitted with excellent berths; is well supplied with sails, boats, fishing and cooking apparatus, and is in every respect the best vessel for the accommodation of parties who desire a few days enjoyment on the briny ocean that ever hailed from this port.

The SEA RANGER will make occasional trips to the SHOALS for the accommodation of such persons as desire safe conveyance thither; and when the bosom of old ocean is too much agitated for the steamer GRACE DARLING, alias Silver Star, to venture forth, the Yacht will bear passengers safely o'er the bounding billow.

The commander of the Sea Ranger confidently appeals to those who have in past seasons patronized the SPY under his command, for the continuance of their patronage for his new Yacht, pledging himself to use every exertion to give them and all new patrons entire satisfaction.

For further particulars apply to JACOB WALDEN, No. 9 Water street, or the Master on board, at Pier Wharf, foot of State street.

jy4 JAMES W. GOODWIN.

For Boating Parties.

THE PILOT BOAT SIBYL, Preble, is ready at all times to take large or small parties from Portsmouth, to the Shoals, or any other place on the coast. She will be at the service of parties who may wish to cruise for a number of days. The Sibyl is a new and excellent boat of about 50 tons burthen, and has no superior for speed or accommodations.

For particulars, apply in Portsmouth, at the Chronicle Office; at New Castle to

jy2 2m* R. A. PREBLE.

Isles of Shoals.

OFFICE OF THE MARYLAND CONSOLIDATED LOTTERIES,
Baltimore, Maryland, 20th June, 1855.

CAUTION.—LOTTERY FRAUDS.

THE Commissioner of the Maryland State Lotteries has deemed it his duty to caution the Public against the numerous Swindlers who circulate by mail and otherwise, fraudulent Lottery schemes, and pretend to be agents for the sale of tickets in Lotteries which are wholly fictitious.

The only legal Lotteries in Maryland are those drawn daily under the supervision of the Commissioner elected by the people of the State under the new Constitution to examine and approve the schemes and attend to the drawings.

All the tickets in these Lotteries, and all certificates of packages of tickets have the lithographed signature F. X. BRENAN, General Agent for the Contractor. Office of the Maryland Consolidated Lotteries, Baltimore, Md. All others are fraudulent. For full information on the subject of these frauds, address F. X BRENAN, IMPORTANT INFORMATION TO INVENTORS. The Solicitor (late Agent of the U. S. Patent Office, under the Act of 1837) determined to present advantages, in applying for Patents, superior to those offered to inventors by others, has made arrangements whereby on applications prepared and conducted by him, THIRTY DOLLARS (instead of twenty, as paid back by others,) will be remitted by him in case of failure to obtain a patent, and the withdrawal through him within thirty days after the rejection. Caveats, Specifications, Assignements and all necessary papers, drawings, for procuring patents in this and foreign countries prepared, and advice rendered on legal and scientific matters respecting inventions, and infringement of patents.

Inventors can not only here obtain their specifications on the most reasonable terms, but can here avail themselves of the experience of 20 years' practice, an extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and correct accounts of patents granted in this and 4 other countries; besides being saved a journey to Washington, the usual great delay there, as well as all personal trouble in obtaining their patents. Copies of claims of any patent furnished by remitting one dollar.—Assignments recorded at Washington.

R. H. EDDY,

Solicitor of Patents.

"During the time I occupied the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, did business at the Patent Office, as Solicitor of Patents. There were few, if any persons acting in that capacity, who had so much business before the Patent Office; and there were none who conducted it with more skill, fidelity, and success. I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the best informed and most skilful Patent Solicitors in the United States, and have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their application in a form to secure for them early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.

PIANOS.

HALLETT, DAVIS & CO.

MANUFACTURERS of GRAND AND SQUARE

PIANO-FORTES.

WAREROOMS,

NEW FREESTONE BLOCK,

No. 409 WASHINGTON STREET,

NEAR BOYLSTON STREET.....BOSTON.

Opinions of the Press.

It is now generally acknowledged that the Pianos manufactured by Hallet, Davis & Co. are unrivalled in America, if in the world, for brilliancy or purity of tone.—Boston Daily Times.

An immense volume of sound can be produced by these Pianos without shattering the tones, as they sometimes do the most perfect bell like notes, and we must confess that we have never listened to their equals for power, brilliancy, sweetness of tone, and purity of action.—Boston Herald.

The Pianos of Hallet, Davis & Co. deserve more than a passing notice. They are truly splendid instruments, very powerful, and of the purest and richest quality of tone.—Boston Traveller.

In regard to purity of tone, power and sweetness, being fully equal to any instrument that has come under our observation.—Boston Post.

Owing to the beautiful elasticity of the action of your Grand Piano Fortes, I think it would be impossible for any Pianist, who plays properly, to break either a string or a hammer.—Extract from a Letter from Wm. Mason.

The peculiar feature of Hallet, Davis & Co.'s instruments is, they make no noise. Nothing but pure tone is produced by the vibration of the strings; and the construction of the sounding board, and action are such that skilful pianists, after once testing their merits, dislike to use any other instrument in the Concert room.—Philadelphia Sunday Mercury.

I find them to be very superior instruments—as well in tone as in touch.—Extract of a Letter from L. M. Gottschalk.

I can unhesitatingly say that I find them superior in quality and quantity of tone, to those of other makers; also in the elasticity and easy touch; and can cheerfully recommend them to any one who wishes to own or play on the best Pianos.—Extract of a letter from Robert Heller.

HOW A GOSSIP MAY BE MISTAKEN.—The Boston Evening Gazette, illustrating the text, 'Judge not, let ye be judged,' tells an anecdote of a lady residing in a boarding house, who not long since, sympathized most deeply with a poor little woman who occupied the room above her, on account of the late hours which her husband kept. She heard him come in at all hours of the night, and was surprised to see the injured wife wearing so pleasant a smile. The worm however, she concluded was gnawing at her heart; the canker of despair doing its slow but certain work of destruction. The husband she classed among the fiends of society, who, forgetful of the marriage vow, indulged in dissipation and licentiousness. The couple, however, appeared to be very happy, and Sundays, they were rarely separated. Upon inquiry she found the husband was a sub-editor of a daily newspaper, and that his late hours were so be attributed to his duties, especially on steamer nights.

A VALUABLE FISH.—The smack S. & J. Dickson, of New London, arrived here on Wednesday evening, having in tow a large fish, known as the 'Killer,' captured at the south side of our island. This fish derives its name from the fact that it often takes the life of a whale, by getting upon its back and stopping its spout holes. After it kills a whale, it consumes its tongue, and then abandons it. These fish have been known to take a whale from a boat's company, after it has been killed, by dragging it under water. At such a time, a regular fight ensues between the harpooner and the killers.

The killer, which is but seldom seen in our waters, is a very handsome fish, of the whale species, of most beautiful proportions. Its skin is of a deep black and white color, as finely polished as the best patent leather, and its pure ivory teeth contrast finely with the black surroundings. The fish in question, will make two barrels of oil, of a quality nearly equal to sperm. It has already been 'cut in,' and placed in the 'try pots.'—Edgartown Gazette.

The last free church assembly at Scotland warmly discussed the encouragement still given by the British government to idolatry in India. It was agreed to petition Parliament for the repeal of the annual grant of £2,300 to the temple of Juggernaut, and to dissolve all government connection with the idolatrous shrines in India. The government administers certain trusts for these shrines.—It also supports an institution for the training of Mohammedan priests in Calcutta. The ship John Williams, belonging to the London missionary society, again, on the 10th of June, safely arrived in the Thames, after a prosperous voyage of one hundred days from the Society Islands. She brought home two missionaries, and twenty four children of missionary brethren to be educated in England.

The beauty of the infamous 'black code' of Illinois was forcibly illustrated recently. Two orphan Indian children living in Albany, Whiteside county, had the misfortune to incur the displeasure of a vicious white boy in the neighborhood, who threatened to shoot them. In the fulfilment of his threat he leveled his gun at one of them, who threw up his arm to avert the danger and received the charge in his hand, which was torn so as to be crippled for life. The white boy was arrested, but as there were no witnesses of the deed except the two Indian children, and as colored persons are not permitted to testify in courts of justice under the 'black code,' he was discharged again, and still threatens to kill the children, a threat which he is quite likely to carry out.

The London Athenæum says—The Yankee has an admirable trick of carrying a printing press upon his shoulders wherever he goes. Whether he invades Mexico as a soldier, or enters New Granada as an emigrant, he goes armed with type.

A LONG SENTENCE.—In the Municipal Court, Boston, Judge Bishop sentenced Geo. Sanborn, against whom the Grand Jury returned eight indictments for burglary, and who pleaded guilty to three of the number, to two days solitary confinement, and five years hard labor in the State Prison, on each of the three, making six days solitary confinement and fifteen years hard labor. The remaining indictments were placed on file. Sanborn states that within the past year he has burglariously entered between thirty and forty houses in Boston, and that he has done the business alone, and without any accomplice. His mother addressed the court in his behalf in an affecting manner.

GOOD FISHING.—The Halifax Sun says: The catch of cod fish is generally reported as having proved more than ordinarily abundant, so abundant as to warrant Governor Darling referring to it as amply sufficient to compensate for the inadequate returns of the annual sealing voyage.

The operation of blasting of the Merlin Rock—which, so far, has obstructed the, at best, very narrow entrance into the harbor of St. John's, was commenced on the 1st inst., by Messrs. Husted and Kroel of New York—the depth of water over the rock being 18 feet, which it is intended shall by this process be increased to 27 feet.

POPULATION OF PROVIDENCE.—The marshals appointed to make an enumeration of the population of the city have completed their labors. The whole number of inhabitants at the present time is 46,687, being an increase of 5174 since 1850. It ought not to be forgotten that a very large number of persons, dependent upon the business of Providence for support, have removed into the surrounding towns during the last five years. If a census had been taken in North Providence and Cranston, the result would have astonished all not familiar with the rapid increase in the population of those towns.—Providence Jour. 15th.

Morning Chronicle.

WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 22, 1855.

For the Chronicle.

ANOTHER OPINION.—Messrs. Editors:—A good lawyer informs me, that X. Y. Z.'s flaw, which you noticed, in the new law about intemperance, is not much of a flaw, and will hurt no one. A. B.

☞ Now that we have published both sides of this controversy, we shall wait very calmly till we get a legal decision; then we will publish it. Our own opinion is, that the flaw is not very deep.

We embrace this opportunity to say, what may perhaps surprise some readers, even some who have read constantly, that during the whole term of three years in which the Chronicle has been published, while we have constantly urged temperance as a moral duty, and total abstinence from strong drinks as the path of safety, we have not editorially advised the passage of liquor laws in general, or of any one such law in particular. Those who keep files are desired to examine them for this purpose; they will find plenty of articles describing the woes and miseries caused by tippling, and induced by tippling shops. They will find also, every argument which the Boston Chronicle, the Maine Expositor, and other liquor papers have brought forward against the new laws; all the facts, and not a few of the falsehoods which have been brought forward to break down these laws.

They may, if they read carefully, see that we have told our readers, many times, of the strong and increasing public opinion, in all classes, sects, and parties of the people of New Hampshire, against the sale of strong drinks,—and of their determination to have such laws as will diminish or destroy it if possible. We have given them the benefit of our doubts whether it can be utterly destroyed, and of our conviction that no law made by men can be completely effectual.

We have endeavored to treat all parties fairly, using moral suasion with a good will. And now we are certain that a vast majority of the people in New Hampshire are in favor of the present law, mean to obey it, and hope to see it as fully executed as any other law. If they find it defective, they will amend it; if they find it weak, they will strengthen it.

DOVER, N. H.—The Boston Times's Dover Correspondent writes to that paper, thus,

The new liquor law went into force quietly Tuesday morning, and Franklin square has been as quiet as a country church yard at midnight. The dealers in the ardent, also, are as docile as tamed white mice, and dare not sell a drop, notwithstanding they are assured by as shrewd a lawyer as Strafford bar contains, (Wiggins,) that he can drive a horse and cart through it anywhere for a thousand dollars. The traffickers in "spirit and water" (more water and less spirit generally in this section,) deeming discretion the better part of valor, will bide their time and wait for public sentiment to repeal the law in the shape of parched throats and dry lips. We are constrained to say that the new law meets with the unqualified approval of four fifths of the town. Yesterday we conversed with an old way faring veteran, who for the last fifty years has had his drinks, but who now, with a silent tear standing in his eye, swore that it was hard to be cut off so suddenly.

The law has already extended to Dover Point, and "John" took down the bar on Tuesday with funeral ceremonies—and by the crowd—the forlorn hope—an Irish wedding on Academy street, Monday night 11 o'clock closed the eyes of the old liquor law, and a large crowd of "boys" seemed determined to enjoy the most of the "wee sma' hours."—We happened in, in season to hear the last strain of "Would we'd never met." Quite appropriate.

Daniel Mason, (one of the old school,) at present clerk at Mellen's, Dover Landing,) has been appointed liquor agent, and the basement of the Town Hall will be fitted up for the town's liquor shop.

BRUTAL HUSBAND. — The Newburyport Herald informs us that an Irish woman, named Ellen Cashmen, aged about forty years, died on Saturday, in Lime street, in that city, under very suspicious circumstances, that led to the arrest of her husband. The woman, formerly a widow, with children, married Michael Cashmen, a widower, with children, and they have not lived on the best of terms.—The police have frequently been called to interfere in her behalf, and on Friday night last, as he has frequently done before, he fastened her and one of her children out of doors until about midnight. Whether he committed violence afterwards is not yet ascertained. She was far advanced in pregnancy, and a premature birth occurring, the woman died.

An inquest was holden by one of the coroners upon the body of Ellen Cashmen, which resulted in the following verdict, viz.:—That the said Ellen Cashmen came to her death on Saturday, the 17th of August, at his house in Lime street, in said Newburyport, by reason of unjust, negligent and cruel treatment from her husband, Michael Cashmen, for several weeks past, and exposure on the evening and night of Friday, the 17th day of August, caused by her said husband.

It is said that only five members of the Kansas Legislature are really settlers of that territory. The rest are Missourians.

COMMENDABLE GENEROSITY. — Monday noon, the workmen at the Charlestown Navy Yard held a meeting, and resolved to set aside one day's pay for the relief of the suffering mechanics at Norfolk, who are destitute of employment in consequence of the ravages of the yellow fever. There are about 800 workmen in the yard, averaging $1 50 each per day, consequently the sum of $1200 will be forwarded.

☞ Frank Leslie's New York Journal, for September, contains more than 20 spirited illustrative cuts, and a large supply of tales, essays, scientific articles, &c. Sold by the Booksellers, $1 per annum.

☞ A correspondent at Rochester, informs us that an Irish woman, wife of Mr. Edward Mungum of Rochester, while picking apples on Sunday last, fell from the tree and broke her back. She is not expected to survive.

FIRE AT ALFRED.—The house, out-building and barn, twenty tons of hay, and two tons of oats, the property of Nathaniel Farnham, of Alfred, were burned on Sunday evening. Cause of the fire not known. Loss $2000; insured for $1100.

RELIGIOUS CHARACTER. — Mr. Abbott Lawrence was a person of the profoundest religious convictions. His intellect and heart alike acknowledged the recognized truths of revelation, and his conduct was guided by the precepts of the gospel. No excitement of business or public life was allowed to interfere with his ideas of Christian duty, and few pastors have ever had a more constant and attentive worshipper.—Boston Bee.

No, no. Mr. Lawrence did not worship his pastor, but with him worshipped God.

Mr. Lothrop, his minister, had him for a hearer, but not for a worshipper.

SLIGHT RAILROAD ACCIDENTS.—While a passenger train was passing over one of the bridges in Malden, on the Eastern Railroad, on Monday morning, a gentleman in one of the cars was sitting near a closed window, with his arm resting upon the inner part of the sill, when a piece of timber or other material came in contact with the rapidly moving train, and breaking through the window, inflicted a severe wound upon his arm.—Boston Advertiser.

Most culpable carelessness, in the man who placed the rails there.

HUMBUG.—Richard P. Robinson, the supposed murderer of Helen Jewitt, died at Galt House, Louisville, Ky., on the 8th inst. For several years past he was known as Richard Parmelly.

The above paragraph has gone the rounds. The Louisville Journal says, "There is no truth in it."

ACCIDENT.—The wife of John Sanders, Esq., of Strafford, was thrown from a wagon last week, and badly injured. The horse was descending a hill, when the whiffletree came in contact with his heels by the loosening of a bolt. The wagon was upset and Mrs. S. probably dragged some distance, the force of the overturn being such that she does not recollect anything after.

She lay in the road insensible, exposed to the rain from one to two hours, when, coming to herself, she walked about a mile and three quarters to a house, before she obtained assistance—reaching the house about three hours after the accident. Her arm was fractured, her shoulder badly injured, her head with five severe cuts penetrating to the bone and the scalp extensively torn up. The whole body was severely bruised from head to foot.—Strange to relate, she was twice passed by a boy, who answered her cries for assistance by lashing his horse. He afterwards said he was frightened by her gory appearance. She is now as comfortable as the nature of her injuries will admit.—Dover Enquirer.

ACCIDENT.—As Mr. Francis McNally of Dover, was engaged with a number of other men, in the yard belonging to the Print Works, last week, hoisting up boilers with a derick, he was struck with the crank of the derick on the side of the head, causing a severe cut to be inflicted. While the men had one of the boilers partly hoisted, it seems as though they had not sufficient help to hold on, when the derick gave way, winding one of the men completely round, but doing him little or no injury. Mr. McNally being near to the crank at the time, and not having sufficient warning to get out of the way, received the blow on the head.

FATAL ACCIDENT.—This morning as the express freight train on the Norwich and Worcester Railroad, was going into Worcester, when passing the junction switch, a brakeman by the name of Young, formerly from Webster, fell between the cars upon the track, and twelve loaded freight cars passed over his chest, crushing every bone of the chest in such a manner, that the skin—which, strange to relate, was not broken—could be clasped with a single hand.—Boston Journal, 20th.

THE DEATH PENALTY IN KANSAS.—Bills affixing the penalty of death to all attempts to interfere with or entice away slaves, and also the importation or introduction into the Territory of an abolition document, tending to incite slaves to rebellion against authority, have passed the Kansas Legislature.—Louisville Jour.

SHEEP ON A RAILROAD.—We learn from the Alexandria Gazette, that the night train on the Orange and Alexandria Railroad, on Thursday night, ran into a flock of sheep that were on the track, near Brandy Station, and killed some seventy. It may be presumed that the keeper of the sheep was at the Brandy Station.—Boston Adv.

Tomatoes were selling in Boston on Monday at thirty-seven and one half cents per bushel.

LOCAL.

A LIQUOR CASE.

Our first liquor case under the new law, comes in from the Shoals. On the 18th, Elvin Newton complained to Justice Bennett of this city, against Lemuel B. Caswell of Gosport, for selling a glass of brandy punch on the 16th. The proof of the sale and delivery was full and positive; but the complainant and another witness, who told their story to the County Solicitor, had omitted to mention that the bar keeper or clerk sold the liquor, and not Caswell himself.—The Solicitor was therefore not prepared to prove that the seller was acting for Caswell. The justice thereupon discharged the prisoner. As however, the same complaint and the same testimony, with a mere change of name, would convict the clerk, Caswell engaged to quit the sale, rather than to have the clerk prosecuted.

We understand that on Monday evening, as Mr. Newton, the complainant in the above case, and Mr. Robinson, a witness, were walking in Market street, they were attacked in a cowardly manner by four or five persons, who struck them suddenly in the darkness several violent blows; but when Newton and Robinson put themselves on the defensive, the cowards fled, and as the injured men were strangers to the rowdies, the latter were unknown.

On Tuesday morning, as we learn, they were again beset by a similar set of rascals, who crowded around their boat, near the Spring, and knocked Mr. Newton down as he was embarking for his home, injuring him considerably.

It is devoutly to be hoped that these miscreants may be brought to justice.

For the Chronicle.

Messrs. Editors:—Perhaps this item will cause some one of your numerous readers to think for the first time of the truth herein embodied; and perhaps he may so far be convinced, after due deliberation, of its correctness, as to carry out immediately the wishes of the writer.

Unquestionably one of the most important of the smaller class of wants of our goodly city of Portsmouth, is a tip-top eating house in a central position. If such an one were established, I think it could hardly fail of success. Such an one, I mean, as ladies might enter and feel perfectly free from annoyance while there. I have often heard persons, particularly ladies in the adjoining towns and on the lines of the railroads, remark that the greatest objection they had to coming into this city "to do their shopping" was that there was no suitable place where they could obtain a dinner. Few ladies like to go to a public house, and many will not do so, and they accordingly go to Boston for any small articles they may need, when they might obtain them for the same or a less expense here. Cannot we have an eating house now? We need it, and it would almost undoubtedly be well supported. L.

☞ At a large and spirited meeting of the Stockholders of the Piscataqua Bath Corporation, for organization under their new charter, the following gentlemen were unanimously elected officers for the ensuing year:

President—Albert R. Hatch; Secretary and Treasurer, Jos. H. Foster; Directors—James P. Parrott, Henry Richards, Dr. Robert O. Treadwell.

☞ Thursday of this week is assigned for the hearing of the evidence by the Judge of Probate for Rockingham County, on the question of the insanity of J. Smith Robinson.—The Board of Aldermen of this city were unable to agree on the subject.

A WHALE AT RYE BEACH.—Last week on Tuesday, Col. F. A. Brown, D. B. Varney, and H. I. Darling, of this city, went out fishing, off Rye Beach. About ten in the forenoon they discovered a whale about 30 feet long within four hundred yards of them.—Three or four times he came up and blowed, and the last time he came up within about thirty feet of the boat, and headed towards it. He went down again, but was soon discovered coming under the stern, with his head aimed directly at it. The tempters of Neptune were in momentary expectation of a 'hist,' when he turned a little, darted by, and came up a few feet beyond the boat. Among all the sea adventures, from the Indian Ocean to the Sea of Kamschatka, this is probably the narrowest escape. Nothing further was seen of the young leviathan.—Manchester American.

APPOINTMENTS.—Sheriff Brown, of Rockingham County, has appointed Levi G. Towle, N. K. Leavitt, of Exeter, and Wm. W. Poor, of Derry, as Deputy Sheriffs for the County of Rockingham.—News Letter.

MR. SOULE.—Mr. Pierre Soule having been named in the New Orleans True Delta, as a candidate for a representative in Congress from the first district of Louisiana, he has addressed a letter to the editor of that paper, announcing that he would in no manner consent to let his name be used for such a purpose. He adds: "I have borne my full share of the sacrifice which public life too often entails on its votaries, and it is but justice that I be permitted to rest, for a while at least, from the anxieties and agitations which have so signally marked my political as well as my diplomatic career."

An Irishman and his wife, who applied to the superintendent of the poor in Rochester, for a railroad pass to Buffalo, on the pretence that they were utterly destitute, were searched, when one hundred and seventy five dollars in gold was found upon them.

Wax Statuary.

I HAVE examined for a short time only, the Collection of Figures illustrating the Life of our Savior, now on Exhibition in this city, and have no hesitancy in expressing my unqualified pleasure at the artistic, impressive and instructive Exhibition. You follow the Savior from his Birth to his Ascension, through a series of groupings which are full of intimations of Scripture history, calculated to impress adults and especially adapted to please and improve the young. Parents should take their children to see these figures; and Sabbath Schools should not fail of the opportunity of seeing the most interesting scenes in the Savior's life, embodied in impressive and pleasing art. Hours could be spent amid these groups with profit to the beholder, while his meditations would amply repay for the time employed.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20.—The U. S. Attorney-General has decided that every applicant for a patent right has the right to withdraw his application and demand a restoration of two-thirds of the duty money, at any time anterior to making oath anew, and proceeding upon the ulterior stage of enquiry, after an adverse report by the Commissioner.

The whole number of claims under the bounty land law of March, 1855, received at the Pension Office up to this day has been 206,400. The number examined has been 41,800. And the number issued, 20,236.

All the heads of the Executive Departments are now here.

It is said that over $1000 have been subscribed in the Washington Navy Yard for the relief of the yellow fever sufferers in Virginia.

A fund of $20,000 has been raised here for the Portsmouth sufferers—five Sisters of Charity have proceeded from this city to officiate as nurses there.

NEW YORK, Aug. 20th.—Excitement in Kansas—An Abolitionist Whipped.—The Kansas Squatter Sovereign, of August 7th., contains an account of the excitement created in Atchinson, by the whipping of an Abolitionist from Cincinnati, named Kelly. A public meeting had been called, at which resolutions were passed, declaratory of an intention to aid the Territory of all Abolitionists. A committee was appointed to warn Kelly to leave the Territory within an hour.

NEW YORK, Aug. 20th.—The steamer Empire City for Aspinwall, and the Nicuragua steamer Northern Light, for San Juan, sailed from this port this morning. Both steamers took about fourteen hundred passengers.

About 8 1-2 last night a bold attempt was made by three Germans to rob a Swiss watch pedler, named Joseph Taylor, whom they decoyed from New York to Hunter's Point, Queen County, near the Flushing Depot, which resulted in one of the robbers being killed, and the other two wounded. One of the wounded robbers was subsequently arrested.

BALTIMORE, Aug. 20th.—The Yellow Fever in Virginia.—Intelligence received, via Petersburgh, from Norfolk and Portsmouth down to Sunday evening states there is no decrease of the yellow fever in these cities. Twenty new cases had occurred on Saturday at Portsmouth.

The collections in Baltimore for the sufferers now reach $9000.

PHILADELPHIA, August 19.—A sanguinary riot occurred here on Saturday night between the Newmarket and Mount Vernon fire companies. Three of the rioters were shot, two of whom are not expected to live.

UTICA, Aug. 20th.—The Kukland Cotton Mills at Manchester Village, nine miles from this city, were totally destroyed by fire yesterday morning; loss $30,000. Insured about two-thirds. They were owned by E. S. Brayton of this city.

KENTUCKY ELECTION.—Cincinnati, Aug. 20.—Official returns from 98 counties in Kentucky give Morehead upwards of 6500 majority.

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 50.—The yellow fever is rapidly increasing here. The deaths for the last week were 517, of which 394 were from fever.

Mrs. Sally Manter, of West Tisbury, committed suicide by hanging herself, on the 9th inst. The cause was mental derangement, occasioned by not hearing from her children as she expected.

A WOLF IN REALITY.—An obliging friend at North Lincoln writes us that a young wolf was caught by hand in that town, a few days since, by a man who now has him chained, and who hopes to make a good watch-dog of him. He says he undoubtedly belonged to the family which has been destroying the sheep in that vicinity—and observes that "his countenance is not so unpleasant as one would suppose, except when he shows his teeth, when it is not very fascinating."

In a letter alluding to certain principles of business, the late Amos Lawrence once wrote: "The secret of the whole matter was, that we had formed the habit of promptly acting, thus taking the top of the tide; while the habit of some others was to delay until about half tide, thus getting on the flats; while we were all the time prepared for action, and ready to put into any port that promised well.

Niepcotypes on Glass, and Photographs on Paper.

MR. SALEN wishes to inform the citizens of Portsmouth and vicinity, that he has procured the Art to take Likenesses on GLASS and PAPER The now so much admired Photograph, taken on paper, excels by far the Daguerreotype on a metallic plate.

These pictures are durable; are not reversed; have not the blending of a Daguerreotype, and excel in softness of light and shade the finest engraving. They are finished on beautiful French cartons put up in frames, and therefore are particularly adapted for parlor pictures. They can also be secured and sent in a letter to a distant friend.

Taken at SALEN'S Daguerrean Gallery, at all prices and sizes, on reasonable terms.

Please call and examine specimens. s4

PAVILION,

WOLFBOROUGH, N. H.

THE subscribers beg leave to inform their friends and the public that they have leased the above spacious Public House, which contains over one hundred well furnished sleeping rooms, which have been put in good order, for permanent and transient boarders. The House commands a good view of Lake Winnipisseogee, together with the beautiful hills which surround it—from one of which the prospect is said to equal that of Mount Washington—making many beautiful rides in the vicinity, on land as well as on the beautiful lake.

Good horses and carriages are connected with the house, and the beautiful steamboats "Lady of the Lake" and "Dover" make several trips each day up and down the lake. Gentlemen who delight in angling and gunning will find here ample field for their favorite enjoyment. Meals at all hours, without extra charge, for sportsmen.—Good carriages and accommodating porters in attendance on the arrival of each boat.

Wolfboro', June 27. R. W. ADAMS.

Steamboat Notice.

THE fine and commodious Steamboat SILVER STAR will run regularly every day from Portsmouth to Appledore Island, (Isles of Shoals,) in connection with the morning trains from the South, leaving Pier Wharf, Portsmouth, directly after the arrival of the Cars, and will return in season for the Evening Trains from Portsmouth.

The Boat is fitted with all the modern improvements for a Passenger Boat; and her double Engines are of the most approved pattern, and all her appointments are superior.

Towing done on reasonable terms. For particulars apply to the captain, or to Capt. Marshall at Pier wharf.

The boat can be chartered for sea Parties, upon application to the captain on board, giving reasonable notice. je23 THOMAS MAKINNEY, Captain.

Yacht Sea Ranger,

FOR THE SHOALS AND A MARKET.

CAPT. JAMES W. GOODWIN respectfully gives notice to the pleasure seeking public that he has purchased for their accommodation the present season, the safe, commodious and fast-sailing Yacht SEA RANGER, of 15 tons burthen, with which he is now prepared to convey parties to the Shoals, Boar's Head and other places in the vicinity; and having furnished her with all the necessary materials, will accommodate FISHING PARTIES on reasonable terms.

The SEA RANGER will outsail any vessel on the Piscataqua or of any neighboring ports, in light or heavy winds; is fitted with excellent berths; is well supplied with sails, boats, fishing and cooking apparatus, and is in every respect the best vessel for the accommodation of parties who desire a few days enjoyment on the briny ocean that ever hailed from this port.

The SEA RANGER will make occasional trips to the SHOALS for the accommodation of such persons as desire safe conveyance thither; and when the bosom of old ocean is not much agitated for the steamer GRACE DARLING, alias Silver Star, to venture forth, the Yacht will bear passengers safely o'er the bounding billow.

The commander of the Sea Ranger confidently appeals to those who have had on previous occasions patronized the SPY under his command, for the continuance of their patronage for his new Yacht, pledging himself to use every exertion to give them and all new patrons entire satisfaction.

For further particulars apply to JACOB WALDEN, No. 9 Water street, or to the Master on board, at Pier Wharf, foot of State street.

jy4 JAMES W. GOODWIN.

For Boating Parties.

THE PILOT BOAT SIBYL, Preble, is ready at all times to take large or small parties from Portsmouth, to the Shoals, or any other place on the coast. She will be kept ready for parties who may wish to cruise for a number of days. The Sibyl is a new and excellent boat of about 50 tons burthen, and has no superior for speed or accommodations.

For particulars, apply in Portsmouth, at the Chronicle Office; at New Castle to

A Word to Persons in Delicate Health

DR. HOLMAN'S BITTERS,

Compounded from the Original Recipe of
DR. CHARLES HOLMAN.

THESE well known and much used BITTERS are composed of Roots and Herbs, such as Sarsaparilla, Pyrola, Yellow Dock, Dandelion, Wild Cherry, Prickly Ash, &c. highly prized for their

HEALING, STRENGTHENING AND RENOVATING PROPERTIES.

They are warranted to be unsurpassed in the cure of

Liver Complaint, Jaundice, Headache, Loss of Appetite, Giddiness and Weakness of the Stomach.

They are remarkable for giving a tone to the Digestive Organs, assisting Nature and preventing the various Bowel Complaints, so frequent and so dangerous during Summer and Autumn.

No Family should be without them.

Price 25 cents for a single Bottle, or five bottles for one dollar. Quite the cheapest as well as the Best Medicine that can be used.

Dr. J. F. HOLMAN, Proprietor, Boston, Mass.

DEAD SHOT FOR BED BUGS.

A SURE death to these noxious disturbers of our nightly rest. Apply it to insects and it curls them up and lays them out as readily as Sulphur Fumes kills Bees.

It has no equal in the market. The whole world cannot produce a substitute of similar value to the comfort of a neat tidy housewife. Its application is of little trouble, while the benefit which may be derived from a single night's undisturbed repose is incalculable.

SANCHO PANZA

Called down "blessings upon the head of the man who first invented sleep." How much more worthy such honorable distinction would he consider the inventor of the Dead Shot, who, by his Pungent and Deadly Preparation, has rendered utterly impossible the ancient bloody forays of such 'tolerable and not to be endured' tormentors; and who has enabled every one to guarantee to himself his own particular share of "tired Nature's sweet restorer."

FAILURE OF A LAUNCH.—The Marlboro', the largest ship in the British navy, was to have been launched on Tuesday from the royal dock yard at Portsea. The Queen was present, and performed the ceremony of naming the ship, and then returned to her Pavilion at the stern.

All preparations having been made, the noble ship began to glide slowly and majestically into the water. There were those who remarked upon the speed at which the ship moved, and expressed a fear that she did not as is usual gain increased impetus as she proceeded down the ways, but no apprehension of anything wrong was entertained, until three fourths of the ship had left the slip. At this point the speed at which the immense mass moved became alarmingly slow. Hopes were entertained that the ship would still reach the water, and a loud call was made to the hundreds of persons on board to run from stem to stern, with the view of shaking the vessel and keeping up her locomotion. Unhappily, however, she settled down without any apparent cause or impediment.

Her Majesty left the vessel, it being deemed unsafe to remain, as she had a decided list to the port side. The master shipwright sent 1000 men on board to try and shake her; the Government steamers were set to work to try and pull her off, but she hung fast. Her gradual liberation had however commenced, and she is expected soon to float. The length of the Marlboro' is 245 feet; breadth 61 feet; burden 4060 tons; power of engines 800 horses.

Street preaching is gaining great favor in Great Britain, and seems to be the only means of reaching the masses of the people in the cities, with religious instruction. The Bishop of Winchester has recommended street preaching to his clergy; and the celebrated and eloquent Hugh McNeil of Liverpool, has adopted the practice himself. In London they have a society to sustain street missions, and last year had some sixty stations where their labors gathered the people.

HAYES'S MEDICINES.

READER, are you suffering from Humors, internal or external? HAYES'S Allied Ointment and Humor Syrup will cure you just as sure as you read this. Take our assertion for it, but the testimony of a thousand living witnesses. All it wants is a trial—it advertises itself. One bottle has sold a hundred in a single town. Reader, do you ask how you shall know these wonderful cures are facts, when there is so much humbuggery in advertisements? We will inform you: call on any of our agents, get a circular, select any name you please, address a line to that individual—they will speak—they are living witnesses. It will cost but a trifle, and must convince the most skeptical. We subjoin one from among the many:

Read the following, it speaks for itself:

LAWRENCE, June 12, 1854.

We the undersigned, citizens of Lawrence, having used the Vegetable Allied Ointment prepared by E. D. HAYES, of this city, and being personally acquainted with the Doctor, feel pleasure in adding our testimony to all the doctor claims for his medicine. Unlike other remedies in the market, this preparation performs its office speedily and with certainty. The Ointment we have used with the most happy results, after vainly seeking relief by the free use of Sarsaparilla, Salves, &c.

Our experience fully justifies us in confidently recommending it as the article, and the only one known to us, as performing all it claims.

A. S. BUNKER, A. W. STEARNS,
S. I. THOMPSON, ABAT T. SANBORN.

It cures Salt Rheum, Scrofula, Erysipelas, White Leprosy, Cancerous Humors, Ring Worm, Scald Head, Barns and Scalds, Chilblains, Piles, (a Preparation expressly,) Barber's Itch, Fever Sores, and all old and recent Sores, however Inveterate or Stubborn. It removes all those vexatious Pimples, Eruptions and Moth or Mildew from the face leaving the skin perfectly soft and smooth, adding greatly to the beauty of the complexion. In no case will it leave a mark or scar. It cures tetter in eight wonderfully, where the eyes are troubled with humors, by removing the difficulty and restoring the sight.

Price of the Ointment, $1; Syrup 50 cents.

CHARLES H. KENT Boston, Agent for the United States and Canada; Lawrence, Mass., to whom all orders should be addressed.

Sold in Portsmouth, by Jos. H. Thacher, at the Good Samaritan Store, and W. R. Preston; and by Agents everywhere.

PIANOS.
HALLETT, DAVIS & CO.
MANUFACTURERS of GRAND and SQUARE
PIANO-FORTES.

WAREROOMS,
NEW FREESTONE BLOCK,
No. 409 WASHINGTON STREET,
NEAR BOYLSTON STREET.....BOSTON.

Opinions of the Press.

It is now generally acknowledged that the Pianos manufactured by Hallet, Davis & Co. are unrivalled in America, if in the world, for brilliancy or purity of tone.—Boston Daily Times.

An immense volume of sound can be produced by these Pianos without shattering the tones, as they send forth the most perfect, bell like notes, and we must confess that we have never listened to their equals for power, brilliancy, sweetness of tone, and purity of action.—Boston Herald.

The Pianos of Hallet, Davis & Co. deserve more than a passing notice. They are truly splendid instruments, very powerful, and of the purest and richest quality of tone.—Boston Traveller.

In regard to purity of tone, power and sweetness, being fully equal to any instrument that has come under our observation.—Boston Courier.

Owing to the beautiful elasticity of the action of your Grand Piano Fortes, I think it would be impossible for any Pianist, who plays properly, to break either a string or a hammer.—Extract from a Letter from Wm. Mason.

The peculiar features of Hallet, Davis & Co.'s instruments is, they make no noise. Nothing but pure tone is produced by the vibration of the strings; and the construction of the sounding board, and action are such that skilful pianists, after once testing their merits, dislike to use any other instrument in the Concert room.—Philadelphia Sunday Mercury.

I find them to be very superior instruments—as well in tone as in touch.—Extract of a Letter from L. M. Gottschalk.

I can unhesitatingly say that I find them superior in quality and quantity of tone, to those of other makers; also in the elasticity and easy touch; and can cheerfully recommend them to any one who wishes to own or play on the best Pianos.—Extract of a letter from Robert Heller.

WHERE MOSQUITOES COME FROM.—A writer on entomology, discoursing about these summer pests, thus handles the subject:

The mosquito proceeds from the animalcule commonly termed the 'wiggle tail.' I took a bowl of clean water and set it in the sun. In a few days some half dozen wiggle tails were visible. These continued to increase in size, till they were about 3-16ths of an inch in length. As they approached their maturity, they remained longer at the surface, seeming to live in the two mediums, air and water;—finally they assumed a chrysalis form, and by an increased specific gravity, sank to the bottom of the bowl. Here, in a few hours, I perceived short black furze or hair growing on every side of each, until it assumed the form of a minute caterpillar. And thus its specific gravity being counteracted, or lightened, it readily floated to the surface, and the slightest breath of air wafted it against the bowl. In a very brief space of time afterwards, the warm atmosphere hatched out a fly, and it escaped, leaving its tiny house upon the water. How beautiful, yet how simple!

After the water had gone through this process, I found it perfectly free from animalculæ. I therefore came to the conclusion that this wiggle tail is a species of the shark, who, having devoured whole tribes of animalculæ, takes to himself wings and escapes into a different medium to torture mankind, and deposit eggs to produce other wiggle tails, who in turn produce other mosquitoes.

Any man who has 'kept house,' with a cistern in the yard, has doubtless observed the same effect every summer. Open your cistern cover any morning in the mosquito season, and hundreds of them will fly up in your face. Close the windows of your room at night, at the risk of being smothered for want of air, being careful at the same time to exclude every mosquito, and go to bed with a pitcher of that same cistern water in your room, and enough will breed from it during the night, to give you any amount of trouble. Standing by a shallow, half-stagnant pool, in a mid-summer's day, you may see the wiggle tails become perfectly developed mosquitoes, rise from the surface of the water, fly in your face and sting you.

What is necessary to know at this day is—has there been discovered any positive exterminator for that infernal pest and disturber of our slumbers, the mosquito?

EXTRAORDINARY OCCURRENCE.—A circumstance of somewhat extraordinary character occurred a short time since in one of the flourishing towns of the midland counties. A clergyman died, and his wife and daughter, on the third day after his decease, recollecting that no likeness remained, agreed ere the grave closed over him, that the body should be unshrouded and a portrait taken. A young lady of some professional celebrity was engaged for the task. She, with the assistance of the attendant, took off the shroud and placed the body in the requisite posture; but other duties requiring the artist's attention, the sketch was deferred until noon. About 12 o'clock, at the foot of the bed, the lady commenced and went through an hour's work on this image of death. At this stage of the proceedings, by some unaccountable motion, the head of the deathlike figure fell on the side. Nothing daunted, the artist carefully took the head to replace it, when to! the eyes opened, and staring her full in the face, 'the dead' inquired, 'who are you?' The young 'professional,' without trepidation, took the bandage from the head and rubbed his neck. He immediately saw the shroud and laughed immoderately. The artist quietly called the family; their joy may be imagined, but cannot be described. That evening he who had laid in his shroud three days, bemoaned by mother and sisters with agonizing tears, gladdened their hearts by taking his accustomed place at the tea table, and at this moment is making an excursion in North Wales.—Bedford (Eng.) Times.

MEANNESS DOES NOT PAY.—There is no greater mistake that a business man makes than to be mean in his business—always taking the half cent for the dollars he has made and is making. Such a policy is very much like the farmer's, who sows three pecks of seed when he ought to have sown five, and as a recompense for the leanness of his soul, only gets ten when he ought to have got fifteen bushels of grain.

Everybody has heard the proverb of "penny wise and pound foolish." A liberal expenditure in the way of business is always sure to be a capital investment. There are people in the world who are short-sighted enough to believe that their interest can be best promoted by grasping and clinging to all they can get, and never let a cent slip through their fingers. As a general thing, it will be found, other things being equal, that he who is most liberal is most successful in business. Of course, we do not mean it to be inferred that a man should be prodigal in his expenditure; but that he should show to his customers, if he is a trader, or those whom he may be doing any kind of business with, that in all his transactions, as well as social relations, he acknowledges the everlasting fact, that there can be no permanent prosperity or good feeling in a community where benefits are not reciprocal.—Hunt's Merchant's Magazine.

PRESENT TO A CITY.—The Philadelphia North American announces that the insurance companies and individual citizens of that city have purchased the steam fire engine 'Young America,' with a view to its presentation to the City Council. The machine is to be used for the common protection of the community, and thus a fair trial will be made of an invention, which, if found successful, as we have no doubt it will be, must eventually effect a radical and highly beneficial improvement in the constitution and efficiency of the fire department.

In Sweden, a man who is seen drunk four times is deprived of his vote at elections, and the next Sunday after the fourth offence is exposed in the church yard publicly.

Morning Chronicle.

THURSDAY, AUGUST 23, 1855.

LIBERAL UNION CONVENTION.—Under this head the Boston Chronicle contains a call,—signed by twenty five distillers, dealers, and friends of intoxicating drinks,—for a State Convention to be held at Worcester, Ms. on the 30th inst.

They say,

It is known to you that a frantic and fanatical faction of the people of this State, by constant appliances to the political parties of the Commonwealth, have within the three last years obtained from these parties, as they have been successively in power, a Law, which creates a new crime and then attempts to punish the party who has not committed it. From its origin it is called the Maine Law, from its character the Malignant Law, from its operations the Impossible Law. It sweeps property, character, good name, the customs of our fathers, the immemorial rights and usages of the whole civilised world, into the scathing cauldron of fanaticism and political corruption, and distils the poison of hypocrisy and sends it coursing through every vein of the body politic.

We are determined to resist such legislation in every form and to the last extremity, and to substitute for the present demoralizing enactment, a just and practicable license law.

The New Hampshire reader will please observe that free trade in the article is not spoken of, but a license law.

They then go on, to advocate the formation of a party, whose object will be to repeal the law.

The question will naturally arise, why not attempt to unite with one of the existing parties, and thus turn the balance of power in favor of liberal and just legislation? * * The thing is inexpedient and impossible.—As parties, they have all lent themselves to the faction of which we have spoken. * * Which of these parties can we trust? Which of them can help us if they would?

If one of the parties, Whig or Democrat, should nominate suitable candidates for whom we could vote, would not the other party do the same for the sake of keeping their men?

Will members of one of the old parties join the other, and give them national strength just for the sake of a local question, however important? On the other hand, there are thousands from the old parties who will be glad to lend a helping hand to blot out this disgraceful law, provided they do not injure the future prospects of the party with which they have formerly acted.

This, therefore, appears to be a favorable time to call up this question and settle it.—There are no national issues in this State in the coming election.

These are the material parts of the document, which closes with a fervent appeal to liberal men of all parties, to drop for the time their party ties, "and send a pulsation of strength, courage, and hope, to every city and town," by voting for this new liberal party.

On the other hand, the Boston Post contains an article deprecating separate political action by the opponents of the liquor law, and intimating that a union with the Democrats is thus repudiated because certain large dealers are satisfied with the present state of affairs, and do not desire to have a change.

ARRESTS FOR CONSPIRACY TO DEFRAUD.—In the Police Court, Boston, a merchant of Haverhill, Mass., named Roland H. Macy, and his clerk, E. F. Cushman, were brought up on a complaint made by Eben D. Jordan, merchant of Boston, charging them with an attempt to defraud the complainant and several other firms, to the amount of $25,000, by a criminal conspiracy. The complainant alleges that Macy has made a conveyance of his property to his clerk, Cushman, for the purpose of preventing attachments by his creditors; and that by so doing, he has violated an old statute, framed during the reign of Queen Elizabeth, and which is now incorporated in our criminal code, and in force.

The defendants were each ordered to recognize in $5000 for their appearance. The same parties are also held to bail in $3500 on four civil suits which have been commenced against them.

THE DASCOMB ASSAULT CASE.—The parties implicated in an assault on Philip Dascomb, late of the Neptune House, Chelsea, were brought up in the Police Court, Boston. Several witnesses were examined, but all the testimony went to show that the defendants had beaten Mr. Dascomb in a quarrel respecting a bathing carriage, which some of the defendants had pushed into the water. Mr. Dascomb expostulated with them, when they pushed or knocked him down, kicked him, and struck him with a whip. Three of them, Peter Durkin, Wm. Shepard and Richard Barnett, were found guilty, and bound over in $600 each to appear at the Municipal Court.

ANOTHER ONE DEAD.—John G. Ladd, of Meredith, died last Wednesday from the injuries received from the fall of the Town House, on Election Day. He has lingered along wonderfully, suffering more than words can express, confined to his room ever since the day of the accident.

T. G. Booth, the comedian, died in Toronto, on Saturday afternoon.

MRS. ANNIE SENTER.—Ballou's Pictorial for August 18th, contains an excellent portrait of this young and talented lady, with the following sketch:

Mrs. Annie Senter, an admirable original likeness of whom we present herewith, not long since made her debut at the Boston Museum, and won high praise from all who witnessed her histrionic efforts. Mrs. Senter was born in Boston on the 19th of September, 1835, and is consequently but nineteen years of age. While a school girl in the public schools of her native city, she evinced a remarkable proficiency in her studies, and was especially noted for her elocutionary powers, and her youthful compeers could not fail to observe in the enthusiasm with which she rendered the selections (usually from dramatic authors) appointed for her readings on days of public examination, the germ of that power which has since been so conspicuously displayed. From her earliest years she was especially fond of dramatic representations; dramatic authors were her study, and the scenic display of the theatre her strongest passion. The bent of her early inclinations was displayed while a school girl by some attempts at dramatic composition highly creditable to her years.

At the age of seventeen she married Mr. Wm. H. Senter, of this city, a union which has been marked by unalloyed happiness.—During the fall of 1854 she succeeded in overcoming the obstacles which had long lain in the path to the cherished and coveted object of her youthful ambition. She applied to that veteran actor and manager, Mr. W. H. Smith, who at first sought to dissuade her from the trials of a laborious profession; but having heard her readings, he at once saw her capacity, and entered upon her tuition with enthusiasm. She commenced in November, and in the short space of less than four months made her first appearance before the Boston public at the Museum, on the 30th of March, at the benefit of Mr. W. H. Smith, in the character of Mariana, in 'The Wife.' A more crowded and intelligent audience, and a more enthusiastic reception, never greeted a novice. She was called out at the end of the first and each succeeding act, and greeted with the most enthusiastic applause.

She was at once engaged by manager Kimball for three successive engagements, during which she appeared in some twenty of the most difficult characters on the stage, nightly greeted by intelligent and crowded audiences. Since then she has given some readings in Portland and Portsmouth, which were most successfully received. She is evidently an ardent and laborious student. Conscious that though the rare endowments which she has received from nature might give her a transient career of meteoric brilliancy, she seems fully aware that it is to the arduous cultivation of her remarkable powers she must look to take the place of a fixed star in the theatrical firmament.

We regard with more than passing interest the opening career of this young Bostonian, and bespeak for her, wherever she appears, hearty good will and kind consideration. The accompanying portrait conveys a correct expression of the features of the lady in repose, and as she appears off the stage, but when kindled by the inspiration of histrionic effort, her face possesses a fascination which gives full effect to her melodious voice and harmonious action. We have no hesitation in predicting for her a glorious career upon the stage; she possesses every attribute of success, all the graces of early womanhood, and a pure and unsullied reputation.

☞ The funeral of Hon. Abbott Lawrence was attended in Boston on Wednesday, the services being performed in the Brattle-St. Church.

An immense procession accompanied the remains from the church to the Mount Auburn Cemetery; public offices were closed; flags displayed at half mast; all the church bells tolled two hours; and business generally suspended.

THE OTHER SIDE.—One Henry Wilson addresses the N. Y. Express, conveying information that would have led to the execution of Robinson, the murderer of Helen Jewett. He has kept the affair a secret for nineteen years, fearing to disclose it until Robinson was dead.

THE LATE FIRE IN CHATHAM STREET, N. Y.—Investigations which have been going on before the Fire Marshal, seem to indicate that Jacobs was really the incendiary who fired his own premises, in Chatham street, in which six persons, including his own wife and two children, lost their lives. The evidence also goes to show that Jacob's foreman, named Seaman, was an accomplice.

SEIZURES.—The Portland police have seized four hundred gallons R. G. drink, from sch. Eliza Ellen, from Boston, and about two hundred gallons in four other seizures, within the last week.

☞ The Metropolitan Railroad, in Boston, reaching out to Roxbury, is shortly to be built. Nearly all the arrangements are made, and the difficulties overcome.

ROBBERY IN EAST BOSTON.—The U. S. Bond Warehouse in East Boston, was burglariously entered Tuesday night, and $400 stolen. The money comprised $190 in gold, and the rest in bills of various banks, mostly on the Maverick and Merchants' Banks.

SHARP SHOOTING.—Gerrit Smith closes a letter to Horace Greeley, with the following hit:

"I close with thanking you for your wish that I may live long to improve myself. Be assured that I reciprocate the kind and generous wish, and that I do so all the more cordially because you are in such special need of improvement."

LOCAL.

LAUNCH.—The splendid clipper ship Noon-Day, 1100 tons, will be launched from the yard of Messrs. Fernald & Petigrew, on Saturday next at 10 o'cl'k. She is owned by Henry Hastings, Esq., of Boston, and others, (the owners of the ship Midnight, built a year since at the same place,) and will be commanded by Capt. Wm. B. Gerry, late of the ship Cahoota.

The Noon Day is built in the most thorough manner, entirely of New Hampshire white oak.

The same firm are now building a fine three deck ship of 1500 tons, for Messrs. Isaac H. Boardman and others of Newburyport.—She will be launched about Sept. 15, and is to be commanded by Capt. Henry Cook.

MISSIONARY HEROES AND MARTYRS.—Messrs Editors:—Through your columns, I would express my full concurrence in the very favorable notices of this work, which were given a few months since by various of the other clergymen of the city, and with them I would bespeak for it a ready reception and a wide circulation.

C. BURROUGHS.

☞ The groups of Wax Statuary at Jefferson Hall, representing the Life of Christ, are an interesting study. They are visited by many of our citizens,—and are commended to the attention of lovers of sacred history, by Rev. Messrs. Moore, Holman and Fernald, and by his honor the mayor.

SEVEN DAYS LATER FROM EUROPE.

NEW YORK, 20th,—The royal mail steamship Pacific, from Liverpool August 11th, arrived this morning.

Among the passengers are Madame Rachel and troupe, and R. T. Tyson, bearer of despatches.

The Pacific brings 209 passengers.

The news is not very important.

WAR NEWS.—Omar Pacha has been appointed to the chief command in Asia.

The renewal of the bombardment of Sebastopol commenced on the 10th.

It was stated at Paris on Thursday evening that the Government had received intelligence by telegraph of the successful bombardment of Revel.

Advices from Madrid of August 3d, state that the Ministers of France and England had been officially informed that Spain had decided to join the Western alliance, and would furnish a contingent of 25,000 men.

It is also said that Portugal will furnish a contingent of 10,000 men.

Cholera has nearly ceased in the ranks of the army.

Aug. 7. 11 P. M.—Gen. Pellissier telegraphs: Nothing of interest to communicate. The enemy has not undertaken anything against our trenches. Some cases of cholera have reappeared.

Markets. Cotton steady; sales 39000 bales. Consols 91 1-8. Market for Breadstuffs flat, and all descriptions can be bought on better terms; quotations almost nominal, say wheat 2d lower; Flour 6d lower; Corn unchanged.

CINCINNATI, Aug. 21st.—EX-Governor Metcalf of Kentucky, died of cholera on Saturday last, at his residence.

Wheat is quoted at 75 cents per bushel in Memphis, Tenn.

For the Chronicle.

Messrs. Editors:—Prominent among the advertisements in your columns, is that of the Sea Ranger "for the Shoals and a Market," Capt. James W. Goodwin, with a puff of her accommodations and sailing qualities, which may or may not be true, and a pledge from the Captain to use every exertion to give all patrons, old and new, entire satisfaction. How far the Captain is disposed to redeem his pledge, let the following facts declare:

Being deputed by several gentlemen who were anxious to take a trip to the Shoals with their families, to make the necessary arrangements, we called upon Capt. Goodwin, on Monday morning; he was engaged that day, but on the next day, provided it was a suitable day to go, giving him our word that we would pay him his own price, $10, whether the party went or not, and that we would be on the wharf the next morning at 6 o'clock.—Here the matter rested, and as we thought, safely. The party were notified accordingly. One gentleman and family were summoned from Greenland; all arrangements were made for an early start the next morning. You may judge of our surprise on being informed by a messenger from Capt. Goodwin, about 7 o'clock in the evening, that we could not have his boat the next day, as he had an opportunity to take out a party to be gone three days, unless we would pay him $20.

We informed him that we knew of no other engagement than the one already made; that we should be ready in the morning to fulfil our engagement, and expected him to do the same.

When we arrived upon the wharf the next morning we found our boat taken possession of by a party of strange gentlemen, and the captain when remonstrated with, gave us to understand that he considered the forfeiture of his pledged word and our disappointment nothing, balanced against dollars and cents. Such have we found Capt. Goodwin who has lately appealed to this community for patronage, and now stands pledged in all the papers of this city to exert himself to give entire satisfaction.

But our party were not destined to be thus disappointed of their intended excursion. We learned that the beautiful Yacht Sibyl was at New Castle, and in an hour and a half after she was alongside Pier wharf ready to receive our company. In five minutes more, with wind and tide in her favor, she glided like a thing of life, as she is, adown the narrows, by Fort Constitution, and as she began gracefully to make obeisance to old ocean, three hearty cheers were given by the boys on board—and as heartily acquiesced in by all—who now began to congratulate themselves and each other on the happy change they had made of boats, and to feel that they had not only an experienced sailor, but also a gentleman, at the helm.

Our excursion was all we could have wished.—A delightful day—a delightful sail—a pleasant ramble over the Island—a good substantial dinner at the Appledore House, and a safe arrival home. Before leaving the boat, the party gave a hearty vote of thanks to Capt. Preble for the promptness with which he responded to their call in the morning; for the courteous and gentlemanly treatment received from him and "his man "Enos," during the day—and agreed to recommend him and his boat, which they do most heartily, to all visiting the Shoals or seeking pleasure on the "Ocean wave."

Wax Statuary.

I HAVE examined for a short time only, the Collection of Figures illustrating the Life of our Savior, now on Exhibition in this city, and have no hesitancy in expressing my unqualified pleasure at the artistic, impressive and instructive Exhibition. You follow the Savior from his Birth to his Ascension, through a series of groupings which are full of intimations of Scripture history, calculated to impress adults and especially adapted to please and improve the young. Parents should take their children to see these figures; and Sabbath Schools should not fail of the opportunity of seeing the most interesting scenes in the Savior's life, embodied in impressive and pleasing art. Hours could be spent amid these groups with profit to the beholder, while his meditations would amply repay for the time employed.

St. Louis, Aug. 21st—Rumors are current that Judge Elmore, of Kansas, intends resisting the government, in the matter of his removal. He says President Pierce has no right to remove him, because he cannot interfere with the Judiciary.

One hundred persons had died of cholera at Fort Riley, up to the latest date.

The territory was suffering from heavy rains. Bridges had been swept away, and the streams rendered unfordable.

Nothing of importance has been done in the Legislature.

Louisville, Aug. 21st.—Full returns of our State election, show the election of six know-nothings and four-anti-know-nothings to Congress. The State Senate consists of 13 knew-nothings and 7 opposition, and the House of Representatives 61 know-nothings to 39 opposition. Morehead's (K. N.) majority for Governor is about 4000.

Philadelphia, Aug. 21st.—The decision of the Supreme Court in Passmore Williamson's case will be announced probably in a few days. The case was argued on the last day of the session at Bedford, the Judges desired to examine the authorities quoted in the argument before deciding, but this was impossible at Bedford. There will be no unnecessary delay in announcing the result of the application.

Baltimore, Aug. 21st.—The authorities of Portsmouth sent a request here to-day for medical aid. They state that the fever is still on the increase.

Ellis, one of the party shot in the late firemen's riot, in this city, died to-day.

New Orleans, Aug. 21st.—Pease, the Democratic candidate, is chosen Governor of Texas by a majority of several thousand. The entire State ticket is chosen, and Ward, dem., is chosen to Congress for the Eastern District.

Cleveland, Aug. 21st.—The Drug store of Gaylord & Co., together with the adjoining stores of Mr. Loop, clothier, and Mr. Moulds, confectioner, was burned last night. Gaylord's loss is estimated at $35,000. Insured for $26,000 in Hartford and New York. Other losses small.

Fatal Accident.—The Springfield Republican states that William Beals, a young man of some 22 years old, and a brakeman on the Connecticut River railroad, was knocked of the Monday evening's down freight train, by a bridge, near Hatfield, and instantly killed. He resided in Claremont, and leaves a wife.

Corn and Potatoes.—The present extraordinary, and for many years unparalelled weather, with its rapid alternations of heat and rain, is said to be developing the corn and potatoes at an extraordinary rate. From the marvellous legends of the size of the former with which our country exchanges abound, we are beginning to entertain serious apprehensions that it the thing goes on much longer, we shall all be driven out of the country by the "bulging out" of the ears, or else be crushed to death between them. As for the height of the stalks!—but no, we must really be excused for "holding up on that." Suffice it to say that rival farmers have succeeded in over-topping each other's cornstalks at such a rate, that the only wonder is, that we here in the city, do not behold them looming up afar off, like distant cathedral spires. When Charles the VI. had the "little bill" for building the fortress of the Moro at Havana handed to him. he is said to have briefly glanced at the amount—nine million dollars—and then to have gravely walked to a window of the Escurial, and looked out. "What do you look for, Sire?" inquired those around. "For the summit of the Moro," he solemnly replied; "at such a price as this, it ought certainly to be high enough to be seen at this distance." In like manner we may say, that if our rural legends of tall corn keep on as they have begun, we shall, ere long, confidently expect to see the maize peeping over the horizon, with its tops gilded with rosy light, long after the rest of the world is slumbering in darkness. Seriously, the corn—as all the "bars" must acknowledge—is turning out magnificently, and the potatoes not less so." —Philadelphia Bulletin.

Hay in New York.—The Albany Argus of August 16th, says:

"One week since, the article of hay commanded in the New York market $34 per ton. Yesterday it was offered in our own market, and sales were made for $12 per ton. Thus in one week, there has been a decline of nearly 66 per cent. As a matter of course, the article sold was old hay, while that now offering is the new crop. The decline is explained and it gives the best assurance that the crop of this season is munificent. Farmers, who have this year sown but the same area of ground, are rewarded with two-thirds larger returns than they were last season. It is true that the protracted rains did damage the outstanding crops to some extent, but the loss sustained is quite immaterial when the excessive growth is taken into account. In Ulster county we hear of one farmer whose entire crop was so seriously damaged that he was compelled to turn it into his barn-yard; still, such instances are isolated ones. Nature was never more bountiful than in the present season.

Niepcotypes on Glass, and Photographs on Paper.

MR. SALEN wishes to inform the citizens of Portsmouth and vicinity, that he has procured the Art to take Likenesses on GLASS and PAPER The now so much admired Photograph, taken on paper, excels by far the Daguerreotype on a metallic plate

These pictures are durable; are not reversed; have not the blending of a Daguerreotype, and excel in softness of light and shade the finest engraving. They are finished on beautiful French cartons put up in frames, and therefore are particularly adapted for parlor pictures. They can also be secured and sent in a letter to a distant friend.

Taken at SALEN'S Daguerrean Gallery, at all prices and sizes, on reasonable terms.

Please call and examine specimens. a4

THE subscribers beg leave to inform their friends and the public that they have opened the above spacious Public House, which contains over one hundred well furnished rooms, which have been put in good order, for permanent and transient boarders. The House commands a good view of Lake Winnipiscogee, together with the beautiful hills which surround it—from one of which the prospect is said to excel that of Mount Washington—making many beautiful rides in the vicinity, on land as well as on the beautiful lake.

Good horses and carriages are connected with the house, and the beautiful steamboats "Lady of the Lake" and "Dover" make several trips each day up and down the lake. Gentlemen who delight in angling and gunning will find here ample field for their favorite enjoyment. Meals at all hours, without extra charge, for sportsmen.—Good carriages and accommodating porters in attendance on the arrival of each boat.

Yacht Sea Ranger,
FOR THE SHOALS AND A MARKET.

CAPT. JAMES W. GOODWIN respectfully gives notice to the pleasure seeking public that he has purchased for their accommodation the present season, the safe, commodious and fast-sailing Yacht SEA RANGER, of 45 tons burthen, with which he is now prepared to convey parties to the Shoals, Boar's Head and other places in the vicinity; and having furnished her with all necessary materials, will accommodate Fishing Parties on reasonable terms.

The SEA RANGER will outsail any vessel on the Piscataqua or of any neighboring ports, in light or heavy winds; is fitted with excellent berths; is well supplied with sails, boats, fishing and cooking apparatus, and is in every respect the best vessel for the accommodation of parties who desire a few days enjoyment on the briny ocean that ever hailed from this port.

The SEA RANGER will make occasional trips to the SHOALS for the accommodation of such persons as desire safe conveyance thither; and when the bosom of old ocean is too much agitated for the steamer Grace Darling, alias Silver Star, to venture forth, Yacht will bear passengers safely o'er the bounding billow.

The commander of the Sea Ranger confidently appeals to those who have in past seasons patronized the SPY under his command, for the continuance of their patronage for his new Yacht, pledging himself to use every exertion to give them and all new patrons entire satisfaction.

For further particulars apply to JACOB WALDRON, No. 9 Water street, or to the Master on board, at Pier Wharf, foot of State street.
Jy4 JAMES W. GOODWIN.

For Boating Parties.

THE PILOT BOAT SIBYL, Preble, is ready at all times to take large or small parties from Portsmouth, to the Shoals, or any other place on the coast. She will be at the service of parties who may wish to cruise for a number of days. The Sibyl is a new and excellent boat of about 50 tons burthen, and has no superior for speed or accommodations.

For particulars, apply in Portsmouth, at the Chronicle Office; at New Castle to

DEAD SHOT FOR BED BUGS.

A SURE death to these noxious disturbers of our nightly rest. Apply it to insects and it curls them up and lays them out as readily as Sulphur Fumes kills Bees.

It has no equal in the market. The whole world cannot produce a substitute of similar value to the comfort of a neat tidy housewife. Its application is of little trouble, while the benefit which may be derived from a single night's undisturbed repose is incalculable.

SANCHO PANZA

Called down "blessings upon the head of the man who first invented sleep." How much more worthy such honorable distinction would he consider the inventor of the Dead Shot, who, by his Pungent and Deadly Preparation, has rendered utterly impossible the ancient bloody forays of such 'tolerable and not to be endured' tormentors; and who has enabled every one to guarantee to himself his own particular share of "tired Nature's sweet restorer."

DESTRUCTION OF AN ELEPHANT.—The large elephant, 120 years of age, property of Mr. Wombwell, being incapable of locomotion from diseased feet, the present proprietor gave directions for its destruction in the easiest manner possible. Accordingly, Mr. E. Price, vetinary surgeon, and Mr. Flewitt, chymist, of Birmingham, on Friday last proceeded to carry his wishes into effect. In ten minutes from the application of chloroform the was animal totally insensible! prussic acid was then administered without effect, and two large doses of strychnine without producing any perceptible feeling of pain. Not succeeding in these endeavors, a continuous application of choloroform was made, in the hope that the animal might sink under it, but, after three hours' perseverance in this course, no difference of respiration being observed, the administration was stopped, and in one hour and a half all effects of it had passed away. The only known means of destruction left was the knife and the bullet. The latter was first tried (the animal being again choloroformed) and wounded a branch of the carotid artery, from which blood flowed in a tolerably sized jet. The opening was then enlarged by a knife, and the artery fully divided.—In a few minutes the huge animal ceased to live, having died without a struggle or evidencing the slightest feeling of pain.—London Times.

Rochas, the composer, who persuaded Madame Bishop to elope with him from her husband, and has since pocketed the proceeds of her concerts, is said to be in a very precarious state of health, and that he himself fears he will never leave California.

A BUILT-UP JOKE.—Our own correspondent informs us, that the firing before Sebastopol, if not always most effective, is at all events bold and vigorous; for every man stands up to his mortar like a brick.—Punch.

Opinions of the Press.

It is now generally acknowledged that the Pianos manufactured by Hallet, Davis & Co. are unrivalled in America, if in the world, for brilliancy or purity of tone.—Boston Daily Times.

An immense volume of sound can be produced by these Pianos without shattering the tones, as they send forth the most perfect, bell like notes, and we must confess that we have never listened to their equals for power, brilliancy, sweetness of tone, and purity of action.—Boston Herald.

The Pianos of Hallet, Davis & Co. deserve more than a passing notice. They are truly splendid instruments, very powerful, and of the purest and richest quality of tone.—Boston Traveller.

In regard to purity of tone, power and sweetness, being fully equal to any instrument that has come under our observation.—Boston Courier.

Owing to the beautiful elasticity of the action of your Grand Piano Fortes, I think it would be impossible for any Pianist, who plays properly, to break either a string or a hammer.—Extract from a Letter from Wm. Mason.

The peculiar feature of Hallet, Davis & Co.'s instruments is, they make no noise. Nothing but pure tone is produced by the vibration of the strings; and the construction of the sounding board, and action are such that skilful pianists, after once testing their merits, dilike to use any other instrument in the Concert room.—Philadelphia Sunday Mercury.

I find them to be very superior instruments—as well in tone as in touch.—Extract of a Letter from L. M. Gottschalk.

I can unhesitatingly say that I find them superior in quality and quantity of tone, to those of other makers; also in the elasticity and easy touch; and can cheerfully recommend them to any one who wishes to own or play on the best Pianos.—Extract of a letter from Robert Heller.

Morning Chronicle.

EMPEROR NICHOLAS I.

Every body in Paris is now reading with avidity a pamphlet, entitled "the last hours of Emperor Nicholas 1st." The original, written anonymously in Russian, has been attributed to Count Blondoff, and is said to have been composed at the express desire of the Empress mother. A translation of it has been recently made at Vienna, and splendidly printed there. It contains three extremely interesting lithographs, very delicately executed, representing, 1st; The working cabinet of the Winter Palace, where the Emperor died; 2d, the death bed of the emperor; 3d, the exposition of the body in a saloon of the palace. Nothing can be more unexpected and curious than to see the extreme simplicity of this cabinet, where the Emperor of all the Russias worked and reposed. It is a long vaulted room, with a large bow window hung with a light drapery, the lower half covered with green silk curtains like those in a painted studio. A table and chair of ordinary appearance are before it—the table covered with books and papers; here and there a sofa of a straight form, which was fashionable at the beginning of the century; a large chair, hardly more comfortable, some wooden back ones of smaller size, and a few modest stands are placed about the room. On the walls are pictures, portraits, prints, tokens of affection, souvenirs. The principal article of furniture, if it may be called so, is a camp bed, which seems formed of eight bars of simple wood, supporting a box on which is laid a single mattress.

The most common hospital bed seems more comfortable, a real soldier's bed, a dying man's trundle. The Emperor died there, wrapped in a military cloak, as if a bullet had suddenly struck him at the head of his army. This remarkable simplicity corresponds little with the desire for pomp and power which prevails at the North. But at this solemn conjuncture, does not simplicity seem real grandeur? That is, the little that is given to man here below. The Emperor-Pope dying on a little wooden bed, in the immense winter palace of his enormous capital, and coolly employing the telegraph to write to the second city of his empire, "The Emperor bids farewell to Moscow." This warlike Czar giving himself his directions for his modest funeral obsequies, dictating the political documents in which he speaks of himself as already dead—this powerful despot, not once saying "I will," in his solemn testament, but only "I desire, I beg," this resigned renunciation, this impassable sang-froid, thishumility in the dying hour, all this impresses the mind, as the view of this dwelling strikes the eyes, giving to the narrative something unexpected and striking, in the midst of which we forget the lover of international events, to see only the father of his family departing from them, the believer leaving the world, and at the sublime sight, pomp, passion, power, all seem to be annihilated.—Courier des Etats Unis.

EYES AND COLD WATER.—Many persons are daily ruining their eyes by opening them in cold water of mornings. Cold water will harden and roughen the hands, and much more will it do so to the manifold and more delicate covering of the eye; or the eye will, in self defence, become scaly in the manner of fish: that is, the coats of the eye will thicken, constituting a species of cataract, which must impair the sight. That water, cold and harsh as it is, should be applied to the eye for curative purposes, in place of that soft, warm, lubricating fluid which nature manufactures just for such purposes, indicates great thoughtlessness or great mental obliquity.—Hall's Journal of Health.

PULPIT ELOQUENCE.—In the course of his afternoon sermon, yesterday, Rev. E. H. Chapin made use of the following eloquent and striking figure: "The resurrection of Christ transformed the interrogation point of the philosopher into the exclamation point of the Christian." The Reverend gentleman's text was—"Come see the place where the Lord lay."—Boston Times.

SAVED BY HIS BOOTS.—The Windham County Telegraph gives an account of a narrow escape from a rattlesnake, which had sprung upon a lad and tried to bite him. A party of boys and girls from Union Village, Plainfield, were picking whortleberries in the south part of Killingly, known as the "Wilson lots," when a small boy, in pulling upon a clump of bushes, saw the snake coiled up, with head erect, and ready for a spring. He called to a companion, who seized a piece of rail, and just as the reptile (who was sounding his shrill note of warning) made the leap, he brought this weapon down forcibly upon his back. Blow after blow followed, but the snake had fastened upon his intended victim, and kept his hold. Upon examination it was discovered that he was dead, but his fangs had penetrated the lad's pantaloons and stuck fast in his boot legs! The skin had not been touched, and of course no harm was done.—An illustration of the benefit of wearing boots when picking whortleberries.

AMERICAN VESSELS IN FRENCH EMPLOY.—A carefully compiled list of the American vessels at present under charter to the French Government as transports shows a total of sixteen ships, amounting in the aggregate to 25,372 tons, all of which are realizing from seventeen to twenty shillings sterling per ton monthly for their services, the French Government assuming all risk of their capture.—Several American steamers are likewise in the same employ, at rates ranging from $45 to $63 a ton per month; but, as we have before stated, the demand now appears to have ceased.

A company of Germans about forty years ago purchased a tract of 20,000 acres on the southeastern slope of the Blue Ridge, in South Carolina, and established the town of Walhalla. They now number over a thousand inhabitants, and constitute a fine and thriving town, an example of the power of intelligent free labor in the midst of the desolations of slavery.

Blake's Patent Fire Proof Paint.

THIS extraordinary substance has now been tested nearly nine years, and its Fire and Water Proof qualities are most extraordinary. Instead of the action of the weather destroying the coating as it does ordinary Paints, it only serves to turn it to a perfect Slate or Stone, protecting whatever covered from the action of Fire or Weather.

Morning Chronicle.

FRIDAY, AUGUST 24, 1855.

NORFOLK AND PORTSMOUTH, VA.

Capt. Wm. C. Stark, of the U. S. Marines, died at Norfolk on Saturday morning.

The Petersburg, Va., Express of the 20th, says:

We conversed with a merchant of Norfolk yesterday afternoon, direct from Portsmouth by way of the Seaboard and Petersburg Railroad, who brings us the latest tidings from Norfolk and Portsmouth, and they are of a truly melancholy character. Not a letter or paper from either place came through yesterday; but our informant states there was no abatement of fever whatever. The general impression seemed to be that it was rather on the increase at both places.

In Portsmouth, our informant was told by a physician, that about twenty new cases came under his observation on Saturday, a large number of which were colored people.

The Norfolk Herald of the 20th, blames the people there for their panic. It says, in 1801, and several previous years, there was no fleeing, when it was no unusual thing to see thirty or forty buried in a day. There was not a store closed on account of the fever in either of those years.

The merchants did not halt a moment in the regular routine of their business, and the citizens never thought for a moment of moving out of town, or out of the infected district. The old residents had their billious and intermittent fevers, from which they seldom failed to recover; and the mortality was chiefly among strangers and those not acclimated. These were really go-a-head times, and men did not allow "Yellow Jack" to interfere either with their business or pleasures. How things have changed! Now, with a mortality, the highest range of which has not exceeded twelve deaths in a day—in a population doubling what it was then—all business is suspended, and the alarm is so great that half of the white inhabitants have left the town!

The despatches received at Baltimore, Aug. 22, from Portsmouth and Norfolk, represent the fever as increasing. Thirty two deaths had occurred in the two cities during twenty four hours.

BOSTON CHRONICLE.

This is the very able and interesting organ of the great rum-power in Boston. The Boston Post represents that the liquor party, by voting for a separate ticket, will really vote to sustain the law—whereas by voting the Democratic ticket, they would vote for its repeal.

To this the Chronicle replies, by showing how the different parties have voted, and says:

Let us add, that of the Senators who then voted, according to the Post, against the principles of democracy, there is not one who is not now in good standing with his party, not including some who have since died, but whose conduct was never, while they lived, censured by the Post. One of them now holds an office under the National Administration, worth $4000 a year. One edits a long established democratic paper. A third is the editor of a new democratic paper. A fourth is now talked of as the next democratic candidate for governor. A fifth holds a respectable office in the Boston custom house. So we see that we are denounced for not supporting the candidates of that party which so "perfectly agrees" with us as to reward with lucrative places, and to honor with positions of trust, the very few men who would send our friends to the House of Correction. * * Without pretending to be worthy to have succeeded Solomon, we think we are not so silly as to be deluded by the ineffable trash that represents the Democratic party of Massachusetts as being of course opposed to the Maine Law.

We ought to look beyond Massachusetts, if we would see the whole weight of the obligations to which the anti-coercionists are under to democracy. Who first "tried on" the Maine Law at the expense of a whole people? They were the democracy of Maine. Maine is an old democratic State, and up to the time of the passage of the Maine Law, it was as reliable a State for democrats as any one in the Union. The first Maine Law, therefore, was passed by the Democratic Legislature of an old Democratic State, and was signed by the Democratic Governor of that State, who was opposed to it, and who placed his name to what he believed to be a bad law, by way of meeting one political trick with another! Had the measure been killed in Maine, nothing more would have been heard of it. Succeeding there, by aid of the democrats, it now has an existence in every New England State. In this fact we have an important illustration of the unprincipled conduct of the democratic party on the system of coercion, and one which ought not to be forgotten.

The statement of the Post that certain liquor dealers do not desire the repeal of the Maine Law, is a piece of pure invention—one of those falsehoods which it costs fogy politicians no trouble whatever to utter. There may be liquor manufacturers who are making more money now than they did before the law's existence, but the law has nothing to do with their success. They would make still more money if it should be repealed. There is not a man in the business who does not desire the law's repeal.

The reader will bear in mind that these are the statements of the Boston Chronicle,—that it was not a party measure, —that the democracy of New England have made the law,—and that the law as it is, cramps the business.

MASSASOIT GUARD.—The Governor has refused, we understand, the request of the company composed of colored persons, for the loan of State arms.—Boston Bee.

A REVIEW.—An article in the State of Maine newspaper, speaks of a recent pamphlet, purporting to be a Review of the Second Inquest on John Robbins. Examining the testimony, the writer draws 6 inferences, of which the first is, in these words:

The object of the mob was not to oppose the law, but to enforce it.

The writer is not known to us; but if he believes his assertion, he must either be an insane man or under the influence of drugged liquor. Every man in his senses, who knows any thing about the matter, or who has read the testimony, knows that the rascals got together to make a row and do mischief, and not to enforce any law whatever; and he knows also, that the same miscreants who got up the mob, and who have growled over it ever since, will keep on growling till the 10th of September.

MURDEROUS ASSAULT. — An Irishman named John Morrison, living over Russell's grocery store, on Merrimac street, went home in a state of partial intoxication yesterday evening, and getting into a quarrel with his wife, assaulted her with an axe, knocking in several of her teeth with a blow from the poll, and cutting several of her fingers nearly off. Alarmed by her outcries, Morrison then decamped but was arrested soon after by the Police and committed to quarters. — Lowell News, 21st.

What a set of fanatics these Lowell policemen must be. Wasn't John's house his castle? Hadn't he a right to drink what he pleased? Was not the woman his wife? and did he not own the axe? May not every citizen exercise his natural rights? and do what he will with his own? Isn't this a free country.

THE SNAKE STORY.—It seems the monster snake discovered a short time since in Silver Lake, New York, and which created great excitement in the western part of the State, has not been taken after all, though there are persons in the vicinity of the lake who appear to think there is no doubt there is a serpent there yet. One Edward Fanning makes affidavit that on Wednesday evening 15th inst., he saw the creature, which then appeared to be about a hundred feet in length, with a head a foot in diameter and a body in proportion. The story, purporting to be from a correspondent of the Buffalo Republic, is supposed to have originated with the local editor of that paper, who, it is surmised, occasionally sees pretty large snakes in his boots. We dare say he had a glimpse of the monster when he elaborated the monster story; but so far from having captured the creature he had captured him.

P. S. The snake has dived and come up in Seneca Lake, longer and larger than ever. So they say at Syracuse.

We believe there has been no snake of any great consequence round there,—except the drink snake, which the scripture says, biteth like a serpent, and stingeth like an adder.

ELIZA LOGAN NOT MARRIED.—The story of the marriage of Miss Eliza Logan, the actress, to a Mr. Wood of St. Louis, is without a shadow of foundation. The lady herself, who is now stopping at the Clifton House, Niagara Falls, writes that she has no knowledge of any such transactions. This turns out as we supposed it would. Miss Logan knows too much to peril her professional reputation by marrying.—Bee.

Indeed! If Mr. Right should come along and make suitable proposals, she would say yes, as gently as a know-nothing that ever used the dishcloth and broomstick.

In the Police Court, Newburyport, Michael Cashmen was examined on suspicion of having caused the death of his wife, last Saturday, by brutal treatment, as returned by the coroner's jury, but was discharged, there being not sufficient evidence to hold him for trial.

☞ The Transcript learns that the potato rot has appeared in places near Boston.—In Watertown it has occasioned considerable loss. The Salem Register announces its appearance in that vicinity.

EXETER BANK.—The meeting of the grantees of the charter of the Exeter Bank, took place on Thursday last. The grantees voted to accept the act of incorporation, and proceeded to elect associates, by virtue thereof.—They also adopted a code of by-laws, and divided the amount of the capital stock into 1500 shares, at $50 each.

We learn that only one book will be opened for subscriptions for stock, and that public notice will be duly given where subscriptions will be received. The whole amount of capital is to be paid in by the 14th of November next, and the bank will go into operation on the 3d of December following.

The Exeter Bank commences with flattering prospects. There is no doubt that the stock will be eagerly taken, and that the affairs of the institution will be conducted in a safe and profitable manner.—News Letter.

GRAND ENCAMPMENT I. O. O. F. OF N. H.—This body met at Concord, Monday, and elected the following officers:

Thos. Brown, of No. 7, G. P.; J. Kidder, of No. 2, G. H. P.; Wm. D. Carter, of No. 5, G. S. W.; J. B. Smart, of No. 3, G. Treas.; Thos. Goldsmith, of No. 4, G. J. W.; Benj. F. Holden, of No. 3, G. Sentinel; Timothy G. Senter, of No. 5, G. Rep. to G. L. U. S.

The meeting was presided over by Grand Patriarch S. Bunton, who delivered the usual annual address.—Manchester American.

Southern journals represent that the rice crops are unusually flourishing, and that the indications promise more than an average yield for this season.

LOCAL.

COMMON COUNCIL.

THURSDAY, Aug. 23.

ALDERMEN.—The Chief Engineer requested that pumps be placed in the wells in High and Islington streets—referred.

Lewis Barnes asked liberty to erect a gas lamp near his house, the city to pay for the gas—referred.

An ordinance appropriating $500 to establish a City liquor agency, was read a first time.

The second reading was opposed by Ald. Rundlett, on the ground that the liquor law conflicted with the bill of rights in many points. He had given the subject great consideration, and finds that the law conflicts with the new Judiciary law.

The ordinance was then read a second time, passed by a vote of 5 to 2, and sent to the Council for concurrence.

The Committee appointed to draft rules for the government of the agency, made a report, which was adopted.

The rules provide that none but pure liquors shall be sold; that the prices shall be but 5 per cent above the cost; the agent to make quarterly reports of sales, names of buyers, and for what purpose required.

John Smith was chosen agent, and the salary fixed at $300 per annum.

COMMON COUNCIL.—The committee reported, inexpedient to pass the bill concerning contracts.—An amendment was proposed to substitute a provision that the City Council should advertise for contracts where the amount exceeds $50. The amendment and bill were indefinitely postponed.

The amendment was objected to on the ground that it conflicted with the City Charter, which places such business in the hands of the Board of Aldermen.

The ordinance relating to the mill ponds was taken from the table, amended and adopted.

The ordinance from the Board of Aldermen, establishing a City Agency, was concurred in—11 to 3.

☞ A little girl, three years of age, daughter of Mr. J. W. Grant, fell from a chamber window where she was at play, on Thursday, and broke one thigh. The fall was 13 feet, but the child seems to have sustained no other injury than the fracture, and is likely to do well.

☞ The members of the Mercantile Library Association are reminded that business of importance will come before them this evening.

NARROW ESCAPE—That of the whale at Rye Beach from Messrs. Brown, Darling and Varney, or, on the other hand, that of Messrs. Varney, Darling and Brown from the whale. Wonderful escape anyway, reminding us of the story of Jonah.—Manchester Mirror.

RELIGIOUS ANNIVERSARIES NEXT WEEK.—The General Association of the N. H. Congregational Clergymen, will commence in Concord on Tuesday next, August 28, at 10 o'clock, A. M., and continue three days, at Rev. Dr. Bouton's church. The following is the order of exercises:

Tuesday, 28th.—Sermon in the forenoon. In the afternoon at 2 o'clock, narratives on the state of religion. Preaching at 7 1-2 in the evening.

Wednesday, 29th.—Public addresses on benevolent objects at 9 A. M. Sabbath School Anniversary at 11 A. M. Anniversary of the N. H. Bible Society at 2 P. M. Preaching at 7 1-2 in the evening.

Thursday, 30th.—Business meeting of the N. H. Missionary Society, in Merrimack Co. Bank Building, at 9 A. M. Anniversary of the New Hampshire Missionary Society in the church, at 10 A. M. Sermon and Sacrament of the Lord's Supper at 2 P. M.—Preaching at 7 1-2 P. M.

Prayer meetings will be held every morning at 5 1-2 o'clock.

The Texas election was held on the 6th of August. Partial returns from a dozen counties, embracing some of the Know Nothing strong-holds, indicate that the democrats and conservative Whigs, who united against the K. N's, have elected their entire State ticket by a large majority. The Galveston Civilian of the 7th, says that the Democracy and conservative Whigs have won a glorious victory.

FLOUR IN NEW YORK.—The New York Evening Post says:—The new flour that comes to market is of remarkably fine quality, and in very superior condition. Prices are now about two dollars per barrel below the highest point of the season. The decline generally anticipated later in the season is about another dollar. The month of October will probably be the time when prices will show the greatest decline of the year.

TELEGRAPH TO CAPE COD.—The opposition telegraph to Cape Cod, which has been partially built by Messrs. Brew and Baldwin, under an alleged grant from F. O. J. Smith, to use the Morse patent, has been closed by an injunction.

The authorized line, from Boston to Providence, Holmes Hole and Nantucket, is progressing rapidly, and will be completed during the present season.—Mail.

A vote was taken throughout the State of Kentucky on the question of levying a State tax for the support of Common Schools.—Returns from about half the State indicate a majority of at least 10,000 who are for the school tax.

BITTEN BY A RATTLESNAKE.—The Valley Democrat understands that on Thursday week, in Pendleton, Va., Mrs. Hevener, wife of John Hevener, Esq., was bitten by a rattlesnake, which resulted in her death a few hours after.

The New York Journal of Commerce says that "sales of about $40,000 worth of flour have been made to a speculator in that market, who has hypothecated the same, realized the funds, and does not find it convenient to pay the bills, or to show the state of his accounts. It may all yet be explained without involving any charge of criminality."

Wax Statuary.

I HAVE examined for a short time only, the Collection of Figures illustrating the Life of our Savior, now on Exhibition in this city, and have no hesitancy in expressing my unqualified pleasure at the artistic, impressive and instructive Exhibition. You follow the Savior from his Birth to his Ascension, through a series of groupings which are full of intimations of Scripture history, calculated to impress adults and especially adapted to please and improve the young. Parents should take their children to see these figures; and Sabbath Schools should not fail of the opportunity of seeing the most interesting scenes in the Savior's life, embodied in impressive and pleasing art. Hours could be spent amid these groups with profit to the beholder, while his meditations would amply repay for the time employed.

CINCINNATI, Aug. 22d.—The Republicans held a mass meeting here last night. It was addressed by Hon. S. P. Chase, Hon. L. D. Campbell, and Capt. Ford. Mr. Chase denied that his election to the United States Senate was owing to an arrangement giving two Democratic members seats as State Representatives, for their votes. He denied being a disunionist—no expression, sentence or letter, had ever come to him that was not loyal to the Union. He had no sympathy for the Garrisons of the North, or with the Nullifiers of the South; but he thought that the Slavery question had been precipitated by the Kansas bill, and had now become paramount and imminent. He would not interfere with slavery where it existed by law, but he was opposed to its extension over new territory.—It must not interfere with the great bond of Republican Union, and we must rescue Kansas from the grasp of the slave-trade invaders. Ohio pays one-tenth of the National expenses—retrenchment was needed. He had always favored internal improvements. Mr. Chase was severe on the Admiuistration for favoring southern interests.

The meeting was orderly and enthusiastic; three or four thousand persons were present.

FIRES.—A tract in Concord, 40 acres, near the Loudon line, was burnt over on Monday. From 500 to 800 cords of wood, cut for market, were consumed.

A fire broke out Monday night, and totally destroyed a story-and-a-half framed dwelling house on Sand Hill, at the head of Centre St. owned by a Frenchman, Mr. Remi Nadaux, and occpied by Rev. J. Cummings, the Second Advent preacher. It is said by some to have originated in a young man reading in bed, and by others from spontaneous combustion in a pile of Morning Lights, Conflagration of the World, and other Millerite literature. Only a portion of Mr. Cummings' furniture was saved. He was absent from home. Loss at least $700.

A two story dwelling-house and out-buildings, belonging to Mr. Joseph Collins, about a mile from Page's Corner, near Dunbarton, were totally destroyed by fire about half past 6 o'clock, Tuesday morning. The fire took in the barn—how, is not known. About six weeks since, the house was on fire.—N. H. Patriot.

ANNIVERSARY OF THE MASSACRE OF ST. BARTHOLOMEW.—It is proposed, in some quarters, to commemorate in this country the massacre of St. Bartholomew—the anniversary of which occurs on the 24th of August. It was on that day (A. D. 1572) that the horrible massacre of the Huguenots was perpetrated, by which, at one fell swoop of assassination, it was hoped to quench the Protestant faith in the blood of the chief families that professed it in France. According to the Duke of Sully, the plot resulted in the butchery of seventy thousand persons—a deed which has been well branded as the greatest crime of the Christian era. Yet the artillery of the Pope's Castle of the Holy Angel thundered its volley in honor of the news, and the Pope sang a joyful te deum laudamus, proclaimed a jubilee, and struck a medal in honor of the event.—Boston Bee.

SUICIDE IN WOBURN, MS.—On Saturday night, a single man about fifty years of age, hung himself in the shoe manufactory of Mr. John Flanders, Main street, Woburn. He had been in the employ of Mr. Flanders for several years, and was an honest, upright man, respected by all. During this time he had boarded with Mr. F. but some time during Saturday he was informed that he must obtain another boarding place. He answered that he should find another home before Monday. No further cause can be assigned for the commission of this rash act. He owned property in Woburn to the amount of several thousands of dollars.—Mail.

DEATH.—David Wright, convicted of the murder of A M Robinson, at Columbus, Ga., committed suicide. He commenced sawing off the chain from his leg, and set fire to his cell, in order to knock the jailer down and escape, when the alarm was raised. The fire, however, became too hot before he got the chain off, and he was disovered roasted to death, having crawled off as far as the chain would allow him.

REMARKABLE SUICIDE.—A stranger at Coburg, C. W., last week, summoned a coroner's jury to meet at a given place, at 12 o'clock that day. The jury met, and he presented himself, and deliberately cut his throat in their presence, and before they were aware of his intention, he fell, and soon expired.

Rather a tough story.

THE CASE OF DR. BEALE.—The opinion of the Supreme Court in the case of Dr. Beale, was delivered at Bedford, Pa., a few days since, by Chief Justice Lewis. Judge Lewis decided that the trial of Dr. Beale had been fair and legal, and that a new trial could not be allowed. But the sentence of the judge, he said, contained several verbal inaccuracies, and he accordingly reversed the judgement, and ordered the record to the Court of Oyer and Terminer, with directions to sentence the prisoner according to the letter of the law. Three of the associate judges concurred in the decision of the Chief Justice. The fourth dissented, and was in favor of granting a new trial.

OPINION ON THE LIQUOR LAW.—Hon. J. M. Williams, formerly Chief Justice of the Court of Common Pleas, in reply to a letter from the Massachusetts State Temperance Committee, has given a lengthy opinion upon the Massachusetts Prohibitary Liquor Law, which is in favor of the constitutionality of the law.

Henry T. Walls was killed at Woodbury, Tenn., in a drunken row, whereupon the citizens assembled and resolved that they would not sell liquor themselves, would not rent their property to any liquor seller, and would not sell property to a man who would use it for such purposes. They then made up a purse, and bought all the liquor in the place, rolled the barrels into the street, poured out their contents, and set fire to the whole of it.

Niepcotypes on Glass, and Photographs on Paper.
MR. SALEN wishes to inform the citizens of Portsmouth and vicinity, that he has procured the Art to take Likenesses on GLASS and PAPER. The now so much admired Photograph, taken on paper, excels by far the Daguerreotype on a metallic plate
These pictures are durable; are not reversed; have not the blending of a Daguerreotype, and excel in softness of light and shade the finest engraving. They are finished on beautiful French cartons put up in frames, and therefore are particularly adapted for parlor pictures. They can also be secured and sent in a letter to a distant friend.
Taken at SALEN'S Daguerrean Gallery, at all prices and sizes, on reasonable terms.
Please call and examine specimens. a4

CAPT. JAMES W. GOODWIN respectfully gives notice to the pleasure seeking public that he has purchased for their accommodation the present season, the safe, commodious and fast-sailing Yacht SEA RANGER, of 6 tons burthen, with which he is now prepared to convey parties to the Shoals, Boar's Head and other places in the vicinity; and having furnished her with all the necessary materials, will accommodate FISHING PARTIES on reasonable terms.
The SEA RANGER will outsail any vessel on the Piscataqua or of any neighboring ports, in light or heavy winds; is fitted with excellent berths; is well supplied with sails, boats, fishing and cooking apparatus, and is in every respect the best vessel for the accommodation of parties who desire a few days enjoyment on the briny ocean that ever hailed from this port.
The SEA RANGER will make occasional trips to the SHOALS for the accommodation of such persons as desire safe conveyance thither; and when the beacon of old ocean is too much agitated for the steamer GRACE DARLING, alias Silver Star, to venture forth, the Yacht will bear passengers safely o'er the bounding billow.
The commander of the Sea Ranger confidently appeals to those who have in the past seasons patronized the SPY under his command, for the continuance of their patronage for the new Yacht, pledging himself to use every exertion to give them and all new patrons entire satisfaction.
For further particulars apply to JACOB WALDEN, No. 9 Water street, or to the Master on board, at Pier Wharf, foot of State street.

DEAD SHOT FOR BED BUGS.
A SURE death to these noxious disturbers of our nightly rest. Apply it to insects and it carts them up and lays them out as readily as Sulphur Fumes kills Bees.
It has no equal in the market. The whole world cannot produce a substitute of similar value to the comfort of a neat tidy housewife. Its application is of little trouble, while the benefit which may be derived from a single night's undisturbed repose is incalculable.
SANCHO PANZA
Called down "blessings upon the head of the man who first invented sleep." How much more worthy such honorable distinction would he consider the inventor of the Dead Shot, who, by his Pungent and Deadly Preparation, has rendered utterly impossible the ancient bloody forays of such tolerable and not to be endured tormentors; and who has enabled every one to guarantee to himself his own particular share of "tired Nature's sweet restorer."

FLOUR BRANDS.—The New York Times cautions flour consumers from being too easily deceived by "deceptive brands." It says:

A lot of the finest flour we ever saw was made in the western part of central Virginia—we know the man who grew the wheat and had it ground—and yet that flour sold for 13 shillings less per barrel, in this market, than an inferior quality, which chanced to have the right marking. Men raised in the very centre of the Genesee wheat country, and considered excellent judges of flour, find, no difficulty in getting the very best flour at from $1 50 to $3 less than the current prices paid by their neighbors for a poorer quality of "Extra Genesee." Our advice to the mass of flour-buyers is, to cease to attach so much value to the outer marking upon flour barrels. If not sufficiently experienced yourselves to judge of the quality, go to a reliable dealer and buy flour warranted good. If your bread is not as white as starch, it may taste quite as well, if you are assured that it is fully as nourishing, and remember at the same time that it costs a great deal less money; though if you throw away your partiality for a particular brand, you will, in three times out of four, get flour equally good for much less money.

FUNNY ERROR.—A telegraphic despatch from this city to New York, announcing the organization of the Scientific Convention, mentioned also that Dr. Wayland gave a brilliant party in the evening. One of the papers said that "Dr. Wayland gave a brilliant party."—Providence Journal.

Patents.

AMERICAN AND FOREIGN OFFICE.
Agency for business with US Patent Office, Washington,
78 State st, oppo. Kilby st, Boston.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION TO INVENTORS. The Subscriber (late Agent of the U. S. Patent Office, under the Act of 1836) determined to present advantages, in applying for Patents, superior to those offered to inventors by others, has made arrangements whereby on applications prepared and conducted by him, THIRTY DOLLARS (instead of twenty, as paid back by others), will be remitted by him in case of failure to obtain a patent, and the withdrawal through him within thirty days after the rejection. Caveats, Specifications, Assignments and all necessary papers and drawings, for procuring patents in the U. S. and foreign countries; also, skilled advice rendered on legal and scientific matters respecting inventions, and infringement of patents.

Inventors can not only have obtain their specifications on the most reasonable terms, but can have avail themselves of the experience of 20 years practice, an extensive library of legal and mechanical works, and correct accounts of patents granted in this and other countries; besides being saved a journey to Washington, and much delay thereby, as well as all personal trouble in obtaining their patents. Copies of claims of any patent furnished by remitting one dollar.—Assignments recorded at Washington.

R. H. EDDY,
Solicitor of Patents.

"During the time I occupied the office of Commissioner of Patents, R. H. Eddy, Esq., of Boston, did business at the Patent Office, as Solicitor of Patents. There were few, if any, persons attending that city, who had as much business before the Patent Office; and there was none who conducted it with more skill, fidelity, and success. I regard Mr. Eddy as one of the best informed and most skilful Patent Solicitors in the United States, and have no hesitation in assuring inventors that they cannot employ a person more competent and trustworthy, and more capable of putting their application in a form to secure for them an early and favorable consideration at the Patent Office.

EDMUND BURKE,
Late Commissioner of Patents."

Baltimore, Maryland, 20th June, 1856.

CAUTION.—LOTTERY FRAUDS.

THE Commissioner of the Maryland State Lotteries has deemed it his duty to caution the Public against the numerous Swindlers who circulate by mail and otherwise, fraudulent Lottery schemes, and pretend to be agents for the sale of tickets in Lotteries which are wholly fictitious.

The only legal Lotteries in Maryland are those drawn daily under the superintendence of the Commissioner elected by the people of the State under the new Constitution to examine and approve the schemes and attend to the drawings.

All the tickets in these Lotteries, and all certificates of packages of tickets have the lithographed signature F. X. BRENAN, General Agent for the Contractor. Office of the Maryland Consolidated Lotteries, Baltimore, Md. All other are fraudulent. For full information on the subject of these frauds, address F. X. BRENAN,

Opinions of the Press.

It is now generally acknowledged that the Pianos manufactured by Hallet, Davis & Co. are unrivalled in America, if in the world, for brilliancy or purity of tone.—Boston Daily Times.

An immense volume of sound can be produced by these Pianos without shattering the tones, as they send forth the most perfect, bell like notes, and we must confess that we have never listened to their equals for power, brilliancy, sweetness of tone, and purity of action.—Boston Herald.

The Pianos of Hallet, Davis & Co. deserve more than a passing notice. They are truly splendid instruments, very powerful, and of the purest and richest quality of tone.—Boston Traveller.

In regard to purity of tone, power and sweetness, being fully equal to any instrument that has come under our observation.—Boston Courier.

Owing to the beautiful elasticity of the action of your Grand Piano, I think it would be next impossible for any Pianist, who plays properly, to break either a string or a hammer.—Extract from a Letter from Wm. Mason.

The peculiar feature of Hallet, Davis & Co.'s instruments is, they make no noise. Nothing but tone is produced by the vibration of the strings; and the construction of the sounding board, and action are such that skilful pianists, after once testing their merits, dislike to use any other instrument in the Concert room.—Philadelphia Sunday Mercury.

I find them to be very superior instruments—as well in tone as in touch.—Extract of a Letter from L. M. Gottschalk.

I can unhesitatingly say that I find them superior in quality and quantity of tone, to those of other makers; also in the elasticity and easy touch; and can cheerfully recommend them to any one who wishes to own or play on the best Pianos.—Extract of a letter from Robert Heller.

HOW TO SLEEP.—For the enjoyment of a sound and healthy sleep, Hufeland gives the following directions:

1st. The place where one sleeps must be quiet and obscure. The less our senses are acted upon by external impressions, the more perfectly can the soul rest. One may see from this how improper the custom is of having a candle burning in one's bed-chamber during the night.

2d. People ought always to reflect that their bed-chamber is a place in which they must pass a great part of their lives; at least, they do not remain in any place so long in the same situation. It is of the utmost importance, therefore, that this place should contain pure, sound air. A sleeping apartment must, consequently, be roomy and high, neither inhabited nor heated during the day; and the windws ought always to be kept open in the night time.

3d. One should eat little, and only cold food for supper, and always some hours before going to bed.

4th. When in bed, one should lie, not in a forced or constrained posture, but almost horizontally, the head excepted, which ought to be a little raised. Nothing is more prejudicial to health than to lie in bed half sitting.—The body then forms an angle, circulation in the stomach is checked, and the spine is always very much compressed. By this custom, one of the principal ends of sleep, a free and uninterrupted circulation of the blood, is defeated; and in infancy and youth, deformity and crookedness is often the consequence.

5th. All the cares and burdens of the day must be laid aside with one's clothes; none of them must be carried to bed with us; and in this respect, one by custom may obtain very great power over their thoughts. I am acquainted with no practice more destructive than that of studying in bed and of reading till one falls asleep. By this means the soul is put in great activity, at a period when everything conspires to allow it perfect rest; and it is natural that the ideas thus excited should wander and float through the brain during the whole night. It is not enough to sleep physically, a man must also sleep spiritually. Such a disturbed sleep is as insufficient as its opposite—that is, when your spiritual part sleeps, but not your corporeal; such, for example, as sleep in a jolting carriage on a journey.

6th. One circumstance in particular I must not here omit to mention. Many believe that it is entirely the same if one sleeps their seven hours either in the day or in the night time. People give themselves up, therefore, at night as long as they think proper, either to study or pleasure, and imagine that they make everything even when they sleep in the forenoon those hours which they sat up after mid night. But I must request every one, who regards his health, to beware of so deceiving an error. It is certainly not the same, whether one sleeps seven hours by day or night; and two hours' sound sleep before midnight are of more benefit to the body than four hours in the day.

RAILROADS AND POST-OFFICES.—Were I called on to classify railroads, I should say the English exceed ours in comfort, just about as much as the English are exceeded by the French, and the French, in their turn, by the German railroads.

The German railroads stand first in all matters of arrangement which secure most comfort, and most security to passengers; and yet, strange to say, more care is taken of luggage on our roads than is extended in any part of Europe, and in no part of Europe where I have been, have they yet adopted that very simple but convenient plan of baggage tickets—which, with us, relieves the passenger of all care and anxiety about his trunks till he reaches his journey's end.

There is a finish and completeness about German roads which exceeds those of any other country. We stand last in that respect. Our stations are unfinished and raw looking, —and our roads look so too;—yet we go "go-a-head!"

In Europe, every person connected with the railroads is recognized by his dress, or uniform. Not so with us: but let that pass.—In neatness and cleanliness all the passenger trains are a-head of us, except for the lowest class of passengers; they are conveyed in uncovered boxes, without seats or benches, similar to ours for cattle. This is inhuman. I saw respectable looking women travelling thus in Germany; and in England, at the Derby station, I saw an Irish reaper waiting for a train to come up in which he expected to meet "a box of his countrymen;" and sure enough, there came a train of boxes, over the tops of which could be seen the fragments of old hats, caps and pipes, peering, as we see the horns of cattle in cattle trains!

The peculiarities of stations afford amusement to the American. Here with us the last announcement is "all a-board!" In England scarcely anything is said; the bell does its duty. In France, they very politely announce, "a la voiture vessieure;" whilst in Germany, hard flat-faced, ruddy-cheeked baso and baritoned conductors bellow out, "alli herr mussen fetzt einsteigen."

I never knew, before traveling on German roads, the true origin of the term "Post-office. All along the road at intervals of ten, fifteen, and twenty miles, stand posts, on which are hung letter-bags. A hook, accurately adjusted, is put out of a car in passing, and takes off the bag; its contents, assorted, are placed in smaller bags, and thrown out at their destinations. This description of a Post-office occasions no delay.—Home Jour.

RETIRED FROM ACTIVE LIFE.—Charles Tappan, Esq., long and well known among the trade as a prominent bookseller and publisher, of this city, has retired from the active pursuits of life to spend the remainder of his days amid the scenes of his youth. He has been nearly half a century in active trade.—Bosson Bee.

Blake's Patent Fire Proof Paint.

THIS extraordinary substance has now been tested nearly nine years, and its Fire and Water Proof qualities are most extraordinary. Instead of the action of the weather destroying the coating as it does ordinary Paints, it only serves to turn it to a perfect State or Stone, protecting whatever covered from the action of Fire or Weather.

Morning Chronicle.

SATURDAY, AUGUST 25, 1855.

SOCIETY AT NEWPORT.—The editor of the Newport News, speaking of the society at that place, says—"Genteel and experienced thieves are still prowling about at the hotels and other places; persons must look out for their pocket books, watches and jewelry, especially when in a crowd, such as passing out of church, a concert, hop, &c., for these scoundrels are mixing in at all these gatherings, and performing all their operations in the most adroit manner. Nothing but the greatest prudence and watchfulness will prevent people from being robbed." A queer idea of gentility the editor must have.—Boston Chron.

It may be correct, after all. Honesty is quite a distinct quality from Gentility. We have the pleasure to know a number of honest men who are any thing but genteel in their manners and customs—and have seen genteel people, in whose honesty, alas, no confidence could be placed.

SUDDEN RESTORATION TO SIGHT. — A letter from James City county, Va., says that Mrs. Martha Richardson several years ago had a paralytic stroke, which caused the total blindness of the left eye. Last summer she was prostrated with lightning, and upon recovering, found her sight entirely restored.—The occurrence suggests itself to the writer the probable efficiency of electricity in case of blindness.

A similar case in all these respects, occurred in Portsmouth, about 70 years ago.—The young woman here, dreamed of both the events, and in the second instance told her dream in advance.

RECENT DEATHS. — The widow of the late Judge Joseph Story died on Wednesday, after a brief illness, at her residence in Rowe street, Boston. The deceased was the daughter of the late Judge Wetmore, of Massachusetts. Wm. W. Story, the artist and poet, the only surviving child of the deceased, sailed for Boston in the Liverpool steamer on Saturday last.

The venerable wife of the Rev. John Pierpont died at his house in Medford, on the same day, after a long illness. These ladies leave a wide circle of friends in various parts of the country.

NEW BOOKS.—Two prime New Novels, entitled the "Jealous Wife," and the Confessions of a Pretty Woman," by Miss Pardoe, published by Petridge & Co., have been received by J. F. Shores, jr., to whom we are indebted for copies. The reputation of the authoress, as well as the known taste of the publishers, are a sufficient guarantee for the excellence of the works. The London Sun says of them that "they cannot fail to be attractive, from their author's well known force of description, and knowledge of life and character. Her powers are well displayed here in many striking characters, whose breadth of outline and vivid delineation arrest the attention and awaken interest. "The Jealous Wife" presents a masterly sketch of what pride and passion can effect. It is a composition that displays for its subject, human nature under the influence of its most powerful incentives."

☞ Godey's Lady's Book for September, 1855, has for its frontispiece, a fine engraving, Cottage Devotion, which is the picture of a very poor house, inhabited by a very fine family, including a model dog, pup and urchin.

Then we have Godey's Unrivalled Colored Fashions, including a baby. The latter item, or article, or whatever we may call it, will no longer be banished from the parlor, or scouted as vulgar in Barnum's Baby Show.

We have read, Anna, on Cottage Devotion, in which the incidents give life to the picture. And we have also read the Chapel Choristers, by Alice B. Neal. It is simple, touching and beautiful.

L. A. Godey, publisher. Philadelphia—agents, Federhen & Co., Boston, J. P. Morse, Portsmouth.

THE OLD GUARD.—The Concord Reporter of August 24th, contains an article of two columns, signed with Mr. Burke's ☞. In this article, Mr. Burke takes distinct ground against the Republican or Fusion movement, and finds fault with Senators Bell and Hale for their speeches at Portland. The Old Guard, he says, will stand on National Ground, if it has to stand alone.

☞ The fusionists in Massachusetts, are in some degree of contusion just now. A mass convention is called, however, to be held on Tuesday, Aug. 28, at New Salem Center. The notice is in the Boston Bee.

BRANDY COMING.—The bark Radiant, Capt. Flinn, has been at Rochelle for several weeks, and sailed on the 5th inst., for Boston, with a cargo of brandy. The bark Angela Brewer, Capt. Ulmer, was at Paimboeuf 5th inst., bound for Rochelle, to load brandy for Boston.—Cour.

Hon. Jere Clemens is defeated for the Legislature in Madison county, Ala., by 75 to 100 majority.

ONE DAY LATER FROM EUROPE.

ARRIVAL OF THE NORTH STAR.

NEW YORK, Aug. 24.

The steamship North Star arrived at this port this morning, with one day's later news. She brings 120 passengers.

Advices from the Baltic state that the allied fleet was drawn up in front of Sweaborg, on the morning of the 7th, and that the bombardment was to commence on the same afternoon.

Nothing of importance was received from the Crimea. The bombardment of the bastions 3 to 5 continued, but without result.

London Corn market quiet.

NEW CEMETERY LOT.—The city government have bought for a new cemetery, a lot immediately south of the land owned by E. A. Straw, on the west side of the Calef road, containing about 42 acres. It is about one mile and a half from the City Hall. It is now nearly covered with wood of a small growth, and is well adapted for burial purposes. It is said by those who went over it, to possess a varied surface, which by cultivation may be made beautiful. It is to be immediately prepared for the reception of the dead. —Manchester American.

Some of our wealthy and liberal citizens would be glad to have this city to do likewise. We have some beautiful private cemeteries; but no public ground of any considerable extent. We have only about half the population of Manchester; but while many people who die there are carried away to be buried,—we have a large number brought hither for burial, who die elsewhere. Will the American please state the price to pe paid, the terms, and any other items of interest in relation to the Manchester Cemetery.

FIRE IN FARMINGTON. — On Saturday morning, 18th inst., the office of N. & G. N. Eastman, was completely consumed. There was no insurance, and the loss falls principally upon J. C. White, who occupied a part of the building as a joiner's shop, and Mr. Eastman. The valuable law library and papers of the Messrs. Eastman were saved. On the Monday evening following, the citizens held spirited meeting, and by a unanimous vote requested the selectmen to offer a reward of five hundred dollars for the detection of the incendiaries.

DOVER LIQUOR AGENCY.—We understand that the Selectmen of Dover, have appointed Mr. John S. Hawes, agent for the sale of liquors under the new law, and that a room for the occupation of the Agency is to be fitted up under the Town Hall. The law, we are glad to say has been generally observed in this town, and its good effects, we think, are already perceptible in the diminished amount of rowdyism and intemperance in our streets. The same reports reach us from other places, and we cannot doubt that the law will be found salutary and benificent in its operation—a blessing to those who drank—to those who sold—and to those who did neither, —rescuing the one from the degradation of intemperance and restoring them to usefulness and honor—withdrawing the other from a business, which, however gainful, must have been followed by many compunctions at the misery and wretchedness it was entailing—and relieving all the heavy burthens imposed by the pauperism and crime, which it daily and hourly created.—Enquirer.

LIQUOR DESTROYED.—The liquor taken from schooner Ranger a short time since, was emptied into the common sewer on Wednesday, by order of the Court, no person appearing to claim it. There was about 350 gallons of the stuff; and it was said to be of the vilest kind.

A barrel of Medford Rum was yesterday sent to the same place by order of Court.—Portland Adv.

For the Chronicle.

TO SARAH.

Oh! veil that flashing eye of thine—
I would be free—
Let it upon another shine,
But not on me.

There was an hour—there was an hour
I could have borne it light—
Could have defied thy woman power
But not—that sight.

There is a spell upon my soul—
And rise within my heart
Vague thoughts, the will cannot control
Or make depart.

For I should never think of thee—
'Twere worse than vain—
Unless the hand and heart once free
Were so again.

Time in his onward course
May break the spell—
May even hand from heart divorce:
Till then—farewell.

Memory will gild the past,
Though darkness lowers;
The present will not always last—
Hope may be ours.

Spring time may come again,
With fragrant flowers,—
Beneath Love's bright and glowing reign,
To deck her bowers.

But turn that lustrous eye of thine
Away from me,
Let it upon another shine,
Till both are free. P. B.

Bald Head Cliff.

RULES AND REGULATIONS FOR THE LIQUOR AGENCY.

In the Board of Aldermen on Thursday evening, Alderman Senter, from the Committee, reported the following Rules and Regulations for the government of the City Liquor Agency, which were adopted:

SECTION 1. The Agent shall keep for sale and shall sell the following liquors only, viz., —alcohol, ale, brandy, gin, rum, whiskey, porter, wines and cider, which shall be pure and unadulterated.

SEC. 2. The place of sale shall be opened for the sale of liquors from the 20th of March to the 20th of September, from 7 o'clock A M to 7 o'clock P M, and from the 20th of September to the 20th of March, from 8 o'clock A M to 6 o'clock P M; and on the Sabbath from 8 to 9 o'clock A M, and from 5 to 6 o'clock P M, and the Agent shall be present during said time, excepting meal hours.

SEC. 3. The Agent shall keep a distinct account of all purchases and sales of liquors made by him, the persons to whom the liquors were sold, the quanity, price, and object for which they were obtained, in separate books to be kept for that purpose.

SEC. 4. The Agent shall report to the Board of Mayor and Aldermen all his dealings in said Agency once in three months, and shall pay into the city treasury the nett proceeds of all sales made by him during the time for which his report is made up.

SEC. 5. The liquors shall be sold by the Agent at an average profit of 25 per cent until otherwise ordered.

SEC. 6. The Agent shall be required to give a bond to the city government to the amount of $2000, with good and sufficient securities for the faithful performance of his duties.

SEC. 7. The Agent shall annually, on or before the 15th day of March, make to the Board of Mayor and Aldermen, the annual report required by the 7th section of said act, and said report shall be made to and include the last day of February next preceding.

SEC. 8. When the Agent shall cease to act as such, either by resignation or removal, he shall deliver over to his successor the proceeds of all sales of liquors, together with all liquors, books, papers, receipts, and all other property in his hands as said Agent.

SEC. 9. The Agent shall be allowed the sum of $300 per annum in full for all his services in said Agency, which salary shall be paid in regular quarterly payments.

BANK OF NEW HAMPSHIRE.—The capital stock of this new bank is $150,000, divided into 1500 shares, at $100 each. At the first meeting of the grantees, held for the choice of directors and the subscription of stock, nearly the whole amount was taken;—what little remained was eagerly sought for the next day, when it became known who the directors were to be, and in three days after, not a share was to be had. It is thought had the capital stock been double what it is, no difficulty would have been experienced in disposing of it. The bank will go into operation on the first of December, at which time the full amount of all subscriptions is to be paid in. The names of the directors, which we published last week, are a sufficient guaranty that the affairs of the institution will be conducted in a judicious and profitable manner. T.
